Remember the good old days when the little girls would dress up in long skirts to pretend that they looked like mother?

Uncle Billy Gamester says he is not sure he favors this internal waterways plan until he finds out what effect it will have on the fishing.

Grandpa Summers over at Bluntsville has just celebrated his 100th birthday. He attributes his ripe old age to the fact that he has steadily kept on living.

Joe Bush has had two wives—one with long hair and one with a bob. He says he can't see much difference, as one can argue about as well as the other.

Ellsworth Trapp, who is now living at the county infirmary, was in town last Saturday. Twenty years ago he had a big farm and the best string of race horses in this part of the state.

CEDAR GROVE

The Liberty Hill-Cedar Grove Singing Society met at Cedar Grove last Sunday afternoon with a large crowd present, and had some fine singing. Directors for the afternoon were D. T. Melton, Kermit Lowery, Harrison Hayes, Houston Melton, Miss Etta Foshee, and Miss Estelle Price. Organists were Mrs. Bonnie Rollins, Miss Lucile Price, and Miss Onzell Eiland. We were glad to have so many singers with us, and want them to keep coming.—Secretary.

SHILOH

The singing society will meet at Shiloh next Sunday afternoon, April 18th. All are invited to come and help us.—J. I. Bice.

It has been found that garlic will flavor milk in a cow's udder in less than one minute after it is eaten, the odor being carried through the cow's body almost instantly.

Farmers who pay cash for fertilizer save 18%, as compared with credit prices, according to a survey made by F. W. Gist of Auburn. The saving on feed is 14%; machinery, 16%; and family supplies, 17 %.

In 4 years' tests conducted by our State Experiment Station, including 1922 to 1925, Cook 10-10 cotton has proved to be the best for this part of Alabama. It ranks first on the list and made 34 pounds more lint to the acre than the next best yielding cotton tested.

At the Delta Branch Experiment Sation at Stoneville, Miss., in 1924, fifty-three varieties of cotton were tested. Both long and short staple varieties were included. They were ranked according to yield in cotton per acre. When seed and lint were both sold, Cook 10-10 ranked second, and made $194.52 per acre.

C. M. Mauldin, Wilsonville, Ala., is the largest multiplier of these seed in the State. His seed are for sale by Gulledge Brothers, Verbena; J. N. Dennis, Clanton; W. H. Goodgame, Thorsby; and W. H. Conway, Jemison. Nothing pays a farmer better than good seed. 4-8-tf-ch.

DEFINITIONS

INACTIVITY—Scotchman making an effort to pay your carfare.

ACTIVITY—Same Scotchman reaching for the transfers after you paid the carfare.

——§§§——

They had a surprise party next door yesterday. Installment collector found our neighbors at home.

——§§§——

Play on the stock market can get pretty rough—on one's pocket-book.

——§§§——

Usually when a man says "he likes to tell people what he thinks of them"—he's either handy with his fists or he's darned fast on his feet!

——§§§——

Experts tell us "modern girls have hard faces." Well, some are hard to look at a second time. And then again—we just can't make our eyes behave!

——§§§——

"Lips Stick!"

Watch a young couple spoon nowadays and you'll soon learn that the word "lipstick" has another meaning.

——§§§——

Like to do things "on a big scale?" You'll find one in the nearest coal yard.

——§§§——

So We Noticed!

"This feed is on me," said our generous friend—as the soup dripped from his spoon all over his shirt front.

——§§§——

"Silence is Golden!" read the sign on the restaurant wall. But they might just as well have thrown it in the ash-can so far as the fellow seated at the next table was concerned. He was eating Celery!

——§§§——

Ouch-

Safety First. It did come first but we forgot to push our ear out of the way of the blade.

——§§§——

Boss gave us his "rapt attention" to-day. And, gosh, how that man can rap.

——§§§——

Traffic cop added to our troubles to-day. He must have heard that preacher who said "the devil is still alive." We were stuck with our motor at a busy crossing when up steps this guardian of the law and chirps:

"Git the divvil outta 'ere!"

Nobody else in the car. So who did he mean?

——§§§——

Go to Florida for a "clean-up." But—be sure to save carfare home.

——§§§——

"Jazz is sand-papering the souls of our young folks" laments a preacher. That's what the shoe-repair men say, too. Only they ain't mad about it.

——§§§——

Smilin' Charlie Says-

"Some professor has figured that a college education is worth $33,000 - We know a lotta young grads who'd be willing t' take 50% off for cash!--"

——§§§——

Quebec lady, preparing a hen for dinner, found a gold nugget in its crop. Which proves that if you scratch long enough for a living—you're bound to pick up something big sooner or later?

List of Qualified Voters in Chilton County, Ala.

STATE OF ALABAMA, CHILTON COUNTY:

I, L. H. Reynolds, Judge of Probate in and for Chilton County, State of Alabama, hereby certify that the above list as the same appears by Precinct and Districts, constitutes the correct list of all qualified electors who will be entitled to vote in any Election held in said county from the time of this publication until the first day of May, 1927.

This April 8th, 1926.

L. H. REYNOLDS, Judge of Probate.

If any elector's name does not appear upon said list who has duly registered and paid all poll taxes due, if you will write me or come in person and see me and give me the time and place of your registration, the exact date of your birth, the different names, if any, that your poll taxes might have been paid in, also what county or counties you might have paid poll taxes in, and if I can not get your record straight from this date I will write you of the exact trouble as I understand it.

The electors are further notified that the law allows ten days from the above publication for the electors of the State to have their names entered upon said list, whose name has been inadvertently or through mistake omitted from said list, if they will notify me of such omission I will have such electors' names included in the supplemental list to be published not later than the 26th day of April, 1926.

This April 8th, 1926.

L. H. REYNOLDS, Judge of Probate.

Get Your Supply At Once

Be sure you have it at hand when you are ready to use it.

At present prices, nitrate is cheap enough to pay big profits from the increased crops it will produce.

Ask your county agent or send a postal card with your address to our nearest office for our free bulletins which have helped thousands of farmers to grow bigger and more profitable crops.

A Resume of the More Important Events of Interest Condensed To An Epitomized Form

Ground has been broken for a $500,000 water reservoir at Attalla.

The B. Y. P. U. northern district convention of Alabama will meet in Florence April 8-9.

Bud Bannister, 46, was drowned while trying to cross Coosa river near Gadsden in a small boat.

The Tuscaloosa Ice & Cold Storage Co., is adding $50,000 worth of improvements to its plant.

Among the women who have recently registered as voters in Randolph county, are two 84 and 76 years of age.

Fred Berman, 3-year-old infant of Birmingham, was badly burned when he fell into a tub of scalding water while playing.

Willie Davenport, five year old Gadsden negro boy, was burned to death when his clothing caught fire from a blaze under a wash pot.

W. G. Johnson, of Trenton, has been appointed forest ranger for a district composed of most of the timbered sections of Jackson county.

John W. Caldwell, druggist, of Goodwater, was found dead sitting in a chair in his drug store. Heart trouble is said to have been the cause.

W. P. Bell, J. W. Burnett, T. R. Labuzan, A. W. Rawls, A. W. Woodliff and F. J. Wineman have been named directors of the Gedsden Rotary club.

Postmaster A. J. Caffey announced that receipts at the Florence post office for February showed an increase of more than 50 per cent over the same period last year.

The Reese's ferry bridge over the Alabama river on the Birmingham Montgomery highway will be opened to traffic within about a month, according to information from the state highway department.

Birmingham school children will get holidays during the convention of the Alabama Educational association to be held March 25 to 27, while their teachers attend the convention programs Dr. C. B. Glenn, city superintendent announced.

The Huntsville city school board voting by a majority of three to two has taken options on lots in the northeastern and southern parts of the city for the purpose of erecting grammar schools with the money obtained by the sale of municipal bonds.

Farmers and shippers throughout Alabama stand to collect goodly rebates from the railroads of the state under the recent order of the Alabama Public Service commission. The order provides for refunds on shipments of fertilizer on carloads where the less carload rate was applied.

More than 100 members of the U. S. Junior Chamber of Commerce probably will have an opportunity to look over the Muscle Shoals district in June of this year under the plans now being worked out by the Louisville and Nashville Railway and the Albany-Decatur Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Flat Creek, a mining town in the extreme eastern part of Walker county, is being converted into a model mining town, according to J. A. Oliver, well-known merchant of that place. Superintendent Colley is having electric lights installed in all of the Alabama By-Products Company's houses at Flat Creek, and every house will have water connections also.

The Huntsville city council, resolved upon paving all of the unpaved streets of the city between now and next winter, has been relieved of any anxiety concerning the flotation of the street improvement bonds. President R. E. Spragins, of the First National Bank of Huntsville, has formally submitted a propostion to take the bonds at par upon certain conditions.

The fight between the Pea River Power company and the River Falls Power company over the right to furnish electric power to the town of Opp, Covington county, has ended. The two companies have organized the Opp Light and Power company which will take over the service at Opp, and have entered into a contract for thirty years whereby power will be made interchangeable and the River Falls Power company will furnish all power for the requirements of Opp.

The U. S. Senate at the instance of Senator Heflin, passed 16 bills, authorizing the Alabama Highway Commission to construct over rivers in Alabama 16 bridges in connection with the construction of highways. These bills were introduced in the house by the various members of the house delegation, and put through that body some time ago. They are now law, and the highway department may proceed with the work. Among the bills is one introduced by Representative Miles C. Allgood, of the seventh district, under which a bridge will be built across the Tennesee river at Guntersville.

D. O. Manning of Mulberry was a visitor to Clanton Monday.

ALABAMA NEEDS MORE CORN

NEGLECTED CROP THAT COULD BE MADE MORE PROFITABLE.

A Food and Feed Crop That Can Make the Farm Self-Sustaining in a Large Measure.

C. A. Whittle.

In 1925 Alabama had 2,797,000 acres in corn which produced only 37,760,000 bushel, or 13 1/2 bushels to the acre. The acreage is large enough, apparently, but the yield is low.

Corn is a great food and feed crop. It comes very near in itself making a farm self-sustaining by providing food and feed. It is meal, hominy, grits, roasting ears as food; and grain, fodder or silage for livestock.

As a food and feed crop corn is a strong brother to cotton. Corn checks the outgo for food and feed, so that more of the proceeds of the cotton crop will belong to the farmer and less to the supply merchant. Corn can be grown more cheaply, as a rule, than it can be bought with cotton.

The reason corn yields are so poor is that it is planted, as a rule, on the poorest land, fertilized little or none and cultivated indifferently.

In these days of boll weevils, corn, should have right of way on bottom lands. It would be good business if, ahead of a corn crop, a crop of vetch or crimson clover could be grown. When there is such crying need for hay as is the case this year, the vetch and oats or vetch and rye will be harvested. There is no use, therefore, to advise turning under vetch now, but, when that can be done, it will help the corn crop to make a worth while yield.

Corn cannot profitably use as much commercial plant food as cotton and other cash crops. Where 600 to 800 pounds of fertilizer would bring in maximum profits on cotton, 300 to 400 pounds of fertilizer would probably be the most profitable on corn.

One thing outstanding about the plant food demand for corn is its hunger for nitrogen. Therefore, it is better to have a higher percentage of ammonia in the mixed fertilizers than for cotton, or else supplement the fertilizers applied at planting time with a top dressing of nitrate of soda or sulphate of ammonia when the corn is knee to waist high. But, if corn is on growthy land, such as bottom land the need of ammonia is not so great and the top dressing may be left off. The same is true where corn follows a legume turned under, or where manure is applied.

A good corn fertilizer is a good cotton fertilizer, provided a top dressing of nitrogen is made to corn, the exceptions being bottom land, legume land and manured land, where the top dressing may be left off.

A good fertilizer for corn is a 10-4-4 or 12-4-4. On the clay lands the potash (the last figure in the formula) may be lowered and only the higher percentage of phosphoric acid (the first figure in the formula) used. Keep in mind the addition of ammonia (the second figure in the formula) as a top dressing, to be used unless legumes or manure is applied, or where corn is planted on bottom or growthy land.

Give corn a good chance this year to help make your farm self-sustaining.

A good soil-improving practice, as well as a means of increasing the returns from the corn field, is to grow cowpeas, soy beans or velvet beans in the corn. While it is true that these companion crops reduce the corn yield some, the value of the legume is greater than the loss of corn.

NOTICE OF SALE OF LANDS FOR MAINTENANCE

State of Alabama, Chilton County—In Probate Court.—In the matter of the Application of J. D. Collins, for Sale of Lands belonging to William Green Price, a non-compos mentis, for maintenance and payments of debts.

Whereas, J. D. Collins, guardian of William Green Price, did file in the office of the Judge of Probate of Chilton County, Ala., on the 23rd day of February, 1926, his petition in writing praying for the sale of the hereinafter described lands belonging to William Green Price, a non-compos mentis, which petition was granted on the 16th day of March, 1926 and ordered by the court that said guardian sell said lands as provided in said order; therefore, in compliance with said order, I, J. RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT

In Memory of Brother Isaac Newton Langston, who died February 17, 1926.

Once again a Brother Mason, having completed the designs written for him on life's trestle board, has passed through the portals of eternity and entered the Grand Lodge of the New Jerusalem, and hath received as his reward the White Stone with the new name written thereon.

And, Whereas, the all-wise and merciful Master of the universe has called from labor to refreshment our beloved and respected Brother, and he having been a true and faithful member of our beloved order,

Therefore, be it resolved, that, Jemison Lodge No. 411 A. F. & M., in testimony of her loss, be draped in mourning for thirty days, and that we tender to the family of our deceased brother our sincere condolence in their deep affliction, and that a copy of these Resolutions be sent to the family and one spread on the minutes. —N. Duffee, C. C. Conway, A. A. Conway, Committee.

RICH BACHELOR WANTS WIFE

"Many people have blamed me for not getting married. Since childhood I have suffered from stomach and liver trouble, never being able to get any medicine or doctor to help me. Now that MAYR'S has entirely cured me, I am anxious to get a wife." It is a simple, harmless preparation, that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. Alred Drug Co., and druggists everywhere.

THANK FRIENDS FOR HELP

As we can not thank every one personally who have helped us to get back to housekeeping since our home was burned, we wish to thank, thru The Union-Banner, all those who in any way helped us. Almost everything we had was destroyed, and we again thank, and pray God's richest blessings upon all who came to our aid when we were in need.—Mr. and Mrs. W. Y. Parker, Route 1, Billingsley, Ala.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION TO CONDEMN LANDS

State of Alabama, Chilton County.—In Probate Court.—Chilton County vs. Lewis Christensen et als. To: Mrs. C. A. Aubol, Big Lake, State of Minnesota, and owners unknown:

You are hereby notified that Chilton County, a municipal corporation, has filed in Probate Court of Chilton County, Alabama, for condemnation of certain lands and interest therein described in said petition, and said application avers that said County proposes to construct, build, use and maintain a public highway or road and in so doing, the land described in said petition, of which you are an owner or have an interest therein, will likely be traversed or crossed by said road, and you are hereby notified that the hearing of said application has been set by the court for the 5th day of May, 1926, and you may appear and contest said application if you think proper.

Witness my hand this, the 3rd day of April, 1926.

L. H. REYNOLDS,
4-8-3t-ch. Judge of Probate.

THE WALNUT CREEK SINGING

A very good snging was held at Walnut Creek church last Sunday afternoon, when the singing society met in regular monthly session. A number of good singers were present and some good singing was enjoyed by a large crowd. Those directing were: Rube Miller, H. W. Lowery, O. R. Robinson, S. V. Miller, W. M. Devaughn, J. W. Cagle, Jean Wyatt, Jesse Baker, Jesse Jones, and W. M. Devaughn, all of whom used two songs each. Prof. W. M. Devaughn was called upon twice, the second to take the place of another director who was absent. Three quartets were rendered during the afternoon, one arranged by Jesse Baker and the other two arranged by Jesse Jones. One excellent duet was sung by Mrs. Stanley and Mrs. Hancock of Mitchell Dam, which was thoroughly enjoyed by all.

Mrs. E. E. Upchurch and Mr. Sam Upchurch motored to Birmingham Monday and spent the day.

OAK GROVE

Mr. Albert Sammons was hurt seriously while working at Birmingham last week and is in a hospital.

Our Sunday school and B. Y. P. U. are doing fine. We have a large attendance every Sunday. Last Sunday was our regular preaching day. Two fine sermons were enjoyed by a large crowd. Next Sunday afternoon is our regular singing afternoon. All are invited.

Mr. C. L. Martin of Wylam was visiting relatives Saturday and Sunday.

Miss Vera Sammons entertained a number of young folks at her home Thursday night.

Miss Ola Glass has returned from a visit to her sister at Bon Air.

Mrs. T. F. Satterwhite and family and Miss Ollie Glass spent the week end in Central Park visiting Mrs. Ben Johnson, and friends.

Mr. Almond Glass, who is working with the road crew at Opelika, is at home for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Sutley and family spent Sunday with their daughter, Ethel, of Bessemer.

Mr. W. L. Martin and little daughter, Marie, are visiting his mother, Mrs. C. L. Martin.

SHOULTS

Our Sunday school and prayer meeting are progressing nicely. We have good attendance at both.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Henderson from Maplesville were visiting their daughter, Mrs. Bennie McAfee, last week.

We were grieved to learn of the death of Mr. Wright of Lawley, who has many friends in this community.

Mesdames Homer and Sallie Sewell were the guests of Mrs. Walter Lawley Sunday night.

Quite a large crowd attended the singing at this place Sunday afternoon, and some good singing was heard.

Several young people of this community attended the play at Maplesville Friday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Brady McAfee from Fremont are visiting their parents this week.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. McGee visited their daughter, Mrs. Denson Sewell, Sunday.

Mrs. Emma Garner and two little daughters were the guests of Mrs. Walter Moore Sunday.

There will be preaching at the Baptist church next Sunday morning and night; also preaching at the Methodist church Sunday afternoon. Everybody invited.

Mr. Stanley Davis of Enterprise was a visitor here Saturday.

CAMPUS ACTIVITIES

The faculty and student body of the Chilton County High School were grieved to learn of the death of Mrs. W. A. Howard, mother of Malene Howard, a member of the Senior class. We extend our deepest sympathy to the members of this family.

The Manual Arts boys are beginning work recalcimining the halls of the building. We are glad to see this improvement being made, as it will add much to the appearance of the building.

Some new books have been received for the high school. The books include 20 volumes of Harvard Classics, Curwood, Poe, Mark Twain, O. Henry, and Tarkington's complete list of fiction. Besides these books we received 10 volumes of Woodrow Wilson's "History of the American People."

CANE CREEK

We have had lots of flu and pneumonia this winter, but it is dying out to some extent now.

The singing date has been changed from the third Sunday to the second Sunday afternoon. We had a fine singing Sunday afternoon, although the attendance was not large. We hope to have a large crowd out next second Sunday afternoon. Directors for the afternoon were W. L. Sanders, Flora Shirley, Marvin Jackson, Ellie Shirley, Floyd Little. After a recess of 15 minutes, W. L. Sanders, Misses Viluna and Alta Mae Shirley, Jeff Baker and A. A. Jackson.

The fourth Sunday and the Saturday before are our preaching days. Rev. Bailey will preach for us and something good is expected. Come one and all and hear him.

POPLAR SPRINGS

Mrs. J. W. McDowell is recovering from a recent illness.

Sunday was our regular preaching day, and a large crowd attended.

Mrs. Rudolph McDowell is spending a few days this week with her mother of Bethel community.

Everyone is invited to visit our Sunday school.

Suffered Six Years

Shreveport, La.—"I suffered six years with weakness. I had been in bed six weeks when I began taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and it was the only thing that ever helped me a bit. That was last winter, and I have been well ever since. I was well before I took all of the seventh bottle. I enjoy good health and can recommend Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription very highly."—Mrs. A. Elizabeth Stuckey, 1240 Texas Ave.

Obtain this famous "Prescription" now, in tablets or liquid, from your dealer, or write Dr. Pierce, President Invalids' Hotel in Buffalo, N. Y., for free medical advice. Send 10c if you wish a trial pkg. of the tablets.

THORSBY SECTION

(S. E. NORTON, Manager).

A matter of chief interest to the people of Thorsby of the current week is the closing exercises of the junior high school class of the Thorsby Public School.

On Sunday at 11 a. m., the baccalaureate address was delivered before a large audience which was increased by the closing of the two largest churches in town. The stage of the auditorium was beautifully decorated in pink and white, the colors of the school, and Rev. Bonner of the Baptist church read the Scripture and offered prayer. A chorus choir rendered several fine selections in a spirited style in which they were joined by the audience which practically filled the large hall.

Rev. D. E. Mason of Fort Deposit delivered the address in a clear and forceful manner which held the close attention of his hearers from start to finish. He emphasized the honor and dignity of any legitimate work if well done as an ennobling occupation, and held up as an example whom all should emulate—Jesus Christ as the greatest teacher the world has ever known. His address was a stirring appeal to old and young to strive for the development of the best within them as worthy of their most strenuous efforts. We considered the address as a whole one of the best we ever heard on a like occasion.

Monday night the school presented a play to a large and interested audience. The title of the play was "The Old Fashion Mother." The following played parts in the drama: Miss Mamie Sue Stewart, Mary Wells, Mary Nell Goodgame, Dera Rowell, Jessie Martin, Edith Johnson, L. M. Hayes, Luther Kendrick, Erastus Cleckler, Lester Pate, Erchel Martin, Jimmie Nelson.

The play was pronounced by many good judges to be of a highly moral character and more interesting than many sermons.

Mrs. Each with her sons Cecil and William, and daughter, Alta, accompanied by Miss Gertrude Steiner and Lewis Kelly, got an early start Saturday and motored to Montgomery, where they attended all the days meetings of the C. E. convention. They returned home late Sunday night, tired but happy.

The students showed a creditable degree of training, evidencing that Thorsby Public School as at present conducted is an institution of which we may all be proud.

Miss Boona Lee Wood and A. T. Arthur returned Monday from Montgomery where they attended the state Christian Endeavor convention. They are very enthusiastic about the meetings and the splendid hospitality of the Capital City.

On Tuesday night commencement exercises were held before a large audience. Those receiving junior high school diplomas were Cecil Cleckler, Pauline Leslie, Lola Mae Hayes, Erchel Martin, Rosalee Collins, Lester Pate, Lucile Lowery, Lucile Howard, James Nelson, Gertie Sundberg.

Saturday evening Thorsby Institute dormitory people and faculty were entertained by Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Butler and daughter, Dorothy. An evening at the Butler home always means a good time.

Some of the Institute boys are at work hard on the girls' tennis court, a fact greatly appreciated by the girls of T. I.

Rev. J. E. Each attended the entire program of the C. E. convention returning Monday. Tuesday morning he left for Birmingham and as a guest of the family of R. A. Turner formerly of Thorsby, will attend all the week the meetings of the international conference on religious education. Other delegates to this convention are Miss Marian Fairbank as superintendent of Sunday school, also Miss Pearl Steiner and Ronald Lucas from the Congregational Sunday school.

C. C. Driskill made a week end business trip to Chattanooga. Mrs. Driskill has returned from Collinsville where she was called by the serious illness of her husband's mother. She is now ready to continue the interrupted sale of ladies' trimmed hats at her home across the street from Thorsby Baptist Church.

The Baptist W. M. U. held a business meeting Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Cary Martin.

The Baptist Y. W. met Tuesday afternoon with Miss Edith Robinson, and the R. A. boys Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Wm. Billingsley.

Mrs. G. L. Foshee and granddaughter Lucile Lowery spent last Friday at Liberty Hill, where Mrs. Foshee is building her new home.

Mrs. Edward Howard and baby are visiting Mr. Howard's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis S. Howard, at their home in Thorsby. Edward spent last Sunday with them here.

Mrs. Pete Franklin is spending a few days with her mother at Randolph.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Reagan motored to Birmingham Monday, returning Tuesday night.

Dr. and Mrs. S. C. Wood are enjoying the excitement and pleasure of a new high grade radio set. Monday night they got music from Los Angeles, part of a lecture from New York city, and other attractions from several other distant places, all very clear and distinct. Thorsby Hardware Company handle these instruments, and have sold one recently to Aleck Maddox, near Pate's Chapel.

Mrs. Wood and son, Frank, accompanied by Eugene Parnell, Mrs. Wood's brother, were week end visitors at the home of Mrs. Wood's sister, Mrs. King, in Selma.

Mrs. Wood is entertaining her grandmother, Mrs. Martin, and a small niece from Selma.

During the absence of Mr. and Mrs. Each and three of their children last Saturday Mrs. Goddard entertained the three younger girls of the Each family, Juanita, Lucile and Mary Marie, at her home. To make it more interesting for her little guests, she invited little Misses Willadeen Bean, Catherine and Emma Ellen Grizzell, making a sextette of as lively youngsters as one could wish for. They had an egg hunt, and made candy. Mrs. Goddard is never slow as an entertainer for old and young.

Mr. Leary of Birmingham, and Earl of Talladega, spent Saturday and Sunday in Thorsby.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Thompson of Birmingham were Sunday visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Paxson in Thorsby.

PURPOSE OF THE MOVEMENT FOR BETTER HOMES IN AMERICA

America has justly been called a home-loving nation. The home, like the church and school, has been recognized as one of the most fundamental of our human institutions. Like the church and the school, the home is affected by changing conditions. Organization is necessary to safeguard the home and to insure for all its highest values.

The purpose of the movement for Better Homes in America is—

1. To put knowledge of high standards in house-building home-furnishing and equipment, and home life within the reach of all citizens.

2. To encourage the building of sound, attractive, economical single-family houses in which the highest type of wholesome and private home life may be possible, to encourage the reconditioning and remodeling of old houses to render them sanitary, attractive, and convenient, and to encourage thrift for home ownership.

3. To encourage general study of the housing problem and of problems of family life, and to help each community, as a result of its study, to demonstrate each year the best types of house construction, home furnishing, and labor-saving devices for the home which are within the reach of families in moderate circumstances.

4. To encourage sensible and appropriate furnishing for the home and the elimination of needless burdens in housekeeping.

5. To encourage instruction in home economics and home life in the public schools, and particularly the construction of school practice cottages through which the girls and women of the community may receive continuous instruction in the ways of facilitating and improving household activities.

6. To promote the improvement of house lots, yards, and neighborhoods, with particular attention to the beautification of premises, the promotion of home gardens and the home playground.

7. To extend knowledge of the ways and means of making home life more attractive and happier through the development of home music, home play, home art, and the home library, and to encourage special study and discussion of the problem of character building in the home.

ORATORICAL CONTEST

The oratorical contest for this district will be held at the Chilton County High School auditorium on Friday night, April 16. There will be no admission charges and the public is cordially invited. PLEASANT HILL

There will be preaching at this place at 2:30 o'clock on the fourth Sunday in April. Everyone invited. Rev. R. M. Honeycutt will preach and we are expecting a good service. There will be preaching at New Hope church on the same day at 11 o'clock.

WEST CHILTON

April showers; vegetation flourishing in a livery of green.

H. H. Armstrong and wife spent last week end with their daughter at Free Springs.

Percy Martin and Miss Alice Posey were happily married Monday evening, Rev. Gentry officiating. The groom is a young man of promise; the bride is one of West Chilton's accomplished belles.

Mr. T. J. Hubbard of Jemison was here last week on business.

Miss Lillian Blankenship of Morgan county is visiting her uncle, Ernest Smith, near Randolph. Miss Blankenship's mother, formerly Miss Ora Smith, was raised here.

Mr. Garner, the spectacle man, was here Saturday, accompanied by Mr. Mitchell of Lawley.

Mrs. Mahan, formerly Miss "Lum" White, was buried at Randolph Saturday afternoon. She was one of the old time residents of Randolph, where her husband, William H. Mahan, was for a long time one of the leading business men.

Miss Dulcie Smith, who holds an important position in Gentry's store, was reported quite sick last week.

Ira Atchison has a new boarder at his place, whom they have christened Betty Sue.

The Grand Jury's report alluded to the public roads as being in a good condition. This speaks volumes for the Commissioners Court and their program of road building, whereas, in olden times the method of road working was called a "spring scratching." But the cost and traffic then were nothing compared with the present. Gradually we have drifted from primitive methods into a new world, in road building and everything else. The old regime is gone to return no more. We ask the authorities on the roads not forget West Chilton; just give us what we deserve.

Read The Union-Banner, the best of all county papers.

Miss Irene Jones of Bessemer spent the week end with her mother, Mrs. A. S. Jones.

The big time will be Saturday night when the school will put on the play "Topsy-Turvy, or The Deacon's Courtship." Price of admission Saturday night will be 20 cents and 35 cents. Friday night and Thursday night free. Refreshments will be served each night. Everybody invited.

WALNUT CREEK

The second quarterly conference of the Clanton circuit of the methodist protestant church met at Walnut Creek last Saturday. It was the best conference held on this circuit in several years. A very large and appreciative congregation listened to a good sermon preached by Rev. T. C. Cassady at 11 o'clock. Conference was held in the afternoon with good reports from all the churches. Marks of progress were shown along many lines of the church work. Sunday was also a good day. A large congregation was present at the morning service. The singing in the afternoon was good. May the Lord bless the efforts and the good people who are so faithfully standing by the church and cause of Christ in the world.—G. B. Golden, Pastor.

COLLINS CHAPEL

Our B. Y. P. U. is doing fairly well now, but could be made better.

Our Sunday school is a bit on the drag. Let everybody come out and help us make it what it ought to be.

Next Saturday night we are going to have a special service at the church for every member. All are urgently requested to be there. Each member has something to do in this service and it is something that no one else can do for you.

Next Sunday at 10 o'clock we will have Sunday school; preaching at 11. Sunday afternoon at two o'clock the singing society meets. B. Y. P. U. at 7 o'clock Sunday night, followed with preaching by Rev. Buford Lawrence.

We are expecting the Clanton quartet Sunday afternoon. Everybody is invited to all our services.

SHILOH NEWS

O. L. Ray and family spent this week end visiting friends and relatives of this community and left Monday morning for their home in Dadeville.

Quite a large gathering of young folks of this communty were at the home of Misses Etta, Ethel, and Myrtle Mullins Sunday night.

Mr. Till Deason of Columbus, Ga. is visiting his father, Rev. T. J. Deason this week.

J. D. Mullins and family and O. L. Ray and family visited the family of H. B. Owens Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Till and Miss Beulah Deason visited Oak Grove Sunday afternoon.

T. W. Billingsley spent last week at Deatsville.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Billingsley spent last Sunday with L. C. Keen.

Next Sunday is our regular singing afternoon. Everybody is invited to come.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our thanks to the W. M. U. of the Baptist church of Clanton for the generous pounding given us last Wednesday.—Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Denty.

NITRATE OF SODA—Just bought two cars; one for next week and the other for the last of the month. Let me have your order now. J. N. Dennis, Clanton, Ala. 1t-c

NOTICE OF ELECTION

Notice is hereby given that under and pursuant to an ordinance adopted by the Town Council of the Town of Clanton, Alabama, on the 12th day of April, 1926, which date was a regular meeting for said council, and which said ordinance was duly approved, an election will be held in the Town of Clanton, Alabama, at the various polling places in the several wards of the Town, on The 15th day of May, 1926, for the purpose of allowing the qualified voters of said Town of Clanton, Alabama, to vote upon and decide the question as to whether or not the additional bonds of the said Town of Clanton, Alabama, shall be issued in the sum of ($20,000.00) Twenty Thousand Dollars, for the purpose of acquiring, providing or constructing school houses of said Town of Clanton, Alabama; such bonds to run for twenty years from date of issue, and to be coupon bonds, bearing interest at the rate of six per centum per annum.

V. J. GRAGG,
Mayor of the Town of
4-15-3t Clanton, Alabama.

AN ORDINANCE

To order and provide for an election to be held in the Town of Clanton, Alabama, on the 15th day of May, 1926, for the purpose of having the qualified voters of said Town of Clanton, Alabama vote upon and decide the question as to whether or not the additional bonds of the said Town of Clanton, Alabama, shall be issued in the sum of ($20,000.00) Twenty Thousand Dollars, for the purpose of acquiring, providing or constructing school houses for said Town of Clanton, Alabama.

Be it ordained by the Town Council of the Town of Clanton, Alabama, as follows:

Section One.—

That it is hereby ordered that an election be held in the Town of Clanton, Alabama, on Saturday, May 15, 1926, for the purpose of allowing the qualified voters of said Town of Clanton, Alabama, to vote upon and decide the question as to whether or not the additional bonds of the said Town of Clanton, Alabama, shall be issued in the sum of ($20,000.00) Twenty Thousand Dollars, for the purpose of acquiring, providing or constructing school houses of said Town of Clanton, Alabama; the said election to be held under and by virtue of an Act of the Legislature of Alabama, entitled, "An Act to authorize the holding of elections by municipal corporations in the State of Alabama for the purpose of obtaining authority to issue bonds for public purposes herein defined, and to provide for holding such elections and declaring the result thereof, and to authorize the issue of such bonds when the majority of the voters participating in which election vote in favor of the issue of such bonds," approved August 26th, 1909, as amended by an Act approved February 20th, 1915, and by an Act approved September 25th, 1919.

Secton Two.—

That notice of said election shall be given for thirty days by publication in The Union-Banner and The Chilton County News, both newspapers published in the Town of Clanton, Alabama, once a week for three consecutive weeks, which notice shall state the purpose for which the said election is held, and the time and place for holding same, the amount of the proposed bond issue, the rate of interest the bonds are to bear, the time for which the bonds are to run, and the purpose for which the bonds are to be issued, and such notice shall be signed by the Mayor of the Town of Clanton, Alabama, and it is hereby made the duty of the Mayor to carry out the requirements of this Section.

Section Three.—

That the ballot used at the said election shall be prepared by the Mayor of the Town of Clanton, Alabama, and shall contain on one part of the same, the following wording: "FOR $20,000.00 FOR THE PURPOSE OF ACQUIRING, PROVIDING, OR CONSTRUCTING SCHOOL HOUSES OF THE TOWN OF CLANTON, ALABAMA, BOND ISSUE" and "AGAINST $20,000.00 FOR THE PURPOSE OF ACQUIRING, PROVIDING, OR CONSTRUCTING SCHOOL HOUSES OF THE TOWN OF CLANTON, ALABAMA, BOND ISSUE" and the voter shall indicate his or her choice by marking a cross mark before or after the wording that expresses his or her choice.

Section Four.—

That at a regular meeting of the Town Council of the Town of Clanton, Alabama, held before the time for having the said election, there shall be appointed three managers and one returning officer for each of the voting precincts of the Town of Clanton, Alabama, to conduct the said election, the persons so selected shall be the managers and returning officers of said election. And in appointing managers, so far as practicable, at least one manager at each precinct shall be for the bond issue and one against the bond issue. It shall be the duty of the Mayor of Clanton, Alabama, to notify the said managers and returning officers of their appointment and deliver the ballot boxes and ballots to the managers at the several voting precincts in said Town.

Section Five.—

That all the expenses of holding the election shall be paid out of the Town Treasury of the Town of Clanton, and the managers and returning officers shall be entitled to the same compensation as now provided by ordinance for managers and returning officers in elections in said Town of Clanton. And after the said election shall have been held and the expenses thereof ascertained, the Town Council shall, by ordinance, appropriate out of any funds in the Town Treasury not otherwise appropriated, a sum sufficient to defray such expenses and the several sums due shall be paid out of this said appropriation, as provided by law.

Section Six.—

That the returns of said election shall be made to the Town Council of the Town of Clanton, Alabama, which body shall canvass the returns and declare te result of said election. And the Town Council shall meet at their regular meeting place, on Saturday, the 15th day of May, 1926, at 7:30 p.m., and canvass the said returns and declare the result thereof, and the records of the results of said election and the minutes of the meeting called for the purpose of making the canvass, shall be recorded in the proceedings of the Town Council of Clanton, Alabama.

Section Seven.—

That the bonds shall be coupon bonds, and shall be in the denomination of one hundred dollars or the multiples thereof, and shall run for twenty years from the date of issue, and shall bear interest at the rate of six percentum per annum, payable semi-annually, and the same are not to be sold for less than their face value. The bonds shall be payable at the office of the HANOVER NATIONAL BANK, in the City of New York and State of New York, or at such other bank in the City of New York, in the State of New York, as the Town Council of Clanton, Alabama, may designate as its fiscal agent.

Read and finally adopted on this the 12th day of April, 1926, and on said date approved.

Approved.—V. J. GRAGG, Mayor of the Town of Clanton, Alabama.

Attest and a True Copy.—ADA M. ATKINSON, Clerk of the Town of Clanton, Alabama.

BETHSALEM

Our singing society met Sunday afternoon and did some real good singing. We were glad to have so many visitors present.

Directors for the afternoon were Clem Billingsley, I. D. Huett, J. M. Taylor, H. F. Burkhalter, Marshall Burkhalter, Essie Griffin, Elizabeth Griffin, Mildred Neeley, Clarence Billingsley, and R. M. Brigance, who directed three songs each.

Organists were Misses Susie Huett and Lela Taylor, and Mr. R. M. Brigance.

We were glad to have so many present from other societies who took active part in the singing. Come again, for you are always welcome at Bethsalem. We invite everybody, as we like to have listeners as well as singers.—Secretary.

In 4 years' tests conducted by our State Experiment Station, including 1922 to 1925, Cook 10-10 cotton has proved to be the best for this part of Alabama. It ranks first on the list and made 34 pounds more lint to the acre than the next best yielding cotton tested.

At the Delta Branch Experiment Sation at Stoneville, Miss., in 1924, fifty-three varieties of cotton were tested. Both long and short staple varieties were included. They were ranked according to yield in cotton per acre. When seed and lint were both sold, Cook 10-10 ranked second, and made $194.52 per acre.

C. M. Mauldin, Wilsonville, Ala., is the largest multiplier of these seed in the State. His seed are for sale by Gulledge Brothers, Verbena; J. N. Dennis, Clanton; W. H. Goodgame, Thorsby; and W. H. Conway, Jemison. Nothing pays a farmer better than good seed. 4-8-tf-ch.

MONTGOMERY TO HAVE LEAGUE BASEBALL AGAIN

Montgomery, Ala., April 21.—The Montgomery Lions, Alabama's entry into the new Southeastern League, will open festivities with the Columbus, Ga., club, here on Saturday, April 24.

After many years, Alabama's Capital City is again to have professional baseball. Knowing that the people of Montgomery and this section of Alabama wish to see real fast baseball, a promising bunch of swatters and hurlers have been induced to sign on the dotted line. Some idea of the class of sports this aggregation is going to hand out under the management of Joe Brennan, was given the large gathering which attended the exhibition game on April 11 when the Birmingham Southern Leaguers went down in defeat at the hands of the local outfit by the score of 5 to 3.

The opening battle will begin at 3 o'clock sharp on the date mentioned above, and thousands from all over this section are expected to attend and help Montgomery keep at home the handsome loving cup to be awarded by the trustees of Cramton Bowl to the town in the league that has the largest crowd on opening day.

Other towns represented in the new league are Jacksonville and St. Augustine, Fla., Albany, Columbus and Savannah, Ga.

Citizens of Alabama will be interested in knowing that Roy "Goat" Walker, the noted young pitcher of Troy, who made such a reputation as a twirler during his high school and prep school days; "Red" Stewart of Greenville, veteran hurler of the South Atlantic League; and Eddie Pratt, the latest scion of that noted west Alabama baseball family to join the ranks of professionals, will all do mound duty for the Montgomery Lions during the race for the first Southeastern pennant.

SHILOH

The singing society met at this place Sunday afternoon and did some real good singing.

Directors for the afternoon were Clem Billingsley, Clarence Billingsley, F. I. Popwell, Vester Bice, Minnie Bice, Velma Deason, and Arie Ratliff, who directed 2 songs each. Organists were Misses Susie Huett and Minnie Bice, Clarence Billingsley, and F. I. Popwell.

We were glad to have so many present, and hope you will all come back next third Sunday afternoon.—J. I. Bice.

NOTED VISITOR AT MITCHELL DAM LAST WEEK

United States Senator George W. Norris of Nebraska was a visitor at the plant of the Alabama Power Co., at Mitchell Dam during the week.

Senator Norris came south to make a personal study of hydro-electric developments. He was shown the courtesy of officials and management of Alabama Power Company. His visit included an inspection of Muscle Shoals.

GEORGE AND MARSHALL HEADLEY GONE BACK TO PEN

George headley and his son Marshall, are gone back to Kilby prison to serve out sentence for making liquor. The two were convicted in the courts of Chilton County Nov. 14, 1924 and sent up for hard labor. They were parolled by Govenor Brandon a few months ago. Upon reports that the men were again engaged in making liquor. Governor Brandon revoked their paroles on nApril 9, nd deputy Sherriffs Culp and Foshee went to Stumps Hills and brought them to jail. They were sent to Kilby Prison Tuesday.

THE LEADER WILL OFFER "DOLLAR DAYS" THIS WEEK

Friday and Saturday of this week Mr. Maurice Lande of The Leader is offering something new in the way of a selling event. He calls it a "Dollar Day" Sale. Every kind of valuable articles in his store have been grouped and combined in such a way as to sell for even money—a dollar—and these offers are calculated to mean a big saving to those who take advantage of them. We urge you to read his full page advertisement in another place in this paper.

THEO LACEY WILL BE SET FREE WEDNESDAY

Montgomery, April 19. — Unless Theo Lacey dies before Wednesday, Alabama's most famous embezzler will achieve his ambition. He wants to die without a shadow of prison resting on him.

Although Lacey has been at liberty on paroles for more than a year, his term officially ends Wednesday and he will then pass entirely from all control of the state.

Lacey is now in the real estate business in Florida. Advices to Governor Brandon say that he has never fully recovered his health and never will.

Lacey was chief clerk of the convict department when he disappeared with more than $100,000 of the department's funds. That was in 1912, and he eluded officers for a year, voluntarily surrendering in 1914. On February 21, 1915, he was sentenced to a total of 16 years for grand larceny. His sentence with good behaviour allowance expires April 21, 1926.

Lacey was granted liberty on a temporary parole in March, 1925, and has been free since then. He married after going to prison.

LIBERTY HILL

The Liberty Hill-Cedar Grove singing society met with Liberty Hill on last Sunday afternoon. A large number were present, which resulted in the best singing we have had at this place for quite a while.

Directors for the afternoon were Messrs. J. W. Lowery, Harrison Hays, Kermit Lowery, Zack Lowery, and D. T. Melton. Organists were Miss Lucile Price, and Mrs. Bonnie Rollins.

Several quartets were rendered by the following: Leonard Culp, Kermit Lowery, D. W. Ward, and Alphus Littlejohn.

Everyone present seemed to enjoy the singing and we want them to come again. We have changed our meetings for the summer to the first Sunday here and the third Sunday at Cedar Grove. All who are interested will please take notice of this and do not forget the dates. Everybody is invited next first Sunday to Liberty.—Assistant Secretary.

To "Set Off" Milady's Beauty For Summer

PICTURED above is one of many fascinating creations that are now making their appearance in millinery displays most everywhere. It's a model that is considered as the "very smartest" for late Spring and Summer, and will readily win milady's favor as ideal for "setting off" her features at their best. At least, that is the prediction of the style arbiters.

Here's the technical description of it:

"A dress hat. Hemp crown. Broad brim, left side of which is trimmed with ribbon and beautiful silk flowers."

CLANTON SERVICE STATION IN CHARGE OF MR. G. M. WYATT

Announcement was made in last week's Union-Banner that the new filling station of Empire Gas and Texaco Oil would open up on Seventh Street and Third Avenue Saturday, April 24th. Arrangements have developed whereby Mr. G. M. Wyatt, proprietor of the Main Street Garage, will have this filling station in charge. Mr. Wyatt will continue to operate the garage at the same place, but will also maintain a service line with the filling station. Read the big announcement of the opening elsewhere in this issue of The Union-Banner.

The finishing touches are being put on the new building this week, and it is going to be a very fine place. Mr. Brown, who has charge of the wholesale distribution of Empire Gasoline and Texas Oils, has his office in one side of the filling station building, and Mr. Wyatt will occupy the remainder of the place for his accessories and service department.

TEACHERS EXAMINATION HERE THIS WEEK

County Superintendent of Education, Buford Lawrence, has been conducting the teachers examination here this week. The following have taken the tests:

For second grade—G. P. Hughey, Billingsley; Onedella Wright, Thorsby; Jewel Miner, Clanton; Mrs. Agnes G. Neal, Calera; Betty Baldwin, Mt. Creek; Mrs. J. S. McNeill, Clanton; Wm. J. Mims, Clanton.

For third grade—Ethel Mullins, Clanton; Pearl Miner, Clanton; Etta Mullins, Clanton; Mrs. W. H. Walker, Maplesville. Colored, A. N. McBryde, Marbury.

PASTORS AND WORKERS CONFERENCE

Rev. B. Lawrence requests us to remind the readers of The Union-Banner that the Pastors and Workers Conference will meet at the court house next Monday morning at 9:30 o'clock.

PLEASANT VALLEY

Sunday school at Pleasant Valley is progressing nicely, with Mr. Will Morris as Superintendent.

We are glad to see the large number present in each class every Sunday, although there could be more. We want all who can to be present next Sunday.

We were glad to see Mr. and Mrs. Fate Morris out Sunday, following Mrs. Morris' long illness.

We hope to have all branches of the W. M. U. family organized here soon. We feel that with the help of our good pastor, Bro. D. Hughes, and the surrounding organizations, we will soon have a growing organization for the host of children, young people and ladies here.

Remember that next Saturday and Sunday afternoons are our preaching days. Everybody invited.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Norrell spent the week end with relatives in Selma.

Miss Lavada Williams has recovered from the injury she sustained in an auto wreck recently.

Mrs. J. E. Lett is recovering from an illness caused by a recent fall.

A large number of young people were entertained at the home of Mr. J. E. Lett last Friday night.

Several enjoyed the singing at the home of Mr. R. C. Morris Sunday night.

$1.00 Day at The Leader.

J. W. HAYES FROM CHUNCHULA VISITING HERE

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Hayes of Chunchula are spending a few weeks with their many friends in Chilton County. Mr. Hayes enjoyed the old time singing at the court house Sunday. He plans to stay up here until after the singing convention which will be held at Pates' Chapel the first Sunday in May. Traveling in his car Mr. Hayes displays on the front of the machine a five-point buck's horn taken from a big forester which he brought down on a stand during the past season. It is a great thrill to hear him tell the interesting story.

CARMICHAEL SPOKE HERE LAST SATURDAY P. M.

Mr. A. H. Carmichael, candidate for Governor of Alabama on the Democratic ticket spoke at the court house in Clanton last Saturday afternoon. Mr. Carmichael is regarded here as one of the strongest and most able men of the Democratic party in Alabama. His candidacy will doubtless receive very favorable consideration among the Democratic voters.

TACKY PARTY FOR UNCLE JIM CURLEE

Friday night of this week there will be a tacky party at the Pastime Skating Rink in Clanton. The management is putting on this event for the purpose of buying a suitable uniform for Uncle Jim Curlee, Clanton's Chief of Police.

A prize of $5 in gold will be given to the tackiest man and the tackiest woman. Everybody is invited to come. Admission charges will be 25 cents to spectators and 35 cents for skaters. The money derived from admissions of spectators will all be used to buy the uniform.

S. S. DAY AT CLANTON CHURCH

Sunday School Day will be observed at the Methodist church Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock. An interesting and instructive program is being prepared. The public is cordially invited to be present.—Mrs. C. C. Wilkerson, Committee Chairman.

ALL DAY SINGING AT THE COURT HOUSE

The all day singing at the court house last Sunday was a success. Many singers were present, among whom we noted Mr. N. E. Dorough, Mr. and Mrs. Stevens, and Miss Birdie Honeycutt of Birmingham. Mr. W. A. Sanders of Plantersville was among the out-of-town visitors. Attendance was large, and we especially appreciated the good attention of the audience, and the splendid program, with T. J. Jackson in charge.

Directors for the day were Marvin Jackson, Elly Shirley, Miss Viluna Shirley, T. J. Jackson, Mrs. Stevens, A. A. Jackson, H. E. Dorough, W. L. Sanders, Miss Birdie Honeycutt, J. R. Scott, J. W. Hayes, Floyd Little, J. N. Scott, Mrs. Era Culver, W. A. Sanders, Misses Alta Mae and Flora Shirley—15 minutes being given to each director.

Mr. A. A. Jackson's encouragement on cooperation might well be considered.

In conclusion we wish to invite all who will to attend our semi-annual session of the Harp and Harmony at Pates' Chapel the first Sunday in May and the Saturday before.—W. L. Sanders.

The following committees were present: Mrs. R. C. McDavid, county chairman; Mrs. W. M. Wyatt and Mrs. Omar Reynolds, publicity committee; Mrs. John VanDerveer and Miss Madelyn Orr, program committee; Miss Ivilyn McCullough, high school committee; Mrs. Joe Calloway, rural committee. Mrs. Joe Calloway was appointed secretary of the county committee.

Letters to Miss Harris at Auburn and to James Ford, head of national better homes movement were read by Mrs. McDavid and approved by the committees.

Miss Madelyn Orr, chairman of the flower and bird house committee reported that plans were being made to offer prizes for the best class flower garden, the best individual flower garden, and prizes would be offered in the high school for the best poster showing house plans and interior decorating, and the best essay on better homes.

Mrs. Omar Reynolds and Mrs. J. M. VanDerveer were appointed to petition Mrs. Roberta Wilson for the use of the oak grove at the corner of Fourth Avenue and Tenth Street as a playground for the children.

The need of a public library was discussed and Mrs. John VanDerveer was appointed to agitate the movement and solicit the aid of city and county officials.

It was decided that this committee would go to Collins Chapel community to organize a better homes movement in that community.

Mrs. Omar Reynolds was appointed to ask the civic club for donation to be used as a prize in the flower and bird house contests in the grammar school.

We wish to extend an invitation to every person in this county who is interested in the better homes campaign to attend the meetings to be held at the Baptist Church in Clanton on Thursday and Friday, April 29 and 30 at 3 o'clock p. m. The following topics will receive the consideration of these meetings:

Thursday—Purpose of the movement for better homes in America; training of future home makers; better books in the homes; music in the home; art in the home.

Friday—Childrens' corner in the home; better partnership between the school and the home; civic effectiveness.

Must See Ahead

If there is a sharp curve in the road, you go slow. You want to see what's ahead. After dark you will not drive without lights for the same reason.

Being able to see ahead is what insures safety and success, no matter what the undertaking. In financial as well as other affairs, the only way to look into the future is by the light of the past. Successful men have worked, planned and SAVED. Why not follow the light they have given and do likewise? Our Bank will help you.

CHAPTER XII

Suspicions

From the Dead Man's Chest the Royal James headed northwest into the Atlantic. Murray knew that the Santissima Trinidad must have sent the tidings of his feat the length and breadth of the Antilles. By now the Spanish squadrons would have put to sea from San Juan de Porto Rico, Santo Domingo and the Havana, and the Caribbean would be aswarm with garda costas; but more to be feared than all the Spaniards' efforts would be the consequence of the complaint sure to be dispatched to the port admiral at Kingston. The Jamaica frigates would carry a hunting-call to every cruiser on the West Indian station.

We picked up a smart so'easter and ran our westing down packet-fashion, with never a sail in sight for a week, until a morning when the sun came up at our backs like a burnished copper plaque and we saw the cone of the Spyglass lifting out of the haze ahead. A league or two farther on the whole island shaped itself beneath its spine of hills, and a column of smoke from the Spyglass told us that Flint's lookout had detected us.

The wind had continued strong through the night, but after dawn it turned puffy and 'twas nearly noon when we passed into Captain Kidd's anchorage on the last of the flood. There was a great bustle aboard the Walrus, with boats plying to and from the shore, and as our anchor splashed, the longboat put off from her side, Flint's red coat like a flame in the stern sheets.

"Glory!" exclaimed Moira O'Donnell, her blue eyes wide with delighted horror. "There's one I'd not need to have pointed out to me to know him a pirate—or the dreadful knaves that do be rowing the oars."

Her father glowered down at the heap of treasure kegs, chests and packages which Murray had ordered fetched on deck that morning, and then stared off at Flint's gaudy figure.

"And 'tis to scoundrels like yon ye'll be trusting the lives of all of us, Andrew Murray!" he snarled. "By times, man, I think there's a green madness in your brain. Why, the view of that gold and silver below would be sufficient to tempt better men than they to commit murder."

My great-uncle took snuff.

"Your diagnosis is correct, chevalier," he retorted. "They would cheerfully commit murder for a coveted knife or a sixpence with a hole in it. My design in revealing to them the entire extent of the treasure we carry is to impress them at once with my good faith and benumb their acquisitive faculties by the sight of greater wealth than they ever dreamed of obtaining at one time."

A snort from Peter diverted attention to the Dutchman.

"If Flint has der feel for it it don't

"If Flint Has Der Feel for It It Don't Matter What You Show Him. He Wants All.

matter what you show him. He wants all."

"Ah!"

Murray regarded more attentively the boatload of pirates just rounding up to our port quarter.

"I see that Captain Flint has with him John Silver and the red-haired Irish boy he calls his luck. Humph! You may be right, friend Peter. But I should not be greatly concerned over that. 'Twill do no harm if I reveal that it occurred to me that in many ways it might simplify our problem did Captain Flint resort to force."

The Irishman counted the gunports in the Walrus' side.

"He seems to carry as heavy metal—"

"But on the sea, as on the land, 'tis the brain which overmatches brute force, chevalier. You, who are an engineer, do not need to be reminded of this axiom. However, we are not yet come to the issue, and I am never one for engaging in a search for trouble."

"We are in an impasse," reflected O'Donnell gloomily.

"Not at all," rejoined my great-uncle. "We have played our hand with entire success so far in the game. 'Tis now for us to sit back and await the plays of other participants. What they do must determine our next— But Captain Flint is come aboard. This conversation is without purpose, since fact must now displace conjecture."

He eyed us all somewhat gravely.

"I have but one word more to say," he added. "Whatever happens, leave me to do the talking."

"Ye'd do it whether we would or no," growled O'Donnell.

Flint climbed over the bulwarks with a racket of oaths and swaggered up to the poop. Martin dropped a whip from a block on the mainyard, and John Silver was hauled up in its bight, his crutch hanging from his neck. Darby and the rest scaled the side ladder and mingled with the James' crew. Their eyes popped from their heads as they circled the heap of treasure.

Their chief was equally frank in revealing the lust of greed the picture warmed in him. His green eyes flickered hotly on either side of his thin, beaked nose, and his blue jowl was bluer than ever, the weather-worn skin over his cheekbones laced with a network of crimson veins that brightened as his excitement increased.

Yet he forgot the treasure the instant his gaze fell upon Peter and me.

"So your hostages returned to ye, Murray? Gut me, 'twas a pretty trick ye played us! Ye'd keep faith wi' me, ye would! Oh, yes! Ye'd give me two hostages, instead o' one. You'll fulfill your contract, you will. There's no need for it, to be sure, but ye'll do anything to prove good faith to me! And take both or none, says you. Both or none! Well, ye fooled me that time, Murray, but ye never will again, by thunder—not if my name's John Flint!"

My great-uncle heard him out in silence, waiting until he had stepped off the poop-ladder and stood facing us.

"I am not responsible for your losing the hostages," he replied then in his iciest tones. "Stap me, Flint, I warned you your ship was in a disgraceful condition. With all hands drunk, did you think to keep fast two men of strength and intelligence?"

"Drunk or sober, we were promised them," assented Flint, a trifle less belligerently. "And sure, ye could ha' turned 'em back to us—not that that will do me any good for the two men they killed, they or whoever helped 'em to break from the Walrus."

"Nobody from the Royal James assisted them," said Murray. "You have my word for that. I cannot say as much for your own ship, although they told me when they discovered themselves to me, several days after our sailing, that they had acted alone."

"Alone or not, where's my two men?" blustered Flint. "Good hands don't grow on trees."

"No; aboard the Walrus they stab one another to death," agreed my great-uncle. "Come, come, you have no proof in support of your charge."

"Well, two broke free and two died," insisted Flint. "And if the two who broke free were not the means—"

"What proof have you of it?"

"Proof?"

"Aye, proof, I said. Their bodies, what of them?"

"Why, we never—"

My great-uncle shrugged his shoulders.

"You see? You have been talking loosely, I fear, my friend."

Flint's fingers twitched on his hanger-hilt.

"I tell ye, Murray, there's a foul smell about this whole business. You were all for giving me hostages—'twas no idea of mine. And then they no sooner come aboard my ship than they're away again. I like it not. Here's trickery or ye may gut me for a preacher."

"Had I found your hostages on the James before sailing or within a day after, you should have had them back again," said Murray firmly. "But there is no point to this argument; for hostages or no hostages, you see me returned with the treasure, as I promised."

"Ye must ha' had rare success," Flint admitted unwillingly. "We ha' the gold o' the Indies here!"

He looked up and happened to meet the awe-struck gaze of Moira O'Donnell. A sneer curled his lips.

"But ye carry passengers, I see," he insinuated. "Gold and women! 'Tis a fine combination, Murray, but there's a rule in our Articles you were all for establishing. Number Four, eh? It sticks in my crop, for ye called it once on me.

"And that there may be less occasion for broils amongst our company, we do further decree that gaming may be prohibited at any time when in the captain's judgment it becomes dangerous to our harmony, as likewise, that at no time and under no circumstances may women be taken and kept as spoil aboard our vessels or any vessel upon which our company may chance to fare.'

"What d'ye say to that? What of Rule Four now?"

My great-uncle took snuff.

"This lady," he said, with the slightest emphasis, "is the daughter of my friend here, Colonel O'Donnell, a gentleman who represents in our venture the group of my friends who made it possible for me to intercept the treasure ship."

O'Donnell, whose face had been growing redder and redder throughout this conversation, plucked his daughter by the elbow and led her away.

"Colonel O'Donnell and his daughter are my guests," my great-uncle continued. "They have played essential parts in our capture of the treasure. I must insist, Flint, that you accord them a courtesy similar to that which I should extend to friends of yours in a like situation."

"They're no friends o' mine," growled Flint. "This is more o' your cursed political blethering. Well, I'm sick o' it, Murray, and I care not who knows it. First, ye carry us north to America, just to crimp two men, with not two hundred pounds in booty to show for the voyage. Next, ye shut me up here for the better part of six months for my men to rot with fever and drink and my ship to foul her bottom—"

"On both these counts you have your own negligence to blame," put in my great-uncle.

"——and last," Flint fumed on without heeding him, "ye bring to the Rendeyvoo a man and a woman who are not of our company, and who, for all ye know, may go hence, and loose a king's ship on us some day when we are careened and helpless."

"Not you," returned Murray sarcastically. "You'll not careen, Flint. That would mean work for your crew. But you concern yourself needlessly. Colonel O'Donnell has reasons for keeping his share in our enterprise under cover. He is more safely to be trusted in the circumstances than many another."

"I care not who he is or what you may have on him," cried Flint, working himself into a fury. "Ye ha' introduced four strangers into our midst

REPORT OF COUNTY BOARD OF REVIEW OPEN FOR INSPECTION

State of Alabama, Chilton County.

Notice is hereby given by S. M. Pate, Tax Assessor of Chilton County, Alabama, that the Board of Review of said County has returned its report and the same is open for inspection in the Tax Assessor' office.

The Board of Review will sit at the court house of Chilton County on the first Monday in June to consider such protests as may be filed by any tax payer as provided by law. Any tax payer who is not satisfied with the valuation of his property as fixed and entered upon the return list may file objections in writing to such assessed valuation with the secretary of said board on or before the last Monday in May, and the tax payer shall set out in such objections filed the description of each item of property and his reason for making objection to the assessed valuation as placed thereon. (Sec. 158, 1923 Revenue Act.)

This 22nd day of April, 1926.

SALE OF LANDS TO PAY DEBTS

The State of Alabama, Chilton County—Probate Court.—In the matter of the Estate of R. D. Campbell, deceased.

Whereas, L. B. Gaither, Administratrix of the estate of R. D. Campbell, deceased, has filed her application in writing under oath, for an order to sell certain lands belonging to said estate and described in said application, for the payment of the debts of said estate, upon the grounds that the personal property of said deceased is not sufficient for the payment of the debts of said estate.

Whereupon, it is ordered that the 5th day of May, 1926, be appointed a day on which to hear such application, at which time all persons interested can appear and contest the said application if they think proper.

Witness my hand, this 3rd day of April, 1926.

L. H. REYNOLDS,
4-8-3t Judge of Probate.

The best way to keep flies out of the house next summer is to screen the house this spring.

In 4 years' tests conducted by our State Experiment Station, including 1922 to 1925, Cook 10-10 cotton has proved to be the best for this part of Alabama. It ranks first on the list and made 34 pounds more lint to the acre than the next best yielding cotton tested.

At the Delta Branch Experiment Sation at Stoneville, Miss., in 1924, fifty-three varieties of cotton were tested. Both long and short staple varieties were included. They were ranked according to yield in cotton per acre. When seed and lint were both sold, Cook 10-10 ranked second, and made $194.52 per acre.

C. M. Mauldin, Wilsonville, Ala., is the largest multiplier of these seed in the State. His seed are for sale by Gulledge Brothers, Verbena; J. N. Dennis, Clanton; W. H. Goodgame, Thorsby; and W. H. Conway, Jemison. Nothing pays a farmer better than good seed. 4-8-tf-ch.

"THE LITTLE CLODHOPPER" IS GREAT SUCCESS

"The Little Clodhopper," a well designed and thoroughly interesting drama, was presented by the faculty and pupils of Isabella agricultural school in the auditorium of their school building in Mulberry community on the Clanton-Maplesville highway on Saturday evening.

The interest of the spectators was aroused in the beginning and held throughout the play. Ocie Gump was cleverly played by Burnace Vance. The book agent, Sep Green, kept the audience in a state of uproarious laughter. The indispensable old maid as a hotel proprietress, gave room for the display of considerable talent; this character was played by Miss Ethel Mize, a member of the Isabella school faculty. Miss Olivia Latham, another member of the faculty thrilled the audience with emotion by pathos and laughter, alternately, as the heroine.

There were about a dozen characters in the drama. The plot was well laid, the acting good throughout, and the play ran for 2 1-2 hours. Mrs. A. J. Lecroy as Mrs. Crikerson-Boggs, and her son, Georgia, played by Guin Williams, were excellent. "The Little Clodhopper" presentation reflects much credit on the talent as well as the training of the characters.

Mr. John W. Jones, the principal of Isabella vocational and agricultural school, deserves the credit for the training of the characters. Mr. Jones is a graduate of the University of Alabama, and has an experience of 14 years teaching to his credit.

Upon final recounting of the refreshment and other funds, together with the door receipts, Mr. Jones conservatively estimates that more than $100.00 will be added to the building fund of the school.

A new school building by a state plan will be constructed on the grounds of the Isabella school in the near future. The structure will represent an expenditure of $20,000 or more, to be derived from efforts of the friends of the school, a fund from the county and aid from the state.

The proposed new building will contain 8 spacious class rooms, an auditorium with a seating capacity of fully 1,000, lavatories, cloak room, office, etc., and will be strictly modern.

The Isabella school is a state agricultural and vocational school and the only one of its kind in the county. The agricultural and vocational school building has its shop, its manual training room, storage room for tools, class rooms and an office. The junior high school building has six spacious school rooms, is a consolidated school and has 11 grades.

Mr. Jones, the principal of the Isabella school system, is modest, but brimful of enthusiasm, and is pronounced an unqualified success by his appreciative patrons, and the entire county.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION TO CONDEMN LANDS

State of Alabama, Chilton County.—In Probate Court.—Chilton County vs. Lewis Christensen et als. To: Mrs. C. A. Aubol, Big Lake, State of Minnesota, and owners unknown:

You are hereby notified that Chilton County, a municipal corporation, has filed in Probate Court of Chilton County, Alabama, for condemnation of certain lands and interest therein described in said petition, and said application avers that said County proposes to construct, build, use and maintain a public highway or road and in so doing, the land described in said petition, of which you are an owner or have an interest therein, will likely be traversed or crossed by said road, and you are hereby notified that the hearing of said application has been set by the court for the 5th day of May, 1926, and you may appear and contest said application if you think proper.

Witness my hand this, the 3rd day of April, 1926.

Ford
Highest in Quality
Lowest in Price

The finest steels available are used in the manufacture of Ford cars. The plate glass for windshields and windows is as perfect as can be made. Upholstery material contains a larger percentage of wool than is ordinarily specified—even for much higher priced cars. The basic features of Ford design have never been improved upon by any manufacturer.

No other car offers greater dependability. The Ford car has won the favor of millions of users under every conceivable motoring condition. Its convenience is known and appreciated the world over; its performance is taken for granted.

Such quality is possible at Ford prices because every operation, from mining of ore to final assembly, is under direct control of the Ford Motor Company.

Iron is taken from Ford mines in Michigan; coal from the Company's mines in Kentucky and West Virginia. Glass comes from Ford glass plants; wood from the Ford timber tracts in the North. Raw materials and finished products are carried over the Company's own transportation routes; coke ovens, blast furnaces, a steel mill, foundries and saw mills—all are part of this complete organization. There are even salvage plants, paper mill, cement plant, etc., to transform waste materials into useful by-products.

In this way every possible economy is effected. Under no other circumstances could Ford quality be had at Ford prices.

Why Is It---

Editorial Comment

THE EUROPEAN WAR DEBTS

By George B. Lockwood

After describing the unpopularity of the United States in Europe, Senator Copeland of New York said in the course of a recent Senate debate: "What is wrong with us in our dealings with foreign nations that we can not command their friendship?" Is it always something wrong with an individual that he can not command the friendship of some others—for instance of those whom he has helped and who have borrowed money from him they do not want to pay? Why is it assumed by so many that when the United States is criticised from abroad, it is proof that there is justification for the criticism? Perhaps there is nothing wrong with us in this situation—maybe there is something wrong with the other fellow. This is an assumption that is at least worthy of consideration in the discussion of foreign affairs.

Let it not be forgotten that all controversy relative to the debts owing the United States by foreign nations is due to the failure to take from our debtors definite evidences of obligation, with stated maturity. Such evidences in the form of bonds were given to the people of the United States who furnished this money during Liberty Loan drives on the assurance that the money sent abroad would be repaid to the American government. Billions were loaned to our associates in the World War, after as well as during the war, and there was no serious thought at that time that this was a gift.

Now the United States is confronted with the necessity of doing the best it can with a bad situation. Collection in full from our foreign debtors, whom some of our world crusaders had led to believe that they would never be called upon to pay anything, is clearly out of the question. Because of the conditions under which the loans were made, they must be negotiated. Demand for payment in full would result, in most cases, in no payment at all. Common sense indicates that the best thing to do is to collect to the limit of the willingness and capacity of our European debtors to pay, with the knowledge that with every passing year disposition to pay at all weakens, not merely among responsible statesmen, but among the people of the nations involved, among whom a crusade of hatred against the United States is constantly being carried on. In the case of the Italian debt settlement the Senate has confronted only the alternatives of partial settlement and repudiation. Italian repudiation would be followed by French repudiation. Russian repudiation has of course definitely taken place, which fact does not disturb at all some of the politicians loudest in their denunciations of Italy to pay more fully. How will we proceed to collect debts which our European debtors refuse to pay? Does anyone favor going to war about it? Are those who declare that they would prefer to get nothing if not more than is in prospect representing the interests of the American people who would have to pay the bill for this exhibition of feeling?

Our bill for "saving the world for democracy" is a big one. President Harding estimated that before the last bill, bond and interest coupon is paid it will aggregate a hundred billion dollars. Perhaps we have had that much worth of experience. America demonstrated, anyway, that she was not too proud to fight when attacked, and the vastness of our military and naval operations brought to Europe and the world a realization of America's potential strength which may in the future save us the necessity of a war nearer home. It has also made Americans more than ever determined to keep out of European politics and world crusades. We might have learned our lesson under conditions far more harmful to ourselves. Who knows, in the light of such considerations, that America's part in the World War was worth as much as it cost?

Of course the United States is unpopular abroad. The wealth and stability of the United States is envied; but Americans earned that wealth and stability, and are not compelled to sacrifice their high level of life to the rest of the world upon the heels of an experience which teaches them that such sacrifices bring in their train only the enmity of those we try to help. The more we become involved in the tangled web of Europe intrigue, the more we seek to arbitrate Europe's age-old hatreds and rivalries, the more unpopular the United States will become. The lesson is clear. Close the accounts on the European war transaction as quickly as possible, and realize on the World War in the only way open to us—and that war, and what has come out of it, should teach Americans.

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

Written for this paper by
FRANK P. LITSCHERT

Our experiences with rubber, coffee and nitrates, have pretty well convinced the people of the United States that a foreign monopoly on any commodity inn general use is not a good thing for the American consumer. They are also fairly well persuaded that the only way effectually to check a foreign monopoly of this kind is to do our own producing.

This lesson in rubber and coffee should be taken to heart too, by those who, up to this time, have shown no particular interest in the American merchant marine, because it seemed such an abstract, far-away question. For an active American merchant marine is just as sure to prevent gouging of the American public in the way of freight rates as a big production of American rubber would prevent our being held up by a European rubber trust.

Before the World War most of our foreign carrying was done by foreign ships, more than 50% of it, for example, by the ships of Great Britain. Since the war our ships are doing more of our carrying than is being done by English vessels. And of course the merchant marines of other countries have suffered proportionately so far as doing Uncle Sam's hauling for him is concerned.

Now European nations would, of course, be glad to get this business back. They have found it too big a job to buck against the United States government, but have hoped to do more against private lines flying the American flag. Realizing this danger Congress recently appropriated $10,000,000 to fight this sort of competition.

Every American who understands the situation will heartily approve of this appropriation. As one writer on economics recently put it: "For every dollar our people lose in maintaining ships in foreign trade, foreigners know, if we do not, that the people save ten dollars in lower freight rates—what our government loses, the people save over and over again."

And so when you are complaining about the cost of rubber tires and the price of coffee, don't forget that if we allow our merchant marine to go to the junk pile, within the next few years foreign shipping monopolies will rise to plunder us, and to raise the cost of living by increasing the freight rates on various commodities. Some people are not impressed by the value of a merchant marine in time of war because they blindly hope we may never have another war. But they ought to be impressed by what foreign monopolies can do to their pocketbooks.

WHO BENEFITTED MOST?

American newspaper correspondents abroad, and American travelers returning from Europe are almost unanimous in stating that at present citizens of the United States are none too popular in European countries, principally because of Uncle Sam's business-like policy in insisting that our foreign debt be liquidated in the interest of world credit and the American taxpayer.

There is every indication that another drive for cancellation of debts is under way and that the effort will be made to have the world believe that the United States is the only country to benefit from the war, that all other nations lost. Even Mr. Churchill, Great Britain's chancellor of the exchequer, is quoted as saying that Uncle Sam is getting all of the reparations.

It is a little difficult for the average American to see just how the United States was more greatly benefitted than other nations by the war. We had our lists of dead and wounded, and we have our increased taxes which we will not be permitted to forget for many a year.

We received no indemnity, either in land or money, and all that we ask is that our foreign debts be paid up to reasonable capacity. But let us see how the allies shared in the post-war adjustments. Germany claims to have paid $11,400,000,000 in money and material in the way of indemnity to the allies since the war ended. The allies claim they have only received a little more than $3,000,000,000. The $8,000,000,000 difference is a little error in arithmetic on one side or the other. American experts, if asked for an impartial opinion would probably fix the sum at more than $3,000,000,000 and less than $11,000,000,000. At any rate, it is not a sum to be sneezed at.

And in addition to this indemnity there were some real estate transactions. France got Alsace-Lorraine and the use of the Sarre. Great Britain, Belgium and France got Togoland, Kamerun, Southwest Africa and German East Africa. England, Australia and New Zealand got the German islands in the Pacific, Poland got a slice of East Prussia, Italy got a slice of Austria and somebody got Shantung.

None of the spoils went to the United States either in building lots or money. Evidently Uncle Sam didn't get it all.

TODAY IS NEW YEARS DAY

Yep, that's right, New Year's Day—for The Union-Banner. This issue is the first of the 14th year. Just 14 years ago The Banner swallowed The Union, and they became one. There have been rocky roads to travel in these years, but "the good old" Union-Banner is hitting on all six and expecting the coming year to be the best in history.

The Alabama Farm Bureau Cotton Association recently made a distribution on 1925 cotton, bringing the payment of all members up to 15 cents per pound on middling cotton. A total of $1,225,000 went out in this distribution.

Not A Mushy Job.—Fortunately, the locomotive engineer has no one in his cab but the fireman, therefore doesn't try t drive with one hand.—Dallas Morning News.

A shrinkage in the value of American farms and farm buildings from $66,316,000,000 in 1920 to $49,546,523,000 in 1925 was recently estimated by the Department of Commerce, based upon a preliminary report of the last agricultural census. The decrease amounts to a little more than 25%. Farm acreage in the same period declined from 955,883,000 to 924,889,000 acres. The Department placed the decline in the value of farm buildings at 22%, and that of land at 28%.

Coffee at the Table

As many cups as you want

The convenience of this electric percolator will take you by storm. Coffee at the table. Delicious coffee made quickly but slow enough to get every bit of flavor from the coffee bean. And if you like more than one cup of coffee it is not necessary to run back and forth to the kitchen to satisfy your desires. The delight of electric coffee has to be experienced to be appreciated.

Enjoy These Benefits of Electric Coffee

The benefits of electric coffee are many. Coffee can be made right at the table; it is made to taste like coffee should taste and not like hot water slightly flavored; it can be made quickly and without trouble; no sooty pot to clean afterwards, just rinse the percolator with water and it is clean and fresh as new.

Resolve NOW to get these benefits of real coffee and stop in and get one of these electric percolators TODAY. They may be purchased on our easy payment plan.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S COUNCIL MEETS

The Young People's Council met at Oak Grove church Saturday, April 17, and rendered a splendid program.

There was a fairly good crowd out, and everyone seemed to enjoy the day.

The next meeting will be held at Poplar Springs.—Mrs. Howard Garrick, Sec'y.

SARDIS NEWS

Rev. C. A. Taylor of Verbena filled his regular appointments at this place Saturday and Sunday.

We have reorganized our Sunday school with George Sansom, Superintendent; H. L. Ratliff, Assistant Superintendent. The teachers are Mrs. L. B. Broadhead, Miss Lela Hayes, Mrs. Susie Roper, Mrs. H. L. Ratliff, and Mrs. W. L. Williams. We invite everybody out to help us make this a good Sunday school.

Stanton B. Y. P. U. will be here Sunday night to organize a B. Y. P. U. for us. We hope to have a good crowd, especially young people.

The Pleasant Grove singing class, using the old Christian Harmony books, will be here to sing next Sunday afternoon. Everyone invited, especially lovers of this old time music.

The Sunday school will not meet next Sunday until in the afternoon, on account of this being regular preaching day at Antioch.

C. H. Robinson of Providence in Beat 16 is in Montgomery this week serving on the Federal grand jury.

TAXES Alone Consume the Revenues

from More than 1/5th of this Railroad's Mileage ~

Consider the above statement again—the earnings of more than 1,100 miles of the Louisville & Nashville's 5,042 miles of road are required to satisfy the tax collectors, local, city and federal. Railroad taxes are constantly and uninterruptedly increasing from year to year, the staggering sum of one million dollars per day having been paid by American railroads during the year 1925 in various forms of taxation.

This Railroad's net revenue for 1925, after paying all direct operating costs and before the payment of taxes and various corporate expenses, was $6,712 00 per mile. The total tax accruals, including property assessments for public improvements, reached the high-water mark of $7,400,000.00.

A simple calculation, therefore, shows that the revenues of 22% of this Road's mileage were paid into the public treasuries for purposes of taxation. Last year the Louisville & Nashville Railroad's taxes were substantially greater than the amount of money paid in dividends to the owners of this property, who assume all risk and responsibility for the Road's operation.

Railroads of the United States are not only affording the best transportation system on the face of the globe, but they are, by their tax payments, making possible the operation of schools, building of roads and support and maintenance of city, state and federal institutions.

SINGERS VISIT CLANTON

The Eagle Quartet of singers from Tuscaloosa spent Monday in Clanton on their way to Elmore county. Some time between now and the first of June these gentlemen expect to come back to Chilton county for one or more engagements in musical concert. Singers here are looking forward to their appearance with much interest.

BETHSALEM NEWS

Mrs. J. B. Boyd is on the sick list this week.

Mrs. C. C. Vinson and little daughter were the guests of Mrs. B. E. Wilkins last Friday.

Miss Marie Bowman entertained a number of young people at her home last Friday night.

Our Sunday school and singing society are both progressing nicely. Every second Sunday afternoon is our regular singing afternoon. All are invited.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to extend our sincere thanks to those who gave their assistance and beautiful flowers during our bereavement in the loss of our dear little girl, Bama. She is our loss and Heaven's gain.—Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Jones.

COOPER SINGING SOCIETY

Our chairman being absent Sunday our society was conducted by Mr. L. T. Grant, who was chosen chairman for the afternoon. He opened the society by singing one song, after which prayer was offered by W. A. Calloway.

Those who entertained the audience during the afternoon were Messrs. L. T. Grant, Archie Devaughn, Ammie Boswell, I. D. Huett, W. M. Gilliland, R. T. Grant, and T.L. Robinson.

We had a good crowd, and invite them back again. We are glad to have you to help us in singing praises to our Creator, for we are promised that if we keep His commandments we shall sing in the New Jerusalem. Come and hear our quartets, which are always good.

We were dismissed with prayer by Mr. D. S. Robinson.

Our society meets the first and third Sundays at 1:30 o'clock.

MULBERRY-ISABELLA

Mr. Bill Veazy is confined to his bed on account of being thrown from a mule last week. He was riding to the house from his field when the animal got scared on a bridge and threw him off. His many friends wish for his speedy recovery.

The play at Isabella last Saturday night was the best ever given here. The proceeds was $48.00.

Dr. and Mrs. H. W. Caldwell and three other teachers from Marbury attended the play (Little Clodhopper) at Isabella last Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Wright and Mr. Emmett Wright from Jemison visited Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Veazy on last Sunday.

Mrs. W. T. Tucker and children, and Miss Evie Lecroy from Bessemer visited their parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Lecroy last week end.

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Williams and Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Williams attended the singing in Clanton last Sunday; also Mr. and Mrs. D. O. Manning and children.

Mr. and Mrs. Willie Bean from Clanton visited relatives in this community last Sunday.

THORSBY SECTION

(S. E. NORTON, Manager).

Pearl Steiner and Ronald Lucas represented the Congregational church as delegates to the Interdenominational Young People's Conference in Birmingham, which was held April 16-18.

Mr. A. M. Johnson who has been quite ill at his home here is slowly improving.

Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Foss and family made a business trip to Maplesville Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl R. Peterson of Fairfield were week end visitors in Thorsby.

Mr. J. M. Bosworth has been appointed manager of the Alabama Power Company club house at Mitchell Dam.

Just now because of his attainments and position Mr. Leo Peterson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Peterson of Thorsby, is very much in the limelight as an aviation mechanic, detailed from the aviation department of the U. S. Navy to accompany the Lieut. Byrd expedition to the North Pole. Mr. Peterson enlisted in the spring of 1918 and completed his course a year later in the aviation school at Great Lakes station, about 30 miles north of Chicago. For four years he served at the Naval Air Station at Pensacola, Fla., and was later transferred to the U. S. S. Langley for sea duty. He has accomplished 800 hours in the air. The plane he is now attached to is a monster Fokker monoplane with 90-foot wing spread, and three powerful engines, so designed that any one of them will fly the plane. He has been granted 90 days leave of absence by the U. S. Navy Department, or whatever time is necessary to complete the trip. We were shown a handful of clippings from widely scattered newspapers, several of them giving his picture with that of his companions or plane.

Scandinavian services next Sunday at 10:30 a. m., and English services at 7:30 p. m. Business session after the morning meeting. Night subject is "The Fourth Commandment." No services on following Sunday.—Concordia Lutheran Church.

The Thorsby delegates to the State Christian Endeavor Convention at Montgomery report a meeting that, in enthusiasm and honest inspiration for the highest and best in life, would be hard to beat. The theme of the convention was "The Victorious Life," and this thought found expression in all of the addresses. "Living For Jesus" was the title of the convention song, and this was the dominant note of the entire program. There was unstinted praise of the hospitality of Montgomery and the sion in all of the addresses. "Living effort to have all the Endeavorers enjoy themselves; but the responsibility that depend on them for solution were also forcefully presented. These hundreds of young people were told that such present day problems as "The Building of a Warless World," "Racial Adjustment," and "Universal Social Justice" were for them to solve. "The Stewardship of Possessions" was another subject that laid emphasis on how young people should "make, keep and spend" their money, because they are "stewards." Thus, while the addresses at the convention were truly inspirational, they were also made very practical in their application to the life of today. The four fundamental things that Christian Endeavor stands for were strongly emphasized; 1—Confession of Christ; 2—Service for Christ; 3—Loyalty to Christ's own Church; 4—Fellowship with Christ's People. The next State C. E. convention will be held in Birmingham.

Just as the sun was setting last Sunday we came to realize more just what our C. E. topic meant. The topic was on the Sabbath, and the beautiful golden sunset illuminated everything. At the latter part of the meeting the delegates to the C. E. convention in Montgomery gave their reports. We were all interested in this meeting and how well the young people were treated at Montgomery. The delegates learned new songs which they brought back to us as well as telling of good speakers.

Miss Helen Wilcox, a trained Christian worker, who twice before has assisted in conducting young people's Christian life Conferences at Thorsby, is now arranging for a third meeting of this nature. The full program has not yet been worked out. Rev. Charles E. Fiske of Cleveland, Ohio, will also be here to assist in conducting the meetings. Dr. Fiske has also been here several times bfore and always brings a message worth while. With two such leaders and a bunch of live young folks there will be real work for definite information as to the meetings, all to be held at Thorsby Congregational church the 24th and 25th of April. Watch the bulletin board at the post office. Young people, regrdless of denominational preferences, are cordially invited to share in these meetings.

Thorsby Institute boarding students and faculty had a very enjoyable picnic Saturdy afternoon and night in the pine grove near the boys' dormitory. Miss Murray, the matron, and the girls had prepared a most enjoyable lunch.

Mrs. Loveland was very agreeably surprised by a short visit last Saturday from her friends, Mr. and Mrs. Clark Kuesterer of Birmingham.

Miss Lura Wood, a graduate of the Institute was a week end guest of Miss Odie Lee Arthur. Miss Wood is a teacher in the public school at Fairfield, Ala.

William Each celebated his 16th birthday anniversary with a party given to about thirty of his young friends at the home of his parents, Rev. and Mrs. J. E. Each. Indoor and outdoor games were played and appetizing refreshments were served.

Another birthday party was given as a surprise to Mrs. E. F. Mead Friday afternoon, Aprl 17th. Those present were Mrs. Bakke, Mrs. Paxson, Mrs. Tagg, Mrs. Soberg, Mrs. Danielson, Mrs. Anderson, Mrs. Ekblad and daughter and Mrs. Clyde Mead.

Mrs. Anna S. Villadsen went to Birmingham Sunday expecting to return Thursday, the 22nd.

Mrs. T. W. Robinson and daughter, Mary Sue, made a trip to Birmingham Tuesday.

The ladies guild social will be held at the new home of Mrs. Robert Davenport Thursday afternoon, April 22.

The Parent - Teachers Association will hold a social Thursday afternoon, April 29th at the home of Mrs. Martin Petersen .

Mrs. John Harrison Collins has been quite ill for the past ten days.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Parnell of Stanton spent last Thursday with Dr. and Mrs. Wood.

An event rich in buying opportunities at The Leader—"$1.00 Day" Sale.

Mrs. A. D. Watt of Birmingham spent the week end with her sister, Mrs. S. C. Wood.

The W. M. U. will hold their annual meeting, an all day affair, at Union Grove Church Thursday, April 22nd. Members from all Baptist churches in Chilton County are expected to attend. Arrangements have been made to have a state worker at this meeting.

Mr. W. H. Goodgame has purchased from Guy Higgins his tract of land comprising the site of the old planing mill, destroyed by fire, and the brick warehouse, and will proceed immediately to install thereon a modern planing mill, to be followed later by such additions to provide building material as the demands of the community will justify. Mr. Goodgame is one of Thorsby's enterprising citizens who is not afraid to make investments in Thorsby property.

Hundreds of people in and around Thorsby are now anxiously waiting for the opening of the strawberry season. The cool weather has retarded the ripening of the berries which have nevertheless been growing so that today in most fields many of the plants have fringe of well grown green berries, only waiting for a few sunny days to make them blush with gladness.

Mr. J. Monroe Smith, manager of Thorsby Fruit and Truck Growers Association says he expects to be shipping a few first crates by Friday of this week and carloads by May 3rd.

PORTO BELLO GOLD

without the let or permission of others of our company."

"I do not recognize the right of any other to tell me what I shall or shall not do," replied my great-uncle haughtily. "Such as it is, this company is the creation of my efforts, and I venture the assertion, Captain Flint, that it will not long survive my leadership. The four strangers of whom you complain have been essential factors in enabling me to win the treasure before you—which now awaits your convenience for division, according to the terms which I originally stipulated."

If Murray's last words were intended to stimulate Flint's cupidity anew they succeeded. "How—how much?" he asked, almost fearfully.

"Seven hundred and sixty-three thousand, nine hundred and ninety-five pounds in coin and bullion, without counting a chest of jewels and three chests of plate," replied my great-uncle promptly. "You will note that I have favored our people in the division, allotting to them all in excess of the million and a half pounds the Santissima Trinidad was expected to carry."

A cunning look crept into Flint's face.

"Where's the rest?" he croaked.

My great-uncle took snuff.

"Quite safely disposed of, I assure you," he answered.

"Down below?"

"No, 'tis no longer aboard."

Flint swallowed hard.

"Ye mean it aint here? It ain't aboard the James?"

"Precisely, captain."

"Gut me!" roared Flint. "Ye divided it by your lone? Wi'out a man from the Walrus to stand by and see fair play? I'll not support it, Murray. Curse me if I will! I know your tricks! May I be —— —— for a —— —— —— if any lousy swab of a sea-lawyer politician is a-goin' to cast dust in my eyes. 'Twould be the very thing you'd do, Murray, to attempt to cozen me into believing seven hundred thousand pounds had been set aside for your friends by throwing in an extra hundred thousand pounds for our division. 'Friends!' By thunder, the only friend ye know is yourself, ye dried-up wisp of a—"

"That will do," said my great-uncle in his still, level voice.

Flint opened and shut his mouth rapidly without a sound issuing forth.

"I bar personalities, captain," warned my redoubtable relative.

One hand barely touched his sword-hilt.

"I trust there will be no occasion for me to repeat the warning," he remarked.

Flint's baffled rage was comic to behold.

"Aye, you and your fine gentleman ways!" he choked. "I know ye! Gut me if I'll support it to be swindled thus. A woman and strangers aboard! And eight hundred thousand pounds missing! 'Safely disposed of,' says you! I'll warrant. Safe where you can collar it any time you please. I knowed it as soon as I marked the flutter of a petticoat. A woman and gold—"

Long John Silver swung himself up on to the poop from the head of the port ladder and stamped toward us.

"I hopes as how ye'll overlook my boldness, Cap'n Murray, but I ha' a word to speak to Cap'n Flint—fo'csle council, sir."

My great-uncle took another pinch of snuff.

"Ah, yes," be observed dryly. "I recall that aboard the Walrus the fo'csle council must be heard. I trust that you can instil some common sense into your captain's head. He hath need of it, Silver."

Flint glared, but Silver snatched whatever reply he intended out of his mouth.

"Thank 'ee, sir. You just let me an' Cap'n Flint ha' a word in private, and maybe we'll see a way out o' this tangle."

"Suit yourself," said my great-uncle with a shrug.

Silver pulled his forelock, and his large face lighted up as if a considerable favor had been conferred.

"We won't be no time at all, sir. Thank 'ee kindly."

He put his free hand under Flint's elbow, and I marveled to see the ease with which he was able to bend his captain to his will. Accustomed as I was to Murray's autocratic discipline, it was a revelation to establish contact again with the free-and-easy spirit of the Walrus, where any man might become commander if he was able to muster a majority of the fo'csle to raise cutlasses in his behalf. Flint obediently followed his quartermaster to the sta'b'd side of the poop, and there they laid their heads close and collogued for a quarter-glass, Silver at first arguing and Flint resisting him.

"Silver is no man to let hard on four hundred thousands pounds slip-through his hands," I said.

"Andt maybe he says not to let eight hundred thousand pounds get away, needer," commented Peter. "Ja, I t'ink so."

Murray nodded slowly.

"You are more like to be right than wrong, friend Peter. Of all the Walrus' people he hath the most acute intelligence. A choice knave!"

Colonel O'Donnell stalked back to us from the extremity of the stern with Moira on his arm.

"Did ye put a flea in the rascal's ear, Murray?" he demanded. "By the Mass, I never thought to hear ye tolerate such impudence on your own deck."

"I am no man for quarreling without an adequate end in sight," returned my great-uncle. "Never threaten unless you must, chevalier, and then smite with a sure aim."

"Words!" grumbled the Irishman. "'Tis time we had a little action."

Don't Starve Your Cotton

Cotton must have plenty of quickly available nitrogen to make a profitable crop. It doesn't pay to starve the plants. Give them plenty of Nitrate of Soda at planting time and later as a side dressing. This will insure a big, profitable crop.

It Pays To Use NITRATE of SODA

Ask your county agent or send a postal card with your address to our nearest office for our free bulletins which have helped thousands of farmers to grow bigger and more profitable crops.

TEMPLE

We organized a singing society at this place last Sunday. This is the first ever organized here, but the Sunday afternoon session was a success. The meeting was opened by the chairman, W. J. Mims, by singing one song. Prayer by J. M. Johnson.

A large crowd was in attendance, among whom were several good singers, who took part in the singing. We thank them for their assistance and invite them back again.

Directors were Marion Thompson, Girthie Easterling, Girthie Easterling, Lester Mims, Melvin Mims, F. M. Mims, Mrs. Alton Driver, Mrs. Minnie P. Mims, and Mrs. Jesse Baker. Organists were Mrs. Jesse Baker, Mrs. Marion Thompson, and Miss Aline Baker.

The closing song was sung by W. J. Mims; benediction by R. S. Easterling.

We are expecting to do better next time, and invite all to come, whether you sing or not.

Remember the voice you have was not given you to waste, but with which to sing praises to God. Come and help us in singing praises to our God.

CONCORD—BILLINGSLEY NEWS

Farmers of this community are doing some planting now.

The third Sunday in each month is preaching day at Concord. The first Sunday afternoon in neach month is singing afternoon. We invite all to our singings.

Our pastor, Rev. John Limbrick, preached a splendid sermon Sunday.

Olan and H dson W'lliams of the Thorsby Institute were at home Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Little spent Saturday night and Sunday with the former's father, Mr. W. H. Little.

Mr. and Mrs. Ocie Williams of New Cedron were visitors here Sunday.

We will appreciate your presence at Sunday school or at our singings. This is your invitation.

Really, things are looking better. The baseball season has opened, and the League of Nations won't meet again until September.

METHODISTS MEET AT ECLECTIC

Leaders of Methodism in the Prattville District assembled at Eclectic, Ala., Wednesday, April 14, at 11:00 a. m., in response to a call from Geo. D. Patterson, Tallassee, Chairman of the Woman's College Campaign for the District, to consider the crisis that is upon the Methodist Church in Alabama in connection with its Woman's College at Montgomery. It was the largest, most representative and most determined body of churchmen and churchwomen ever assembled in the bounds of Prattville District for this purpose. Because of the tremendous significance of this cause to the Methodist church, Dr. W. M. Curtis, Presiding Elder, adjourned the regular District Conference for two hours, in order that Mr. Patterson and other church leaders could inform the people of the mighty issue involved.

The meeting was presided over by Mr. Patterson. Rev. Caleb Bates of Fort Deposit led a brief but impressive devotional service. Bruce T. Airey, Mayor of Wetumpka, presented the Crisis facing Methodists in this issue, and emphasized the fact that Methodist young women of Alabama were entitled to as high standard of Christian Education as any woman in the land. He brought out that all denominations owning women's colleges in Alabama had placed them in the Grade "A" class except the Methodists. Miss Valerie Colvin of Mobile, senior at the college and president of the Y. W. C. A., effectively told of the spirit of service instilled in the hearts of the girls at the college and how they were returned to their homes sound in the faith of their fathers with a clearer vision of usefulness and a more profound Christian experience. Frank E. Skilton presented the plan of action.

Dr. E. A. Dannelly, Secretary of the Education Board of the Alabama Conference, made a stirring address. The meeting was brought to a fitting climax by Dr. W. M. Curtis, Presiding Elder of the District, thundering a challenge to the Methodists of the District to lead off in this campaign and not be satisfied with raising its share of the $500,000 needed, but to exceed it.

In an interview with M. M. McCall of Opelika, Zone Chairman of the campaign, he said that it was not a question of whether Methodists could afford to raise this fund, but rather, could they afford not to raise it. He states that reports coming in from all sections of this Zone, comprising Talladega, Sylacauga, Roanoke, Prattville and Montgomery Districts are highly encouraging and show that Methodists are aroused as never before and are lined up solidly to put their Woman's College on a par with colleges of the state and other denominations.

Church Chairmen in the Prattville District so far secured are: C. D. Harden, Eclectic; O. P. Edwards, Fort Deposit; L. W. Farrow, Wetumpka; Dr. S. C. Meigs, Centerville; J. H. Howard, Lowndesboro; Prof. James Chritzburg, Plantersville; V. J. Elmore, Clanton; J. T. Gresham, Prattville; S. L. Gibson, Verbena; F. M. Howard, Autaugaville; Dr. F. A. Boswell, Elmore and Deatsville.

NEW SALEM

On April 18 a very enjoyable service was held at New Salem Baptist church. The morning text was taken from the 4th and 5th chapters of Luke. On account of bad weather the congregation was small, but Bro. Franks preached a fine sermon, which was enjoyed by all.

In the evening there was a better crowd than in the morning and another good sermon was listened to. We invite everybody to come out and be with us every time you can.

On the first Sunday in May there will be a memorial service at New Salem. In the morning the program will consist of songs, a sermon, and probably some other numbers.

The afternoon will be given over to the singing in the new books. All good singers are invited to come out and help us in the singing. Bring your lunch if you do not want to return home at the lunch hour as no public dinner will be spread. All are invited to come and enjoy the day with us.—Clara Vines and Jewell Bean, Publicity Committee.

HAIRY VETCH MAKES GOOD SHOWING AGAIN

Hairy vetch, which is Alabama's most popular and important winter legume, has come through the winter season and is making an excellent showing, according to reports received at Auburn from farmers and from county agents.

Although the spring has been exceptionally cool it appears that the vetch crop will be ready for turning under about as early as usual. During the last half of April, farmers in every section of the State will plow it under preparatory to planting the land in another crop.

In central and south Alabama farmers follow vetch with either cotton or corn; but in north Alabama only corn or some other crop than cotton is used.

In the past it has not been unusual for the yield of cotton or of corn following vetch to be double that on adjoining land of the same quality where no vetch was grown. Many instances on record of still wider differentials in favor of vetch.

Soil improvement is the chief value of hairy vetch. It adds both nitrogen and humus which are two of the major needs of Alabama soils. A crop of hairy vetch that will make a ton of dry matter to the acre contains nitrogen equivalent to that in 400 pounds of nitrate of soda; and, in addition, a large amount of humus.

During the planting season last fall Alabama farmers set a new high record in planting hairy vetch. A few years ago the acreage was almost nil, but at present it is regarded as an important crop of the State, and its use is being increased annually.

Already the State Farm Bureau is considering buying vetch seed for planting next fall and the county agents are encouraging farmers to buy because an excellent opportunity to make poor land rich and profitable is provided by it.

The business handled by cooperative agricultural associations in 1925 is estimated by the United States Department of Agriculture at $2,500,000,000, or 20% of all farm products sold.

DEATH OF MR. JOSEPH BURNETT

The death angel visited the home of Mr. Joseph Burnett at an early hour last Friday morning, and bore his spirit to the great beyond.

He was a loving and affectionate husband and father; kind to all; and had been a member of the New Salem church for some time. He was a Christian man of the highest type. He leaves a wife, 7 children, 2 sisters and 1 brother to mourn his loss; Mrs. Etta Burnett, Mrs. Lula Rober, Mrs. Emma Maddox, Mrs. Evie Burnett, Mrs. Martha Mims, Mrs. Kit Gore, Green Burnett, Chartie, Doris and Austin Burnett, and Miss Adlene Burnett.

We wish to thank the good people of this community for their kindness and help shown us during the illness and death of our father, husband and brother.

OAK HILL

At the request of Rev. Raines the United Singing Society went to Siluria Sunday, and with the help of the singers of that place, did some fine singing. In addition to the society's regular directors, we had the pleasure of listening to Messrs. Jesse Jones, Herbert Lowery, Bill Cofer, and O. B. Robinson. The Thorsby quartet was on hand, but sang but one song, owing to the absence of one of their members. The Clanton quartet furnished the quartets for the afternoon, which were fine. The people of Siluria gave us a hearty welcome, and we hope to be able to go back there again.

The society meets at Oak Hill next Sunday afternoon. The Devaughns have promised to be with us, as well as the Clanton and Thorsby quartets. If you are not there you will miss some good singing; come and bring someone with you.

AN ORDINANCE

To order and provide for an election to be held in the Town of Clanton, Alabama, on the 15th day of May, 1926, for the purpose of having the qualified voters of said Town of Clanton, Alabama vote upon and decide the question as to whether or not the additional bonds of the said Town of Clanton, Alabama, shall be issued in the sum of ($20,000.00) Twenty Thousand Dollars, for the purpose of acquiring, providing or constructing school houses for said Town of Clanton, Alabama.

Be it ordained by the Town Council of the Town of Clanton, Alabama, as follows:

Section One.—

That it is hereby ordered that an election be held in the Town of Clanton, Alabama, on Saturday, May 15, 1926, for the purpose of allowing the qualified voters of said Town of Clanton, Alabama, to vote upon and decide the question as to whether or not the additional bonds of the said Town of Clanton, Alabama, shall be issued in the sum of ($20,000.00) Twenty Thousand Dollars, for the purpose of acquiring, providing or constructing school houses of said Town of Clanton, Alabama; the said election to be held under and by virtue of an Act of the Legislature of Alabama, entitled, "An Act to authorize the holding of elections by municipal corporations in the State of Alabama for the purpose of obtaining authority to issue bonds for public purposes herein defined, and to provide for holding such elections and declaring the result thereof, and to authorize the issue of such bonds when the majority of the voters participating in which election vote in favor of the issue of such bonds," approved August 26th, 1909, as amended by an Act approved February 20th, 1915, and by an Act approved September 25th, 1919.

Secton Two.—

That notice of said election shall be given for thirty days by publication in The Union-Banner and The Chilton County News, both newspapers published in the Town of Clanton, Alabama, once a week for three consecutive weeks, which notice shall state the purpose for which the said election is held, and the time and place for holding same, the amount of the proposed bond issue, the rate of interest the bonds are to bear, the time for which the bonds are to run, and the purpose for which the bonds are to be issued, and such notice shall be signed by the Mayor of the Town of Clanton, Alabama, and it is hereby made the duty of the Mayor to carry out the requirements of this Section.

Section Three.—

That the ballot used at the said election shall be prepared by the Mayor of the Town of Clanton, Alabama, and shall contain on one part of the same, the following wording: "FOR $20,000.00 FOR THE PURPOSE OF ACQUIRING, PROVIDING, OR CONSTRUCTING SCHOOL HOUSES OF THE TOWN OF CLANTON, ALABAMA, BOND ISSUE" and "AGAINST $20,000.00 FOR THE PURPOSE OF ACQUIRING, PROVIDING, OR CONSTRUCTING SCHOOL HOUSES OF THE TOWN OF CLANTON, ALABAMA, BOND ISSUE" and the voter shall indicate his or her choice by marking a cross mark before or after the wording that expresses his or her choice.

Section Four.—

That at a regular meeting of the Town Council of the Town of Clanton, Alabama, held before the time for having the said election, there shall be appointed three managers and one returning officer for each of the voting precincts of the Town of Clanton, Alabama, to conduct the said election, the persons so selected shall be the managers and returning officers of said election. And in appointing managers, so far as practicable, at least one manager at each precinct shall be for the bond issue and one against the bond issue. It shall be the duty of the Mayor of Clanton, Alabama, to notify the said managers and returning officers of their appointment and deliver the ballot boxes and ballots to the managers at the several voting precincts in said Town.

Section Five.—

That all the expenses of holding the election shall be paid out of the Town Treasury of the Town of Clanton, and the managers and returning officers shall be entitled to the same compensation as now provided by ordinance for managers and returning officers in elections in said Town of Clanton. And after the said election shall have been held and the expenses thereof ascertained, the Town Council shall, by ordinance, appropriate out of any funds in the Town Treasury not otherwise appropriated, a sum sufficient to defray such expenses and the several sums due shall be paid out of this said appropriation, as provided by law.

Section Six.—

That the returns of said election shall be made to the Town Council of the Town of Clanton, Alabama, which body shall canvass the returns and declare te result of said election. And the Town Council shall meet at their regular meeting place, on Saturday, the 15th day of May, 1926, at 7:30 p.m., and canvass the said returns and declare the result thereof, and the records of the results of said election and the minutes of the meeting called for the purpose of making the canvass, shall be recorded in the proceedings of the Town Council of Clanton, Alabama.

Section Seven.—

That the bonds shall be coupon bonds, and shall be in the denomination of one hundred dollars or the multiples thereof, and shall run for twenty years from the date of issue, and shall bear interest at the rate of six percentum per annum, payable semi-annually, and the same are not to be sold for less than their face value. The bonds shall be payable at the office of the HANOVER NATIONAL BANK, in the City of New York and State of New York, or at such other bank in the City of New York, in the State of New York, as the Town Council of Clanton, Alabama, may designate as its fiscal agent.

Read and finally adopted on this the 12th day of April, 1926, and on said date approved.

Approved.—V. J. GRAGG, Mayor of the Town of Clanton, Alabama.

Attest and a True Copy.—ADA M. ATKINSON, Clerk of the Town of Clanton, Alabama.

In 4 years' tests conducted by our State Experiment Station, including 1922 to 1925, Cook 10-10 cotton has proved to be the best for this part of Alabama. It ranks first on the list and made 34 pounds more lint to the acre than the next best yielding cotton tested.

At the Delta Branch Experiment Sation at Stoneville, Miss., in 1924, fifty-three varieties of cotton were tested. Both long and short staple varieties were included. They were ranked according to yield in cotton per acre. When seed and lint were both sold, Cook 10-10 ranked second, and made $194.52 per acre.

C. M. Mauldin, Wilsonville, Ala., is the largest multiplier of these seed in the State. His seed are for sale by Gulledge Brothers, Verbena; J. N. Dennis, Clanton; W. H. Goodgame, Thorsby; and W. H. Conway, Jemison. Nothing pays a farmer better than good seed. 4-8-tf-ch.

W. A. HUCKABEE DIED LAST FRIDAY MORNING

Mr. W. A. Huckabee, affectionately known as "Uncle Bill," died at his home in Clanton at 4:30 o'clock last Friday morning, after a long illness. He had been in declining health for the past ten years. For some months past his condition has been such that his death was not unexpected.

Mr. Huckabee was 75 years old. He was born and reared in this county and spent all his years here. He was married 50 years ago to Miss Fronie Edwards, who survives him. Of his living children there is one son, Jim Huckabee of Birmingham, and one daughter, Mrs. Annie Traywick of Clanton.

Since early youth Mr. Huckabee had been a faithful member of the Baptist church. At the time of his death he was a deacon at Maple Springs. His life was an example of Christian conduct and faithfulness in respect to those virtues which make life sweet and death fearless. He had friends all over this county who loved and respected him for his truthfulness, honesty, and uprightness.

For a period of several years Uncle Bill was manager of the County Alms House.

His body was laid to rest Saturday in Maple Springs cemetery. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. M. J. Parrish and Rev. S. J. Ezell.

TWO ARRESTED ON SMALL CHARGES

Robert Yates, young man from Mt. Pisgah, was arrested by Sheriff Littlejohn Monday morning of this week and placed in jail in Clanton. He was wanted under the charge of disturbing public worship. Yates made bond and was released Monday afternoon.

Willie Smith, a young man from the Mt. Pleasant community, was arrested Monday in Clanton, he being charged with assault with weapon. The alleged crime was committed in Clanton last Saturday night against Walter Tippett.

WIND STORM HERE LAST FRIDAY NIGHT

A wind storm swept through the vicinity of Clanton last Friday night (or early Saturday morning about 3 o'clock, to be exact) and left several evidences in its wake.

A stove flue was blown down at the residence of Grover Harris in south Clanton; also a large glass window was broken.

The top was taken off a chimney at Grady Harris's.

Down the road toward the river many trees were blown down, at the old Easterling place, Mat Johnson's and Jim Easterling's.

Several trees were blown down in the Mitchell Dam community.

When the flurry came along most everybody got out of bed with the full expectation of seeing something happen. But they were soon back to slumberland, gladly disappointed.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our thanks to our friends and neighbors for their kindness during the sickness and death of our husband and father. Especially do we thank Dr. Gragg and Rev. Ezell for their kind attention.

COLUMBUS CONWAY IN RACE FOR BOARD OF EDUCATION

The name of Mr. Columbus C. Conway, of Jemison, appears this week as a candidate for member of the county board of education of Chilton County in the Republican primary of August 10th.

The friends of Mr. Conway have for some time been urging him to enter the race, and the announcement of his decision to get in will doubtless be received with much interest.

It goes without saying that Mr. Conway is a very fitting and able man for the school board. He is a good business man, a profound believer in educational progress, and he has a definite practical knowledge of things that concern the life and interests of the people whom he would serve.

He is the son of Mr. W. H. Conway, a very worthy gentleman who has been prominent in public life in this county for many years past.

The writer believes Mr. Conway is the kind of a man we need on the school board and we take pleasure in commending him to the citizens of Chilton County.

OPEN NOTE TO ALL MINISTERS AND PUBLIC SPEAKERS

In view of the tremendous onslaught that the wet politicians and papers are making against our prohibition laws we take the liberty of appealing to ministers of the gospel and all others who may appear on the platform as public speakers, who are believers in the Eighteenth Amendment, to let no opportunity pass to remind the public of the good already accomplished by prohibition. Especially do we urge the preachers and orators who are to participate in the various commencement occasions to have a word to say concerning law obedience and law enforcement. In a very short time our high school and college boys and girls will be at the head of affairs. Let us help to send them out with the right attitude oward one of the greatest enemies of the human race. Material for the preparation of such an address may be obtained by writing to the Alabama Anti-Saloon League, 806 Jackson Bldg., Birmingham, Ala.

BIRMINGHAM MARINE CORPS SHOWS SUBSTANTIAL GAIN

Recruiting for the Marine Corps has made a remarkable gain since the first of the year, a considerable increase was recorded for March, and it is expected that the final figures for the current month will far exceed the March total.

Enlistment figures in recent months have been increased by large numbers of former Marines who are returning to the service. Many of the new recruits are men who have only recently reached the enlistment age, and recruiting officers report that the young recruits are attracted by the educational opportunities offered by the Marine Corps.

The Marine Corps has not launched and special advertising campaign, and the present unusual rise in enlistment is attributed to the fact that many of the new recruits find conditions in the service desirable and are inducing their friends to join.

IN MEMORY—GRATITUDE

Their battles done—their last measure of devotion to Country and Flag given—our heroes sleep the Peaceful Sleep, yet their deeds live on forever in our memories and in our hearts!

In silence we stand—Uncovered—our hearts beating in grateful remembrance of what they did for us. Unselfishly they gave their all that we might live in happiness. We shall ne'er forget!

B. LAWRENCE WRITES ABOUT VETCH

One time I had the pleasure of climbing Stone Mountain in company with Mr. W. I. Mullins and others, but yesterday we had a more fascinating trip than that. It was interesting to us, especially, because we saw a thing which naturally affects the county in which we live, and where we expect to make our home.

Yesterday afternoon I was told that Mr. J. N. Dennis was looking for me. About that time I saw him coming down the street waving at me from his car. I went to him and he told me to get in—that he wanted to take me out and show me his vetch. He stopped and got Mr. Mullins and we drove out to this splendid farm.

I have been in the Blue Grass section of Kentucky and have been on some of the splendid Tennessee farms but yesterday I found myself in the middle of a farm that was the equal in beauty of any I have ever seen. I was there in the middle of about 40 to 60 acres in hairy vetch and crimson clover that would average about knee high. There were several plows running, cutting and turning this growth under. I think Mr. Mullins wanted to stop the plows and put the mowing machines to work to save the hay, but Mr. Dennis is one of those progressive farmers who see further than immediate gain and look to the real values.

According to conservative estimates based on the Auburn experiments, Mr. Dennis has produced on his farm, through vetch and clover, nitrogen to the amount of about four tons. Now any of you farmers can figure for yourself what the four tons would cost you on the market. This is not all the gain to Mr. Dennis. He has grazed this since February 1, to say nothing of the crop's other values.

After some time we came to a barren place. He told us that one time last fall one of his renters came to him feeling that he would be forced to move. Mr. Dennis asked him why. The reply was that the people were about to haul off all the soil to inoculate soils in other communities. Mr. Dennis replied that he had more land he could clear up if necessary. When we asked him if he got pay for the soil to inoculate with, he said no, he did not want pay for it. That he was glad for the people to come and get it because he knew how much it would help the farmers to grow clover and vetch. When I heard that I thought—what a noble spirit! If every last one of us could live and feel that way toward each other we would have the most wonderful country in the world. Willing to spend and be spent for our neighbors.

You can say what you please about scientific farming, but I have noticed that the men who keep abreast with that type of farming today are the men who are doing things worth while. Farmers are poor largely because they do not know how to get the most for their labor and from their soil. I have been reading a book on "The Sin Of Not Recognizing Our Need." I found that the first mowing machine company failed because the company was not able to convince the people of this country that they needed mowing machines. According to the same authority, this country would have been worth $200,000 more today if the people could have seen five years sooner their need of these machines. There is no telling how much the farmers of this County are losing each year because they can not see the need of growing vetch.—B. Lawrence.

LETTER FROM J. N. SCOTT OF JEMISON

To the Voters of Chilton County:

Doubtless the most of you have seen my announcement in the paper as a candidate for county commmissioner of the first district of Chilton County. Probably some of you have been looking for me to come around. I haven't spent a single day out yet; but I want you to know that I am still in the race and aim to make a trip all over the county if I don't get knocked out.

I am going to be careful and go slow, as I am new in this business of "running for office." You know that some people call it "running for office," and it seems like some of the candidates are running in high speed from the territory they have gone over.

I am a little bit afraid to go out just now. Some of the runners are old chauffeurs on the political machine. It has been said that some engineers get too old on their jobs and become careless and don't look ahead as they should. Such fellows run into things that could be avoided some times.

When I start out I am going slow and look out for these runners in every curve of the road and at every cross road. I am going to try to keep from getting knocked out of the race and losing my faithful old flivver.

You know it would be awful and too bad and too sad for a report to go out over the county that two of the runners had got into a head-on or tail-end collision and tore up our flivvers.

Do you know that some of these candidates who are called running for office have bought new cars; and they tell me I have got to get one or I will not be recognized. Right here I want to say that I do not believe you voters are above a man or would fall out with a man for using economy. It has been the cry for some years to save the county's money and lower our taxes. Anyway, I don't know how to get along in any other way than to be economical. So I shall try to take the trip around in my old flivver, the one that has been carrying me safely for almost five years. Should I get run over and get it torn up I would not be out as much as the man who has the new car. Then too if I should lose out on the 10th of August I would not be hurt so bad.

As you know, two of my opponents have had the office for eight years and they say there is nothing to it. So you see if I should get my old flivver torn up and fail to get the job at the end of the race I would not be out much.

But I have the utmost confidence in all the voters of Chilton County because I believe you are my friends and are going to give me your votes on the 10th of August. Anyway I feel it to be a fact as Paul stated, that I have run the race with patience, and have fought a good fight, and I sure have kept the Republican faith; and now I am offering myself up to the voters, asking that you reward me with the office of county commissioner in the first district. I assure you in advance that I shall forever appreciate it.

I must conclude for this time by saying that I hope this dose of ignorance drops will have the desired effect as intended. I remain as ever, the same old doctor.—J. N. Scott.

MARRIAGE OF UNCLE TOM HUBBARD OF JEMISON

Uncle Tom Hubbard of Jemison and Mrs. Belle Smith of Randolph were married at Centerville one day recently. This bit of interesting news appears this week in our items from West Chilton. But it is an incident of so much interest that we think it deserves a place all its own on our front page.

Uncle Tom is well known all over Chilton County. He was Tax Collector for many years, and was one of the best county officials we ever had.

The Union-Banner extends congratulations and best wishes to Mr. and Mrs. Hubbard.

CHILTON TRIMS WETUMPKA

The Chilton Tigers evened the count in games with the Wetumpka Aggies on the latter's field Friday, by taking their measure 4 to 2. Foshee hurled in fine form for Chilton and let the heavy hitting Aggies down with one hit, a puny single in the ninth frame. Foshee is a new man at Chilton High, and has little experience, but he kept Wetumpka well in hand, while Chilton was pecking away at Taylor's offerings all thru the fray. Errors and some fine base running by the Tigers played a big part in the scoring.

Chilton scored first in the first inning, when, with one away, Gore got a free ticket to first, stole second, and scored on Reese Mullins' double that missed clearing the left field fence only a few inches. Mullins stole third and scored a moment later on a wild pitch. In the fourth frame A. Connatser's single, a stolen base, an error, and Ruffin's beautiful squeeze play accounted for another score. In the seventh, R. "Little Connie" Connatser singled, stole second, and scored when Harwell muffed Foshee's "sunfisher" fly in center field. Wetumpka scored in the sixth and eighth innings on passes and errors.

For Chilton, Foshee and Ruffin were all that could be asked for in a high school battery. Gore handled all his putouts at first in fine shape and snagged several pops that came over in his domain faultlessly. R. Connatser played a jamup game at short, and Mullins played his usual fine game at third.

Chilton showed much improvement since the week before, and Wetumpka didn't play like the same team that snatched two games from Chilton only a few days before.

The game scheduled for Saturday was forfeited by Wetumpka for some unknown reason, giving chilton a 9 to 0 decision for that game. This evens the count between Chilton and the Aggies.

CLOSING EXERCISES OF SCHOOL AT MAPLESVILLE

Dr. R. E. Parker, prominent attorney, of Birmingham, will deliver the commencement address at the Maplesville High School on Friday night, April 30th.

The school play entitled "Tempest and Sunshine," will be presented Saturday night, May 1. The play Saturday night will bring the school exercises to a close, marking the end of a pery successful year under Prof. Mims and his able corps of assistants.

The public is invited to attend the closing programs.

SHINING UP THE COUNTY COURT HOUSE

For the past two or three weeks carpenters and painters have been engaged in the work of refinishing and painting up the court house both inside and outside. New moulding has been put in the big court room up stairs and the whole interior has been repainted so that it looks even better than it did when it was first built. The new moulding is made of wood and neatly fitted together, which presents a very attractive appearance. All the plastered walls in the lobby and hall and the various offices have been repainted snow white with a dark panel at the bottom so that defacements of the lower walls will not show.

Judge Reynolds is having built some nice benches, two of which will be placed in the lobby down stairs and three in the lobby up stairs. These will accomodate people who come to court or have occasion to wait at the court house for other purposes. These benches are about the greatest asset to the new improvements so far as usefulness is concerned, because they will fill a long felt want.

Judge Reynolds and the Commissioners Court are certainly to be commended for these splendid and much needed improvements. The court house belongs to all the people of the county, and certainly ought to be made as accomodating to the people who chance to come here and as attractive to the public as possible. And these improvements constitute a broad step toward this end.

MRS. FELSTON MULLINS DIES NEAR LAFAYETTE

Cullman, Ala., April 26.—Mrs. Felston Mullins (Maggie Edge) died at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Edge, near LaFayette, Ala., Sunday evening. Mrs. Mullins had been ill for several months. Physicians and loved ones used every skill to stay the hand of death and all in vain. The amputation of her right hand a few weeks before her death gave some relief, but there could be no hopes for her recovery.

Besides her husband and parents, she leaves three sisters: Mrs. Geo. Childers and Miss Lola Edge, of LaFayette, Ala., and Mrs. W. M. Hook of Elon, N. C.; four brothers, W. C. Edge of Wedowee, Ala., Harvey Edge of Lillington, N. C., Herman Edge of Elon College, Elon, N. C., and Clyde Edge of LaFayette, Ala.

SMALL BOY DROWNED IN CREEK NEAR CLANTON

Horace Leonard, the seven-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Perry Johnson, was drowned in the creek just east of Clanton last Friday afternoon. The youth, with another little boy, was sent to the pasture to drive up the cows. While at the creek they decided to go in wading. The creek was swollen by a heavy rain and they got in a place too deep to wade. One of them was able to get out, and ran to the house to tell of the fate of his companion.

Several people hastened to the scene and the body was recovered after it had been in the water over an hour. Efforts of a physician to resuscitate the body were futile.

The remains were buried at Walnut Creek cemetery Saturday.

Must See Ahead

If there is a sharp curve in the road, you go slow. You want to see what's ahead. After dark you will not drive without lights for the same reason.

Being able to see ahead is what insures safety and success, no matter what the undertaking. In financial as well as other affairs, the only way to look into the future is by the light of the past. Successful men have worked, planned and SAVED. Why not follow the light they have given and do likewise? Our Bank will help you.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our most hearty thanks to the citizens, both white and colored, for their liberal donations to our children since the recent fire that destroyed their home and contents. We also thank the different churches for their aid. May the peace and blessings of God rest upon each of you is our prayer.—A. D. Gordon and wife.

A PUBLIC LIBRARY

The committee on "Better Homes" in Clanton has mentioned one subject that certainly ought to deeply concern the citizenship of our town—that of a public library.

We hope that this may be the sowing of the seed that shall eventually come forth and produce a public library for Clanton. If some lady could succeed in mustering the scattered soldiers of Clanton's civic defenders and bring them to a united and successful effort for a public library, that lady's name would go down in history as one of our greatest benefactors.

Clanton will have a public library some day.

NOTICE OF ELECTION

Notice is hereby given that under and pursuant to an ordinance adopted by the Town Council of the Town of Clanton, Alabama, on the 12th day of April, 1926, which date was a regular meeting for said council, and which said ordinance was duly approved, an election will be held in the Town of Clanton, Alabama, at the various polling places in the several wards of the Town, on The 15th day of May, 1926, for the purpose of allowing the qualified voters of said Town of Clanton, Alabama, to vote upon and decide the question as to whether or not the additional bonds of the said Town of Clanton, Alabama, shall be issued in the sum of ($20,000.00) Twenty Thousand Dollars, for the purpose of acquiring, providing or constructing school houses of said Town of Clanton, Alabama; such bonds to run for twenty years from date of issue, and to be coupon bonds, bearing interest at the rate of six per centum per annum.

V. J. GRAGG,
Mayor of the Town of
4-15-3t Clanton, Alabama.

AN ORDINANCE

To order and provide for an election to be held in the Town of Clanton, Alabama, on the 15th day of May, 1926, for the purpose of having the qualified voters of said Town of Clanton, Alabama vote upon and decide the question as to whether or not the additional bonds of the said Town of Clanton, Alabama, shall be issued in the sum of ($20,000.00) Twenty Thousand Dollars, for the purpose of acquiring, providing or constructing school houses for said Town of Clanton, Alabama.

Be it ordained by the Town Council of the Town of Clanton, Alabama, as follows:

Section One.—

That it is hereby ordered that an election be held in the Town of Clanton, Alabama, on Saturday, May 15, 1926, for the purpose of allowing the qualified voters of said Town of Clanton, Alabama, to vote upon and decide the question as to whether or not the additional bonds of the said Town of Clanton, Alabama, shall be issued in the sum of ($20,000.00) Twenty Thousand Dollars, for the purpose of acquiring, providing or constructing school houses of said Town of Clanton, Alabama; the said election to be held under and by virtue of an Act of the Legislature of Alabama, entitled, "An Act to authorize the holding of elections by municipal corporations in the State of Alabama for the purpose of obtaining authority to issue bonds for public purposes herein defined, and to provide for holding such elections and declaring the result thereof, and to authorize the issue of such bonds when the majority of the voters participating in which election vote in favor of the issue of such bonds," approved August 26th, 1909, as amended by an Act approved February 20th, 1915, and by an Act approved September 25th, 1919.

Secton Two.—

That notice of said election shall be given for thirty days by publication in The Union-Banner and The Chilton County News, both newspapers published in the Town of Clanton, Alabama, once a week for three consecutive weeks, which notice shall state the purpose for which the said election is held, and the time and place for holding same, the amount of the proposed bond issue, the rate of interest the bonds are to bear, the time for which the bonds are to run, and the purpose for which the bonds are to be issued, and such notice shall be signed by the Mayor of the Town of Clanton, Alabama, and it is hereby made the duty of the Mayor to carry out the requirements of this Section.

Section Three.—

That the ballot used at the said election shall be prepared by the Mayor of the Town of Clanton, Alabama, and shall contain on one part of the same, the following wording: "FOR $20,000.00 FOR THE PURPOSE OF ACQUIRING, PROVIDING, OR CONSTRUCTING SCHOOL HOUSES OF THE TOWN OF CLANTON, ALABAMA, BOND ISSUE" and "AGAINST $20,000.00 FOR THE PURPOSE OF ACQUIRING, PROVIDING, OR CONSTRUCTING SCHOOL HOUSES OF THE TOWN OF CLANTON, ALABAMA, BOND ISSUE" and the voter shall indicate his or her choice by marking a cross mark before or after the wording that expresses his or her choice.

Section Four.—

That at a regular meeting of the Town Council of the Town of Clanton, Alabama, held before the time for having the said election, there shall be appointed three managers and one returning officer for each of the voting precincts of the Town of Clanton, Alabama, to conduct the said election, the persons so selected shall be the managers and returning officers of said election. And in appointing managers, so far as practicable, at least one manager at each precinct shall be for the bond issue and one against the bond issue. It shall be the duty of the Mayor of Clanton, Alabama, to notify the said managers and returning officers of their appointment and deliver the ballot boxes and ballots to the managers at the several voting precincts in said Town.

Section Five.—

That all the expenses of holding the election shall be paid out of the Town Treasury of the Town of Clanton, and the managers and returning officers shall be entitled to the same compensation as now provided by ordinance for managers and returning officers in elections in said Town of Clanton. And after the said election shall have been held and the expenses thereof ascertained, the Town Council shall, by ordinance, appropriate out of any funds in the Town Treasury not otherwise appropriated, a sum sufficient to defray such expenses and the several sums due shall be paid out of this said appropriation, as provided by law.

Section Six.—

That the returns of said election shall be made to the Town Council of the Town of Clanton, Alabama, which body shall canvass the returns and declare te result of said election. And the Town Council shall meet at their regular meeting place, on Saturday, the 15th day of May, 1926, at 7:30 p.m., and canvass the said returns and declare the result thereof, and the records of the results of said election and the minutes of the meeting called for the purpose of making the canvass, shall be recorded in the proceedings of the Town Council of Clanton, Alabama.

Section Seven.—

That the bonds shall be coupon bonds, and shall be in the denomination of one hundred dollars or the multiples thereof, and shall run for twenty years from the date of issue, and shall bear interest at the rate of six percentum per annum, payable semi-annually, and the same are not to be sold for less than their face value. The bonds shall be payable at the office of the HANOVER NATIONAL BANK, in the City of New York and State of New York, or at such other bank in the City of New York, in the State of New York, as the Town Council of Clanton, Alabama, may designate as its fiscal agent.

Read and finally adopted on this the 12th day of April, 1926, and on said date approved.

Approved.—V. J. GRAGG, Mayor of the Town of Clanton, Alabama.
Attest and a True Copy.—ADA M. ATKINSON, Clerk of the Town of Clanton, Alabama.

SINGING AT CALERA

The Union-Banner has been asked to announce that the famous Oak Grove singing class will sing at the Calera Baptist church on the second Sunday afternoon, April 9. The United singing society of this county and any other singers who may are are especially asked to meet at the above time and place with the Oak Grove singers. Will begin singing at one o'clock.

FRIENDSHIP CHURCH

Last Sunday being regular preaching day, Rev. W. P. Lowery of Thorsby preached at 11 o'clock, following Sunday school. A very fine sermon was delivered to a fairly good crowd of earnest listeners. Mrs. W. J. Billingsley of Thorsby was present and made a short talk regarding the W. M. U. work of the Chilton County Association. The matter of organizing a union at Friendship was spoken of, but the work of organizing was postponed until Sunday afternoon.

The singing society was held Sunday afternoon, Prof. A. D. Huett in charge. Singing began at 2 o'clock, and the following directed two songs each: Steve Baker and O. R. Robinson of Refuge, Rube Miller of Mitchell Dam, I. D. Huett of Cooper, Clarence Billingsley of Shiloh, Johnnie Miner of Refuge, Archie Devaughn of Verbena, T. E. Wyatt of Clanton, M. Lockhart of Refuge, A. O. Boswell of Cooper, and W. F. Gilliland of Poplar Springs. Organists were: Miss Susie Huett, Mrs. O. R. Robinson, Mrs. Lillian Alford, Miss Beatrice Grant, Miss Bertie Grant, and Miss Jewell McDowell. The singing was indeed fine, and the home people are greatly indebted to the many visitors who helped them so nobly in making the afternoon the success that it was.

After the singing the ladies of the community intersted in the W. M. U. work were asked to remain in the building. Under the direction of Mrs. W. J. Billingsley and Mrs. G. F. Harper, both of Thorsby, the organization of the Friendship W. M. U. was perfected. The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. J. D. Collins; Secretary, Mrs. Jean Wyatt; and Social Leader, Mrs. John Gore. A Girl's Auxiliary and probably an R. A. for the boys will be organized in the near future. Quite an interest in the work was manifested by the lady members of the church, and it is hoped that the girls will fall in line and help. All the ladies of the community are eligible for membership, whether members of the church or not, as well as the young people of the community. All are invited to take part. Further announcements will be made later as to the time and place of meeting, etc.

Another fine sermon was delivered by Rev. Lowery at 7:30 Sunday night. A good crowd was present. At the close of the service Sunday morning two members were added to the church roll, and Sunday night one more was added, all three presenting themselves by letter from some other church.

The announcement was made that Rev. M. Lockhart will preach at Friendship next Sunday night, May 2. Rev. Lockhart preached here one time some weeks ago, and it is hoped that as many as can will be present next Sunday night to hear the message Rev. Lockhart has to deliver.

FORD UPHOLSTERY RIGIDLY TESTED

Determining the life of upholstery long before it is used to trim the car is a problem which the Ford Motor Company has solved by the development of a number of unique and conclusive tests. Before Ford upholstery cloth is released for production samples are eaten by chemicals, pulled apart and even worn out in an especially constructed rubbing machine.

Some of the cloth used in Ford cars is manufactured right in the Ford plant where it may be held to the required specifications. Most of the upholstery, however, is supplied by outside sources and must prove its fitness before being used.

Color and structure of the cloth are first scrutinized. Then samples are sent to the laboratory for chemical and physical tests. In the test for tensile strength, samples from the running direction or warp of the cloth, and from the cross direction or woof of the cloth are pulled to pieces by means of a standard testing machine. In this connection, it is interesting to note that although the Ford specifications are unusually rigid, upholstery now being used shows practically twice the required strength.

Wool content is determined by use of chemicals. The sample is given the chemical bath which dissolves all the wool. The remaining cotton must not only show the correct percentage, but must show a perfect pattern and distribution of cotton fabric as well.

Another test is similar to that which the material will receive in actual usage. A cushion is trimmed in sample upholstery and placed in a machine together with a cushion trimmed with material of known quality so that the faces of the two cushions touch. Then the machine rubs the two cushions back and forth at the rate of 120 times per minute, until one or the other is worn cut. If the sample wears out first it is immediately discarded. But if it stands up as long as the cushion trimmed with the known material, it has proved itself equal to Ford standards of quality.

In selecting upholstery cloth for Ford cars, the Ford Motor Company is forced to be more critical than many other automobile manufacturers. Ford cars, because of the longevity and adaptibility to business, social and professional life, are expected to be almost constantly in use, and the materials of which they are built are selected in anticipation of hard wear as well as for their beauty.

OAK GROVE

Our Sunday school is progressing nicely; everyone seems to take more interest, now that the warm spring days have come.

The singing society met as usual, being called to order by the president, who sang three songs. The following directors then sang from two to five songs each: E. H. Foshee, C. W. Scott, Mr. Smith, Ivy Matthews, Gerald Cobb. Misses Carrie Glass, Flossie Cobb, Jewell Cobb, and Miss Bean were the organists. We were glad to have so many visitors with us and cordially invite them to meet with us each first and third Sunday.

Miss Lesta Cobb had charge of the B. Y. P. U. program Sunday night, and rendered an unusually interesting program.

Mr. T. L. Matthews gave the young people an entertainment at his home Saturday night. A large crowd attended and enjoyed the occsion.

Mr. and Mrs. Onnie Matthews from Florida have been visiting the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Matthews, the past few days.

Messrs. Vollie Glass and Paul Wilson from Wylam spent the week end with home folks.

Prof. Marion W. Mims, principal of Maplesville High School, was among the visitors to Clanton last Saturday.

A sand-pile is ideal for keeping the youngsters entertained and out of mischief.

Bridge Club Meets.

The members of the Wednesday Bridge Club and others were delightfully entertained Wednesday afternoon by Mrs. J. Watts Moore at her home on Fifth Street. Baskets and wall vases of roses, narcissus and wild honeysuckle were used to decorate the home on this occasion. A number of bridge games were played at three tables. Mrs. Frank Callen won the high score prize, a pretty hand-embroidered scarf. Mrs. L. F. Gerald was presented the booby prize, a salad set. The hostess, assisted by Mesdames Hugh Jones, L. F. Gerald, and Miss Kathleen Mullins, served a delicious salad plate with iced tea.

Those enjoying Mrs. Moore's hospitality were Mesdames J. Hance Alred, Frank Callen, John Browder, L. F. Gerald, V. J. Heard, H. M. Simpson, Arthur Johnson, Grady Reynolds, Eric Hart, Clarence Evans, T. C. McSwain, J. Hugh Jones, and Miss Kathleen Mullins.

Thursday Sewing Club.

A delicious salad course with iced tea was served to Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Wade, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hayes, Mr. and Mrs. Omar Reynolds, Mr. and Mrs. J. Hance Alred, Miss Madelyn Orr, Mr. Bostick, and the hosts.

Joint Hostesses Honor Brides.

Mesdames John Pierce Wade and Grover C. Walker, recent brides, served as the inspiration of a lovely party Friday afternoon, when Mrs. J. W. Hayes and Miss Madelyn Orr were joint hostess at the home of Mrs. Hayes on Sixth Street. For this occasion the home was made into a veritable Japanese flower garden. Baskets, bowls, and wall vases contained beautiful iris, sweet Williams, honeysuckle, violets, bachelor buttons, narcissus, and other bright colored flowers. Vines with wisteria were artistically arranged over the doors and among these were hung Japanese lanterns. The tally cards, table-markers and score pads were hand painted and carried out the prevailing idea. Bridge was played at six tables. At the conclusion of the games Miss Kathleen Mullins held top score and was given a Japanese apron. Mrs. Grady Broadhead received the booby prize, a fancy powder puff. The honorees were presented a pretty boudoir pillow and a hand embroidered towel. The hostesses, assisted by Mesdames J. P. Hayes and J. Lee Smith, served a delicious salad course with iced tea, followed with an ice course. Tiny Japanese umbrellas and lanterns were the favors given to each guest.

Those included in this gracious hospitality were Mesdames J. Hance Alred, Frank Callen, John C. Page, J. Hugh Jones, H. M. Simpson, L. F. Gerald, J. Watts Moore, Arthur Johnson, J. B. Mauney, N. S. Johnson, T. C. McSwain, H. F. Downs, Eric Hart, Clarence Evans, John M. Van Derveer, V. J. Heard, Grady Reynolds, Omar Reynolds, J. C. Jones, J. P. Wade, G. C. Walker, C. Fenn Jones, J. Lee Smith, J. P. Hayes, Grady Broadhead, and Misses Bettie and Kathleen Mullins.

Mrs. Wade Entertains.

A beautiful event of the past week was on Wednesday afternoon when Mrs. J. Q. Wade entertained at a reception at her home on Third Avenue in honor of her daughter, Mrs. John Pierce Wade, a recent bride. The Wade home was elaborately decorated on this occasion. Narcissus, tulips, roses, and other flowers were used throughout the home. The guests were received by the hostess. The receiving line was composed of Mrs. J. P. Wade, the honoree, Mrs. Bessie R. Reynolds of Montevallo, and Miss Kathleen Wright of Centerville. Little Miss Peggy Page received the cards. A delicious salad course with iced tea was served. Those assisting in the amenities of the afternoon were Mesdames John C. Page, S. J. Ezell, and Miss Willodean Reynolds About one hundred and fifty guests called during the afternoon.

OAK HILL

The united singing society met in regular session here Sunday afternoon with a full house. Although Prof. Devaughn was not with us as expected, we had one of as good if not the best singing we have had for some time. As the society grows the singings get better, and the only way it could have been made better would to have been more good singers. We had visitors from almost all parts of the county. Among the visiting directors who entertained the audience in addition to the society's regular directors were Messrs. R. A. Smith, C. W. Scott, and J. M. Smith. The society's quartet from Thorsby rendered a selection after each director, which brought forth notes of praise from all who heard them. Organists for the occasion were Misses Glennie Collins and Inez Hayes. The society will meet with New Salem next Sunday afternoon instead of Thorsby. Everybody invited.

TARIFFS NO LONGER MONOPOLY INFLUENCE

Protection can no longer be called the promoter of monopoly because our recent experiences show that products coming through the customs houses can be as easily cornered as anything else, according to the National Republic, which editorially answers Senator King's attack on the protective tariff as follows:

"Senator William H. King of Utah expresses the belief that a protective tariff is 'the thin edge of socialism.' He declares that protection destroys competition, and promotes monopoly, the precursor of socialism.

"Foes of the protective policy persist in the strange delusion that 'protection is the mother of monopoly.' In taking this position they are compelled to overlook the fact that it is quite as easy to 'corner' commodities that come through the customs house as those which are delivered from our own factory doors. They must ignore the fact that articles on the free list have been as generally and as effectively subjected to monopolistic control as those which are on the protected list. They must overlook, for instance, the fact that rubber, nitrates and other articles which come in tariff-free are not only controlled by combinations in restraint of trade, but by foreign combinations beyond the reach of our anti-monopoly laws.

Monopoly deals primarily with distribution, not production. Where monopoly, or near monopoly, is operative, the price to the consumer is not governed by factory price but by 'what the traffic will bear'."

The most remarkable feature of the whole thing is that those bandits in Palm Beach found $13,000 on a visitor after the real estate men had been covering that town for more than two years.—Lexington Herald.

Why Is It---

THE NEW IDEA ON AN OLD FARM

We know of a farm not far to the northeast of Clanton which is said to have been in cultivation for over a hundred years. There has never been anything in particular which marked this place out with any distinct differences from other farms about it. It had some rocky places and some smoother places; some hills and some valleys. The people who lived on the place cultivated it with scooter plows and possibly a left hand turner at certain seasons.

Recently this place has passed into possession of one of our modern hustling farmers. The rocks have been removed from the hillsides. The briar patches have been cleared from the low places. Riding cultivators, disc harrows, etc., have taken the place of the scooters and turning plows.

A few days ago one of the boys (now an elderly man) who was reared on the place, came along the road and saw the farmer sitting up on his big riding plow taking two rows at a time with all ease. He crawled over the high wire fence, walked across to where the farmer was and gazed with sheer astonishment.

Finally he exclaimed: "My goodness, I wish Pa could see that thing turning this old land. I bet he would wish he had never sold this place. Things sure are looking different here to what it was when I was a boy plowing a steer on this very hill."

There are hundreds of farms in Chilton County that have put on the change under more modern and progressive methods. Many are the places which used to be regarded as worthless that "Pa" perhaps wishes he had never sold and left.

Clark Turner of Wenatchee, Wash., has built up a great business in supplying ladybird beetles to orchardists and park boards in California, Florida, and the Isle of Pines, where they are used to destroy aphids on citrus and shade trees. His shipments last season exceeded 5,000,000 beetles, and the demand is far from being supplied. It is said that Florida alone needs 1,000,000,000 ladybugs annually.

The Florida Fruit Men's Club, an organization controlling approximately 90% of the citrus crop of the State, has adopted tentative plans for an advertising campaign to cost $11,000,000 for advertising Florida fruits. The plan will become effective when 75% of the crop is pledged to support the plan. An assessment of 5 cents on each box of fruit will be made.

The American Gas Association will seek to promote the wider use of gas. We hope they don't get into politics with this.

Jimmy Cox who ran for President in 1920 says he is glad he is out of politics. Another case where everybody seems to be satisfied.

If Paul Revere could have postponed his famous ride until this year just think how much advertising some automobile company could get out of it.

Life is just one thing after another. We won't any more than get rid of the primary elections this summer until it will be time for the League of Nations to meet again.

The gross cost of producing 100 pounds of marketable pork on 44 farms in one year ranged from $3.07 to $13.55, with an average of $5.49.

The Shorthorn cow, Melba 15th of Darbalara, owned in Australia, is credited with a record of 1,614 pounds of butterfat in 365 daps.

It is always good business to save every pig farrowed if possible, but the extreme shortage of brood sows this year makes it all the more important.

A popular referendum now on the prohibition amendment would seem a good deal like voting to find out who was Queen of the May back in Cleveland's administration.

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

Speaking to the Daughters of the American Revolution recently, President Coolidge again called attention to the fact that too many Americans do not exercise the privilege granted them by the Constitution of exercising the right of suffrage. As the President well said, in a republic like ours, government is by representation and if we are to maintain the principle that governments derive their just powers from the consent of the governed, it will be necessary for the American voters to go to the polls every two years and exercise their rights.

In the last two presidential elections only half of the qualified voters have exercised their right of suffrage and in some of the recent senatorial elections the percentage has fallen below this. The figures do not speak well for the interest which the average American takes in his government. And, strange to say, the women do not seem disposed to exercise their new right in any greater numbers than the men.

But aside from this inertia there is another serious phase of the situation. Most of the tay-at-home voters are the conservative fellows—those who exercise the American right to kick on conditions for 364 days in the year and then fail to go to the polls on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November. As a general thing, the radicals get out their vote. They are pioneers and fanatics in their field and they pay attention to the business at hand—even on the day of the elections.

It has been proved by results not only in America, but in Great Britain and other countries, that the radicals are most dangerous when their vote is light. When some extraordinary issue brings out nearly all of the people, those in favor of orderly, representative government always wins. This only proves again the old saying that "eternal vigilance is the price of liberty." The present situation in Russia is an example of what a minority can do. Government doesn't express the will of the majority even in this enlightened day. An organized, active minority is often effective enough to do the business. Come out and vote when you get the opportunity. And if you don't vote, then don't complain if things are not run to suit you.

There passed away in Philadelphia the other day a woman whose classic features were perhaps more generally known in America than those of any other—not excepting the movie actresses. Her name was Miss Anna Williams, and she was a retired school teacher whose profile as the "Goddess of Liberty" is stamped on the silver dollar. Miss Williams as a young art student years ago, posed for the profile which first appeared on the silver dollar. She was 68 years of age when she died and of late years had said but little about the honor conferred upon her. When questioned about it she would remark: "I can't be interested in a purely accidental occurrence of days long gone by."

League of Nations' heads are said to have been shocked by our refusal to send somebody to Geneva to discuss our Senate's reservations to America's adherence to the World Court. And the league heads may get some more shocks out of it before it is all over, especially if they thought that the Senate's action only foreshadowed America's early adherence to the league itself. Only the Senate can change the reservations, so it is difficult to see what good could come of discussing the situation by proxy.

SENATOR NORRIS THREATENED

Anonymous letter writers residing in Alabama have threatened the life of United States Senator George W. Norris, of Nebraska. While recently in Alabama making a tour of power plants the Senator received threats. He received others when he returned to Washington. If the Senator succeeds in preventing a lease of Muscle Shoals at this session of Congress, he is told that he will be killed. Norris declares that he will not be deterred by the threats, and will use all his power to prevent the lease. He has turned the threatening letters over to postal inspectors.

The sooner you buy improved farm machinery the more good it will do you.

The successful farmer now-a-days is he who knows how to convert sense into dollars.

It is said that the people are coming out of Florida so fast now that the state highway commission had to put red lights at all exits.

Senator Brrokhart says that Iowa now has no United States Senator, but he doubtless knows where he thinks they can get one.

The Missouri Agricultural Experiment Station has shown, by actual measurement, that within 24 years washing has removed 7 inches of surface soil from an important type of farm land which is plowed regularly to a depth of 4 inches.

During 1925 cooperative organizations handled approximately 9% of the cotton, 12% of the livestock, 25% of the dairy products, 35% of the tobacco, 54% of the cranberries, 85% of the raisins, and many other commodities in varying proportions.

Dr. Clarence Roper of Birmingham was in Clanton Monday on his way to the meeting of the Alabama Medical Association in Mobile.

It may be of interest to the friends of Mrs. H. T. Scott (formerly Miss Louise Connatser) to know that she is now at home to her friends at 5729 Second Avenue South, Woodlawn, Birmingham. She receives mail in P. O. Box 1456.

THE SUNDAY MOTOR TRIP

(Scene: Any Family Garage)

Ma Speaking:

"Oh! Myhevens! There's Baby
all covered with axle grease.
Johnny—get away from that lunch!
Mary—leave that horn alone! Can't you see it's annoying father?
Johnny—just look at your waist.
Didn't I just tell you to keep your fingers out of that jam?
Mary—quit playing with that tire. That's the only clean dress you've got. Stop it now—I say!
O-my-gawd! There—there—Baby. Take that monkey-wrench out of your mouth. Father, can't you keep an eye on that child?"

(Rip)

"There goes my stocking. And it's the best pair I've got. 'Spose I'll have to change 'em now. Oh, what's the use? Nobody'll notice 'em.
Father, haven't you got that motor fixed yet? I'm tired of waiting.
What's that? Don't growl at me.
Yes, the lunch is all ready. Come on—Johnny and Mary. Climb into the car. Here, father, grab the Baby until I get in." (Ugh-h-h.)
"Johnny, keep your feet off those cushions! Mary—quit sticking your gum on that window pane! There—now! Alright, father—let's go!"

Honk. Honk. They're off!

(Next scene: Five miles from home)

Ma gasps. Let's out a shreik. Pop stops the car and gently (?) asks:

"What the h - - lsamatter now?"

And Ma gasps:

"Turn back, quick! I forgot to turn out the gas under Baby's milk! And I'm sure the water's running over in the bath-tub. The house must be a wreck. Turn back! Turn back!"

Blooey! There goes another
Day of Rest!

Moral: Fathers with weak constitutions should refrain from week-end trips!

FINE GROWTH OF VETCH ON DENNIS FARM

The writer enjoyed a visit to the farm of Mr. Jasper Dennis last Saturday to see the crop of vetch which he has on the place. Mr. Dennis grows vetch as a soil builder and is one of many progressive farmers who have proven for themselves that vetch supplies nitrogen and humus for the soil much cheaper than commercial fertilizer.

We wish that every farmer in this county could see Mr. Dennis' farm and catch on to his methods of fertilization and soil improvement. He is now turning the vetch under preparatory to planting crops of corn and other things.

FLOYD

Sunday school is progressing nicely at Floyd with 51 on roll and 38 present last Sunday; we were glad to see so many present, and hope to have more.

Saturday and Sunday were our regular preaching days, and fine sermons were delivered by our pastor, Rev. Deason.

Miss Lela Strength went to Chatman Springs Saturday.

A truck load of people from here went to Corinth Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Moore of Clanton spent Saturday night with Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Moore.

Mr. Palmer Taylor and family of Montgomery were the guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Taylor, Saturday night and Sunday.

Mrs. Fannie Burkhalter was the guest of Mrs. Milam Sunday afternoon.

Next Sunday afternoon is our regular singing afternoon. We invite everybody.

BETHANY

Miss Martha Belle Cagle has returned from a visit to her grandmother at Verbena.

Everybody is about done planting now.

Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Cagle spent Saturday night with Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Manning.

Mrs. Carlie Gray and children spent Sunday with Mrs. C. B. Huett.

Mr. and Mrs. Watson Gray spent Saturday night with Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Chandler.

Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Cagle and family, Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Manning and family, and Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Manning have returned from a fishing trip on Coosa River.

The singing at Bethany was fine. Every fourth Sunday is our regular singing afternoon. Everybody is invited to come and be with us.

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Huett and son, Marvin, spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Rob Morris.

"Get in the Well Dressed Circle"

Keep Cool in a Curlee Suit

You can keep that well dressed appearance and yet be comfortably cool in these new lightweight CURLEE CLOTHES.

The Tropical Worsted has the light airiness of a cotton material and yet is a woolen fabric which holds its shape at all times, and has maximum strength and wearing qualities.

Looking your best these hot summer days is a problem, but these CURLEE Tropical Worsteds go a long way toward its solution.

The patterns are unusually attractive this season, and the prices are very reasonable.

VISIT CHEROKEE

Mr. S. V. Miller of Concord, accompanied by Mrs. Miller and children, Mrs. Laura Powell, Misses Hixie Mae and Lilla Belle Golden, took a trip last Saturday afternoon to Cherokee Bluffs, near Dadeville. While there they visited Mr. and Mrs. Irving P. Kennedy. They also looked over all the operations of the Alabama Power Company in that vicinity. They returned home Sunday afternoon.

CONCORD CHURCH

The singing society at this place meets next Sunday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock as usual.

Heretofore we have been having preaching at 3:30 Sunday afternoon, but from now on the preaching hour will be 7:30 in the evening. This will give more time for the singing.

All singers and lovers of music are invited to come. Some good quartets are expected as well as other good singers.—S. V. Miller.

ANTIOCH

People are going right along farming; some are ready to chop cotton.

The fiddlers convention at Vermont schoolhouse Saturday night was good. A large crowd attended. The proceeds went for the benefit of Antioch church.

PORTO BELLO GOLD

Moira disengaged herself from her father and came to stand betwixt Peter and me.

"See, Bob! There's the red-headed boy will be making signals to you from the larboard ladder."

Darby McGraw's flaming top-knot projected just far enough above the level of the deck to show his eyes and a hand that jerked mysteriously at me.

"Come up, Darby," I invited him.

But he shook his head vigorously, so I crossed to his side.

"What is ailing you?" I asked.

"Sorra a trouble in the whole of creation," he returned in his rich brogue. "But I'd walk my two feet over the galley-stove as soon as stand so near the old devil as yourself, Master Bob."

"He's no more to be feared than Flint," I answered, laughing.

"Ah, there's little ye know to be saying a thing the like of that!" exclaimed Darby. "With Flint 'tis a blow and a curse and 'take it or leave it!' But him! He'd put the evil eye on the lot of us if the notion but came into the head of him."

"I'd rather be his friend than his enemy," I admitted. "Do they fear him so aboard the Walrus?"

Darby squinted sideways at me.

"Whiles they fear him. And then again when the rum is flowing— But I'll be saying what maybe I'll be sorry for later. I see ye found the elegant young maid that went to the Whale's Head with ye. My faith, ain't she the pretty creature! Will she be a pirate, too?"

"No more than Peter and me."

"Do ye tell me that same! And ye took her along with the treasure, the lads do be saying below. That was the grand haul! But they say, too, a good half of it ye buried on that island Long John do be always singing about."

"So you have heard that!" I cried.

"Troth, yes. They was telling Long John and me before he come up to speak with Cap'n Flint. God save us, who'd think there was so much money in the world? But here come John and the cap'n now. I'd better be skippin'."

He slid down the ladder as he spoke, and I rejoined the group about my great-uncle. Flint strode across the deck, his face like a thunder-cloud. Silver, at his elbow, exhibited a countenance wreathed in smiles.

"We'll divide what's below," said Flint abruptly.

"I rejoice that you have come to your senses," replied Murray.

Silver spoke up.

"He's a main jealous cap'n, Cap'n

"But Here Come John and the Cap'n Now. I'd Better Be Skippin'."

Flint is, sir. Allus has a lookout for the interests o' his crew. A kind o' gardeen for us, ye might say. But we're all mighty beholden to yourself for counting in the Walrus same as the James; and speaking' on behelf o' the Walrus, I make bold to say as we won't forget it, Cap'n Murray, sir."

My great-uncle listened to this with the shadow of a smile on his face.

"I thank you, Silver," he acknowledged blandly. "I was confident you would appreciate the situation. Will you divide at once, Flint?"

Flint growled in his throat, then mastered his temper by a substantial effort.

"We'll appoint the usual committee o' six to check over with your men, Murray." he rasped. "I'll send my boats to shift our portion."

And he turned on his heel. John Silver stumped off to the ladder and hopped lightly down to the maindeck after his commander.

CHAPTER XIII

Treachery

The candles burned with a steady spear-shaped flame, undeviating, motionless, so that the shadows were cast upon the paneling of the cabin walls in solid blocks like streaks of a darker coloring in the polished woodwork. The air was so still that we could hear the sea-birds calling down the inlet, the seethe and suck of water about the rudder, the splash of a fish, the patter of the feet of the watch.

My great-uncle, for want of other diversion, had undertaken to teach Peter to play chess, with some saturnine advice and comment from the Irishman; and to my amusement—as likewise to Murray's, I must admit—Peter proved himself a most redoubtable tyro, and once he had been coached in the rudiments presented a shrewd defensive gambit.

"Check at last!" exclaimed my relative, sinking back in his chair—of the four of us, he alone wore coat and stock and still contrived to maintain an air of cool well-being in that humid atmosphere. "You pushed me, Peter. Stap me, but you did! I'd not like to match my game with yours six months from now. Had you developed your queen's knight eight moves back— But 'tis futile to argue concerning what might have been. As well seek to prognosticate the future of our own lives."

Peter giggled and muttered that he was "no goodt, neen."

"I would we might say, 'Check!' in this weary coil we are caught in," grumbled O'Donnell. "I see not that we are any farther forward with your confederates yonder."

He waved his hand out of the stern window.

"They carried away their four hundred thousand pounds, but every man of them was as glum in the face as though 'twas so many bodeens instead of a prince's ransom. St. Patrick! When I think of what four hundred thousand pounds would do with the English parliamentmen that will be selling their souls to whoever bids them the highest!"

"We have paid a price, chevalier," returned my great-uncle. "If we receive what we purchased, well and good. If not—"

He spread out his hands in deprecation.

(To be continued next week.)

REPORT OF COUNTY BOARD OF REVIEW OPEN FOR INSPECTION

State of Alabama, Chilton County.

Notice is hereby given by S. M. Pate, Tax Assessor of Chilton County, Alabama, that the Board of Review of said County has returned its report and the same is open for inspection in the Tax Assessor' office.

The Board of Review will sit at the court house of Chilton County on the first Monday in June to consider such protests as may be filed by any tax payer as provided by law. Any tax payer who is not satisfied with the valuation of his property as fixed and entered upon the return list may file objections in writing to such assessed valuation with the secretary of said board on or before the last Monday in May, and the tax payer shall set out in such objections filed the description of each item of property and his reason for making objection to the assessed valuation as placed thereon. (Sec. 158, 1923 Revenue Act.)

This 22nd day of April, 1926.

SIGNIFICANCE TO AMERICA OF BETTER HOMES CAMPAIGN

The following statements from President Coolidge and Secretary Hoover in former better homes campaigns contain a message of vital importance to all:

"The American home is the source of our national well-being. In it our high traditions of service and integrity are fostered. From the true home there emerges respect for the rights of others and the habit of cooperating for worthy ends. Through sharing its common enterprises and common sacrifices the child develops that sturdiness of character which distinguishes the manhood and womanhood of our land.

"Thus at the opening of better homes week I am glad to call attention to the demonstrations planned with such loyalty and disinterested zeal by the better homes committees of hundreds of American cities and villages, and to commend as a national service the cooperation of the women's clubs, civic and commercial associations and of the pulpit and the press in this significant undertaking. Such initiative, enterprise, and devotion should make firm the high ideals which characterize our nation."

Thursday, 3:30 p. m.—Purpose of the movement for better homes in America, Mrs. McDavid; How better homes help build a community, Mr. Omar Reynolds; recitation, Charlsie Pyron; Better books in the home, by Maplesville representative; Music in the home, Mrs. Hester; Recitation by Nellie Mae Caldwell; Art in the home, Mrs. J. C. Jones.

Friday, 3:30 p. m.—Song by girls from Miss Greer's room, third grade, "The Swing Song;" Recitation on the urgent need in our community life, Mr. J. B. Atkinson; Childrens corner in the home, Mrs. J. P. Hayes; Song, Miss Baird, nurse; Better Partnership beween school and home, Mrs. Irving, of Verbena; Civic effectiveness, civic club representative; The spiritual and moral significance of the home, Mrs. Ezell; Song, "The Rainbow Song," by six girls from Miss Guy's room; How better health improves community life, Miss Baird, nurse.

In connection with the program of the better homes committee in Chilton county the people will have the opportunity of hearing Miss Reynolds of Auburn on Saturday, May 1st, at the court house at 3 p. m. She will speak on the subject of better homes and the urgent need of home demonstration work in every county.

The Saturday program will be followed by appropriate observance of better homes movement in each of the churches on Sunday. An invitation is extended to each person to attend the exercises on each day.

THORSBY SECTION

(S. E. NORTON, Manager).

Mr. Ed Piper was the victim of a fool driver of an automobile on the highway near Thorsby last Friday afternoon. He was riding with a friend who was driving their car and meeting a big truck gave it so much road that their car had two wheels entirely off the pavement when the driver of a third car attempted to pass between the two vehicles and while watching out for the truck swiped the Piper car at high speed. Mr. Piper was thrown out and one of his hands seriously injured, but luckily escaped having his neck broken. It would seem that such accidents are frequent enough that drivers would learn better than to take such chances on an 18-foot roadway, when a little caution would allow them to pass in safety.

CORINTH NEWS

People in this community are going right along with their farming, but are badly behind with their fishing.

We had one of the best singings at Corinth Sunday afternoon we have ever had. Our society met in regular session; opened by a song by C. Smitherman.; prayer by Rev. E. A. Norris. The following directors sang four songs each: J. F. DuBose, J. M. Taylor, A. M. Jones, J. R. Robinson, J. J. Burkhalter, E. F. Taylor, Miss Elizabeth Griffin, N. J. Jones. Organists were Richard M. Kinney, Mrs. Lola Jones, Miss Lela Taylor.

Mrs. H. E. Hester of Billingsley is making an extended visit to her niece, Mrs. G. O. Foshee.

Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Prince and little son spent Tuesday shopping in Birmingham.

AUTO WRECK IN CLANTON WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON

Wednesday afternoon about 1:00 o'clock, a Dodge, driven by Mr. H. M. Bates, and a Ford, driven by Mr. Willie Poole, crashed into each other at the intersection of Sixth Street and First Avenue, in front of White's Garage.

The Dodge came through with but a few scratches, but the Ford's front end was a complete wreck. Both front tires were bursted, the windshield broken, and the stay posts on the front end of the left side smashed in.

Three ladies were in the car with Poole, but nobody was hurt. Both cars hit the curbing in front of the garage, and this caused the most of the smash-up to the Ford.

Mrs. John Harrison Collins is reported to be slowly recovering from a long and serious illness. Miss Genie Collins, our County Treasurer, has been spending most of her time at home nursing her mother and is now entertaining her mother's brother, W. A. Mims, and wife, of Chunchula, Ala., and her aunt, Mrs. George Lawley, of Lawley, Ala.

There will be English forenoon services at Thorsby Lutheran church next Sunday.

Mrs. Anna Villadsen and son, Arthur, drove to Montevallo Sunday to visit her son, Reno Villadsen, and his family. In the evening on their return trip they were accompanied by Reno and his family, who made a short visit to his mother's home.

Misses Eva Mae Parnell, a sister of Mrs. S. C. Wood, and Miss Edwards, nurses in a Birmingham hospital, accompanied by Mrs. Wood's mother and Mr. Burnett motored from Birmingham Sunday and spent the day with Dr. and Mrs. Wood.

Miss Edith Robinson left Monday for a visit to her sister, Lila Mae, wife of Clarence Bice, at Palatka, Fla., where Mr. Bice is engaged in the real estate business.

Mr. and Mrs. John Childress are rejoicing on the arrival of a new son at their home.

Mr. and Mrs. Pete Franklin opened their new cafe Sunday, located on the new highway between Franklin Street and Summit Avenue.

Misses Hollie Jones and Vernon Robinson of New Salem spent the week end with Misses Era and Dessie Robinson at their home in Thorsby.

Mr. Archie Robinson of Eclectic, Ala., spent the week end with his family and friends in Thorsby.

Harris Turner and his sister, Ruth, spent the week end visiting friends in Thorsby, their former home; they motored in from Birmingham, where they now reside.

Thorsby Parent-Teachesrs Association will hold its monthly social Thursday afternoon, April 29, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Petersen.

R. L. Carter, C. C. Driskill, J. C. Jones, Jr., Arnold Littleton, and G. J. Thompson motored to Birmingham Monday to see the ball game between Birmingham and New Orleans.

Thorsby delegates to the W. M. U. quarterly meeting at Union Grove Thursday were Mesdames Wm. Billingsley, Harper, Raybun, Leonard, and W. P. Lowery.

The regular monthly praise service at Congregational church will be held Sunday evening at 7:15. Everybody invited.

The Baptist Y. W. A. met Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Joe Anderson.

Mrs. Ida Grenn entertained last Wednesday afternoon in honor of her sister, Mrs. Turngren and son Chester Turngren, of Chicago. Those present were Mesdames J. O. Johnson, K. W. Carlson, Eckblad and daughter, Frank Nelson, M. J. Soberg, Danielson, Joe Anderson, E. E. Hansen, Bakke, Dyrhood, E. G. Hansen, Conrad Carlson, Grothe, and Miss Marie Grenn.

Mrs. Turngren and son, Chester, left Saturday for their home in Chicago.

Nothing ordinarily happening in Thorsby has so stirred the spiritual nature of our young people as the Christian Life Conference held here last week. The leaders were experts in presenting the attractions of such a life, and the joys of Christian service.

Rev. Charles L. Fiske of Cleveland, O., is a rare combination of preacher and teacher; he is an accomplished singer who can put emphasis and meaning into a hymn that few realize is there. He earned his way thru college by singing in a male quartet. Although a man in middle life he has never lost touch with young people and things that interest them and inspire them to the best that is in them.

Miss Helen Wilcox is also gifted with a pleasing personality and a delightful way of puttinng a subject befor young people have become an induces them not only to think, but to talk, and take an active part in discussions whenever opportunity offers.

These Christian Life Conferences for yaung people have become an institution in Thorsby, and already preparations are made looking forward to holding another here a year hence. The meetings were well attended by quite a number of young people of Thorsby, and Rev. R. L. McKay of Tallassee headed a delegation of eight from that city. Others from out of town were Harris and Ruth Turner of Birmingham, George Hughes of Montgomery, and Miss Bernice Kelly of Midland City. The Secretary's report follows:

The Christian Life Conference, a conference organized for the purpose of promoting higher ideals in Christian living, had its third annual meeting at the Congregational church on April 23-25. About 80 young people enrolled. The important speakers were Rev. Charles Fiske from Cleveland, O., and Miss Helen Wilcox from Atlanta, Ga., both representatives of the Congregational Education Society. Miss Olive Pearson, the organizer of the conference, was not able to be present because of illness. This was deeply regretted by all. The program was as follows:

Friday night, Fine Arts; Saturday morning, Methods; Saturday afternoon, Discussion; Saturday evening, picnic supper and social; Sunday morning, church communion service, by Dr. Fiske; Sunday afternoon, Discussion; Sunday evening, Vesper service.

A Big Job For A Big Man

Schools to improve. Roads to build and keep in repair. Resources to develop. Laws to pass. Laws to enforce. Convict leases to end. Convicts to work and punish. Pardons to grant. Pardons to refuse. Sea-port to complete. These are some of the tasks Alabama has for her next Governor. Alabama needs a big, able man; a man used to hard tasks; a man experienced in law-making; a man who has proved his leadership and ability in every field he has entered. Such a man is

CHEVROLET CLIMBED STEPS OF STATE CAPITOL

The two millionth Chevrolet produced by the Chevrolet Motor Company recently climbed the steps of the new state capitol building at Jackson, Mississippi, while the members of the adjourning state legislature viewed the performance.

A heavy rain preceding the event made the climb at a 45-degree angle, hazardous, but failed to scatter a crowd of more than 7,000 which waited throughout the downpour. Burned patches of rubber on the steps marked the progress of the coach up the incline, indicating the power necessary to make the ascent.

The climb had been negotiated only once before, and several powerful types of cars recently failed to arrive at the top.

Many members of the Legislature, themselves Chevrolet owners, greeted G. Porter Dukes, service manager of the Capitol Chevrolet Company, local distributors, as he reached the summit of the capitol entrance. Several ornamental stone pylons on the ascent caused the car to proceed slowly and added to the difficulty of the feat.

After once making the climb, the car backed down, demonstrating the holding power of its brakes, and then repeated the demonstration. The car was a regular stock model and because of being the two-millionth Chevrolet produced, had been shipped to various cities of the country for exhibition. The Capitol Chevrolet Company planned the stunt as a final showing of the car before selling it to a resident of Jackson.

A parade of several hundred Chevrolet automobiles, driven by their owners, and headed by the mounted police division of Jackson, and the demonstrating car, preceded the exhibition at the Capitol. Mayor Scott, City Commissioner Hawkins, and R. F. Hicks, assistant Chevrolet zone sales manager, gave brief talks on completion of the ascent.

EIGHTEEN STILLS TAKEN IN SERIES OF PROHI RAIDS

Eighteen stills, 8,830 gallons of beer, and 105 gallons of whiskey were destroyed, and 11 arrests made by state law enforcement officers in a series of raids made during Friday and Saturday, in the counties of Cleburne, Mobile, Pickens, Marion, Jefferson, and Crenshaw.

Detailed reports of the raids and results, received by Chief Walter K. McAdory of the state law enforcement department, showed that 9 stills, 5,780 gallons of beer, and 62 gallons of whiskey were wiped out in Jefferson county, where 11 of the 16 arrests were made; also that 5 stills, 2,500 gallons of beer and 30 gallons of whiskey were destroyed in Cleburne.

AUBURN IS READY FOR SUMMER SCHOOL

The faculty has been selected, the courses named, and the official bulletin printed announcing the 14th summer session at the Alabama Polytechnic Institute. It will comprise a full quarter session divided into two terms of six weeks each. The first will begin June 7 and close July 16; the second will begin July 17 and close August 21.

Announcement is made by Prof. Zebulon Judd, director, that 150 courses will be given by a faculty of 60 professors and instructors. The names of many of the regular professors and instructors appear on the summer faculty; and in addition the names of several outstanding scholars and educators from other big universities.

The courses will be for college students, teachers, high school graduates, and others. The college courses will be regular credit work. In addition, special courses will be given for county superintendents, city superintendents, high school principals, rural teachers, and teachers of vocational agriculture.

A teacher holding any certificate can have it extended one year by attending six weeks of the summer session; by attending 12 weeks it can be renewed for its full period. High school graduates may receive a second pre-normal certificate by attending 12 weeks.

Emphasis will be given also to graduate courses which will include chemistry, history, economics, education, home economics, and rural social life.

The summer school at Auburn has become known as the summer session of the college. Instruction will be given and courses conducted on the same high plane as the regular session.

B. & M. BUS LINE IS IMPROVING SERVICE

In line with its established policy of maintaining and operating the best bus line in the South between Birmingham and Montgomery, the Birmingham-Montgomery Transportation Company has recently effected some furher improvements in their equipment.

Talking with Mr. Langley recently the writer was impressed with the fact that his company will leave nothing undone to keep the service up to the highest standard.

The big palace cars which operate on regular schedule are the finest known to the motor transportations business. People who ride on them enjoy every convenience of travel as well as the fullest measure of safety and protection.

Every passenger is insured up to thirty thousand dollars against accident or injury of any kind. The insurance feature alone costs the company hundreds of dollars every month.

The drivers are careful, competent and considerate of those who travel with them.

There are now and then some other busses put on the line between Birmingham and Montgomery, but none of them can compare with the big "Gray Line."

"Our business has been established at great expense to us," said Mr. Langley, "and we are here to stay."

"We solicit the patronage of the traveling public, offering every possible assurance that our service will be reliable and worthy of trust. We hope the people of Clanton and all communities along the line will give us their support."

WEST CHILTON

This section was visited by the storm king Friday night. The damage was fairly light, followed by rain.

Messrs. A. F. Mims of Thorsby and Y. O. Freeman of Jemison were here Monday. Mr. Mims was looking for the electors of the tax collector's office, while Bro. Freeman—well—some say he was looking for the electorate in this part who can fill a matrimonial office.

A wedding of mire than ordinary interest occurred at Centerville Wednesday afternoon, the contracting parties being Mr. T. J. Hubbard of Jemison, and Mrs. Belle Smith of West Chilton (Route 1, Randolph). Judge Pratt of Centerville officiated. Mr. Hubbard is one of Chilton's best known and highly esteemed citizens, and one of the best officials this county ever had. The bride is a most estimable lady, well known and highly esteemed in this section, where she has a host of friends whose best wishes follow her over the sea of life. May their lives be led "beside the still waters."

Rev. Johnson of Birmingham filled Rev. Dykes' appointment at Pleasant Grove Sunday.

Isaac Waldrop, Sr., has returned from a visit to his daughter at Maben, Ala.

Mr. J. P. Gentry is still confined to his room.

Rev. Deason was booked to fill Mr. Falkner's appointment at Union Springs Sunday; the church also expected to observe the holy memorial sacramental supper.

Mr. H. W. Gibson and wife, and Mrs. Mattie Gibson of Macedonia were visitors at Jemison Saturday.

We had the pleasure Saturday of meeting an old friend, Mr. Franklin of Montgomery, formerly of Pleasant Grove.

S. N. Waldrop, after returning from south Alabama, has gone to Blocton.

We note with interest the recent visit of that grand and aged lad of Georgia, Senator Felton, to President Coolidge at the time both of them were under a cloud of bereavement. "Sorrow makes the world akin." That visit proclaims there is no north, no south, but one America, alluded to by Dr. Dwight of old time fame thus:

"Thy reign is the last and the noblest of time,
Most fruitful thy soil, most inviting thy clime."

Mr. A. D. Gentry and his sister, Mrs. Annie Cofer, recently visited Montevallo to consult Dr. Givhan for their father, Mr. J. P. Gentry.

TRIBUTE PAID VETS AT MOUNTAIN CREEK

Elaborate Program of Song and Speech Follows Annual Dinner at Soldiers' Home

Carrying out its annual custom of observing Memorial day at the Soldier Home, at Mountain Creek, on the first Sunday following Apil 26, there was a fitting and beautiful program rendered Sunday, participated in by many prominent Montgomerians.

Those attending from this city motored to Mountain Creek for an elaborate dinner, served in the executive building. Later the memorial services were held in the mess hall, which was decorated in flags, emblems and flowers in colors of red and white.

Captain Albert Goodwyn, a member of the board of the home, was chairman of the day and introduced the speakers. Mrs. J. H. Crenshaw, president of the Soldiers' Home division of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, was in charge of the program. The first number was singing in unison of patriotic songs, led by Miss Minnie Pebworth, with Mrs. W. A. Gayle accompainst. Miss Pebworth also sang appropriate solos. Miss Clara Virginia Kennedy gave a reading of "The Veterans' Parade."

The main feature of the afternoon was an address by Tyler Goodwyn, who paid homage to the veterans of the Civil war and to the spirit of men and women in the days of reconstruction.

Another address of great interest was that delivered by Mrs. R. P. Dexter, president-general of the Southern Confederate Memorial association.

Mrs. J. H. Crenshaw also made a feeling talk, in which she paid homage to the men of 1861-'65. Miss Toccoa Cozart made an impromptu talk in happy vein.

Many individuals and organizations contributed to the success of the day, and appreciation was especially expressed to the Jesse French Piano company, which sent a piano to Mountain Creek for the occasion.

BLOUNT JURY INDICTS MOSES; CHARGES MURDER

Indictment Grows Out Of Shooting Of Negro By Whites

Oneonta, Ala., May 2.—Edgar Moses is at liberty under a $10,000 bond following his arrest on an indictment charging him with murder in connection with the death of Lillie Cobb, a negro woman, who was shot in a raid upon her home on Sunday night, April 18, near this place.

It is said that Moses was a member of a band of men who visited the home of the negro woman on that night. Members of the band and occupants of the negro woman's home exchanged several shots in which the woman and Moses were wounded, both being carried to a Birmingham hospital for treatment of their wounds.

The woman died on April 20, but Moses has practically recovered from the wounds he received.

The grand jury was called back into session Wednesday of the past week by Judges Steel and Martin and remainded in session until Saturday morning when the indictment charging Moses with murder in connection with the woman's death was returned.

Sheriff McPherson placed Moses under arrest and bond was made immediately afterwards and he was released. It is said that no other indictments were returned by the grand jury.

HOTEL AT CLANTON UNDERGOES CHANGE

Announcement was made Saturday that the New Exchange hotel will be closed until June 1 for the purpose of remodeling and making improvements. Hot and cold water will be supplied each room and a number of baths will be installed, both tub and shower.

When completed and ready for business again, Mrs. M. R. Orr, proprietress, stated that she would have one of the most modern small town hotels in the state. The approximate cost of improvements is placed at $15,000. Located on the Birmingham-Montgomery highway, Clanton is fast attracting the attention of prospectors who desire to locate in a hustling business town with a rich agricultural backing. To meet the demands for a modern hotel in such a town is given as the reason for the remodeling.

Mrs. Orr has been in the hotel business for several years and she announces it her purpose to supply the conveniences the traveling public demands. She said: "I am going to operate a city hotel in a country town which is fast growing into city ways."

NEW HIGHWAY NOW OPEN ALL THE WAY TO MONTGOMERY

Traffic on the Birmingham-Montgomery Highway was opened the entire distance at three o'clock Tuesday afternoon. The bridge over the Alabama River at Reese's ferry has been completed and was formally dedicated to the use of the public by the American Legion on Tuesday afternoon.

The portions of the highway through Shelby and Chilton counties have been in use for many months, but traffic between Marbury and Montgomery has been sporadic during the completion of the grading through Autauga county. The work has now reached completion and the barriers were removed leaving the new road open all the way into Montgomery on Tuesday afternoon.

The cost of the bridge at Reese's Ferry is a little over $300,000. Contractors have devoted over two years to building the structure.

The opening of the highway between Marbury and the bridge does not mean that the project has been finally completed. No surface has been placed on the new road, and none will be placed until the road bed has settled. Gravel will be placed in the soft places so that the road may be used for traffic throughout the year. The contract for a permanent hard surface, such as asphalt or concrete will not be let for 18 months.

READ OUR THORSBY DEPARTMENT

Attention of our readers is called to the Thorsby section of the Union-Banner. It contains lots of news items by Mr. Norton, our Thorsby manager, as well as a good representation of advertisements by business houses of the town.

We again wish to urge the people of Thorsby to give Mr. Norton any news items you may have each week. Any business, such as advertising or job printing can be handled through Mr. Norton also. And remember that every dollar the people of Thorsby spend with The Union-Banner goes right into your Bank and stays at home in Thorsby. Help us help keep Thorsby money in Thorsby.

VERBENA HIGH SCHOOL COMMENCEMENT PLANS

Plans have been completed for the third annual commencement for Verbena High School. The commencement exercises will begin Sunday, May 23, and close Wednesday, May 26th.

Rev. John Kerr Dean, Dean of Reinhardt College, Waleska, Ga., will deliver the commencement sermon. Rev. Dean is a graduate of Emory and Henry College, having received his B. A. degree there; he is also a graduate of Candler School of Theology, Emory University, Ga., having received his D. D. degree there.

The baccalaureate address will be delivered by Dr. H. C. Howard, head of the Department of Homolitics, Emory University. Dr. Howard is one of the South's learned men, a well known minister and teacher of Alabama, and a forceful speaker.

Miss Dannybe Belser, Director of School and Community Betterment, Montgomery, will address the parents on Wednesday afternoon. Miss Belser is a prominent P. T. A. worker, and her theme will bear upon this phase of the school work.

In addition to these visiting speakers the principal has been very fortunate in securing a male quartette to sing at the various programs during commencement. This is one of the best quartettes in north Georgia, and a rare treat is in store for those attending the programs.

The school finishes a very successful year in every department. It faces a bright future in that the commencement exercises will mark the opening of the beautiful new auditorum which is a part of the new high school building.

The commencement program will be as follows:

Sunday Morning, May 23, Commencement sermon; Sunday evening, musical program.

Monday evening, May 24, play, "The Hoodoo."

Tuesday evening, May 25, play, "Getting Acquainted With Madge."

Wednesday morning, May 26, Recitation and Declamation contest; Wednesday noon, dinner on the ground; Wednesday afternoon, class exercises, and P. T. A. address; Wednesday evening, baccalaureate address and delivery of diplomas.

JIM LECROY AND BRIGGS CRUMPTON OPEN NEW SHOP

The Chilton Motor Co., a new automobile repair shop, has been opened by Jim LeCroy and Briggs Crumpton, in the Fox building formerly occupied by Lawrence Motor Co. They have installed a full battery of the latest machines, tools and equipment for doing repair work. Both are experienced auto mechanics. They are home boys who are well known. They will give personal attention to work entrusted to them and guarantee that every job turned out shall be of first class.

In addition to repair work on all makes of cars, they will carry a standard line of parts and accessories.

They have a nice place, their building having been renovated by Mr. Fox, and everything looks nice and orderly. These young men invite their friends to bring them their business.

COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES TO BE HELD AT JEMISON

A cordial invitation is extended to the general public to attend the commencement exercises of the Jemison High School. The undergraduate play, "Rose Time" will be presented May 7 at the high school auditorium. This entertainment promises to be different to anything of its kind presented in Jemison before. It is going to bring you a bouquet, instead of a brick-bat.

The commencement sermon will be delivered by Rev. W. R. Curtis, the presiding Elder of this District, May the 16. In addition to the rare treat of hearing Dr. Curtis, special music will be furnished for the service.

The "Farm Folks" a four act comedy, will be given by the graduating class, Monday night, May 17. This play possesses unusual charm and laughter. There will be a treat in store for everyone who attends. A list of those taking part:

Phillip Burleigh, A Rich Widow's Son, Reese Wells; Flora, The Farmer's Daughter, Lois Busby; Amos Goodwin, The Old Farmer, Wilbert Duke; Bijah Finn, A Jack at all trades, Henry Hayes; Mrs. Burleigh, A Rich Widow, Ethel Brown; Relia, The Hired Girl, Ida Edwards; Thompson, a Servant, Astro Wright; Dave Weston, a Rough Old Farmer, Jerome Wilson.

The graduating exercises will be held on Tuesday night, May 18. The high school feels highly honored in securing Dr. Abercrombie, the State Superintendent of Education, to deliver the bacculaureate address and the County Superintendent to award medals and Certificates of Honor.

Respectfully,
J. A. PETERSON, Prin.

NEW IMMIGRATION LAW NOT WORKING HARDSHIPS

An interesting and convincing explanation and defense of the present immigration law is given in the current issue of the National Republic by Robe Carl White, assistant Secretary of Labor, who declares that it is clear that the new law is actually restricting immigration without causing undue hardship. The smuggling of immgrants into the country is being reduced further as time goes on.

"How many Americans," Mr. White asks, "know that approximately thirty-seven millions of our population are foreign-born or of mixed parentage? How many Americans know that in the hundred years between 1820—when immigration records were first kept—down to 1920, aliens to the total of approximately thirty-four millions came to this country? And that more than half this number—nineteen millions—have arrived here since 1890?

"How many Americans know that before 1819 we had no immigration policy, and that immigration was totally unregulated? From 1908 to 1924, more than thirteen million aliens were admitted to this country and about half as many departed, leaving a net increase of 6,469,000 in our alien population. How many Americans know that?

"Prior to the close of the World War our people gave but little thought or consideration to the qquestion of immigration to the United States. Annual reports of the Commissioner General of Immigration and other official documents furnished the main supply of immigration knowledge. They were seldom quoted and seldom discussed. The old theory that this was an asylum for the oppressed of all lands, a country of refuge for all aliens, regardless of their past, regardless of their reasons for leaving their homes, was generally accepted.

"The conditions, economic and social, confronting our country following the World War caused the spotlight of publicity to be turned on our immigration problems, with the result that our people demanded we take stock, ascertain facts that would enable us to determine the proper future immigration policy to be followed."

GRADUATING EXERCISES AT CHILTON COUNTY TRAINING SCHOOL

Announcements and invitations are being issued for the graduating exercises of the Chilton County Training School (colored) to be held on Friday, May 14, at eleven o'clock.

The following are members of the graduating class: Halcyonne S. Williams, Lula Mae Knight, Lassinia Cooper, Gertrude E. Wright, Cora McCall, Hannah Lee Williams, Mattie Barbour.

George M. Millican and Clyde E. Mayhall of the Tennessee-Alabama Auction Co., were in Clanton last Thursday. They were getting ready for a big sale of 120 residence lots in north Birmingham which is being held today (Thursday.)

Dr. V. J. Gragg spent part of last week attending the State Medical Association meeting in Mobile. The association will meet next year in Montgomery.

Wallace C. Edler of Thorsby was a visitor to Clanton last Friday.

SPANISH WAR VETS GET PENSION BOOST

President Coolidge Approves Bill Granting Increase to Soldiers of 1898

Washington, May 1. — President Coolidge late today signed the bill to increase pensions of Spanish war veterans and their dependents nearly $19,000,000, annually.

At the same time, in a formal statement, he said his approval was not to be taken "as an encouragement to further laws for large continuing appropriations." He gave a warning that it might be necessary to increase taxes if governmental expenditures are greatly increased.

The president waited until late in the last day on which under the law he could act on the measure. He made it clear that he had delayed his decision solely on account of the government financing involved.

Although he had been of the opinion that the increased outlay would raise the expected deficit of the coming fiscal years to approximately $40,000,000, Mr. Coolidge said saving undoubtedly would be devised to absorb the increase carried in the bill.

In his statement, the president said:

"It has been necessary for me to delay approving the bill increasing the pensions of the Spanish war veterans and their dependents, not because of any lack of sympathy with the objects of the bill, but on account of the government financing which it involved. I have recognized that those connected with the Spanish war have always held a position of inequality, so far as government bounty is concerned, compared with those connected with other wars. It cannot be denied that they are entitled to be placed on a higher rate of pensions than they are now receiving, if others are entitled to what the government is doing for them."

Howdy folks!

We are very sorry to say that Mrs. Melton Moore and Mrs. Belle Mims of this community is on the sick list this week.

A large crowd attended Sunday School Sunday evening.

Messers Marvin Bowels, Archie Chandler and Joseph Boyd of Cordova Ala., spent the week end at home.

Messrs. Eulous Courtney and Johnnie Norrell of East View were visiting at this place Sunday evening.

We extend a cordial invitation to all who read this to a "Mothers Day" celebration the 2nd Sunday in May, next Sunday. Everybody come and bring some one with you and a well filled basket.

Must See Ahead

If there is a sharp curve in the road, you go slow. You want to see what's ahead. After dark you will not drive without lights for the same reason.

Being able to see ahead is what insures safety and success, no matter what the undertaking. In financial as well as other affairs, the only way to look into the future is by the light of the past. Successful men have worked, planned and SAVED. Why not follow the light they have given and do likewise? Our Bank will help you.

A MAN OF INTEGRITY

A physician who reaches out to benefit humanity leaves a record behind him that is worth while. Such a man was Dr. R. V. Pierce. His study along medical lines, and his knowledge of the remedial qualities of herbs and plants led to the discovery of his wonderful herbal remedy, Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is just the tonic required if a woman is borne down by pain and sufferings at regular or irregular intervals, by nervousness or dizzy spells, headache or backache. Favorite Prescription can also be had in tablet form as well as liquid at drug stores.

FORESTRY LETTER

Montgomery.—The annual burning by forest fires continues to decrease, says a statement issued by the Alabama Commission of Forestry. While the figures for the first half of the year will not be fully compiled until June 30, it is evident that by far most of the winter and spring fires have already occurred and that further burning of this character will be comparatively slight.

For many years after promiscous burning of the woodlands was introduced into the State by new settlers the proportion of forest land burned over annually averaged between 35 and 40 per cent. This was true of the southern states in general, most of which took little account of the great damage from this source and provided no facilities for its ascertainment. Fact finding in these particulars is difficult, and even after agencies in certain of the States were vested with this responsibility the figures were often incomplete and unreliable.

The Alabama Forestry Act of 1925 stressed fact finding as one of the primary duties of the Commission of Forestry, and exceptional care has been taken to ascertain actual conditions. Searching investigations revealed that in 1923 approximately 36 per cent of Alabama's twenty-two million acres of rough land burned over. In 1924 this was reduced to 34 per cent, most of the burning being concentrated within a period of four or five weeks in the fall of the year. In 1925 the proportion burned over was still further reduced, being approximately 16 per cent.

Both the State and the Federal Government are assisting the landowners in the protection of the woodlands. However, neither of these agencies could have accomplished material results were it not for the initiative and energy of the owners themselves. Public sentiment, evolved chiefly by the press of the State, is definitely committed to the policy of growing timber instead of burning it up.

SINGING AT CALERA

The Union-Banner has been asked to announce that the famous Oak Grove singing class will sing at the Calera Baptist church on the second Sunday afternoon, April 9. The United singing society of this county and any other singers who may are are especially asked to meet at the above time and place with the Oak Grove singers. Will begin singing at one o'clock.

B. LAWRENCE GIVES SOME SCHOOL FIGURES

Since writing an article in the paper several days ago in which I gave the rating of Chilton County compared with other counties in the State in per capita wealth of school children, many people have been asking why it is that Chilton stands third down the top in per capita wealth and thirtieth from the top in length of school term. This is not an unnatural question for people to ask, and I am glad they are asking it, because it is evidence that people are thinking. It puzzled me and I have been studying the matter to find out the reason for such a condition.

After studying all the facts available, I have found that there is really but one outstanding reason for it and that is the way in which our money is appropriated in the State. We had enrolled in this county last year 4,936 white children with a State appropriation of $34,540.05, while Sumter County, with an enrollment of 1,057 white children, had an appropriation of $68,879.04. Sumter County had about one-fourth as many white children in school as Chilton County, but received about twice as much from the State as this County did. Lowndes County had 665 white children and received an appropriation from the State of $48,012.42, which is more than we received with the enrollment of 4,936. Marengo County, with an enrollment of 2,285, received an appropriation of $63,225.63.

Now, in view of the above facts, I feel that every one of those people in the County who are asking the reason for our short term in the face of our per capita wealth, can figure for themselves the reason for the short term. Certainly some adjustments ought to be made. These adjustments lie wholly within the power of the Governor and Legislature, and can only be corrected by them.—B. Lawrence.

PLEASANT GROVE

Farmers in this section are geeting along with their crops nicely. The land has never been better prepared than this year.

Well, Rev. Scott said the candidates were moving around with great speed. I have not seen any of them, as I am a farmer, have to work for support, and can't go to see the voters, as all know that the farmers must be at their farming this time of year.

I have many friends I would like to visit, but I can't now. The preacher can leave his store with his clerk and go around to see them all.

Mr. Scott also said that two of his opponents said that there was nothing to it if he gets the office, but if he gets it, and discharges his duties, he will find that there is something to it. I have no knowledge of ever telling him or anyone else anything of that kind, and don't know why I should have.

Let me say that if I was not disabled to work I would not have asked for the office, but if I have to throw off on some of the ther candidates to get the job it will have to go. So I will leave it with the people.

Good luck to the editor and all his readers.—S. E. Waldrop.

FLOYD

Our Sunday School is still progressing nicely and we hope to have more next Sunday. We are very sorry to say our Superintendent, Mr. Will Huett is in the hospital in Montgomery and we hope to have him back in Sunday School soon.

Our Singing Society met in regular order Sunday afternoon, opened by our president, Mr. E. L. Taylor. Prayer, led by Rev. Trice. The following directors were: J. M. Williams, Mr. McCord, J. M. Taylor, Marshall Burkhalter, Miss Lela Strength, Agnes More, Lela Taylor, P. H. Headley; organists were, Lela Taylor, Ruby McCord, Mr. James Goree and Jones.

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Strength returned home from a short visit in Birmingham Sunday afternoon.

Mr. A. O. Taylor and wife and Mrs. Ellor Huett, Mr. Clarence Huett, Miss Jewel Strength, motored to Montgomery Sunday to see Mr. Will Huett.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Driver and family of Montgomery spent the night with Mr. Driver's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Driver, Saturday night, and dined with Mrs. Maud Griffin Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith of Thorsby were the guests of their daughter, Mrs. Milam Wednesday night.

Mrs. J. M. Moore and family were the guests of Mrs. Eallar Huett Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Headley were the guest of his mother Sunday night.

There was a crowd of young people enjoyed the entertainment at Mr. McCord's Sunday night.

County farm and home demonstration agents will give instructions as to how this should be done. A letter sent to the Extension Service, Auburn, Alabama, will get the information.

PLEASANT VALLEY

Last Saturday and Sunday afternoon was our regular preaching days. With our pastor, Rev. Hughes delivering two very interesting sermons, we had good attendance, and hope to have better in the future. We have a good Sunday School which is rapidly growing with a hundred and seven (107) on roll. Had 88 present last Sunday and a number of visitors who we hope to see present again. We are planning a Mother's Day program next Sunday p. m. and also the B. Y. P. U. will present a program Sunday night.

We extend to all a welcome invitation to come and worship with a friendly people.

SOCIETY

Mrs. Grady Broadhead, Editor.

Young Matron's Club.

The members of the Young Matron's Club were entertained by Mrs. Flem Higgins on last Thursday afternoon at her home on Eighth Street. Roses, narcissus, and other bright spring flowers were artistcially arranged in baskets and vases to decorate the home. Two tables were arranged in the living room where forty-two was played. At the conclusion of the games Mrs. Latham Ellis held high score and was presented the club prize, a pretty hand made guest towel. The guest prize was a linen handkerchief, and was received by Mrs. Kin Vinson.

The hostess served a dainty ice course to the following club members and guests: Mesdames Joe Higgins, Lucien Duncan, W. M. Wyatt, Kin Vinson, Loren Smith, Latham Ellis, Bill Murphy, Milton Smith, Grady Taylor, Hubert Jones, Briggs Crumpton.

Mrs. Moore Hostess.

Mrs. J. Watts Moore delightfully entertained the members of the Wednesday Bridge Club and others last Wednesday at a luncheon at her home on Fifth Street. For this occasion quantities of sweet Williams, narcissus, and roses in baskets and wall vases were used to decorate the living room. Three card tables were arranged in the dining room, where a four-course luncheon was served. Each table was centered with a crystal vase of rosebuds and maiden-hair fern. Attractive tally cards, suggestive of the season, were passed that each guest could find her place. After the luncheon a series of bridge games were played. Mrs. N. S. Johnson won the top score prize, a pretty candy jar filled with candy, and Mrs. Arthur Johnson received the booby prize, a dainty handkerchief.

Enjoying Mrs. Moore's gracious hospitality were Mesdames L. F. Gerald, N. S. Johnson, John Browder, Hance Alred, Arthur Johnson, Frank Callen, V. J. Heard, H. M. Simpson, Grady Reynolds, T. C. McSwain, J. Hugh Jones, John P. Wade, and Grady Broadhead.

Mrs. Smith Hostess At Luncheon.

On last Thursday Mrs. J. Lee Smith was hostess to the members of the Thursday Sewing Club and a number of other guests, entertaining at a luncheon at her home on South Seventh Street. The home was profusely decorated with varicolored spring cheon table was beautifully appointed. The centerpiece was a silver basket of red American Beauty roses. Dainty little place cards symbolic of springtime marked the places of the guests. A four course luncheon was served. Mrs. Smth was assisted in entertaining by Mrs. J. P. Hayes. The afternoon was spent doing various kinds of fancy work for the hostess.

Birthday Party

A most enjoyable affair was on last Wednesday afternoon when Mrs. J. Hugh Jones entertained at a surprise party at her home on Fifth street honoring her little daughter, Mary Courtney, the occasion being her seventh birtday anniversary.

Various out door games and contests were enjoyed, after which the children were invited into the dining room. Here a profusion of roses were the decoration. Pink and white was the chosen color scheme. Streamers fell from chandelier to the table and the centerpiece was a white birthday cake topped with seven pink candles, surrounded with pink and white rosebuds.

An ice course carrying out the color scheme was served, also candies Cutting the birthday cake afforded much pleasure, as the usual symbols were cut by the little folks.

Those present at this enjoyable affair were, Helen and Joe Moore, Lawrence Jr. and Celia Gerald, Grady Jr. and Morgan Reynolds, Billy Callen, Dixie, Billie and Sam Johnson, Theda Wyatt, Hilda Hart, Nell Ross Mullins, Joe Hall Johnson and others.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Roberts (Sallie Johnson) arrived Tuesday from Charlotte N. C., and expect to make their home here.

Ford

Highest in Quality

The quality of a motor car is largely determined by the materials out of which it is built.

Take, for instance, steels — which comprise the major portion of the materials used in automotive manufacturing today. No automobile can have more durable or more satisfactory steels than you get in a Ford.

The upholstery used in Ford closed cars contains a much larger percentage of wool than is ordinarily specified. Genuine polished plate glass is used for Ford windows and windshields.

The story is the same for every item of material used in Ford manufacture. It is logical that such extreme care in the selection of materials should result in a car that is without an equal when it comes to enduring service.

Lowest in Price

Conditions that are unique in the automotive industry make Ford prices possible.

Every manufacturing operation is under direct control of the Ford Motor Company. Iron is taken from Ford mines in Michigan; coal from the Company's mines in Kentucky and West Virginia. Ford glass plants produce the glass for windshields and windows; wood comes from Ford timber tracts. Raw materials and finished products are carried over Ford-owned transportation routes; coke ovens, blast furnaces, a steel mill, foundries and saw mills —all are part of this complete organization.

Under any other circumstances, Ford cars would cost a great deal more than they do.

OUR MILITARY OUTLAY NOT A WAR DANGER

In reply to the statement of a New York preacher that one of the main obstacles to peace is Uncle Sam's great annual outlay for military purposes, the National Republic cites some interesting facts in an editorial under the caption "America's War Bill." Back in 1810 our total expenditures for our army and navy were 46.6 per cent of our national expenditures, while in 1924 the total spent for military purposes was only 19 per cent of our national outlay. The National Republic continues:

There are two effective ways of keeping out of war: minding our own business as a nation, and not crossing the Atlantic to involve ourselves in the collisions and collusions of nations which have been fighting among themselves almost continuously for centuries; and being always so well prepared to defend ourselves against aggression principally through sea power, that no nation would be willing to cross an ocean to attack us. We often speak of the World War as an unprecedented cataclysm. Victor Hugo records that between 1790 and 1814 nineteen million men were lost in war in Europe. It was in the midst of that period that George Washington uttered his solemn admonitions against involvement in a system which produced such a result more than a century ago, produced it again within this century, and may again produce it before another century or even a decade has passed.

Why is it that those who speak so often and so inaccurately of America's military expenditures fail to take account of the much vaster sums we spend for social betterment, as well as for conveniences and luxuries? Our expenditures for education fall largely within the province of our state governments. This year nearly two billion dollars will be spent on our public schools and nearly a half billion more on private and public colleges and universities. We are spending vastly more on highways than we are on our army and navy; we are spending more for automobiles, movies or even confectionery than we are in protecting our nation against insurrection or invasion.

Besides the vast sums being poured out in public and private charity, for education, for the endowment and maintenance of hospitals, museums and other public institutions, and for many similar purposes, what we spend for our army and navy is insignnificant. And but for that army and navy the safety of no one of these institutions would be assured, for with the knowledge that behind our laws and instiutions there would stand no protective force, no guarantee would remain for national safety.

The wets are going to concentrate their fire on getting liquor that is non-intoxicating "in fact" but a lot of the boys would be disappointed if they really got that kind.

Wonder what the New York Democracy would do if Al Smith should take it into his head to emulate Mr. Jack Dempsey and become passive.

The reason they still call it pre-war liquor is that after you drink it the battle starts immediately.

WHY THEY DON'T VOTE

Quite frequently someone calls attention to the danger to representative government caused by the fact that every year an increasing number of Americans are staying away from the polls. President Coolidge himself pointed out this peril in his recent address to the Daughters of the American Revolution. It is often remarked, too, that the citizen who doesn't vote in nine cases out of ten is a conservatively inclined citizen, whether he be Republican or Democrat.

It might be suggested, therefore that there is another reason for this lack of interest in voting than mere laziness on the part of the average citizen. In each succeeding election nowadays the percentage of those voting to the whole number elgible seems to grow less. One reason for this which is not often dwelt upon is that, when it comes to voting, the average citizen is getting too much of a good thing, and nothing palls on most Americans more than this.

In the "good old days" we went to the polls once every two years to vote, and that was about all there was to it. But now we have two or three elections nearly every year, and, worst of all, a "dog and cat" squabble preceding each one. Instead of the biennial election to express the will of the people, this present year starts off with senatorial and state primaries, local primaries and all sorts of primaries lasting from early spring until the first of October. And in a good many communities there will be campaigns on bond issues and various other referendum ideas. No wonder then that by the time the regular election rolls around a lot of people will be too weary with it all to go and vote. For there is nothing quite so disgusting as a primary which tends to be disgusting. Then next year there will be city and state elections in some of the states, to say nothing of more referendums, and these will last until it is time for the presidential primaries to open up again.

This is all quite different from the old days when the people voted in November on the candidates selected in convention and left the selection of the United States senators to the state legislators. Of course, once in a while there was some anguish over the result of a state convention, but no convention unrest ever lasted as long as the mildest primary does nowadays.

For a long time the cry has been "let the people rule," taking the authirty away from delegated meetings and giving it to voters direct. But the way they are failing to come out to vote might indicate that the people are getting tired of ruling. Perhaps the best way, to whet their appetites would be, not to pass a law compelling them to vote, but to abolish a lot of useless primary campaigns, so making the general election a pleasing novelty again.

London dandies are going to shed their waistcoats this summer just like Americans do. Another blow at the vested interests.

The second annual session of the American Institution of Cooperation will be held at the University of Minnesota, June 21 to July 17, 1926. The first session was held in Philadelphia a year ago. The leading men in cooperation in this country will take part in the second session as they did in the first.

Watch for mites in chicken houses and lice on chickens. Ask your county agent how to control them.

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

National taxes are going down and national expenditures have been curtailed. These two statements go together. The reduction in the income taxes has had a pleasant and a stimulating effect over the country. But unfortunately public expenditures and taxes as a whole are not going down. The reason for this lies not with the federal but with the state and local governments.

Let us take the state of Indiana for an example, for Indiana is a typical American commonwealth. According to figures recently compiled in the office of the Auditor of state the people of Indiana will pay about $2,000,000 more this year to run the state and local governments than they paid in 1925. This increase does not represent an increase either in tax rates or appraisals and indicates that the state is prospecting.

It is interesting to note that only about ten per cent of the money collected goes to defray the expenses of the state government, showing that running the state of Indiana is not such an expensive proposition after all. The other ninety per cent of the $135,000,000 which it is expected will be collected will go to the township, town, city, county and school governments. Of course, the biggest single item is for schools, which will take forty-two per cent of the revenue. Indiana spends a lot of money on its schools and has a right to be proud of them. Another eighteen per cent goes for road building, and this does not include the state highways which are financed from federal aid, the gasoline tax, etc.

So out of a total of about $135,000,000 to be collected in Indiana, approximately $121,000,000 will go back to the communities where the tax is collected, and will go principally for schools, highways, new public buildings and other improvements.

Now, what is true of Indiana is true in most of the other states. The people complain about high taxes, but the money doesn't go to Washington, or to the state capital. There is a constant demand for new improvements, for roads, bridges, new buildings, including schoolhouses, gymnasiums and so on. These cost money and the relative cost increases every year. The money can only be raised by taxation, and the people who own the property must do the paying. In most instances these improvements could be stopped by public remonstrances, but the disposition of the public is to petition for and not to remonstrate against public improvements.

This is not an argument against public improvement. It costs a great deal more to live in the average community than it did a generation ago, but the improvement and progress of the community make it worth more. The point to be made, however, is that these improvements cost money and must be paid for through taxation. Therefore, it is inconsistent to sign petitions for public improvements and then kick because taxes are high. There is no way to remedy the situation so long as we continue to demand greater improvements and it is just as well to look the facts in the face. No political party can devise a program which will induce contractors to do public work free of cost. Somebody will have to pay the bill, and that somebody will be the taxpayer.

THIS WEEK'S HERO

Jones hurried out of the Haberdasher's shop. A big smile wreathed his ruddy countenance. His chest rose and receded with pride as he briskly sauntered down the street.

Flappers approached—looked him over—and giggled. Old maids gasped. Men stopped in their tracks—frowned—and paused to wonder.

Horses at the curb shied—pulled at their weights—and turned their necks to the point of breaking. At the crossing, pandemonium broke loose. Street cars clanged. Motors honked. A policeman fainted.

Jones, seeing all attention was centered on him, sensed something wrong. His smile started to fade. But bravely he trotted along.

Arriving home, he rang the front door bell. His wife answered. He started to step in but the door was slammed in his face. Next thing he heard was a woman's screech piercing the air, followed by—
"Help! Murder! Fire! Police! There's a strange man trying to break into the house!"

FRUITS AND NUTS OF STATE ARE PROMISING

Auburn, Ala., May 3—With the season for cold weather apparently over it looks now that the fruit and nut crop in Alabama will be good this year. Reports and information received at Auburn indicate that peaches, apples, satsuma oranges, and pecans are all promising.

The peach crop was damaged in some sections by the unseasonably cold weather in March, but more recent reports show that the crop continues to improve. Although many prospective peaches were killed in the bloom, or just after blooming, it appears that those left on the trees are making a good showing. Fewer peaches bring better prices Hence the situation is paradoxical n that a loss is a gain.

Exceptionally good reports of the prospects of a good crop in Conecuh, Escambia, and Monroe counties have been received. Most of the trees on the Experiment Station at Auburn promise a good crop. Likewise, favorable reports have been received from other peach sections.

Apples bloom later than peaches and practically all reports agree that the apple crop this year should be one of the best Alabama has ever made.

The satsuma orange in Mobile and Baldwin counties began blooming late in April, and the growers are expecting a good crop next fall. Groves that have been cared for properly are due to make a good crop.

Pecans too are looking good. However, the pecan blossom period is just now under way, and it is easily possible for something to happen between now and next fall to reduce the crop.

With the good crop of fruit and nuts set, growers are now giving their attention to disease and insect control and also to the cultivation and fertilization of their trees. All these things are necessary to produce first-class fruit.

D. M. MARTIN IS CANDIDATE FOR TAX COLLECTOR

The Chilton County News last week contained the announcement of D. M. Martin as a candidate for Tax Collector of Chilton county on the Democratic ticket in the August primary. Up to the present time there are four who seek the collector's job, as follows:

J. Tom Rocket, Republican and present collector, seeking re-election; Will G. Culp, Republican; Alfred F. Mims Republican, and D. M. Martin Democrat.

WEST CHILTON

The gentle showers of Sunday and Monday were quite welcome and refreshing.

L. D. Posey and W. R. Redding will leave Tuesday for Montgomery where they are called to jury service in United States Court.

West Chilton was liberally represented in the singing convention at Pate's Chapel Saturday and Sunday, and not withstanding there were a number of other gatherings scheduled for Sunday there was a multitude of people there. And in the large crowd was a sprinkling of our smiling candidates, Messrs. Mims, Waldrop and Scott. Mr. Scott is one of the convention officials. We noticed Mr. W. F. Riggins of Birmingham was there. Mr. Riggins formerly lived in Chilton and was well known around Pleasant Grove Beat 14 in the olden time. We were pleased to meet him again.

Among the directors present was quite a number who did fine work—both ladies and gentlemen. But one of the most striking features was the directing of two little girls, Flora Shirley of Lawley, and Willie Pearl Cooper of Southwest Clanton. Earnestness and simplicity characterized their efforts and appearanca. The little Shirley girl directed one composition by a Lady of Texas, which had the title of the famous astronomer Copernicus, it seemed almost angelic. The Memorial service by Prof. Williams and Sanders for their deceased friends, Messrs. J. A. Rogers and John Davis, was nicely rendered with feeling and solemnity. The next session goes to Lomax. Last, but not least, the people of Pate's Chapel sure did a noble part for the convention. Such a profusion of good eats and beautiful flowers, every petal of which spoke welcome to the singers, and Mr. John Hayes of Chunchula, Ala., enjoyed it fully.

Mr. J. P. Gentry is still confined to his room, his son from Birmingham, is still with him.

Mrs. Alice Scott of Chicago and Mrs. China Headley of Birmingham came last week to visit their father Mr. Gentry.

Mr. and Mrs. Hubbard visited in Jemison last week, we learn. They will be at home to their friends in West Chilton for the present.

The displays include various works of arts and crafts and the contests are composed of musical and dancing programs. The Eisteddfod was made possible by the financing backing of 11 Birmingham business men.

BRIEF NEWS NOTES

The United States Department of Agriculture reports that 150 farmers are lining up monthly with the "Better Sires-Better Stock" movement. These members have adopted the use of purebred sires for all kinds of livstock, including poultry. The increase is regarded as a good index of the progress in livestock improvement in this country.

Looking forward to cheaper eggs next fall and winter, eggs are now being placed in storage to be used during that season. Big dealers place them in cold storage which is not practical on a family scale, but they can be stored in waterglass at a very small cost. A quart of waterglass will cost about 35 cents and is sufficient to preserve 15 dozen eggs. All drugstores carry it.

Out of each dollar spent for foods in this country approximately 20 cents goes for dairy products.

The 52nd Running Of The

KENTUCKY DERBY

Will take place at Churchill Downs [Louisville] on Saturday, May 15th. No other outdoor event in all America---and few in all the world ---attracts such attention, or is so rich in tradition, in sentiment, or in historic interest.

People from all parts of the world---from the royal families of Europe to the staid American who sees no other horse race in all the year---are present. Throughbred racing may hold no particular interest for you, but the Kentucky Derby is different. The color, the crowd, the thrills, the sentiment---all make "Derby Day" in Louisville a sight long to be remembered and well worth seeing.

The Louisville & Nashville Railroad offers splendid through passenger service, with many extra trains, permitting those who desire to spend the one day in Louisville to do so, with comfort and convenience. For full particulars ask any L. & N. Passenger Agt.

STRAWBERRY CROP IS COMING IN GOOD

The one thing of most interest to the people of Thorsby and community is the beginning of harvesting the strawberry crop, and the splendid prices prevailing. The first shipment of importance was made by express on Friday of last week, when 140 crates of 24 quarts each were sent to Birmingham, at $5.00 per crate, loaded on the cars at Thorsby, the buyer paying for transportation. On Saturday upward of 400 crates were loaded in a refrigerator car and sold to a Cincinnati house at $6.60 per crate, F. O. B. Thorsby. In addition, some 200 crates were shipped to a Birmingham house at about the same price. On Monday, after the heavy rains of Sunday night, nearly 1,200 crates came in, which sold mostly at $6.25 per crate, amounting to nearly $7,000.00. Thorsby Fruit and Truck Growers Association has established an enviable record, not only for the quality of their berries, but for the confidence placed in them by buyers. Their berries are now sold at top market prices on the track at Thorsby, the buyer taking them solely on representation of the manager of the Association, J. Milton Smith, and as soon as they receive the manifest, giving car number and contents, a check is mailed to cover the purchase price, without waiting for the arrival of the shipment, some 400 or 500 miles distant. The cars are set in at Thorsby all iced and ready for loading, without charge to the Association, except a nominal charge for melted ice if delayed here 12 hours or more. If re-icing is necessary before the car reaches its destination, the buyer pays for it with the freight bill. If for any reason the berries arrive at destination not as represented the matter is quickly and amicably adjusted and the confidence of the buyer established. He knows the Association will not try to "put something over on him."

Another important item for Thorsby and her people is breaking the long blockade that has existed in regard to telegraph service. The Postal Telegraph Company opened a telegraph office Tuesday afternoon in the rear of H. W. Peterson & Co.'s store, with Mr. Peterson, a telegrapher with 15 years' experience, as operator.

Fishing parties seem to be much in vogue these days, and results reported make them look attractive to anyone who cares for that sport.

Dr. S. C. Wood, J. C. Jones, Nat Bentley, and Ernie Hansen went to Shaw's mill last Friday afternoon and got a string of 46 fish.

On Sunday Fred Howard, George Freeman, and a party from Birmingham went to Waxahatchie Creek and had a good catch.

On Tuesday another fishing party, composed of Dr. and Mrs. Wood and son, Frank, Rev. and Mrs. Each and three little daughters, Juanita, Lucille, and Mary Marie, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Davenport and son, Eugen, and J. C. Jones, left Thorsby at 6 a. m. for the steel bridge over Waxahatchie Creek. At this writing they had not returned, but as conditions were favorable we may hope they were not disappointed.

Walter Morgan and family of Wylam spent the week end at the home of Mrs. Morgan's parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Soberg.

Carl R. Peterson and family of Fairfield were Sunday visitors among their Thorsby friends.

Miss Anna Werness of Birmingham spent Sunday with her mother, Mrs. Grothe, in Thorsby.

Mrs. T. W. Robinson is spending several days with her sister, Mrs. O. P. Whitley, in Birmingham.

The Baptist Y. W. A. met Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. G. F. Harper.

The Congregational Ladies Aid Society will meet this week on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. S. E. Norton.

Andrew and Gladys McLain and Miss Palma Dahl, all of Birmingham, and former residents of Thorsby, were visitors with Miss Bertha Littleton and her sister, Mrs. Emmett Billingsley, Sunday.

Joe B. Littleon visited his mother, Mrs. Aaron Littleton, last Sunday, motoring from Birmingham, accompanied by his two sons, Roy and Monroe.

Quite a few Thorsby people spent Sunday at Collins Chapel.

A. B. Y. P. U. social was held last Friday evening at the home of Mrs. G. F. Harper. Games were enjoyed and refreshments served to 20 young people.

Miss Lena Franklin and Miss Ruth Martin from Howard College spent the week end with their respective parents in Thorsby.

The ladies of the Baptist W. M. U. gave a "hen party" last Wednesday afternoon; about $22 was added to the treasury.

Mrs. Martin Petersen has had remarkable success growing pansies and has several beds of them on her home grounds that are worth going far to see.

Thorsby Institute auditorium is coming along nicely. The roof is nearly completed, wall all done, ceiling, joists, and stage are well under way. It looks as if the building committee will reach their goal and have the room fit for use at Commencement on June 2.

Thorsby Institute dormitory girls and teachers not included among the seniors or juniors were delightfully entertained by Mrs. Doris Freeman at her home Saturday evening, May 1. The evening passed all too quickly to please the guests.

Judging from the sounds that were heard around the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Butler Saturday night, May 1, some young people were having a jolly time. "That's the truth," say the seniors of T. I., "the juniors were giving us a party, and it was a good one. Thank you, juniors. We hope this year's sophomores will do the same for you next year."

The butcher, the baker, the candlestick maker,
The doctor, the lawyer, the old undertaker—
They've all bought good used cars now.

The plumber, the grocer, the fellows that know, sir,
The actor, the farmer—I tell you it's so, sir,
They've all found the right way now!

"The right way now" is to buy one of our good used cars. On the GMAC Plan you can buy a reliable used car for only a few dollars down. And it will be more than reliable, too. It will be really reconditioned—clean inside and out — equally as good to look at as to ride in. The price you read on the tag will be a fair price—an honest value in unused transportation. Prove this to yourself by dropping into our salesroom and looking over the used cars on display.

CHEVROLET

for Economical Transportation

Always Consider what you get for the Price you Pay

In Chevrolet you get more for your money than in any other car built. You get every essential improvement developed by automotive engineers during the last twelve years of progress.

You get the greater flexibility of Chevrolet's 3-speed transmission—the greater power and smoothness of Chevrolet's valve-in-head motor—the easier, safer handling of Chevrolet's semi-reversible steering gear—the greater comfort of semi-elliptic springs.

Buy no other low-priced car until you have compared it with Chevrolet. Check point for point—feature for feature. Know what you are actually getting for the price you pay. Let us give you a demonstration.

Get Rid of That Tired, Run-Down Feeling. Build Yourself Up! Win Back Your Strength, Energy and "Pep."

THERE are lots of people who drag around with that tired, run-down feeling because they have tried many treatments and have failed to get results. They're discouraged and "blue"—afraid to take the advice even of their family physician.

These are the people we want Dr. Thacher to help. We want them to test his famous treatment in their own homes at our expense. For we know what it has done in countless numbers of cases of indigestion, constipation, impoverished and impure blood, rheumatism and the many "pepless" symptoms of a torpid liver and stomach trouble. And we know that these sufferers will become our most enthusiastic praisers once they are convinced.

THIRD in the World

-and Sales still mounting

During the first three months of 1926 Dodge Brothers, Inc., built and sold more motor vehicles than any other manufacturer in the world, except Ford and Chevrolet.

71,189 retail deliveries were made by Dodge Brothers Dealers in the United States and Canada between January second and April third. This represents a gain of 37 per cent over the same period last year and 69 per cent over the first quarter of 1924!

Third largest in the world! And sales CONTINUING to mount week after week to new record breaking levels.

In fact, during the week ending April 24th retail sales reached the remarkable total of 9,566—the greatest single week in Dodge Brothers history!

These figures are all the more significant when you realize that the gain of the industry as a whole over last year is only 12 per cent.

There could be no more convincing evidence that today's product is regarded as better than ever before and that the present prices make it the most impressive value Dodge Brothers have ever offered.

CITY SCHOOL BOND ELECTION NEXT SATURDAY

Voters of the Town of Clanton next Saturday, May 15, will vote upon the proposition of an additional bond issue of $20,000 to be used in the erection of a new grammar school building. The voting place will be at the court house.

The following officers have been appointed to conduct the election:

Managers, J. Mell Martin, G. O. Foshee, J. L. Johnson; returning officer, W. G. Culp.

Every voter of the Town is urged to come out and express himself or herself on this important proposition.

ONE HUNDREDTH ANNIVERSARY OF MULBERRY CHURCH

On the fifth Sunday in May the one hundredth anniversary of Mulberry Baptist Church will be observed with an appropriate program. Rev. Jerome O. Williams will deliver the anniversary sermon. All the old friends of the church are invited to come back and take part in the service.

The celebration will be an all-day affair. The fifth Sunday meeting will be held in the afternoon.

Rev. J. W. Mitchell is pastor of the church, and S. J. M. Webb is clerk.

MR. MARLER GONE HOME FROM HOSPITAL

Mr. Mack Marler of Tuscaloosa, son of Dr. Marler of Billingsley, has returned home after an operation for appendicitis at the Central Alabama Hospital at Clanton. Dr. Marler is a friend of our hospital, and we are glad to note that he chose to bring his son here instead of placing him in Tuscaloosa or Montgomery.

SQUIRE DENNIS HERE

Squire John S. Dennis of Beat 11 was a visitor to Clanton Monday. This time he brought The Union-Banner a bunch of rye and a snake skin. The rye is a fine sample, measuring several feet high and showing 51 heads grown from one grain.

Mr. Dennis killed the big snake to keep him from eating his crop of rabbits. He had just swallowed a half-grown rabbit when killed.

Mr. Dennis is a candidate for Representative in the Legislature of Alabama.

NOTICE TO PEOPLE WHO WRITE TO THE UNION-BANNER

Persons who write letters of any kind to The Union-Banner for publication are warned that we positively will not publish their letters hereafter unless the name of the writer is made known to us. We do not require publication of the name, but we must know the name of the writer.

All letters not accompanied by the name of the writer will be consigned to the waste basket without ceremony, it matters not what they contain.

LANKFORD CAUGHT MAKING LIQUOR IN KITCHEN

Tuesday afternoon Sheriff Littlejohn, anxious to be riding about in his new Chevrolet, invited Deputy Foshee and Lewis Easterling to go out with him for a spin. The party went up the highway. The question was raised about a Chevrolet pulling up a hill, and Sheriff Littlejohn, to settle the matter, determined to get out on a hilly road and show his party what the car would do. He turned west out through the hills and his car sped over the road like a streak of greased lightning.

Late in the evening as they passed along through the woods and fields and by houses here and there somebody in the crowd happened to get a whiff that was not the fragrance of wild flowers. The car was stopped, the course of the wind was taken and the pursuit was begun.

Along about 10:30 p. m., they came to a house where they observed a light in the kitchen and much activity inside. The atmosphere was more heavily laden with the smell that is familiar to all officers, and they went inside.

There was Mr. George Calhoun Lankford in his kitchen busy as a bee in a tar bucket making liquor with an outfit he had designed for use on his kitchen stove. It was a combination of a large zinc tub with a wooden top, a syrup bucket for a cap, and a copper condenser. The fluid was pouring out of the still in full blast.

Mr. Lankford was brought to jail in Clanton, and the officers have decided that the Chevrolet is a good car for their purposes.

HOME BURNED TUESDAY

The home of Jim Jones one-half mile west of Jackson's Chapel school house was destroyed by fire Tuesday afternoon. Mr. Jones was away from home and his wife was in the field at work when the fire occurred. Only three small children were at the house. None of them were injured. The house and practically all its contents was a complete loss. Friends of Mr. Jones are soliciting public donations for the restoration of necessities for him and his family.

SEVEN ARRESTED IN MOONSHINE FIGHT

Birmingham, Ala., May 11.—Seven persons have been arrested as a result of a clash between prohibition enforcement officers and alleged moonshiners near Oneonta, Monday night in which Federal Prohibition Agent R. W. Buckner was probably fatally wounded, according to Deputy Administrator S. O. McPherson tonight on his return from the scene of the trouble. Buckner was shot when he and other officers attempted to raid a still guarded by the men.

Two of the men, J. H. Watson, 27, and Dowie Collie, 45, are lodged in jail at Oneonta, he announced, while the others, J. A. Colley, 35, B. B. Morgan, J. C. Davies, 30, H. O. Lawrence, 24, and Leroy Hodges, 25, were placed in jail here tonight.

Collie and Watson were arrested Monday night after the shooting while the other men were apprehended today. More than 25 federal prohibition agents participated in the search today which covered three counties. The hunt will be continued, the administrator announced.

Tonight Agent Buckner lies in a local hospital in a serious condition.

Will This Half-Dollar Talk ?

THEY say "Money Talks"—that it's "understood in any language."

But we're wondering—

If the profile of President Coolidge is cast on silver half-dollars as is proposed, will they "speak as loud as ever?" Said wondering being due to the fact that the president is affectionately known as "Silent Cal" to his closest friends.

The proposal to put the president's portrait on our silver 50-cent disks is before the present session of Congress. No action, however, has been taken on it as yet. If it should pass, the new coins will be circulated at Philadelphia's sesqui-centennial exposition this summer.

ANNUAL MAY SINGING AT PROVIDENCE, BEAT 16

The annual May singing will be held at Providence in Beat 16 on the Fourth Sunday in May. All singers and lovers of music are urged to come and take part.

This is the annual singing which was organized at Salem on the Fourth Sunday in May, 1900. We especially invite those who used to attend this event at Salem to come to Providence now. When Salem church was disbanded the annual singing was given over to Providence, and we hope to perpetuate it by the help of all good singers and lovers of music, to the glory of God and His cause.—J. W. Cleckler, Secretary.

MILLION DOLLARS WORTH OF WHISKEY SEIZED

New York, May 11.—With a cargo of whiskey, champagne, and alcohol valued at $1,420,000, the freighter Donetta was brought into the harbor tonight by the coast guard cutter Seneca, and anchored near the Statue of Liberty.

The freighter, seized last night 60 miles southeast of Atlantic City, flying the American flag, but without ship's papers, and with no one on board with officer's credentials, was said by coast guard officials to come technically under the classification of piracy.

When the freighter was anchored in the harbor, seals were placed on its hatches and the crew of 23 men were left aboard for the night under guard. They will be arraigned before a United States commissioner tomorrow.

Commander John Blake of the Seneca said he pulled alongside the Donetta Monday night and got a "gigantic whiff of alcoholic content which would have staggered a theater crowd." Coast guardsmen boarding the freighter, found men on the bridge who would not admit that they were officers, and who had no credentials. Part of the crew was intoxicated.

Commander Blake placed a prize crew on the freighter and took her in tow. The two boats battled a northwestern gale, the Donetta with eight feet of water in her second aft hold.

Another boat said to have been employed by the Wormser ring, the Admiral Schley, was seized by coast guardsmen off Greensport, Long Island, today, but no liquor was found aboard.

EVOLUTIONISTS WIN

Atlanta, Ga., May 11.—Final defeat of the movement started several weeks ago to bar the teaching of evolution in Atlanta public schools came today when a board of education tabled both a majority and minority report of the committee which investigated allegations that evolution was being taught in schools here.

The majority report was signed by M. D. Therrell, who made a motion that both reports "be tabled and forgotten." The motion carried 9 to 3.

COMMENCEMENT AT JEMISON HIGH SCHOOL MAY 16 TO 18

The fourth annual commencement of Jemison High School will be held this year on May 16 to 18. The baccalaureate sermon will be at the high school auditorium on Sunday, May 16, by Rev. W. M. Curtis, Presiding Elder of the Prattville District.

Monday, May 17, the senior class will present its play, entitled "Farm Folks." The cast of charcters is made up of members of the senior class, and is calculated to be very interesting.

Commencement day will be Tuesday, May 18, with the following program:

Welcome address, by Lois Busby.
Oration, by Ethel Brown.
Valedictory, by Reese Wells.
Vocal solo, by Nell Wells.
Address, by P. W. Hodges, of the State Department of Education.
Presentation of diplomas, by J. A. Peterson.
Awarding of certificates and medals, by B. Lawrence.
Class song.

The following are members of the senior class: Reese Wells, Lois Busby, Eleanor Summers, Ethel Brown, Pearl Brown, Fraulein Cobb, Clara Crim, Ida Edwards, Ivy Harrell, Madison Hayes, Opal Middlebrooks, Astro Wright.

The public is cordially invited to attend all the exercises attendant to the closing of the school.

STORM DOES DAMAGE IN ALL PARTS OF THE STATE

A costly wind and electrical storm scattered itself all over Alabama Monday afternoon and night. From one side to the other it twisted itself thru the state, leaving destruction of one kind and another in its wake. However, no human lives were lost. Damage to property and crops is reported to have been heavy.

Tuscaloosa, Albany and Decatur were hit hardest. Trees were blown down, fences torn away, and many buildings damaged.

Clanton and vicinity got its share of the twister, but nothing serious has been reported. The storm came up with a great cloud of dust and sand filling the air. A heavy downpour of rain followed the wind.

At Spigener a fishing party on the lake came near losing their lives, but were saved by the daring of a negro state convict. The party of five, men, women, and children, were on the lake in a fishing boat. The storm blew up so suddenly that they were unable to get to the bank. While the waves were rolling six feet high the negro seized a motor boat and started to rescue them. The motor drowned just as he got to the frightened crew. He lashed the two boats together and succeeded in getting them to the bank without the loss of one.

WORK TO BE STARTED ON POWER LINE FROM CALERA

It is reported that the construction crew of the Alabama Power Company is coming this week to begin construction of the power line from Calera to Columbiana. Camp will be made at Shelby Springs, it is said, and the crew will work in two directions.

The building of the power line should complete the long delayed work of bringing light and power to Columbiana, the town having been wired some time ago, and the substation having been built recently.—Columbiana Reporter.

HON. JOHN ROGERS WILL SPEAK HERE SATURDAY, MAY 22

Hon. John Rogers, president of the State Highway Commission of Alabama, will make an address to the people of Chilton County at the court house in Clanton on Saturday, May 22, at 2 o'clock p. m. His subject will be about roads and highways in Alabama.

Mr. Rogers is at this time the outstanding figure in Alabama's road building program. He has occupied that position for the past four years. He has been assailed right and left and by opponents and enemies of every description, but he has stayed by his guns and fought with courage for what he conceived to be the right cou se.

It will be interesting to hear him discuss Alabama's achievements in building roads and highways. It will be enlightening to hear him tell of Alabama's future road plans.

Whether you agree with Mr. Rogers on the road question or not, it will be worth your while to hear him. He will impress you by his courageous, honest, and straight-forward devotion to what he believes to be right on the road subject.

Don't fail to hear him, at the court house Saturday, May 22, at 2 o'clock.

SOUTHERN BAPTIST CONVENTION OPENS

Houston, Texas, May 11.—On the eve of the busiest and one of the most important sessions in the 81 years of the church's history, thousands of persons here for the opening of the Southern Baptist convention tomorrow, gathered in the city auditorium tonight for an old fashioned prayer meeting. Divine guidance in the deliberations of the body were sought.

Dr. W. A. McComb, of Gulfport, Miss., lead the prayer service, after a song service conducted by Fred Schalfield of Birmingham. The evening's program was concluded with a brief devotional message by Dr. H. R. Holcomb, of Monsfield, La.

Organization will be the first item of business on the convention docket tomorrow morning, after a devotional service. Dr. George W. McDaniel, of Richmond, completing two years service in the president's chair, can have the position another year if he wants it, it was indicated today, but due to his poor health, he had not decided definitely tonight whether he would permit his name to be presented. It is probable all other officers will be re-elected with the exception of the four vice-presidents, who have never succeeded themselves.

The youngest officer who has ever served the convention is George W. Norton, Jr., of Louisville, Ky., now completing his second term as treasurer. Mr. Norton, who is a senior in Harvard, was elected a year and a half ago to succeed his father upon the latter's death. Mr. Norton's grandfather was also treasurer of the convention in his life time.

Mr. Macey Jones has returned to Clanton and is connected with the Chilton Hardware Co., in charge of the plumbing department. Mr. Jones is an experienced and capable man in his line of business and his friends will be glad to learn that his services are again available.

Rev. Buford Lawrence is in Houston, Texas, this week attending the Southern Baptist Convention.

BURTON MULLINS TO GO TO ANNAPOLIS ACADEMY

Marion, Ala., May 10.—Col. W. L. Murfee, President of Marion Institute, has announced that Cadet Burton S. Mullins, of Clanton, Ala., has satisfactorily completed his preparatory work for the U. S. Naval Academy, Annapolis, Md., and will shortly report to Annapolis to continue his work at that school. Mr. Mullins has been a popular member of the cadet corps for the past two years, serving as Cadet First Lieutenant during the past term. His departure will be a distinct loss to his many friends at Marion Institute.

He is the son of Mr. C. Reese Mullins, a prominent business man of Clanton, Ala.

SUSPECTED LAW VIOLATORS RACE WITH SHERIFF

Three boys who were suspected of carrying liquor in a Ford car gave Sheriff Littlejohn a lively chase thru Clanton last Saturday afternoon. He finally ran ahead of them and stopped them as they attempted to turn the corner at Ellis Filling Station. A search of the car revealed no liquor. The boys in the car were Isaac Lee Bice and his younger brother, and Willie Mims.

Many people on the crowded streets were attracted by the race and rushed up to the scene when the Sheriff stopped and searched the car.

BEER DESTROYED

Sheriff Littlejohn went over in West Chilton Monday afternoon and poured out about 100 gallons of beer. The owner of the beer was not found, and no still was found at the place.

WHAT ABOUT PROHIBITION?

In a few days we shall see the results of the first state primary which is really a party referendum on the prohibition question. The Republicans of Pennsylvania will choose one of these three as senatorial nominee: George Wharton Pepper, present incumbent, dry, righteous, and horn-blower for Coolidge; Governor Gifford Pinchot, crusader, progressive, and drier - than - dry; Congressman Bill Vare, whose platform is brightly labeled "Light Wines and Beer."

Mr. Walter Davenport, special writer for Colliers' Weekly, predicts that Vare "will cross the finish line several lengths ahead of George and Gifford."

SEVERAL AUTOMOBILE WRECKS LAST WEEK

Several automobile wrecks have been reported to have happened along the highway through this county in the past week. Efforts to secure details about them were unsuccessful. A big Studebaker turned over at the Popwell grave yard south of town. Four people, two men and two women, were in the car. One man and one woman were injured. They went to the Central Alabama Hospital for treatment, and went their way.

A wreck of more serious consequences is reported from up the road, in which one woman was killed and another very seriously injured.

ICE CREAM SUPPER

There will be an ice cream supper at Walter Benson's Friday night, May 14. Everybody come and bring someone with you.

Must See Ahead

If there is a sharp curve in the road, you go slow. You want to see what's ahead. After dark you will not drive without lights for the same reason.

Being able to see ahead is what insures safety and success, no matter what the undertaking. In financial as well as other affairs, the only way to look into the future is by the light of the past. Successful men have worked, planned and SAVED. Why not follow the light they have given and do likewise? Our Bank will help you.

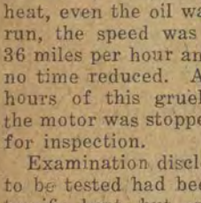
FORD NON-STOP TEST

A non-stop endurance run the equivalent of half way around the world with wide open throttle and three times normal load is obviously a punishing test for any motor, yet that is exactly what happened to a Ford motor recently in the Ford Motor Company's Highland Park plant. Although the test was arranged primarily to test a steel formula for use in a part of the motor, it produced results which were most interesting, from the standpoint of engine performance.

Except for the experimental part being tested, the motor was stock, having been picked at random from the motor assembly line. Thus equipped, the motor was coupled to a dynamometer and started.

Inasmuch as the trial was devised to wear out the experimental part, all the punishment the motor would withstand under normal conditions was intensified. With throttle wide open, the motor was made to carry a load about three times as great as that borne by the car under normal driving conditions. Cooling was purposely retarded, so that the radiator at all times registered a boiling temperature and the exhaust pipes were constantly red hot.



For seventeen days and nights the motor roared, while Ford engineers awaited the inevitable result. Not to allow any respite from the intense heat, even the oil was changed on the run, the speed was not varied from 36 miles per hour and the load was at no time reduced. At the end of 412 hours of this gruelling punishment, the motor was stopped and dissembled for inspection.

Examination disclosed that the part to be tested had been burned by the terrific heat, but aside from the experimental part, the motor was practically unaffected, and apparently ready to repeat the performance.

Some of the results of the experiment are as interesting to the automobile owner as to the automotive engineer. During the test, the motor ran the equivalent of 14,832 miles and 795 gallons of gasoline was consumed; the average consumption was 18 1-2 miles to the gallon notwithstanding the overload and excessive heat. Those fond of figures may be interested in the fact that in the course of the test each piston moved up and down in its cylinder approximately 37,080,000 times and the crankshaft made an equal number of complete revolutions. Incidentally, each piston moved a distance of 4,618 miles during the trial, or 18,472 miles for the four of them.

PLEASANT VALLEY

Mrs. Gip Burkhalter is able to visit her son, after a long illness.

Mr. R. C. Burkhalter made a business trip to Montgomery Saturday.

Miss Vesta Lett went to Montgomery Saturday.

It will be of great interest to their many frends to know that Miss Lavada Williams and Mr. Odel Bowles were happily married at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Morris Saturday afternoon, Rev. G. W. Bailey officiating. The Pleasant Valley people wish for them a long life. After this week they will be at home in Opelika. We regret losing Mr. Bowles from our church.

Bro. D. Hughes, Messrs. R. R. Norrell, J. C. and W. A. Norrell, and Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Burkhalter enjoyed a day last week at Mitchell Dam.

A large crowd enjoyed the interesting sermons delivered by Rev. G. W. Bailey Saturday and Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Obie D. Deloach and family of Cooper were among the visitors present Sunday.

The children and young people of this place presented an effective Mothers' Day program Sunday afternoon which was enjoyed by the large number present.

The B. Y. P. U. of Verbena put on a good program here Sunday night, as follows: Song, led by Bro. Lee Robinson; Scripture, by Dolphus Harris; Introduction, by Houston Robinson; "Why Envious of the Wicked?" by Elizabeth Hubbard; Sentence prayers, by Dennis Harper, Houston Robinson, Dolphus Harris, and Lee Robinson; "How to Enroll Members in a B. Y. P. U.," by Bro. Lee Robinson; "How to Hold the Members," and "Duties of Officers," by Dennis Harper; Election of officers as follows—President, Mrs. R. C. Burkhalter; Vice President, Miss Fay Ray; Secretary-Treasurer, Leon Pierce; Chorister, Fred Ray; Organist, Blanche Ray. Dismission.

We invite you to come Sunday night at 7:30 to attend B. Y. P. U.

We were glad to see 82 present at Sunday school Sunday.

Let's remember to come to hear Bro. Lewis Kelley preach on the fifth Sunday in May.

CHESTNUT CREEK

Owing to the fact that there will be an all day singing at Corinth church the third Sunday, our singing society will not meet again until the first Sunday afternoon.

The last program we had was rendered very nicely by several directors, and we had some very good quartets. Everybody come to our singings and help make them better.—Mrs. Mollie Miner.

Clyde J. Davis of Montgomery was in Clanton Tuesday greeting his many friends. For many years Mr. Davis lived in Clanton, and was connected with newspapers here. For the past five years he has been with Bradstreet's, traveling out of Montgomery.

SARDIS NEWS

Sunday school at this place is moving on nicely under the management of our faithful superintendent, Mr. George Sansom. We have a large attendance every Sunday, but would like to have others. We were sorry that our senior teacher, Mrs. L. B. Broadhead, was absent last Sunday on account of sickness; hope to have her with us again soon.

Mothers' Day was observed at this place. The program sent out by the Baptist Hospital was beautifully rendered by Misses Irene Headley, Anthel Ratliff, Eva Klinner, Mattie Sansom, Anna Hayes, Nellie Hayes, Melda Sansom, Mae Sansom, Mesdames Josie and Emma Klinner. A beautiful quartet was rendered by Messrs. George Anderson, Charlie Carter, Mrs. Lake Owens and Mrs. Era Carter, "If I Could Hear My Mother Pray Again." A most interesting talk on the Baptist Hospital at Selma was made by Rev. J. D. Deason, after which a collection of $10.60 was taken for this good work.

The church at this place has just been painted, and we are thankful to Mr. W. W. Broadhead, as the paint was donated by him. Mr. Broadhead is now a business man in Birmingham but formerly lived here.

We were glad to have the Stanton B. Y. P. U. with us Sunday night. They carried out a beautiful program, after which they organized a B. Y. P. U., electing—Mr. Horace Deason, President; Miss Mae Williams, Vice Presdent; Miss Anthel Ratliff, Secretary and Treasurer. We invite all to help us in this good work. We will meet each Sunday night.

The first and second Sunday afternoons are our regular singing afternoons. We are pleased to announce that the Pleasant Grove class in the Christian Harmony books will meet with us here the fourth Sunday afternoon of each month. Everybody invited to these singings.

Farmers of this community are chopping cotton now.

Mr. John D. Martin of Mulberry was a pleasant caller here Sunday.

Miss Ada Adams of Selma was the guest of Miss Anna Hayes Sunday.

A number of visitors from Birmingham were here Sunday. Some of them were Messrs. Lenwood Klinner, Wilton Dickerson, Alonzo Hayes, and Miss Alma Klinner.

Mr. and Mrs. Harmon Broadhead of Clanton were visitors here Sunday.

Mr. Henry Klinner of Selma spent the week end with home folks.

Miss Anthel Ratliff had for her guest a short while Sunday afternoon Misses Lillie Carter, Tula Mae Bearden, and Franklin Parnell of Stanton.

Miss Mae Williams has returned home from and extended visit to relatives in Burnsville.

Mr. John Ratliff and family of Orville spent the week end with home folks.

Mr. John Burnett of Orville was in our community Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Arch Fisher of Corbin, Ky., are the guests of parents hear this week.

Mr. Henry Fisher spent the week end with his daughter near Burnsville.

ALPINE NEWS

Each second Sunday is our regular singing afternoon. We have Sunday school every Sunday.

Last Sunday we invited Prof. H. A. Harris of Stanton to come over and give us a lecture on Sunday school; and his address was a fine one.

In the afternoon we had a good singing. Directors were Misses Grace Abbott, Molliebell Ousley, Jewell Abbott, and Mrs. Jess Sims; Miss Cordelia Johnson was organist.

Mr. Preston Johnson of Bessemer and Mr. Crane of Pletcher were visitors at the singing Sunday afternoon.

We invite everyone to come to Alpine any time. Come to preaching next Sunday.—A Reader.

Rev. F. B. Ticknor arrived in Clanton last Friday to spend the summer with relatives and friends. He expects to put in quite a bit of time fishing out on Lake Mitchell.

PROVIDENCE CEMETERY

Those interested in the cemetery at Providence, Beat 16, are requested to meet there on Wednesday, May 19, for the purpose of cleaning off same. Please bring necessary tools, prepared to work all day is necessary.—R. M. Robinson.

CORINTH

There will be an all day singing at Corinth church, (five miles east of Verbena) the third Sunday, May 16. Everybody is invited to attend. Bring your new song book and a well filled basket.

EXERCISES AT THE COUNTY TRAINING SCHOOL

The sermon to the graduating class last Sunday afternoon was a masterly and instructive presentation by Dr. Bellinger (colored) of Talladega College. He is a man of wide experience and demonstrated to his hearers that he knows what to say and how to say it. He entreated the class to whatever services they might find to do, "Do it so well that your services will be in demand," he urged. "Wash clothing, wash well; cook well; and anything in the line of service, do well."

Dr. Bellinger is one of the ablest leaders of the colored race in Alabama. He is pastor of the First Baptist Church (colored) of Talladega. The auditorium of the school was packed by people who heard him with much interest. The following white visitors were present: Judge and Mrs. L. H. Reynolds, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Billingsley, Mr. G. F. Harper, Mr. Martin, Mr. Omar Reynolds, and a number of others whose names we could not get.—Contributed.

ICE CREAM SUPPER

There will be an ice cream supper at Oak Grove church Saturday night, May 15. Everybody come and bring your friends.

LIBERTY HILL

The Liberty Hill-Cedar Grove Singing Society met with Liberty Hill Sunday afternoon, May 9. In spite of the weather we had a fine singing and a nice crowd was present.

Directors for the afternoon were Messrs. Harrison Hayes, Kermit Lowery, D. T. Melton, Zack Lowery, Houston Melton, Glover Smith, and J. W. Lowery, each directing two songs.

Organists were Mrs. Bonnie Rollins, and Miss Lucile Price. A quartet was rendered after each director by the home quartet.

Everyone who can is invited to meet with us at Cedar Grove next Sunday afternoon. We expect to have a fine singing.—Assistant Sec'y.

NOTICE

Anyone knowing the whereabouts of my brother, Ellis Crowson, who left home on May 3, 1926, please notify me. He is 16 years old, rather slender, has brown hair, blue eyes, fair complexion, has a brown, flat mole under his left eye, near his nose. Has on work clothes, purple sweater with yellow trimming. I will pay $25.00 reward for his return.—Tom Crowson, Box 84, Jemison, Ala.

SOCIETY

Mrs. Grady Broadhead, Editor.

Mrs. Hayes Entertains.

On last Thursday afternoon Mrs. J. P. Hayes entertained the members of the Thursday Sewing Club at her home on South Seventh Street. For this occasion baskets and vases of roses were used to decorate the home. Various kinds of fancy work afforded diversion for the afternoon.

The hostess served a delicious ice course to Mesdames E. E. Upchurch, John M. Van Derveer, T. C. McSwain, and J. C. Jones.

Young Matron's Club.

The Young Matron's Club was delightfully entertained by Mrs. Hubert Jones last Thursday afternoon at her home on West Second Avenue. Roses and potted plants were effectively used to decorate the home. The afternoon was spent in sewing. Mrs. Jones, assisted by her mother, Mrs. Sewell, served a tempting salad plate with iced tea.

Those enjoying this hospitality were Mesdames Lucien Duncan, Loren Smith, Grady Taylor, Flemm Higgins, W. M. Wyatt, Briggs Crumpton, and Bill Murphy.

Mrs. Reynolds Hostess.

The members of the Wednesday Bridge Club and others were delightfully entertained by Mrs. Grady Reynolds on last Wednesday afternoon at her home on Eighth Street. The living rooms were fragrant with a profusion of roses and other flowers of the season. A series of bridge games was played at three tables. At the conclusion of the games Mrs. Frank Callen held high score and was presented a pretty tray. The booby prize, a dainty handkerchief, fell to Miss Kathleen Mullins.

The hostess served a tempting salad plate with iced tea to Mesdames John Browder, J. Hance Alred, Frank Callen, L. F. Gerald, Arthur Johnson, N. S. Johnson, V. J. Heard, H. M. Simpson, John Pierce Wade, John M. Van Derveer, J. W. Hayes, and Miss Kathleen Mullins.

Study Club Meets.

The final meeting for the year of the Study Club was held on Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. W. Hayes on Sixth Street. The home was profusely decorated with beautiful roses. The roll call was answered with "A Toast to Mother." Following the business session the program was rendered. The topic of the afternoon was "The American Home." Mrs. J. E. Gowan read a most interesting and instructive paper on "Finer Home Making." The installation of officers took place immediately after the program. Mrs. Grady Broadhead, retiring President, made a few remarks, and the newly elected President, Mrs. John M. Van Derveer, followed with a splendid talk pledging her best efforts toward the upbuilding of the Club. During the social hour a delicious ice course was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Grover Walker.

Those present were Mesdames J. E. Gowan, J. P. Hayes, John M. Van Derveer, T. C. McSwain, L. F. Gerald, J. Watts Moore, Arthur Johnson, Grover Walker, Grady Broadhead, and Miss Kathleen Mullins.

Circle No. 3 Entertained.

Mrs. Tom Parrish entertained the members of Circle No. 3 of the Baptis W. M. U. Monday afternoon at her home on First Avenue. Wall vases and baskets of roses and potted plants adorned the home on this occasion. The regular program taken from the Missionary magazine was rendered, after which the hostess served delicious refreshments.

Those present were Mesdames J. B. Mauney, J. P. Hayes Grover Walker, Grady Taylor, M. B. Arant, Chester Mims, W. E. Martin, Arthur Willis, and Miss Bettie Mullins.

Smith-Popwell.

A marriage of interest to many was that of Miss Jettye Popwell and Mr. Cecil Smith, which took place Monday morning, May 10, in Wetumpka. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Popwell. She attended school at Newton Institute. Mr. Smith is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Smith, and is a graduate of the law school of the University of Alabama. Until a few months ago he was associated with his father in the practice of his profession, but now is in partnership with Mr. E. E. Calloway of Tampa, Fla. After the ceremony the bride and groom left for Tampa, where they will make their home.

DO YOU WANT BETTER SCHOOLS IN CLANTON?

At different times in recent years the "urge" has been made that a better elementary school building be provided for Clanton.

Sensing the need of a more adequate school building our city authorities have undertaken to provide the finances necessary to erect the same.

They ask the people of the city to say whether or not they want the city officials to pledge the credit of the city in a bond issue to secure the money to erect the building. Next Saturday, May 15, is the day set for the vote on this most important question.

Now, if you want Clanton to have a decent school house you can help get it by voting for the bond issue next Saturday.

The bond issue is the best and in fact the only means by which to provide the necessary money. Clanton needs the new building. The one we have is not half what the children of Clanton deserve and is not half what Clanton could provide with all ease.

Don't forget to cast your vote for the bond issue Saturday. Our children are looking to us to provide for them, and it is our duty to answer the call.

A street at Versailles, France, has been renamed Rockefeller street. Doubtless they will keep it well oiled.

The Burley Tobacco Growers Association, with headquarters at Lexington, Ky., having members in Kentucky, Ohio, West Virginia, Tennessee, Missouri, and Virginia, recently made a distribution of $10,600,000 to its members. This was the final payment on 29 grades of tobacco of the 1924 crop. The tobacco cooperatives found it necessary to carry over much of their tobacco because large crops caused the price to go lower than they thought was fair to producers.

Days We'll Never Forget

THE SOUTH AND THE TARIFF

According to Arthur Brisbane, the British are planning to supply irrigation for tens of thousands of acres for cotton raising in Northern Africa. "Cotton, of the best quality," Mr. Brisbane declares, "produced in a country where men earn 35 cents a day and children five or ten cents, will make substantial tariff protection for American cotton absolutely necessary."

Mr. Brisbane is right in the belief that the time may not be far distant when a tariff will be needed to protect our cotton growers. So long as cotton is almost purely an American commodity, the protection may not be necessary. But cheap cotton raised in quantities in northern Africa would entirely change the situation. The cotton mills of Great Britain would of course use this cheaply grown British cotton in preference to our own.

When this comes to pass the tariff on American cotton goods will be as important to the producer of raw cotton as to the manufacturer and the mill worker. Because, if we protect our home cotton goods market and use our American cotton to produce cloth we can use up most of our raw cotton at home. Of course if the competition in cotton growing gets so strong that there is an effort to import raw cotton, protection will be of value there too.

The business revival of the South is becoming so important that the tariff is no longer a sectional issue. Protective tariff sentiment is growing faster in the South than anywhere else. Southern business needs protection as much as Northern business and the time is coming when the South is going to send its fair share of protectionists to Congress.

OUR TRADE BALANCE

According to figures furnished by the Department of Commerce, the United States' favorable trade balance of $666,000,000 has been reduced to $323,000,000 by an adverse balance in invisible trade. During the past two or three months the balance of trade has been against the United States, although it is believed that the fiscal year will close June 30 with a balance in Uncle Sam's favor.

The figures pretty well refute the contention of free trade orators to the effect that unless the protective tariff law is repealed our balance of trade will grow so big that finally Europe, having no money, will have to quit buying from us and our foreign trade will collapse. The tariff law has not been changed and our trade balance is much smaller than it was a year ago.

In fact, so many conditions enter international trade that the tariff plays a comparatively minor part in the trade balance situation. Among the things which must be taken into consideration are the vast sums spent in Europe by American tourists, the money sent to relatives in Europe by immigrants in the United States, the money paid by American shippers to foreign ship owners in the way of carriage costs, and so on.

The free trader will have to figure up a different excuse for seeking to repeal the protective tariff than the one that it will impoverish Europe so that she can no longer buy our goods. Present day conditions completely refute that theory. There has been a tendency to exaggerate the commercial plight of some of the European nations. It is well to face the facts in order that we may not wake up some morning to learn that Europe has stolen several marches on us while we were asleep and dreaming about Europe's troubles.

Maybe there wouldn't be so many world problems if there weren't so many world experts to discuss them.

Every cloud has a silver lining. If the British strike forces the girls to walk to work, it will help them to reduce.

It is said that a New Jersey prisoner was permitted to leave the prison and attend a cabaret every Saturday night. Perhaps this was done on the theory that it would make him better satisfied with the quiet prison life.

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

People of the United States of all classes are gradually coming to realize the value of newspaper advertising, and the use of the columns of the newspaper, in the city and village alike, for purposes of paid publicity is growing steadily. Now the progressive churches of the country have come to recognize the value of newspaper advertising.

At the International Council of Religious Education held at Birmingham, Ala., recently, Dr. John T. Barbner Smith, of Chicago, in charge of the secular press publicity of the Methodist Episcopal Church, declared that lack of knowledge by the clergy of the working of the press, and in some cases lack of knowledge of the church by the press, is a real handicap. He added that the church can find no better medium than newspapers for advertising its wares and spreading the gospel, and declared also that he had always been given fair and accurate treatment by the representatives of the press.

E. I. Leighton, who addressed the same conference, declared in picturesque language that "the church bells' solemn peals have been muffled by din and clamor of automobiles and street cars, and if the church wants to reach those who wanted to hear this ancient appeal, it must be supplanted by direct advertising."

A few days later, Rev. Dr. Christian F. Reisner told the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World, in session at Cincinnati, how advertising had built the Broadway Temple, a wonderful new five million dollar church on New York's Broadway. "I am a hearty believer in church advertising," Dr. Reisner declared. "For even as advertising promotes business, so it can be used to aid in the spread of religion. Years ago the churches dominated the scene of New York. Today the churches are submerged and hidden by commercial skyscrapers. The same methods used in advertising business must be employed in selling religion. There can be no sound prosperity without faith."

The last quoted remark of Dr. Reisner will bear some study. How indeed, can we build a sound fabric of progress and prosperity without faith—without faith in a Divine Providence which has made this country possible, without faith in the Constitution of the United States, without confidence in our government, its traditions and its purposes?

At any rate it is significant that the churches have caught the value of modern advertising. In this way they have gone ahead of some of our merchants who would probably claim at least to be as modern as the church. Every year American life is becoming more complicated and it is only by advertising that the modern organization with a message for mankind, be it a spiritual, an ethical or a commercial organization, can hope to deliver its message with any degree of success.

By exporting $45,027,031 worth of products in 1925 Alabama stood 23rd among the states in exports and registered an increase of more than $9,000,000 over 1924, according to a press dispatch from the Department of Commerce, Washington.

Raw cotton was the greatest individual item of Alabama's exports in 1925, the shipments totaling $22,762,974, or a little more than half of the total exports. Wood and wood products were next with $8,622,121. Iron and steel products were third with $5,676,511. Manufactured cotton was next with $2,639,473; naval stores, $1,268,163; sugar mill machinery, $518,461; and leaf tobacco with an export value of $107,589.

MAKING UNCLE SAM THE GOAT

A dispatch from Geneva under date of April 24 shows what the United States would have been in for in case we had decided to join the League of Nations.

An economic conference is in progress in Geneva, and the United States is unofficially represented. It is stated that the most important subjects to come up are immigration, the supply of raw materials, and tariff laws.

Italy and Japan, we are told, are face to face with a problem of over population. Other countries must relax their restrictive immigration laws to take care of this situation. We all know the name of the nation which has offended by deciding to avoid complete inundation by aliens.

There is plenty of room in the world for the swarming of populations. There are vast areas as highly developed as was America when our forefathers came to this new land to begin its development. The continents of Africa and South America contain more virgin soil than could be found in North America when it was discovered by Columbus.

But Japan and Italy do not want to dump their excess population on countries as yet undeveloped. They do not want to surrender the immigrants they propose to send forth at all. They wish to make them a source of income to the home land. Therefore they wish to send these immigrants not to undeveloped countries, where they can create wealth, but to highly developed countries where they can absorb wealth already created, and drain as much of this wealth as possible into their countries of origin.

We are invited to sit down and discuss this matter. We have been invited into a world political organization in which such questions could be decided by a majority vote. But we have wisely declined this invitation. And we will continue to decline to admit that the right of the American people to decide the number of immigrants to be admitted into the United States can be overruled by others.

The United States is rich in raw materials. These, members of the economic conference think, should be divided up among the various nations. They are international communists. We are also told that "the price of wheat" should be subject to international regulation. American farmers should be told by a council at Geneva how much they should be permitted to charge for the product of their farms. A fine idea, from the standpoint of some other nations; not so good from ours. We have the same reasons for declining to go into such an arrangement as they have for insisting upon it.

Then, of course, there is the tariff question. The United States should open her markets freely to the products of foreign lands, cheapened through the cheapening of labor. This, of course, would close American factories and degrade the level of life for the American people. But it would be beautifully "humanitarian" from the foreign standpoint.

Fortunately we are in this conference unofficially. Fortunately it has no power to make decisions relative to American rights and interests. But we learn from the agenda of this organization just what our foreign friends, and our home grown friends of these foreign friends, have in mind for Uncle Sam. They would make America the pack-horse of humanity. They would solve the economic problems they have created at the expense of the people of the United States. The people of the United States have played the role of the goat in the world drama long enough.

"A FLAT TIRE"

In the flappers' world—
It's a Girl

In the motorists' world—
It means
Swear and sweat!

Someone asked us what the qualifications for a modern motorist are, and, having had close contact with one or two,

we would say:

40 miles an hour—Fair.
60 miles an hour—Improving.
80 miles an hour—Knows his stuff!

FARMERS' SCHOOL AT AUBURN AUGUST 1-6

The week of August 1 to 6 has been set aside as the date for the next annual farmers' summer school at Auburn. Plans for it were made at a conference of the committee in charge, composed of Dr. Spright Dowell, Prof. L. N. Duncan, Prof. M. J. Funchess, and Dr. C. A. Cary.

Following this announcement the executive committee of the Alabama Farm Bureau Federation met in Montgomery and called the next annual meeting of this organization in Auburn, August 2 and 3, so that farmers who want to attend both the Farm Bureau meeting and the summer school can do so on one trip.

While it will be known as a farmers' short course or summer school, one division of it will be for farm women. The program for the women will parallel that of the men and it is thought that a large number of women will be in attendance.

In announcing the date Dr. Dowell made a brief statement in which he extended, through the press, an invitation to every farmer and farm woman in Alabama, and to all others who are interested in agriculture, to come to Auburn for the farmers' summer school. He pointed out that it will be the one big annual opportunity for farmers to get first hand information from their Agricultural College and Experiment Station.

Plans are being made already for taking care of a record number of farm people during the week. Accomodations will be provided for all who come.

SHERIFF'S SALE—REAL ESTATE

State of Alabama, Chilton County.

By virtue of an execution issued out of the Justice Court of Chilton County, Alabama, and to me directed, whereby I, as Sheriff of said County, was commanded to make the sum of One Hundred Eight and 93|100 dollars, principal and interest, and Twenty-one and 75|100 Dollars, cost of suit, the amount of a certain judgment and costs therein obtained at the August Term, 1924, of said Court, against Mark Hosey in favor of J. C. Headley, I have levied upon and being ordered by the Circuit Court of said County, will sell to the highest bidder for cash at public sale, at the Court House door of said County, between the hours of 11 o'clock, A. M., and 4 o'clock, P. M., on Monday, the 14th day of June, 1926, all the right, title and interest of the above named Mark Hosey, in and to the following described real estate, viz:

The SE¼ of the NW¼, four acres in the NW corner of the NE¼ of the SW¼; the NW¼ of the SE¼, less four acres in the NW corner, and less four acres in the SW corner; and all of the SE¼ lying W of Swift Creek, in Sec. 19, Tp. 21, Range 14, containing 98 acres, more or less, situated in Chilton County, Alabama.

This, the 10th day of May, 1926.

CHILTON DIVIDES PAIR WITH BUTLER HIGH

Chilton County High School divided a twin bill with Butler High on the local ground last Friday afternoon, the visitors taking the first game 2-1, while Chilton won a 7-0 decision in the latter.

In the first game Chilton collected 5 safeties to Butler's 4, but the Butler County lads hit in the pinch when hits meant runs. The game rocked along for 7 innings without a score being made. In the 8th Butler got a run on an error, a single and a wild pitch. Chilton came through wonderfully in their half of this frame when, with 2 away, Gore doubled to center, and Mullins zipped a beautiful single thru short. In the 9th Butler scored on 2 hits and a stolen base, while Chilton was unable to score.

In the second inning of the second game Chilton turned the affair into a track meet when, with two gone, they scored 4 times on 5 hits and an error. In the fourth 3 more Chilton markers crossed the pan. All this time Nivens had Butler in his hand, and did not allow even a scratch hit all thru the game.

The Chilton team showed a marked improvement over their former appearances on the diamond. All the team works together with a smoothness that speaks of much practice and good coaching. It would be hard to pick a star in these games, and their bad base running was the only black mark against them. They are a fighting squad, and deserve the full support of local baseball fans.

Butler has a good team, many of the team being held over from last year, while Chilton's team is almost a new one altogether.

So far Chilton has played 11 games, winning 7 of them, for a season percentage of .636. That's good for a new squad that has been built around 3 second string men of last year.

GOVERNMENT WANTS TO HELP FARMERS

The government of the United States is willing to do anything that is sound and reasonable in the interest of agriculture, according to a statement made by Hon. Wm. M. Jardine, Secretary of Agriculture, who spent May 7 in Alabama.

The Secretary visited Alabama on a trip through the South which he is making to observe, confer, and obtain information. He spoke at a meeting of farmers and farm boys at Wetumpka; again at a meeting of farmers, extension workers, and business men at Montgomery; and then made a trip by automobile to Auburn where he got a view of the college and talked with the officials. En route from Montgomery to Auburn he made a short talk at the negro school at Tuskegee.

Mr. Jardine seemed especially concerned with agricultural legislation, which he explained rather fully at both Wetumpka and Montgomery. He referred to the contending force and made the statement that the present administration is anxious to serve the farmers but unwilling to do anything unless it is sound and right.

A strong endorsement of cooperation was another feature of the Secretary's talk. He bases his hopes for future progress of agriculture on cooperation, declaring that any legislation for farmers must be based upon self help through cooperation. He explained that the Tincher bill, which he strongly favors, helps farmers to solve their own problems.

At the conclusion of the Montgomery address a resolution was passed unanimously endorsing his policies for conducting the U. S. Department of Agriculture, and especially his legislative policies.

Mr. Jardine was very complimentary of the agricultural leadership in Alabama, which he declared to be among the ablest in any state. He referred personally to Edward A. O'Neal, President of the Farm Bureau Federation, and Prof. L. N. Duncan, Director of the Extension Service.

TROUBLES IN EUROPE

Another country in Europe which is having its troubles, and one of which the people of the United States hear comparatively little, is Roumania. Some of these troubles have grown out of the treaty of Versailles which awarded the province of Transylvania to Roumania, taking it from Hungary.

According to a correspondent of The New York Times, the Roumanians who live in the mixed population of Transylvania hailed the annexation of their state by the mother country with joy. But this joy has been followed by disappointment. They have found that the Roumania of their dreams never existed and that it is a backward country with an archaic government, shot through with corruption. Now factionalism is developing between these new Roumanians and the older citizens of the country.

You may say that this concerns the United States but little. That is doubtless true and we ought to be thankful for it. But had the Senate ratified the Treaty of Versailles and taken the United States into the League of Nations, these troubles of far away Roumania might have interested us quite a little. We would have been duty bound to uphold the Treaty of Versailles and the decisions of the league on such questions as they arise.

Every time we get any inside news on the state of affairs within the various European gavernments, Americans find additional cause for thankfulness that we escaped the league and its European commitments.

THORSBY SECTION

(S. E. NORTON, Manager).

The biggest item of interest to Thorsby and her people during the past week has been the gathering and shipping of the splendid strawberry crop with which we are blessed this season. Monday of this week was the banner day in the history of this business in this section. Upwards of 1,400 crates of 24 quarts each were gathered and loaded into four cars, besides a considerable quantity sent to local markets by express. The day's income from these berries, which sold mostly at $6.35 per crate, f. o. b. Thorsby, brought in approximately $9,000 in cash, making the aggregate for the crop during the past 9 working days nearly $45,000, and the end is not yet. Walter Littleton brought in 47 crates Monday from his 3-acre patch which netted him nearly $300—not bad for one day's income for a farmer. Now that there are so many of our people who know how to grow and market strawberries successfully, we are of the opinion that others would find it profitable to buy a farm in this section and engage in the business, or for many who already have farms to get into the business in a small or large way, as they may be able to handle it. One thing has been repeatedly demonstrated—that is, when the season is favorable, Thorsby berries come at a time when competition from north and south of us is at a low tide. Hence we receive good prices for at least a part of the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Kimsey and Carl Olsen, from Wauchula, Fla., spent several days in Thorsby last week, visiting Mr. and Mrs. Charles and Lewis Howard. They are on their way to Saugatuck, Mich., by auto, after having spent the winter in their Florida home. Mr. Kimsey is 87 years of age, and Mrs. Kimsey is 77, but they are young enough to undertake a 1,500 mile journey through the country. They have known Mrs. Lewis Howard since she was a child.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Howard and son, Frank, spent Sunday and Monday visiting friends and relatives in Birmingham and Fairfield.

Mrs. A. E. Reagan,, Miss Naemi Turnquist, and W. M. Parnell motored to Fairfield Sunday and spent the day with Mr. and Mrs. Carl R. Peterson. Mrs. Reagan remained to visit her sister, Mrs. Peterson, this week, while her husband is away from home.

Messrs. A. E. Reagan and C. R. Foss motored to Atlanta Sunday, where they will attend the Hardware Dealers Convention to be held in that city this week. Mr. Howard Garrick accompanied them as far as Senoia, Ga., where he will spend a few days visiting his mothe..

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Higgins have recently moved to Thorsby and occupied the Swan place, which Mr. Geo. Mims has recently converted into a convenient and attractive bungalow.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Thomsen have returned from an extended visit to their daughter, Mrs. Guth, at Memphis, Tenn. While there both took treatment at an infirmary, and are now greatly improved in health and appearance.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Howard and daughter, Ella, and Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Reagan, motored to Montgomery last week to see a part of the homecoming pageant.

Mr. and Mrs. Ivey Horn and family and Mrs. Horn's mother, Mrs. Anderson, of Birmingham, spent Sunday with old friends and neighbors in Thorsby .

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Langville and daughter, Meryl, and Miss Anna Werness visited their relatives here, Mrs. Martha Grothe and Miss Nell Werness, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Gibbons and little daughter, Mable, attended the Alabama historical festival and pageant at Montgomery last Thursday.

Last Sunday was the birthday of both G. F. Harper and Wm. Billingsley, and was celebrated by both families by enjoying a dinner at the new Franklin Cafe.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Williams have a new son, born Monday, May 3. In the same week Mr. Williams' mother died, and was buried at New Salem.

Dr. and Mrs. Wallace of Birmingham visited Dr. and Mrs. S. C. Wood last Saturday afternoon. Dr. Wood and Dr. Wallace operated on Mr. Varden of Mineral Springs at Central Hospital Saturday night. The patient is doing nicely.

Mr. and Mrs. Reno Villadsen of Montevallo and Arthur Villadsen spent Mothers' Day at the home of their mother, Mrs. Anna Villadsen, in Thorsby.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Carter and family, and Mr. Stoughton Bice of Philadelphia are visiting friends and relatives in Thorsby, their old home town. Mrs. Paul Smith and Mrs. Alex Kelso of Birmingham, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Carter, have joined the party in their home coming festivities.

Mr. J. P. Martin of Montgomery, J. H. Martin and Mrs. Tom Cobb of Jemison were Sunday visitors to their sister, Mrs. Aaron Littletin, who is very ill at her home in Thorsby.

J. B. Littleton of Bessemer also came to see his mother last Sunday.

Mrs. G. F. Harper was hostess to the W. W. A. last Tuesday afternoon.

Last Friday was a birthday anniversary for Mrs. J. H. Goddard, and Mrs. J. E. Each made it an occasion to invite several ladies to give Mrs. Goddard a surprise party at her home, each lady being informed that there would be sewing to occupy their hands. Delicious refreshments were served.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Sims have returned to Thorsby after spending a year in Valdosta, Ga. Mr. Sims is preparing to open a drug store in Nat Bentley's new building on the new highway, which he hopes to open May 15.

Mrs. J. R. Billingsley has recently returned from an extended visit to her son, Sam Billingsley, at Ocala, Fla. She reports an interesting time, with many enjoyable tours through the country, including one to the Atlantic coast. On her way home she stopped a few days to visit her sons, Ira and Ed Billingsley, at Mobile.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Peterson enjoyed a visit from their daughter, Clara, and several of her friends from Birmingham. The party included Miss Rosa Lee Pritchard, head stenographer of the accounting department of Alabama Power Co., and H. W. Boozer, general auditor of the same company, also Miss Pritchard's mother and little Earl, Mrs. Stokel and son, Mrs. Delaney and Miss Simpson.

Carl C. Petersen and family visited relatives and friends at Oxmoor and Birmingham last Sunday.

The Congregational church choir, numbering 27 persons, headed by Miss Alithea Parker, were delightfully entertained last Saturday night at the parsonage home and grounds. The evening passed quickly in enjoyment of games and conversation. Several ladies assisted and served refreshments.

Rev. J. E. Each went to Stoney Point, near Deatsville, last Sunday afternoon to fill his monthly appointment for a preaching service.

Next Sunday, May 16, Rev. Each will exchange pulpits with Rev. R. A. McKay of Tallassee, who will preach at Thorsby Congregational church morning and evening of that day. Mr. McKay is an able preacher and will be well worth hearing.

The monthly social of the Baptist Ladies Aid Society will be held Thursday afternoon of this week at the home of Mrs. S. C. Wood, on Summit Avenue.

Thursday afternoon, May 20, the Lutheran Ladies Aid Social will be held at the home of Mrs. E. N. Dyrhood, a half-mile north of Thorsby.

Mr. Lee Vickers went to Talladega last week to attend the funeral of his friend, R. D. Swint, who for several years was a rural mail carrier out of the Clanton post office.

Cecil Cleckler is nursing a broken arm, resulting from a kick while trying to crank an automobile.

J. D. Cleckler has begun work on a new house across the road from the residence of Mr. Charley Howard, and is planning to build another on the land he bought from Fred Howard.

We regret to report that Mrs. Maddox, mother of Mrs. T. W. Robinson, continues quite ill at the home of her daughter.

A feature of the Christian Endeavor Society last Sunday night was a series of responses from older members of the church and community who had been invited to be present and speak on subjects which the committee had assigned to them for brief remarks.

We gratefully acknowledge our appreciation of the suggestions made editorially in last week's issue of The Union-Banner regarding our work on "Thorsby Section," and also the generous response of our Thorsby people in sending in items to us for publication. Where many do a little it becomes more interesting for all. Let the good work continue.

BILL SHURETT HURT IN WRECK

The friends of Bill Shurett are glad to see him able to be out again after being injured in an auto wreck at Deatsville last Tuesday. He was going to Montgomery with a friend when the car, a Ford coupe, turned over on a sharp curve. Bill sustained a broken collar bone. He went on to Hill's infirmary for treatment, and from there to his home in Rockford. He returned to Clanton Wednesday to take charge of his business for the New York Life Insurance Company here.

ALTON B. PARKER DEAD

Hon. Alton B. Parker, who was the Democratic candidate for President of the United States in 1904, died at his home in New York City Monday.

Jesse Baker, George Mims, and J. M. Wyatt are spending this week fishing on Weogufka Creek in Coosa County.

Mr. Burgess, real estate dealer and business man of Calera was a visitor at The Union-Banner office while in Clanton Wednesday.

Mrs. Kin Vinson, Mrs. Lucien Duncan, and Mrs. Mack Wyatt spent Wednesday in Montgomery.

OUR FARM ARTICLES

We want to call the attention of our readers to our articles on farming and farm methods. These are furnished by the Extension Service at Auburn, the best place from which to get sound advice on farm problems. These methods have been tested and have proved sound before being offered to readers over the state.

A Yale scientist declares that the moon is lop-sided and this seems to be something else which is beyond the power of legislation to mend, though doubtless a lot of legislators will be willing to try it.

SEVEN MEN ARRESTED FOR SHOOTING BUCKNER

Seven men have been arrested and placed in the Birmingham jail charged with shooting prohibition agent R. W. Buckner in Blount County. He was shot while he and other Federal officers were raiding a still in St. Clair County Monday. Buckner is a well known officer, having been Sheriff of Blount County in past years. His wounds may prove to be fatal.

Osmond Middleton spent last week end at home in Clanton.

FISHING BAIT AND FRYING PANS

"Dear mother," said a little fish,
"Pray, is not that a fly?
I am very hungry,
I wish you would let me try."

"Sweet innocent," the mother cried,
With a wise and knowing look,
"That horrid fly is but to hide
The sharpness of a hook."

"Don't ever bite at a fly like that;
Get away just as fast as you can,
Or land yourself like foolish ones
In a fisherman's frying pan."

Around about the hook he played
With many a longing look;
"Dear me," to himself he said,
"I am hure that is not a hook."

"I can but give one little nip—
Let's see, and so I will."
So on he went, and Lo! it stuck
Right through his little gill.

And as he faint and fainter grew
With hollow voice he cried
"Dear mother, had I minded you,
I might not thus have died."

* * *

"Dear mother," said a sweet, young girl,
"Is not that a picture show?
I am hungry for the inside thrill,
I wish you would let me go."

"Sweet innocent," the mother cried,
With a wise and knowing look,
"What you see and hear is but to hide
The sharpness of a hook."

"Those who indulge in bait like that,
With the lure of jazz and man,
May get himself, with aching heart,
In the devil's frying pan."

Round about the place she strolled,
With many a longing look;
"Dear me," to herself she said,
"I am sure that is not a hook."

"I will go this once—go right in
Just as soon as ever I can,
And prove to all I'll not succumb
To the lure of jazz and man."

Far away from mother, in a home for outcast,
The show had done its part,
This same young girl lay dying
Of a sad and broken heart.

An innocent babe lay by her side;
She thought of the jazz and man;
With sad and bitter cry she died
In the devil's frying pan.

And as she faint and fainter grew,
With hollow voice she cried,
"Dear mother, had I minded you,
I might not thus have died."

UNION GROVE

The United Singing Society met with us here Sunday afternoon. Opened with a song and prayer by our President, A. H. Glasscock, followed by "I'll Play My Harp," by Thorsby Quartet.

Directors for the afternoon, who sang two or three songs each were: H. V. Campbell from Oak Hill, E. L. Glasscock from Jemison, Prof. Wm. J. Mims from Birmingham, Akins Collins from Thorsby, and A. H. Glasscock from Jemison. Organists were Mrs. Belle Dorminey, Miss Genie Collins, Miss Inez Hayes, and Miss Emma Campbell. We had one of the best singings we have ever had. Everyone seemed to be filled with the singing spirit, and made good music. We had several good singers from other places and we certainly appreciate their presence. We cordially invite all good singers to come again. We especially thank Prof. Mims for his presence, and will be glad to have him visit us again. Let's all meet with the United Singing Society at Collins Chapel next Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Rev. W. P. Lowery filled his regular appointment here Saturday night and Sunday, delivering some excellent sermons.

Our Sunday school is good, and improving. We have one of the best in the County, and much interest is taken in the work.

The W. M. S. is doing some work on the church. In a few days much improvement will be made.

We are glad to have Mrs. T. W. Davis home again, and glad she is improving. Mr. T. J. Dorminey is improving also, after being ill about three weeks with a carbuncle on the back of his neck.

Mr. Mike Gray died at his home on last Sunday morning.

Miss Amy Robinson returned home Sunday night after a few weeks visit to her sister at Gorgas.

Mrs. W. M. Gray went to Birmingham Sunday t. spend a few weeks with her son, Mike Gray.

We are sorry to hear of the sickness of Mr. Ben Varden. He is in a hospital now, following an operation last Saturday. We hope for a speedy recovery.

Prof. Euell Robinson of LaFayette is visiting his mother, Mrs. Sarah Jane Robinson, near Providence. He will go to summer school at Auburn in a few weeks. For the past three years Mr. Robinson has been principal of a consolidated high school at LaFayette in Chambers County.

The best hairy vetch crop Alabama has ever made has just been turned under and the land planted in either cotton or corn. In south Alabama farmers follow vetch with both cotton and corn, but in north Alabama the general practice is to plant corn following vetch, due to shorter seasons.

WALNUT CREEK

Sunday was a great day at Walnut. We held our annual singing and Mothers' Day service, which was well attended.

The Chairman, R. E. Powell, opened the service with the good old hymn, "Holy Manna," and sang three other songs, before the preaching service.

The Scripture lesson for the morning was John 19:1-27, using as a text a part of the 26th verse, "Woman, behold thy son." I think this was the best Mothers' service we have had in the four years of my pastorate here.

At 12:15 the congregation was dismised for dinner. The ladies spread a very appetizing dinner, and, like the Lord, who fed five thousand men, besides women and children, on the five loaves and two small fishes, several baskets full were left. There was plenty left to feed as many more as ate. Someone said to me after the service, "If we keep growing at Walnut Creek during another year as we have for the past year, we will have to build a table that will reach to the creek." Just watch us grow!

Directors for the afternoon were the following, who sang two songs each: J. W. Clackler, Jasper Oakes, Jesse Baker, Jean Wyatt, G. C. Powell, M. Lockhart, R. M. Robinson, J. E. Miner, O. L. Devaughn, S. V. Miller; quartet arranged by Jesse Baker, J. W. Cagle. Recess for 15 minutes. G. C. Powell arranged a quartet, and Ammie Boswell and L. T. Grant sang two songs each.

The following sang one song each: C. H. Robinson, W. M. Devaughn, O. R. Robinson, Jesse Jones, G. C. Powell; duet by Mrs. Lena Mae Hancock and Mrs. Stanley; quartet arranged by W. M. Devaughn; W. G. Culp, M. Lockhart, Mose Robinson, Jasper Robinson, J. A. W. Mims, Mack Boswell, and Henry Robinson.

We wish to thank Mr. Weldon of The Starr Music Co., of Clanton, for the use of the piano.

The singing was announced for the next Mothers' Day, the second Sunday in May, 1927.—G. B. Golden, Pastor.

THANKS FRIENDS

I wish to thank the people for their kindness and help shown me during the sickness of my husband. May God's richest blessings be on each and every one is my prayer.

There will be an all day service at Floyd the fourth Sunday in May. Everybody is invited to come and be with us.—Mrs. Ella Huett.

SAMARIA

Sunday, May 9, was regular preaching day at this place, and an unusually large crowd attended the services.

At 10 o'clock a Mothers' Day program as sponsored by the State Baptist Board was put on by tht girls of the Sunday school, and the program was followed by the regular Sunday school lesson.

At 11 o'clock Rev. B. F. Dykes, our pastor, delivered a very forceful and impressive sermon on the subject "A Christian Home," which was enjoyed by all present.

Bro. Dykes has been called to the care of the church at Boyles, and has accepted the same, therefore he tendered his resignation at our church Sunday. We are all sorry to give him up, but feel that he can do a greater work at Boyles, hence we accepted his resignation. We are glad to know that he is able and willing to take up a larger field of work and we join in praying God's blessings upon his efforts in his new field of labor.

We had several preachers and other visitors to worship with us Sunday. We were glad to have them, and hope they can and will see fit to come again in the near future.

We were especially glad to have with us Bro. Adams. We are sure he is a man that we could follow as an example for our lives.

Sunday night at 7:30 Bro. Grady Williams delivered a fine sermon, using for his subject, "Christians Going Forward." There was a good crowd in attendance at the night service.

We have Sunday school at 10:00 o'clock every Sunday, and are always glad to have visitors come and be with us.—Nora Wood.

DR. SCOTT MADE A TRIP UP IN TENNESSEE

Editor Union-Banner:

I want to tell you and your readers about my trip up in Tennessee last week. I left Jemison at 4:45 a. m., and went through Birmingham, Cullman, Hartselle, and Decatur, crossing the Tennessee River at the latter place on a boat, and on to Athens. There we ate dinner (I called it dinner, but in reality it was five little cakes worth a penny each) while my wife and niece looked over the town. We left Athens and went to Pulaski, Tennessee, turning west to Lawrenceburg.

Some of the boys accuse me of being out canvassing, but I want to say that even if I am green on the job, I think I know better than to go to Tennessee looking for votes to elect me as county commissioner of Chilton County. I was running at high speed all the way, waving at everybody along the way, and enjoying the performance of my old flivver hitting on four all the time. She sure did run good. I made the 250 miles and landed at my destination at 3:55, consuming 11 hours and 15 minutes on the road.

While at Lawrenceburg I shook hands with a Republican candidate for Probate Judge. He has been Judge once before and he sure did seem like a nice man. It made me think of the good old friend Republicans back here in Chilton.

I got my old tin lizzie in trim and left Lawrenceburg Friday morning at 5:25 and landed in Jemison at 4:24 p. m. We made the 500 miles without cleaning a spark plug or pumping up a single tire. In fact we didn't have one minute's trouble. Yet some say I must get me a new car to run for office. I have decided to keep old lizzie to make my trips over the county to see the voters. But I am going to run slow, as I said, and look out around all the curves and cross roads for these fast runners.

Do you know that last Saturday afternoon near Mr. Lewis Allen's place two cars met on a curve and ran together and were torn up. One of them belonged to one of our candidates, and was a new one at that. So you see that is a great loss to him, more so than if it had been an old car. I don't know whether the road was too narrow or if they were running too fast. They say the candidate's car was not exactly flying, but it was only hitting the ground now and then. Nobody was hurt much.

Say, Mr. Editor, you know when I got back from Tennessee last week I was anxious to know what was the news in our good old paper, The Union-Banner. I have always had The Union-Banner to follow me everywhere I have ever been to live any length of time. I got the paper and began to look it over and found a lot of good news that interested me very much.

Finally I ran upon an article written by one of my opponents which made me a little sad for several reasons. He stated that he was unable to work; and again he seemed to think I was throwing off on him in my other article, but I didn't intend such a thing. Had I known we had some sick men in the race, I would have been more quiet, as I never did think it best to keep up a racket around sick folks.

I am not going to call any names, and leave the voters and readers to investigate for themselves. You know preacher Scott was mentioned in the letter two or three times. I understand that is the hobby some of my opponents are using to try to throw me out of the race. They say I am a preacher, and don't need to hold office. I want to say that if it is not fitten for a preacher to hold, I don't think it fit for deacons or anyone else.

I am glad to say that I am a preacher, and one of Paul's kind who believes in working for a living, and believe all others should do the same, as Paul said they that don't work should not eat.

I will stop here, Mr. Editor, hoping to have another little chat with you and the voters before very long.

The same old doctor,
J. N. SCOTT.

We haven't studied that new European scheme for paying off all the world's debts at once, but on the face of it, it reminds us somewhat of a lot of those Florida real estate circulars.

In a new House bill on immigration, the term "moral turpitude" only covers those who have served a year in prison. In other words, it isn't turpitude unless you get caught.

A British publicist says that all Europe wants of America is to be let alone, but what he probably meant was "lent a loan."

Commissioners Praise State Highway Board

The following resolutions were passed by the board of commissioners of Chilton County in session here May 10:

That, Whereas, the State of Alabama, through the Highway Department, has constructed a cement road through Chilton County, said road being in length about thirty-five miles, and that,

Whereas, said road has recently been completed with the exception of occasional gaps over unsettled fills, said road being Federal Aid Project 100-A and 100-B. That,

Whereas, some parts of said road have been in constant use for twelve months, and out of the total length of said road approximately twelve blocks will have to be replaced; and in view of some criticism of said road, the Commissioners Court of Chilton County, Alabama, on this, the 10th day of May, 1926, hereby declares and publishes the following resolutions:

First—We regret the fact that any criticism of this road should have come from any citizens of Chilton County, in view of the fact that Chilton County, without practically any cost, has been fortunate enough to have constructed through it a road of this character.

Second—We believe that we have 35 miles of road that compares favorably with any constructed in the United States, and we want to compliment the Highway Department for their splendid cooperation during the construction of this road, and the satisfactory manner in which they dealt with the public in regard to right-of-way, sewers and turn-outs.

Third—Lastly, Be It Resolved, That, the Commissioners Court of Chilton County, Alabama, extends its grateful appreciation to the Highway Commission for this splendid road.

BOND ISSUE CARRIED BY VOTE OF 157 TO 14

The city school bond issue of $20,000 in Clanton met with only negligible opposition last Saturday when the measure was adopted by a vote of 157 votes for it and 14 votes against it.

The addition of the $20,000 bond issue to other available resources will make a fund of approximately $40,000 with which to erect a new grammar school building.

It is expected that work will start on the new building in the near future. The people of Clanton school district are very hopeful that the new building may be made ready for the next session of school. The $40,000 can pretty well fill the bill of what Clanton needs as a grammar school building.

Judge Reynolds went over to Selma on a business trip Tuesday afternoon.

Uncle Jim Mims of the court of county commissioners was a visitor to Clanton Tuesday.

JOHN MADDOX SENTENCED TO THREE MONTHS HARD LABOR

The case of John Maddox, charged with violating the prohibition law, was called in the non-jury session of the Circuit Court of Chilton County Monday by Judge George F. Smoot. The defendant plead guilty to the charge and paid a fine of $50. A sentence of three months hard labor as additional punishment was assessed against him and he was sent to the convict camps of Alabama By-Products Company on Tuesday to begin serving the sentence.

Other criminal cases disposed of in the Circuit Court Monday were as follows:

Gene Lucas, charged with abusive, indecent, and obscene language; continued by State.

Robert Harris, charged with violating prohibition law; plead guilty and fined $50.

Archie Payton, charged with trespass after warning; continued by State on account of absence of Mrs. Joe Moore.

Albert Thomas, charged with violating prohibition law; plead guilty. The plea of guilty was withdrawn and the case continued.

Eddie Wyatt, charged with absconding after an automobile accident; defendant plead guilty and was fined $5.

TWO MEN CAUGHT MAKNG WILDCAT LIQUOR

Deputies Sheriff Culp and Foshee and Federal officer Gillespie made a raid Monday morning in which they caught two white men, William Bice and Thomas Littlefield, Jr., making a run of wildcat liquor with two 400-gallon stills. One of the stills was in operation when the officers surprised the men. The other was filled with beer and ready to turn on when the first was finished. The plant was located in Stumps Hills near the steel bridge on Waxahatchie Creek.

The officers report that they watched the maneuvering of the men until they got "the lay of the land." Foshee and Gillespie placed themselves and Culp came up from the other side and commanded the men to "put 'em up." The men stood in surprise for an instant and joined the bird gang. Bice ran into Foshee and Littlefield got tangled up with Gillespie. A third man who was at the still made such a hasty and complete retreat that the officers did not even know which way he went.

Bice and Littlefield were brought to jail and given preliminary trial before Judge Gulledge Monday afternoon. They were bound over to the grand jury under bond of $1,000 each.

WILL SMITH ARRESTED

Will Smith, young white man, of Clanton, was arrested Monday by Sheriff Littlejohn on a charge of violating the prohibition law. He made bond to await further action of the courts.

3:25 Miscellaneous business and adjournment.—Committee.

Mr. Carl Gumpf, certified public accountant, of Montgomery, was in Clanton a short while Monday afternoon.

Sheriff Littlejohn made a business trip to Prattville Tuesday.

REPUBLICAN EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE CALLED TO MEET SATURDAY

A call has been issued to bring the executive committee of the Republican party of Chlton county into session at the court house next Saturday at 1 o'clock p. m. The call is made by chairman J. N. Dennis, and has been transmitted to all members of the committee by J. Z. Mims, secretary. Following is a copy of the official notice:

"The executive committee of the Republican party of Chilton county, Alabama, is hereby called to meet in executive session at the court house in Clanton on Saturday, May 22, at 1 o'clock p. m. Matters of importance are to be acted upon in said meeting, therefore each member of the committee is urged to attend.—J. N. Dennis, chairman, by J. Z. Mims, secretary."

It is urged that all committee members attend as there are important matters to be attended to concerning the present campaign and the primary election to be held in August.

Don't forget the meeting is to be Saturday of this week at 1 o'clock p. m., at the court house.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to take this means of thanking our friends who so kindly assisted us during the sickness and death of our husband and father, John Little, who died on April 13th. We also wish to thank the many people who so patiently administered to his needs during his nine years of affliction.—Mrs. Harriett Little and family.

COLLINS CHAPEL

The United Singing Society met in regular session Sunday afternoon. The singing was one of the best in the history of the society. Directors for the afternoon were A. H. Glasscock, H. H. Hays, Akins Collins and E. L. Glasscock. The Thorsby quartett rendered a fine selection after each director. Organists for the afternoon were Miss Campbell, Miss Genie Collins, Miss Inez Hays. The society will meet at Oak Hill on next Sunday.—Secretary.

PROGRAM OF PASTORS AND WORKERS CONFERENCE

Following is the program of the Pastors and Workers Conference of the Unity-Chilton Association:

The value of the Pastors and Workers Conference, by E. A. Norris.

The State Board work and its needs by W. J. Billingsley.

The above named meeting will be held at the court house on Monday, May 24. It is earnestly desired that all churches in the two associations send at least one to represent their church. The meeting will be called at 9:30 a. m.—B. Lawrence, Sec'y.

DR. EZELL WILL PREACH COMMENCEMENT SERMON

Dr. S. J. Ezell, pastor of Clanton Baptist church, will go to Wetumpka next Sunday to preach the Baccalaureate sermon of the Fifth District Agricultural School. Rev. Williams will preach at the Baptist church here in the absence of Dr. Ezell.

ANTI-LYNCHING BILL DIES IN COMMITTEE

Washington, May 17.—By a vote of 9 to 3, the senate judiciary committee refused today to report the McKinley anti-lynching bill, a measure similar to the Dyer bill which was passed by the house several years ago, but died in the senate under the fire of a filibuster by senators from southern states.

The motion for a favorable report was made by Senator Ernst, republican, Kentucky, and was supported by two other committeemen, Senator Cummins, republican, Iowa, chairman of the committee, and Ashurst, democrat, Arizona. Those reported to have voted against a favorable report were: Borah, republican, Idaho; Means, Colorado; Harreld, Oklahoma; and Deneen, Illinois, republicans, and Overman, North Carolina; Reed, Missouri; Walsh, Montana; Caraway, Arkansas; and King, Utah, democrats.

The bill, offered by Senator McKinley, republican, Illinois, remains before the committee and its proponents said they would make another effort to have it reported. Opponents predicted however, that they would be able to end the measure to senate with an adverse report.

Under the terms of the measure, any county in which a lynching took place would be required to forfeit $10,000 to the estate of the victim and any state or county officer who permitted a mob to lynch a prisoner for whom he was responsible would be subject to a penalty of not more than five years in prison or a fine of not more than $5,000, or both.

JOSEPH DRIVER ARRESTED

Joseph Driver, who lives four miles east of Clanton on Sam Johnson's place, was arrested last Sunday on a charge of violating the prohibition law. The officers report that they found a quart of liquor buried in his garden and a quart in his barn. Driver was released under bond for future appearance in court.

Mr. Driver asserts that he knew nothing whatever about the liquor being on his premises. He says he was away from home Saturday night and while he was away some unknown party placed the liquor on his place.

SINGING AT FRIENDSHIP POSTPONED

On account of the all day singing at Providence next Sunday, there will be no singing at Friendship church in the afternoon as usual on the fourth Sunday. But the Friendship singing society will meet on the fifth Sunday afternoon of this month. All singers who have promised to come to our singing the fourth Sunday afternoon are asked to be with us on the fifth Sunday afternoon. All singers have a cordial invitation to attend.

Sunday school and preaching will be held as usual next Sunday. The pastor, Rev. W. P. Lowery, of Thorsby, will preach at 11 o'clock and at 7:30. The public is invited to attend at all times.

Dr. C. O. Lawrence of Calera was in Clanton Tuesday attending a meeting of the Board of Directors of Central Alabama Hospital.

I. T. Garner will attend the Alabama State Optical Convention at Mobile this week. He will not be at Thorsby Friday, but will be on time at Clanton.

Hear Mr. John Rogers Speak Here Saturday

We urge our readers not to forget the speech which Hon. John Rogers is to make at the court house in Clanton next Saturday afternoon.

Mr. Rogers is the central figure of Alabama's highway system, the chairman of our State Highway Commission. You have seen and heard much about Alabama's highways: The newspapers have printed stories about numerous alleged highway scandals, and Mr. Rogers has been assailed from many angles and smitten hip and thigh for one thing and another with which he has been censured in our highway business.

As stated last week, we want our readers to hear him present his side of the highway business. You may be a friend of Rogers and his administration, or you may be an enemy of his plans. But you should hear him regardless of which side of the argument you think you are on.

Mr. Rogers is a very firm man, a big man, a type of public official who commands confidence and respect from those who oppose him and whom he opposes. He knows more about the great highway business of Alabama than any other person in our state.

The people of Chilton County should welcome him here and show their appreciation of his position by coming out in great numbers to hear him. We owe it to Mr. Rogers and our state highway department to receive him with open minds, even if we do not agree with him.

The Union-Banner has not agreed with Rogers and the highway department in some instances of recent years, but in spite of our differences, we welcome him to our county, believing that it will be immensely worth while if every citizen in the county could hear him and get his point of view on our state road program.

Must See Ahead

If there is a sharp curve in the road, you go slow. You want to see what's ahead. After dark you will not drive without lights for the same reason.

Being able to see ahead is what insures safety and success, no matter what the undertaking. In financial as well as other affairs, the only way to look into the future is by the light of the past. Successful men have worked, planned and SAVED. Why not follow the light they have given and do likewise? Our Bank will help you.

REV. F. A. GIBSON TO PREACH AT WALNUT CREEK

Rev. F. A. Gibson will preach at Walnut Creek church Sunday, May 30, at 11 o'clock. Everyone urged to be present and listen to the message of this good man who has grown old in the service of his God. Rev. Gibson has been pastor of Walnut Creek church from time to time for the past 45 years.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our many friends in Clanton for the kindness shown us when our home was burned recently; we especially thank Mr. George Williamson, for giving us a home. May God's richest blessings rest upon each and every one.—Mr. and Mrs. Jim Jones and children.

MINERAL SPRINGS

Mr. and Mrs. Almon Jackson from Weogufka spent Saturday night and Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Giles .

Mr. Bade Retherford from Meridian, Miss., is home for a few days.

Miss Era Jackson from Weogufka was the guest of Miss Mary Giles Saturday night and Sunday.

ANTIOCH

The hail did some damage here last Thursday afternoon. Some of the farmers must plant their cotton over again.

We are glad to state that Grandfather Smith is improving.

Mr. Hale of Autauga County visited Mr. C. J. Thomas Saturday and Sunday.

Our Sunday school is progressing nicely, with good attendance.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Crane visited the former's father, Mr. J. B. Crane, Sunday.

The singing at this place Sunday afternoon was good.

CORINTH

Editor Union-Banner:

Will you please give me space to say a few words about our singing last Sunday.

We were called to order at 9 a. m., by our chairman, singing one song. Bro. E. L. Jones read the 100th Psalm and offered prayer. The arranging committee was composed of E. L. Jones, A. M. Jones, William Jones. Archie Jones entertained the audience while the committee was arranging the morning program. The following directors sang 3 songs each: T. L. Robinson, William Jones, Ivey Huett, J. F. Dubose, Dewey Bowden, Alfonza Cleckley.

This brought us up to the preaching service. Bro. J. D. Hughes preached a wonderful sermon to a large congregation. After preaching we were dismissed for dinner.

Directors for the afternoon were: first, a quartet, by the Clanton Quartet, A. M. Jones, quartet by Clanton Quartet, J. J. Boone, quartet by the Clanton Quartet, J. B. Hammond, O. L. Devaughn, W. M. Devaughn, J. M. Taylor, W. C. Kirkland, quartet by W. M. Devaughn, quartet by L. T. Grant.

Organists for the day were: Miss Beatrice Grant, Ivebell Bowden, Richard McKinney, A. A. Baird, Mrs. Lena Mae Hancock, Mrs. J. W. Cagle, Mrs. Lola Jones.

We thank the large crowd for their good behavior in and around the house, and for their good singing.—A. L. Robinson, Chairman; W. A. Jones, Secretary.

Adjournment.

Mulberry church will celebrate its 100th anniversary on this date.—Committee.

PLEASANT VALLEY

Mrs. Emma Gentry and daughter, Miss Alma Gentry, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Lett, Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Morris gave a birthday supper in honor of their son, Master Virgil Morris, Saturday night. Ice cream and cake were enjoyed by a large gathering of friends.

Many were absent from Sunday school Sunday, on account of the singing at Corinth. We had 50 present. We hope to see all the absentees back next Sunday.

At the B. Y. P. U. meeting Sunday night we enrolled 30 members, and there are others we hope to enroll. Officers elected Sunday night were: Bible Leader, Mr. Will Morris; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Effie Vinson; Librarian, Miss Lula Courtney; Missionary Leader, Miss Fay Ray; Group Captains, Misses Bertha Stockdale, Vesta Lett, Gussie Norrell, and Mr. Marshall Burkhalter. Officers of the B. Y. P. U. met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Lett last Tuesday night for a business session.

We were glad to have Mr. and Mrs. Bowles (Lavada Williams) with us at church again Sunday night.

Let's remember to attend the meeting at Floyd next Sunday after Sunday school. All are invited.

NOTICE

Anyone knowing the whereabouts of my son, Ellis Crowson, who left home on May 3, 1926, please notify me. He is 16 years old, rather slender, has brown hair, blue eyes, fair complexion, has a brown, flat mole under his left eye, near his nose. Has on work clothes, purple sweater with yellow trimming. I will pay $25.00 reward for his return.—Tom Crowson, Box 84, Jemison, Ala.

FUTURE BECKONS YOUNG AMERICANS

Achievements of Past Only Show Great Opportunity Ahead.

Great events of the past quarter century which lead some young men to complain that all the big things have been done, leaving no opportunity for them, as a matter of fact only go to show that even greater opportunity today lies ahead of them, F. N. Shepherd, Executive Manager of the American Bankers Association, recently told members of the American Institute of Banking in New York. After reviewing the outstanding accomplishments in science, industry and finance during the last twenty-five years, Mr. Shepherd emphasized the reward given men of achievement in America, especially in the financial field.

"The achievements of the past are the groundwork for the opportunities of today and tomorrow," he said. "There never was a time when so great were the potentialities of the individual. The world was never so ready and able to pay well for what it wants. For superior service to society under competitive conditions, whether through invention or production or organization or distribution of useful articles, no reward is begrudged, particularly here in America.

"Adding to human comfort and human needs, these things make life finer and better. The world has shared, but it is in America that they have reached their highest development and utilization. The American spirit of useful enterprise, however, does not confine itself within our own borders. It permeates the entire world and renders great service to peoples other than our own.

"Let us pass over America's service to humanity in the war and consider what is being done now. Largely to rebuild the economic life of a world shattered by the war and its devastating after effects, America has, since the war, loaned other peoples over ten billion dollars. Last year alone a billion and a half in foreign financing was consummated in the United States. American financial genius has so far readjusted our banking machinery to meet enlarged international obligations that stupendous foreign loans, such as the $100,000,000 Dawes plan credit to Germany, are concluded and the books closed after being open to public subscription only a few minutes.

"With our new world viewpoints we in America have many great things yet to do. These things are typical of the broadminded world viewpoint of American finance. It shows the vision necessary to the men who guide our business affairs today. Certainly there is an inspiration in this and the great opportunities which await us."

Bankers and business men of the leading towns of Taylor county, Texas, employed a county agent last spring, and requested that he vigorously promote boys' and girls' club activities. As a result of his work over 300 club members were enrolled. Work is being concentrated this year on poultry culling and grain sorghum seed selection. This fall there will be exhibits and contests, for which the business men are contributing generous prizes.

NOTICE OF SALE OF LAND FOR PAYMENT OF DEBTS

In the matter of the application of L. B. Gaither for sale of land for payment of debts.

Notice is hereby given that an application filed by L. B. Gaither, administratrix of the estate of R. D. Campbell, deceased, in the Probate Court of Chilton County, Alabama, to sell the hereinafter described real estate for payment of debts of said estate, which application was granted on the 8th day of May, 1926, and by an order of the Probate Court, said lands to-wit:

The northeast quarter of Section 7, Township 23, Range 14, and containing 40 acres, were ordered to be sold as provided by law.

I will therefore sell said lands on the 8th day of June, 1926, at the court house door of Chilton County, Alabama, to the highest and best bidder for cash.

OMAR L. REYNOLDS,
5-13-3t-ch. Commissioner.

NOTICE OF TELEPHONE MEETING

The Board of Directors and a representative of each line of the Peoples Telephone Company are rquested to meet next Saturday afternoon, May 22, at 2 o'clock, at the Odd Fellows Hall. Business of importance is to be transacted, and attendance is urged by representatives of each line.—W. S. Cox, Vice-President.

ALL DAY SINGING AT PLANTERSVILLE

There will be an all day singing at Plantersville the fifth Sunday in this month in the old Christian Harmony books, and we are requested by Bro. Sanders to invite everybody that can sing or is interested, to come and make it a glorious day. We hope to see a good number of you there on that day.—J. N. Scott.

WEST CHILTON

Mr. and Mrs. John Crumpton of Sylacauga were recent visitors to their many friends and relatives in this locality.

Ernest Smith has returned from an extended fishing trip to Lily Shoals on the Cahaba River.

Mr. J. P. Gentry is still confined to his bed. We hope for his speedy recovery. His daughter, Mrs. Scott, of Chicago, is still with him, while his son has charge of his business.

W. P. Cofer is erecting a large new residence at his father's store.

Isiac Waldrop, Sr., has gone on an extended visit to his son and daughter at West Frankfort, Ill. He will return about October 1.

Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Prim of Thorsby were in this section lately, and called on Mr. Gentry.

Died Monday, the little child of Mr. and Mrs. Dee Crumpton. Burial was at Union Springs cemetery. The little grave was covered with flowers. It sleeps in peace, waiting the resurrection of all things, waiting the coming of the beautiful Sabbath to be. The ransom has been paid, and its return is sure.

Prof. Lawrence's figures in a late issue of The Union-Banner on the educational question were both interesting and instructive. We concur with Mr. Lawrence—an adjustment is needed. We believe among the aspirants for legislative honors we have those who are capable of grappling with this question. It is a matter of regret to see the rural schools going down. It means abandonment to the rural districts, and a blow at civilization as well.

Club boys in St. Clair County supplied farmers of that county with 1,900 bushels of pure cotton seed this spring at a premium.

MULBERRY-ISABELLA NEWS

Mrs. S. J. M. Webb, who underwent an operation at Central Alabama Hospital last week, is reported doing nicely. Miss Nellie Martin was operated on for appendicitis last Friday, and is reported doing well also.

The Mulberry W. M. U. will meet with Mrs. W. G. DeShazo next Saturday at 3 o'clock. We ask all who can to attend.

Miss Cleo Roebuck happened to an accident last Friday, as another car ran into her car, wrecking it. No one was seriously hurt.

The children of Mrs. Lou Rasberry who was buried at Mulberry last winter, came down from Birmingham to see about putting a tomb over her grave.

Miss Dorothea Manning has returned from a visit to her sister, Mrs. C. T. Farmer, in Montgomery.

Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Summers and Mr. Patton of Jemison were visiting in this community Monday. They were accompanied by Mrs. Jessie Harmon, who taught school at Isabella several years ago.

Miss Lona Manning returned home Saturday from a visit to her brother, G. E. Manning, in Pratt City.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our thanks to our neighbors and friends, and Dr. Johnson of Jemison, for their kindness to us during the sickness, death, and burial of our darling baby. We thank them also for the beautiful floral offering.—Mr. and Mrs. Dee Crumpton.

Bow-legs and knock-knees come from lack of sunshine and proper food more than from inheritance.

OAK GROVE

Mr. Percy Fellman and family visited Mr. A. W. Glass recently.

Mr. Vollie Glass was at home Sunday from Birmingham.

The singing class met the Jefferson class at Helena Sunday and joined in singing praises to our God. Directors were W. J. Northcutt, L. R. Cobb, E. H. Foshee, Ivy Matthews, Bill Cofer, Lassie Northcutt, Dick Martin, Prof. O. B. Robinson, special song by O. B. Robinson, Lassie Northcutt, E. H. Foshee, Carrie Glass, duet by Vollie Matthews and Carrie Glass. Organists were Flossie Cobb, Carrie Glass, and Miss Bailey. There were some directors from Jefferson and Shelby Counties, but we failed to get their names. The famous Bailey Quartet was with us, and did some fine singing. We hope to have them at Oak Grove soon. Mr. Miller and daughter were there and rendered some beautiful duets. It was a day well spent, and the good people of Helena gave us a standing invitation to come back anytime.—W. J. Northcutt.

ICE CREAM SUPPER

There will be an ice cream supper at the Lee Smith place near Collins Chapel on Saturday night, May 22. Everyone invited.—Wyatt Reynolds.

A FAIR COLORIST

This young woman ascends a giddy ladder every day to put finishing touches to the "Rainbow City"—the Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition, opening in Philadelphia June 1 and continuing until December 1, to celebrate the 150th anniversary of the Declaration of American Independence. She is one of an army of young artists who are making the Sesqui a colorful success.

Birthday Party.

An enjoyable affair was on last Friday afternoon when Miss Clyde Jones entertained a group of friends celebrating her eleventh birthday anniversary at her home on Third Avenue. The decorations of roses and other seasonable flowers lent an atmosphere of festivity to the home. Games and contests were enjoyed. In a gussing contest Jane Beth Johnston was presented the girls prize, a box of candy, and the boys prize, a base ball, fell to Dewey Williams. Late in the afternoon an ice course was served to the following: Janie Beth Johnston, Alice Mae Polk, Jane and Helen Roberts, Sallie Mahan, Vonceil White, Elizabeth McSwain, Dorothy Duncan, Marzell Taylor, Dorothy Sessions, Mary Robinson, Corrine Polk, Evelyn Maddox, Nell Neighbors, Jewel Taylor, Imogene Sims, Hal Broadhead, Grady Carter, Morris Pyron, Dewey Williams, Alex Hayes, Ardelia White, Anderson Wallace, and others. The annual fire loss in the United States is placed at $550,000,000 of which approximately $150,000,000 occurs on farms and in the smaller rural communities. It is estimated that 70% to 80% of the losses on farms could be prevented.

Cooperation in handling forest products is an important effort in Finland where such products constitute 85% to 90% of the export trade. It is estimated that 73.5% of Finland is covered with forests. Nearly 40% of that cut is exported.

There is one thing to be said for the British strike. Since it started we haven't had to read so much about Tacna-Arica.

Over 16,000 farmers bought feed, grain, fertilizer or seeds through the Eastern States Farmers' Exchange, Springfield, Mass., during 1925. This was an increase of about 1,500 over 1924. Supplies to the amount of 119,291 tons were handled and total sales for the year amounted to $5,979,965.

Days We'll Never Forget

WHITHER AMERICA?

England is face to face with the inevitable consequences of government in any country by compromise on fundamental principles of government.

Under the pressure of socialists and their "liberal" allies and sympathizers the British government, through the "dole" system and other socialist expedients, has sought to allay the unrest created by elements which seek not primarily the improvement of the status of the workers under existing forms of government, but the breakdown of the system of private property and the substitution of a socialist state.

The red flag has been waving defiantly in England for years. Every effort to prevent the organization of forces and propaganda openly seeking the destruction of government has been met with the cry from "liberals" that this would interfere with "free speech." The British people have been told, as the American people are told, that to suppress agitation in favor of the violent overthrow of government would only tend to increase the danger of revolution.

This temporizing, compromising policy has had its natural result in the penetration of the British labor movement under the leadership of moderate, constitutional socialists, by the more radical communists. As in the United States, this agitation looking to the proletarian revolution has had the sympathetic assistance of scores of organizations and movements under the camouflage of altruistic purposes. While the communists have been planning to overthrow the British government by violence their camouflaged allies or secret sympathizers have sought to disarm the government, just as they are seeking to do in the United States. Now the British government must fight for its very life.

The way to meet revolutionary radicalism is not by feeding it, but by fighting it; not by compromising with and catering to it, but by using the power of government to stop any campaign which has as its announced objective the destruction of government by violence.

In this country when it is proposed to suppress organized activity which has as its announced aim the violent overthrow of government; when it is proposed to search out and deport aliens who are here as agents of European radicalism to take the life of this nation if they can, the outcry goes up from "liberals," from many religious and educational leaders, from mushy sentimentalists of all sorts, that this is an intereference with "civil liberty."

At the same time the demand goes up that the government should divest iself of the means of protection against either foreign invasion or domestic insurrection. A Senator of the United States introduces a Constitutional amendment providing that if there be invasion or insurrection, it shall be illegal to attack it. And the astounding thing is that such proposals are sympathetically received by influential groups at Washington and throughout the country.

The people of this country must arouse themselves to the dangers of this situation and find the means to prevent this republic from being brought face to face with the challenge of red radicalism under conditions which will make certain vast loss of life and property. They should retire from public life not only the open sympathizers with revolutionary radicalism, but the secret sympathizers and the cowardly, time-serving politicians who compromise with rather than boldly battle against the forces which seek to subvert and destroy the American republic.

Knowing what was ahead in Great Britain, Leon Trotzky, who planned the bolshevist revolution from the soil of America, wrote a book "Whither England?" He and his associates confidently believe that America, by the same process, will be brought to the same crisis. Can we learn anything from England's experience? Whither America?

This is the biggest of all issues confronting the American people. It must be met. The sooner it is met, the better.

The Union-Banner is $1.50 Straight.

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

Every year there is a conference of the governors of the United States. This year the meeting is to be held in Cheyenne, Wyo., in June. Governor Ralph Brewster, of Maine, says that among the things which will be discussed are the alleged enchoachments by the federal government on state rights, and the charge that while the government at Washington is cutting expenses and saving money, the state governments are adding to the tax burdens by increased expenditures.

The meeting ought to be an interesting one. Nearly all students of political affairs agree that the time has come when there should be no additional taking over of local functions by the federal government. The governors will doubtless support this contention and in doing so they will be in agreement with the people. So far as the increase of state expenses is concerned, it is probably true that in many instances this has been overemphasized. State expenditures increase, of course, but the greatest increase is in the construction of state highways which, in the main, are paid for by the automobilists themselves.

The tax burden of the average man is no longer increased to any extent by the federal government, and it is true, too, that the amount he pays in taxes for the support of state government is, in most commonwealths, a small amount, as compared with his county, township, and city taxes. For it is the home community which gets nearly all the money raised by taxation from the average man, and the money is spent at home for the schools, for public buildings, for local roads, and other improvements. If there is to be any great tax reduction from this time on, it will have to be in the curtailment of local expenses, and the governors, when they meet, will perform a great service if they will, in defending their states from charges of extravagance, emphasize this point over and over again.

The governors' conference will be interesting, too, in that several prospective candidates for president will be present. Most prominent f these will doubtless be Governor Ritchie, of Maryland; Governor Smith, of New York; and Governor Donahey, of Ohio, all Democrats. They are all "states rights" men, and will likely emphasize this fact in their speeches. But "states rights," as used now, doesn't mean what it did sixty years ago, and is no longer a partisan question.

Treasury officials at Washington believe that the treasury surplus at the end of the fiscal year, June 30, will be higher than it was last year, when it reached the sizable sum of $225,000,000. The receipts from income taxes are greater than were expected, showing that the country is really prosperous. It is significant also that customs receipts are maintaining a high level, reaching the $500,000,000 figure early in May, and it is believed that they will set a new record. This means that our imports are increasing in value, and might justify the question of what has become of the free trade theory that our present tariff must render us unable to do foreign business because the other countries would be unable to pay us either in money or goods. Beautiful theories are often tarnished by facts.

OUR HOME MARKET HAS THE REAL VALUE

Something of the potency of the American home markt and what it means to the American producer can be gathered from an interesting article on "The American Plan of Ownership," in the National Republic, by Congressman Charles Aubrey Eaton, of New Jersey. Speaking of our wealth and our ability to use the world's products, Mr. Eaton says:

"When this Republic was founded, the total wealth of the world was estimated at $100,000,000,000. This represented the results of forty centuries of effort. According to government and other reliable sources of information, the national wealth of the United States alone is now around $350,000,000,000. The production of our manufacturing industries approximates the enormous total of more than $60,000,000,000 with salaries and wages paid by all branches of industry of some $40,000,000,000.

"Our foreign trade amounted last year to over $9,000,000,000. We have owing to us by other nations in principal and interest over $15,000,000,000. The value of agricultural products in 1925, excluding crops fed to animals, was over $12,000,000,000.

"While our population is only 5% of the world's total, we consume 50% annually of the world's production of the great standard bases of all fabrication—coal, oil, iron, steel, copper, cotton, and timber.

"Of the world's production of shoes, we use 50%; of print paper, 50%; of automobiles, 90%; almost half of the world's railroad mileage; and three-quarters of the world's telephone and telegraph equipment."

HAIL STORM VISITS SHOULTS

The Union-Banner received a letter Tuesday from Mr. C. T. Walker of Shoults community, and when we opened the envelope out fell a hand full of little slender stems of some kind, which we thought were pine straws, but upon reading Mr. Walker's letter we found that they were the remains of small cotton stalks after the hail and wind storm had passed over that section last Thursday. There was no sign of any leaves on the little stems and they were about four inches long.

Following is Mr. Walker's letter:

"I am sending a sample of the cotton that was left after the wind, rain and hail storm that passed through this community last Thursday. Outhouses were blown down, trees uprooted; people are planting over as fast as possible. In some places the hail lay on the ground 24 hours. The path of the storm seems to have been a mile and a half wide and 20 miles long. The sample of cotton had 4 to 6 leaves on it.—C. T. Walker."

THORSBY SECTION

(S. L. NORTON, Manager).

Mrs. E. C. Cox was rushed to Central Alabama Hospital last Thursday for an operation, and was brought home Monday; she is improving slowly.

There will be Scandinavian services next Sunday morning at Thorsby Lutheran church.

Mrs. Missouri Elizabeth Maddox, age 74, was relieved from suffering by death, after a prolonged illness, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. T. W. Robinson, in Thorsby, at 8 o'clock Wednesday evening, May 12. Mrs. Maddox was twice a widow, her second husband being the late J. W. Maddox. She leaves five children—Walter and I. L. Hill, and Mrs. O. P. Whitley, all of Birmingham, also Mrs. R. M. Smith and Mrs. T. W. Robinson of Thorsby, together with 26 grand children and 13 great grand children. She was for many years a prominent member of New Salem Baptist church and also a devoted adherent of the Order of Eastern Star, of Thorsby, where she long served as Chaplain. A short service, conducted by Rev. Ezell and Rev. J. E. Each, pastor of Thorsby Congregational church, was held at the Robinson home in Thorsby at 9:30 a. m., Friday, May 14, after which the funeral cortege wended its way to New Salem church, which was filled to capacity, for the funeral service, conducted by Rev. S. J. Ezell, pastor of Clanton Baptist church, assisted by Rev. W. P. Lowery of Thorsby. Miss Alithea Parker was at the pino, and with a chorus of girls from Thorsby Institute rendered a number of appropriate selections. The floral offerings were so profuse and beautiful they would have been a worthy tribute to a queen. Burial was in New Salem cemetery, among generations of her kin-folks, under auspices of a large contingent of Eastern Star members, conducting the beautiful burial service of that order, led by their officers, Chas. A. Peterson and Mrs. J. H. Goddard. The occasion was one long to be remembered by all who participated. A good woman, whom all delight to honor, has gone to her rest. Mel Martin, funeral director of Clanton, was in charge of that part of the proceedings.

Mrs. A. E. Reagan arrived home Saturday from Fairfield Ala., where she spent a week visiting. She was accompanied by her sister, Mrs. Cary R. Peterson, and family.

Martin Nelson spent the week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Nelson, in Thorsby.

Lawrence Lefstead and family spent a few days in Thorsby last week at the home of his mother, Mrs. Johanna Lefstead.

A. E. Reagan and C. R. Foss returned from Atlanta last Thursday, where they had spent several days attending the Hardware Merchants Convention.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Reagan entertained a number of guests at dinner last Sunday, some of them being old Thorsbyites who were among the colonists who established the town, but who have not been here for 21 years. They were Mr. and Mrs. Kyle and sons, Herman and John Kyle, and Mrs. John Kyle; other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Howard and children, the Bosworths and Fosses.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry D. Thompson and Mrs. Hall of Birmingham motored here for the week end, and were the gusts of Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Paxson.

Mr. C. A. Dobbins and daughter from near Collinsville, Ala., are visiting Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Driskill; Mr. Dobbins is Mrs. Driskill's father.

The new auditorium of Thorsby Institute is so near completed that it will be available for use for nearly all of the commencement exercises of the school May 22 to June 2, inclusive. The general program is as follows: Music recital, May 22, 7:30 p. m.; Senior play, May 29, 7:30 p. m.; Baccalaureate service, May 30, 11 a. m.; Declamatory contest, May 31, 7:30 p. m.; Class night, June 1, 7:30 p. m.; Commencement, June 2, 10:30 a. m. Prof. A. G. Atwell of Piedmont will deliver the Commencement address. Rev. W. Lowery, Thorsby, will preach the Baccalaureate sermon. Saturday evening, May 22, at 7:30, in the Dining Hall, Miss A. Parker's Thorsby Institute music pupils will give their final recital.

Mrs. Aaron Littleton is still critically ill at her home in Thorsby. Mr. Carl Grenn is also on the sick list.

W. H. Goodgame is remodeling the old brick warehouse north of town, preparatory to installing machinery for his new planing mill. He will have a boiler house at some distance as a precaution against fire.

Thorsby Lutheran church has closed a deal by which they acquire the home recently vacated by C. R. Foss for a parsonage.

J. D. Cleckler has purchased from Jim Pate a lot on the highway adjacent to the home of his sister, Mrs. Merchant, where he will immediately erect a new house which he has arranged to rent to C. C. Driskill, cashier of the Bank of Thorsby, who now occupies the home recently sold for a Lutheran parsonage, and which he must soon vacate.

Miss Fairbanks wishes to give notice to anyone who has clothing laid aside for them in the sales room, that it will not be kept after next Saturday, May 22. She also requests that customers come in the afternoon, rather than in the morning.

Next Sunday, May 23, is regular preaching day at Thorsby Baptist church. Services will be held at the usual hour morning and night.

You know what it means. Upchurch's Rexall one-cent sale is going on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week. Don't miss it.

PRONUNCIATION AID

June Webster, descendant of the famous lexicographer, Noah Webster, presents a copy of her ancestor's work to the Publicity Department of the Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition Association to help them in pronouncing properly the name of the big events which opens June 1 to celebrate the 150th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence. There are many types of pronunciations heard but there is just one proper way Noah says. It is "Ses Kwuh-cen-ten'-nial" with the accent on the first syllable of the "Sesqui" and on the second syllable of the "centennial."

Get ready to attend the Rexall One-Cent sale at Upchurch Drug Company Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week.

Clanton Camp No. 322, Woodmen of the World, will hold a special meeting Friday evening at eight o'clock. All Sovereigns are urged to be present.—Eric Hart, Con. Com.; G. C. Harris, Clerk

MINISTER GIVES THANKS

"I had stomach trouble for nearly 20 years, also constipation which filled my system with gas and fever. I could not do my work, and while I was down sick a lady from out of town sent me a bottle of MAYR'S which proved truly wonderful. I believe it is the best medicine on earth." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. Alred Drug Co., and druggists everywhere.

Mother Finds Relief For Her Child

Mrs Abner, of Delta, Ala., Gives Her Three-Year-Old Boy Liver and Blood Syrup, With Good Results.

"I can't tell you how Thacher's Liver and Blood Syrup has helped us. "My little boy, three years old, back in the spring had a cough and was sick. He just got so poor he would not eat anything, and we could not get anything to do him any good, and we got a bottle of Thacher's Liver and Blood Syrup and in a short while he was well and all right. He is as fat and pleasant as he can be. We have not been out of Dr. Thacher's Liver and Blood Syrup since the first bottle we got. The whole family takes it and it does lots of good.

"I want you to print this in Dr. Thacher's Almanac so other people will read what good it has done my little boy."

An Education in Peril

The original of my fiction character of "Judge Priest" was a certain Judge William Bishop, now deceased. He was a wonderful old man—shrewd, simple, kindly, witty, gentle, merciful, and one of the most perfect interpreters of human character that the Border South ever produced.

One time, a good many years ago, the old judge was acting as chairman of a committee of three lawyers who sat to examine a gangling young man from the country who sought a license to practice at the local bar. The candidate had started out to be a blacksmith, but he had decided that wearing a frock coat and making speeches to juries would be easier than bending mule shoes and shrinking wagon tires, and so he made application for admission to the less arduous profession.

Judge Bishop opened the inquiry with a series of questions designed to test the ambitious youngster's general and specific qualifications.

"Henry, my son," he began in his usual benignant fashion, "I suppose you have done a course of reading with a view to acquiring the rudiments of this calling of ours and thereby fitting yourself for your new career?"

"Well, jedge, I done some readin' but not so very much," confessed Henry. "I aims to do the most of my readin' after I opens an office."

"Well, let's see just what reading you have done," pursued Judge Bishop. "I assume naturally that you have read Blackstone?"

"Black which, jedge?"

"Blackstone, author of great textbooks on the practice and principle of the law."

The candidate shook his head.

"I ain't never heard of him," he confessed.

"Well, how about Coke?"

"I don't know ez I ever heared tell of him, neither."

"Well, surely then you have studied the Constitution of the United States of America and the constitution and the Bill of Rights of the state of Kentucky?"

"To tell you the truth, jedge, I ain't got round to them yit," admitted the aspiring blacksmith.

"Henry," pressed Judge Bishop, "suppose you tell us just what books—what authorities—you have studied since you became seized with the desire to become a member of our bar?"

Henry pondered a moment. Then his face brightened.

"I tell you, jedge," he said, "I read one big book called 'Revised Statutes of the State of Kintucky' mighty nigh through, an' I kin remember what it says."

"My son," stated Judge Bishop, "the trouble with you is that the next legislature is liable to meet and repeal every d—n thing you know."

CRAZY BIRMINGHAM NEGRO PULLS STUNT

Birmingham, Ala., May 16.—More than 700 persons were held at bay Sunday afternoon by a negro believed to be insane, who had climbed into ahe tower of an abandoned church and thrown bricks at passersby.

A riot call brought out a squad of police and the negro was overpowered. First reports to authorities stated that three negro desperadoes had barricaded themselves in the church, and a cordon of officers was thrown about the building, while Fred Cain, state law enforcement officer and two civilians rushed the tower.

The negro told police Sunday night that he entered the tower to preach a sermon and that when a crowd failed to materialize, he started throwing bricks to attract a congregation.

Latest reports from Europe are that the German-Russian treaty will not hurt the League of Nations, in fact won't even insult it.

BUSINESS AS USUAL

An optimistic note was sounded recently by the Federal Reserve Board in announcing that retail trade in the United States was much larger during the first quarter of 1926 than during the corresponding period of a year ago.

At the same time this information was given out the Department of Commerce issued a statement declaring that the dollar volume of business in April this year was 9% greater than the volume a year ago. The output of coal and lumber was running ahead of 1925, while the production of crude petroleum had shown a falling off.

"Throughout all the basic industries peace prevails," said Secretary Davis of the Labor Department in a May Day statement. "Except for differences in a very few localities in two lines of industry, there exist no trade disputes of great importance.

"The building trade reports a few centers where certain trades have not yet reached agreements with contractors, but otherwise there is a marked advance in satisfactory relationship over some recent years.

"The workers of America enjoy the highest wages ever paid, and they will not jeopardize prosperity for dangerous experiments in political agitation."

Chairman Phipps of the Senate Labor Committee at the same time declared:

"It would be difficult indeed to recall a time in our history when labor conditions have been more satisfactory than they are today."

These optimistic reports ought to have a steadying effect on those who felt the recent slump in the stock market presaged a bad year. There is nothing the matter with the economic fabric of the United States and we ought to continue doing business as usual.

NEW SALEM

Last Sunday and Sunday night were our regular preaching appointments. We had with us Bro. Grady Williams. He delivered some splendid sermons, which were enjoyed by everyone, and we want him to be with us again.

We want all the members of New Salem church to come next Sunday for the purpose of electing a pastor for the rest of the year. Be thinking about this matter, so that we can secure a good pastor who will be a benefit to our community.

Mr. Loyd Bean of Birmingham is visiting home folks this week.

Miss Alta Cleckler of Jemison is visiting Miss Lera Bean this week.

THORSBY CHAPTER 154, O. E. S.

Whereas, the Supreme Architect of the Universe, in His all-wise providence, has seen fit to release from labor to rst, our beloved Sister, M. E. Maddox;

Be it Resolved, that we keenly realizze the loss sustained by the Thorsoy Chapter Order of Eastern Star. t is unanimously agreed that Sister Maddox was a true nd faithful member of our Chapter.

Resolved that we humbly submit, realizing that our loss is Sister Maddox's gain.

Be it further resolved that a copy of this resolution be sent to each of her five children; one copy to each of the county papers for publication; and one copy be placed on the file of our Chapter.—Mrs. Lillie Bean, Mrs. Byrdie McNeill, Mr. Chas. A. Peterson, Committee.

UNCLE SAM HAS MADE DISARMAMENT SACRIFICES

There are some alleged Americans, according to the National Republic, who claim to believe that Uncle Sam has made no sacrifices toward disarmament. They overlook the fact that the United States first reduced its army to a peace basis and that it was through President Harding that a naval disarmament conference was made possible.

When this conference was called, Uncle Sam was about to realize President Wilson's prediction of becoming the strongest naval power in the world. Our navy was nearly as large as Great Britain's in battleships and we had under construction enough tonnage to put us ahead of our only rival. With the completion of the 1916 program our navy would have equaled Great Britain's and Japan's together. The National Republic continues:

Neither Great Britain nor Japan was in financial position to match this program of construction. Great Britain and Japan at the Washington conference accepted limitation only on battleships—the class of vessels in which the United States was about to lead the world. In the construction of cruisers, submarines, and other classes of war vessels, both Great Britain and Japan have outdistanced the United States since the Washington Conference was held. The United States having limited construction of battleships, we have not kept pace with these two naval powers in the building of vessels of the remaining types.

The action of our government at the naval limitation conference cost the United States nearly a half billion dollars in the scrapping of vessels under construction and in the reconstruction of ships permissible under the agreement.

What naval power ever made such a sacrifice in the interests of limitation of armament? And how often is reference made to this sacrifice, the spirit of which has not been very carefully observed by naval powers which have entered upon feverish activity in the construction of types of vessels not restricted by the Washington agreement?

NOTICE OF MEETING OF STOCKHOLDERS

To the Stockholders of the Central Alabama Hospital, Inc.:

You will take notice that you are hereby notified that the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Central Alabama Hospital, Inc., will be held at the court house in Clanton, Ala., at 10 o'clock a. m., on Monday, the 21st day of June, 1926, as required by law and the by-laws of the corporation, at which meeting officers and directors for the ensuing year will be elected, and such other business will be transacted as will come before said meeting.

Attest: C. O. LAWRENCE, President.
W. M. WYATT, Secretary. 5-20-4t-ch.

POPWELL SCHOOL HOUSE NEWS

The farmers are busy with their crops right now.

The singing at Shiloh last Sunday afternoon was enjoyed by a large audience. Directors were O. C. Billingsley, Tommie Billingsley, J. I. Bice, Miss Velma Deason, Miss Arrie Ratliff, Miss Maggie Traywick, Miss Minnie Bice, and Mr. Olin Bice. Organists were Misses Elma Williams and Minnie Bice.

CEDAR GROVE

The Liberty Hill-Cedar Grove singing society met at Cedar Grove last Sunday afternoon, with an extra large crowd and good singing. We had Prof. F. B. Williams from Sterrett, Mr. Ocie Collins from Birmingham, and other visitors whom we were very glad to have with us.

Directors for the afternoon were: J. W. Lowery, D. T. Melton, Harrison Hayes, Kermit Lowery, Glover Smith, and Mr. Zack Lowery. We had some quartets, and a duet, sung by Mr. F. E. Mastin and G. I. Smith.

Come again, everybody.

PRESBYTERIAN CONVENTION

The fifth annual conference of young people, Synod of Alabama, Presbyterian Church, U. S., will be held June 8 to 17, 1926, at Magnolia Beach, Fairhope, Ala.

Magnolia Beach, on the eastern shore of Mobile Bay, has proved a most attractive spot for these conferences. The pines and the water front and the sunsets make it live in the memory of those who attend. The girls are housed in the Business Women's Club, called "Pine Needles," and the boys in the Cobbs Bible Class Building, the two buildings about 100 yards apart. An open air auditorium, screened, cool and comfortable, will add to the joy of those who attend.

CANE CREEK

Sunday school at this place is doing nicely. We have a large attendance every Sunday, but would like to have others to come and help us. All who are interested in your community come out on Sunday.

Next Saturday and Sunday are our regular preaching days. We are expecting some good sermons as Rev. Bailey always has something good for us.

The Christian Harmony singers meet with us every second Sunday afternoon.

Farmers around this place are now busy chopping cotton.

We invite anyone to come to Cane Creek any time.

Shadows Impossible With This Lamp

ENTER—the "shadow-less" lamp. It's a lighting device, recently invented, that is especially adapted to surgical operations, laboratory work, engraving, etc. An electric globe of high candle-power is fitted in the center of an inverted bowl of sheet metal. Round the inside of the bowl are a set of silvered reflectors set at a certain angle and around the light itself is a cylindrical prismatic lens. Thus, the rays of light from the lamp are deflected horizontally by the prismatic lens to the reflectors at the edge of the shade from which they are thrown downward in a circle of concentrated light.

EVOLUTION DEALT FINAL BLOW BY SO. BAPTISTS

Houston, Texas, May 15.—Evolution was dealt a final blow at the Southern Baptist Convention here today when a resolution offered by S. E. Tull of Pine Bluff, Ark., was adopted.

The resolution requests all institutions, boards and missionary representatives to give assurance to the convention that it accepts the convention's previous declaration on evolution as a statement of faith.

The resolution previously adopted at the opening of the convention declares that man is the work of God alone and rejected "any teaching that man originated in or came in any way from a lower animal ancestry."

The resolution recites that "our great school of profits" the Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary at Fort Worth, through its board of trustees, has accepted and incorporated the previous action of the convention on evolution in its "statement of faith" and that the trustees had announced it would be made a test for all officers and teachers of the seminary.

In order that no unfair comparisons arise, the resolution added, or unjust accusations be brought against any of our seminaries and schools, be it further resolved that this convention requests all its institutions and boards and their missionary representatives to give like assurance to the convention and to the Baptist brotherhood in general of a hearty and individual acceptance of the action of the convention to the end that the great cause of our present question may be effectively and finally removed in the minds of the constituency of this convention and all others concerned.

Nitrate Applications Should Be Finished By June 1st

As a result of four years' experiments on cotton, the Mississippi (Delta) Experiment Station recommends as "the safest and most paying rate of application" from 150 to 200 pounds of Nitrate of Soda per acre.

These results are so typical of the large majority of those secured with Nitrate at experiment stations throughout the South, that they are summarized here to show the 4-year average net profit from 5 different treatments, as follows:

Lbs. Nitrate of Soda Applied per Acre	4-Year Average Net Acre Profit
50	$10.73
100	15.92
150	26.19
200	30.10
250	33.67

The Station's results are interesting from another standpoint, for according to the Director of the Station they indicate that there is danger of applying Nitrate too late.

Thus, when the application is much over 100 pounds per acre, it is recommended that half be used at planting and half at the second cultivation, but, says Director Ayres, "Those who are not sure the fertilizer can be applied as a side dressing by the time the first squares appear should apply it all at or before planting."

This, of course, is true not simply of cotton but of many other crops as well. For example, Farm Agent H. H. Hester, Red River Parish, Louisiana, reports that demonstrations on sugar cane in which 200 pounds of Nitrate of Soda per acre were used gave exceptional yields despite a dry season. It was clearly shown by these tests that early applications of Nitrate "are essential to give full protection against a possible drouth."

As a general rule, side dressings of Soda at the rate of 100 pounds per acre can be profitably made if the work can be finished by the first of June. (5)

RECORD STRAWBERRY CROP REPORTED FROM BUTLER

Garland to Ship Twenty Cars of Berries During Season.

Georgiana, Ala., May 18.—Garland, a new strawberry shipping point in south Alabama, about nine miles south of Georgiana, with the closing of the season, will ship approximately 20 cars of berries.

It was pointed out that this is a substantial increase over last year, despite the heavy loss of plants because of the severe drouth of the summer of 1925.

Ladies First Always

The man who told me this one, as we stood together on the rim of the Grand Canyon, swore it was true. I believed him, for he had the reputation all over the Southwest of never telling an unnecessary lie.

He said a typical "mover," shiftless, restless and sockless, was spending a short time at an Arizona cow camp preparatory to moving on into the desert on a so-called prospecting tour. His chief earthly possessions consisted of a pair of slab-sided mules, a rickety prairie schooner, a wife, four children and six hound dogs.

The wife, who was a tired-out, faded-out creature, complained to some of the ranch hands of the hardness of her lot; and the foreman took it upon himself to remonstrate with the husband for his indifference to his wife's welfare.

"The old woman ain't got no kick comin'!" said the husband when he had heard the foreman's remarks. "She ain't got no kick at all. She's plum' pampered—only she don't appreciate it none. Why, when we is fixin' to camp of a night many a time I've driv' the team half a mile out of the way so's wood and water would be handy fur the old woman to fetch!"

SHILOH NEWS

The singing at Shiloh Sunday afternoon was quite an improvement over the last. A very large crowd attended, including a number of visitors from out of the community. Directors for the afternoon were Misses Arrie Ratliff, Velma Deason, Minnie Bice, Maggie Traywick; Messrs. T. W. Billingsley, Jim Bice, Clim Billingsley, and Olen Bice. Organists were Misses Ella Mae Williams and Mnnie Bice.

Misses Julia Parrish and Era Jones were among the visitors in this community Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Alonza Wright and Miss Eunice Vinson of Bethsalem were guests of Mrs. Tom Billingsley Sunday, and attended the singing in the afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Tommie Mims spent the week end with relatives here.

The singing at the home of Mrs. T. W. Billingsley Saturday night was good, and was well attended.

Our singing society meets the third Sunday afternoon of each month. Everybody invited.

REFUGE

Services were held at this place both Saturday and Sunday.

We had a good crowd at Sunday school Sunday, and following Sunday school, preaching by our pastor.

Mrs. W. J. Billingsley and Miss Jewel McDowell were visitors at our services. We feel that they accomplished much good, if the plans they set forth are carried out. We accept their visit as a blessing from God, which it was.

Our singing society met in the afternoon. Song by chairman, and prayer by Uncle Tom Powell. Directors were S. L. Baker, R. E. Powell, Gerthie Easterling, J. E. Minor, J. A. W. Mims, O. R. Robinson, all singing 3 songs each. Pianists were Miss Mae Mims, Mrs. O. R. Robinson, Mrs. Lillian Alford. Benediction by Rev. G. B. Golden.

All R. A.'s that were present last Sunday are asked to meet at the church Friday night.

PLEASANT GROVE

The Christian Harmony singing class met at Pleasant Grove Sunday afternoon. A good crowd was in attendance, and enjoyed a fine singing.

Directors were: J. W. Williams, T. J. Baker, Mrs. Sarah Bates, Mrs. Ruth Henley, W. B. Cooper, Byron Henley, Misses Pauline Williams, Lena Wilkins, Willie Pearl Cooper, Irene Williams, Mr. Sam Henley, Miss Ora Dell Wilkins.

We have organized a singing society at this place; Mr. J. M. Williams is chairman, and Miss Ora Dell Wilkins is secretary. We have singing at Pleasant Grove every third Sunday afternoon, and at New Harmony school house every first Sunday afternoon. Come and bring some one with you.—Secretary.

SEVENTH-DAY ADVENTISTS TO HOLD CONVENTION

The Southern Union Conference of Seventh-Day Adventists, which includes Mississippi, Louisiana, Tennessee, Alabama, and Kentucky, in its territory will send a large delegation of clergymen and others to the quadrennial convention of the world's General Conference of Adventists, which will be held in Milwaukee, Wis., May 27 to June 14.

This will be the most representative missionary convention ever held in the world when 119 nations will be represented in 252 languages. It is expected that there will be a delegation of 8000 members of the church in attendance, the majority of them coming from the United States, the home base of the church.

The delegation will be under the leadership of Bishop G. W. Wells president of the union conference who will give a report of what has been accomplisehed during the past four years in the territory over which he presides, and will be able to tell of success in all features of the church. It is probable that he also will be named on several of the important working commities during the convention. In times past, the nomination committee has been composed of the Union Conference presidents throughout the world and if this precedure is followed at the coming convention, Bishop Wells will probaly be a member of the committee that nominates all the officers of the parent body of the denomination for the coming four years.

Every local conference in the union will be represented by its prsident as follows: C. B. Stephens, of Clanton, Ala., C. W. Curtis, of Louisville, Ky., W. R. Elliot, of Jackson, Miss., president of the Lousiana-Mississippi Conference and H. E. Lysinger, of Nashville, Tenn.

All of these are members of the union conference executive committee and others of the committee who will go as delegates include: Burton Castle, secretary-treasurer; F. W. Schmehl, secretary of the Publishing Department; W. P. Bradley, secretary of the Educational and Young People's Department; T. H. Allison, and F. S. Keitts. These latter all have their headquarters in Nashville, the headquarters of the union.

Great preparations are being made by the denominational leaders to make the coming convention the gr atest epoch-making event in the history of the church, according to Bishop Wells. "There will be missionaries present from the most remote corners of the earth," he said, "and some of them are well known in this state. Quite a few of the delegates coming from foreign lands are former students of Southern Junior College, located at Ooltewah, Tenn., and have helped to give the institution an international reputation. Prof. H. H. Hamilton, president of Southern Junior College, will attend the convention, as will a number of others connected with the faculty of the institution.

Reports will be given by the leaders of the General Conference that will constitute a world survey of the denomination; missionaries will tell about China, Japan, India, Africa, Australia, South America, and the islands of the sea. Officers will be elected to engineer the church thruout the world; missionaries will be chosen to go to the ends of the earth; the educational institutions in the United States will be asked to supply most of these recruits; changes will be made in the ministry in the homeland; new policies will be outlined, and progressive steps taken in all branches in the world-wide program as adopted in its efforts to preach the gospel to every nation, kindred, tongue, and people.—W. L. Burgan, Press Secretary.

MODERN SCHOOL BUILDINGS FOR NEGRO CHILDREN

The Rosenwald schools for negroes, most of which are located in rural communities of the South, now number 2,989 buildings. These schools have 7,854 class rooms and provide for 33,430 pupils. They have cost in construction and eqquipment $13,248,148. Of this amount the colored people of the communities contributed $2,806,403, the white people $621,129, the public school authorities, $7,466,832, and the Julius Rosenwald fund $2,353,724.

This movement for better schools for the negroes in the South began when a sum of money was given to Booker T. Washington for the purpose of providing modern schools for colred children in six rural cmmunities of Alabama. It has grown to its present size through the cooperation of the four agencies named above. The state and county superintendents and school trustes in each of the 14 Southern States take advantage of this fund to improve the school facilities for negro children. Rosenwald schools are now common throughout the southern states. South Carolina has at least one such building in each of its counties except four. Their location is determined by a careful survey of the territory to be served. In order that a community obtain Rosenwald funds, school grounds, buildings, equipment, and teachers must meet designated standards.

It ought to be much safer for us to be contented with our lot in life now that the strawberry shortcake season is in full blast.

Robert Scott, Texas, and Tom Traywick, Abbeville, Answer Last Muster on Tuesday.

Birmingham, May 18.—The deaths of two Confederate veterans were recorded on the first day of the annual reunion here. They were Robt. Scott, 86, of Nacogdoches, Texas, and Thomas A. Traywick, 82, of Abbeville, Ala. A. B. Hayes, another veteran, was badly injured when he missed his step in alighting from a train. His nose was broken and he received severe facial lacerations. He was removed to St. Vincent's hospital, where he was reported resting easily.

SIDE DRESSING COTTON

A high school boy, Elstner Beall, of Wilson, Arkansas, has won the State cotton growing championship for the past two years. In 1924 with 200 lbs. of nitrate of soda per acre at planting and 100 pounds when the cotton was knee high, he averaged 752 lbs. of lint cotton per acre. Last year, with 300 pounds of soda at planting and a side dressing of 100 pounds, he averaged 1,008 pounds of lint cotton per acre.

Side dressing of 100 pounds of soda per acre played an important part in his prize winning achievements.

Will Terry of Jackson, won the hill section of the Mississippi production contest last year. In addition to his other fertlizers, he used 200 pounds of nitrate of soda as a top dressing.

The results of experiment station tests and the experience of successful planters alike have proven that it pays handsomely under average conditions to apply 200 pounds of soda per acre under cotton and another 100 pounds as a side dressing before the first squares appear. The reason for this is that the squares are set early and fast before either dry weather or the weevil can hurt the crop very much, and a large yield of lint is produced.

Mr. B. Lawrence returned Sunday from Houston, Texas, where he attended the Southern Baptist Convention.

HOW LAND SWINDLERS AND LOAN SHARKS DEFRAUD THEIR PREY

W. R. Morehouse Reveals Further Schemes by Which Poor Widows Are Bereft of Their Savings—Unbelievable Frauds Are Worked on the Uninformed.

By W. R. MOREHOUSE,
Public Relations Commission, American Bankers Association.

ARTICLE NO. III

LAND swindles are almost as common as sand on the seashore. Here is one. A widow was left alone in the world with but $6,000. She was urged to take a free ride into the country to look over a new town site. Just a pleasure ride, she was told. No obligation on her part. She accepted the invitation with no intention of parting with her precious $6,000, but she fell among high-pressure salesmen and in an unguarded moment she affixed her signature to a contract to purchase a vacant lot for the $6,000 cash she had in a savings bank.

W. R. Morehouse

Thirty days after she drew out her account for what she supposed was a business lot she received a notice that her monthly instalment of $6,000 was due, being a $1,000 payment on each of six $6,000 lots. Strange as it may seem, not until she received this notice did she read the contract she had signed. Instead of buying one $6,000 lot and paying for it, as she meant to do, she had signed a contract to buy six $6,000 business lots and the $6,000 she drew from the bank had been applied as a first payment of $1,000 each on the six lots.

Had she gone to her banker she would have saved herself the loss of her inheritance, but doubtless the reason she had not consulted her bank was because she was not aware that bankers render such a service.

this same shylock for assistance and this is how he handled the case. He led the woman to expect that he would lend her the money but kept deferring making the loan from day to day. Finally, on the day she must make her payment or lose her furniture, he

From American Bankers Association Journal

A Widow Fell Among High Pressure Land Salesmen

Sad is the lot of the savings depositor who, after losing his savings through wild-cat speculation, is driven to desperation for funds and finds it necessary to borrow money to meet an emergency such as sickness or unpaid rent. Let me give the facts about two cases of the many with which I have come in contact.

The Loan Shark at Work

The principal characters in the first case are a man, who must borrow $350 to place his wife in a hospital to save her life, and a loan shark, who demands every ounce of blood. In desperation the borrower applies to this loan shark for the loan of $350.

This is what it costs him—the amount is almost unbelievable but I obtained the exact figures first hand and I can vouch for their correctness—this man was obliged to give his note for $925 for a loan of $350! The day he got the note the shark sold it to an innocent holder and it became an obligation binding upon the borrower. Think of paying $925 for a loan of $350!

Here is another. This time there is a woman in the case. The woman needed $165 to meet a payment on her furniture or lose it. She turned to telephoned her to call. It was now too late for her to make any other arrangements for borrowing the funds. The shylock had planned it so that she would be at his mercy and would have to accept his terms. He charged her $650 for a loan of $165!

How the Shark Does It

Doubtless your curiosity is aroused as to how this shylock can get away with such a deal. Here are the facts. He charged a large commission for making the loan and also included a wide range in fees such as for drawing up papers and notarial fees. On top of this he required the borrowers to buy stock in his company which was worthless. Then he required them to take out through him life insurance to about one hundred times the amount of the loan for which he received a liberal commission. In fact, he resorted to every imaginable scheme in order to bleed them of the last drop of blood they had to give. And the unfortunate thing about it all is that the borrowers in these two cases found it necessary to meet such exorbitant terms because they had already lost their savings through ill-advised investments.

(Article IV will give methods by which people can be protected from fraudulent operations.)

ONE INDICTED IN CASE OF KILLING FEDERAL OFFICER

Harold Lawrence Charged with the Murder of Federal Man.

The Blount County grand jury Tuesday indicted Harold Lawrence on a charge of first degree murder in connection with the death of R. W. Buckner, federal prohibition agent, in the first day of its special session called to investigate the officer's slaying. Seven others are in the Jefferson county jail pending action by the jury.

The indictment was based on evidence tending to show that the bullet causing the officer's death was fired from a pistol owned by Lawrence. Lawrence, a native of Texas, was visiting relatives near Springville when the shooting occurred. Indictments against the others will be asked, officers said.

The seven others who are held for the officer's death are: Ocie, John, Dosir and Joel Colley, Leroy Hodges, J. H. Eatson and John Phillips.

Buckner was shot on May 10, while raiding a still 15 miles from Oneonta. He died May 12 at the South Highlands Infirmary in Birmingham.

United States District Attorney C. B. Kennemar and Charles Robertson, assistant district attorney, are assisting state officers in prosecuting the investigation. Indictments charging murder, assault with intent to murder, conspiracy to violate the prohibition law and murder conspiracy will be asked, officers indicate.

You know what it means. Upchurch's Rexall one-cent sale is going on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week. Don't miss it.

Shipments of milk in tank cars were made recently from Wisconsin to Miami, Fla., a distance of 1,800 miles.

A REAL HEROINE

Edith May Adams of Barrington, N. J., the first American School girl to be entered as a candidate for the American Youth Award. The American Youth and Teacher Award was established by the Board of Directors of the Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition in Philadelphia as a tribute to the youth and teachers of the nation. Miss Adams is a candidate for the Golden Eaglette, the highest gift in the hands of the Girl Scouts. She was cited recently for exceptional bravery for remaining inside a blazing building helping physicians to give first aid treatment to injured firemen.

STILLS DESTROYED

Fourteen Outfits Seized and Five Arrests Made in 2 Days.

In raids conducted in nine Alabama counties Monday and Tuesday, State law enforcement officers destroyed 14 stills, 4,650 gallons of beer, 233 gallons of whiskey and 451 bottles of home brew. Five arrests were made for violation of the prohibition law, three for distilling, one for embezzlement and one for carrying a concealed weapon. The officers also seized a horse and wagon for confiscation. Counties in which the raids were made ae: Russell, St. Clair, Mobile, Winston, Cleburne, Calhoun, Jefferson, Mobile and Shelby.

CLANTON SHOULD HELP THE SALVATION ARMY

In connection with the state-wide appeal for funds now being conducted throughout Alabama for the erection of a new building to house the Salvation Army Rescue Home in Birmingham, an effort will be made here today and Friday to raise a sum commensurate with the demands made upon that institution from Chilton County.

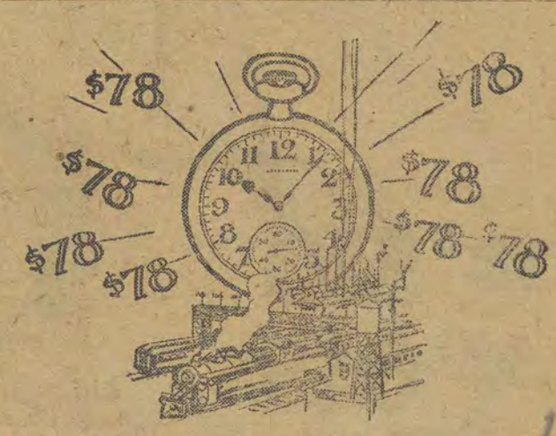
Claud E. Marcus, a former Clanton boy, who has been associated with the Salvation Army in their financial department for several years, is here to personally complete the necessary organization work.

Mr. Marcus said today while discussing the plans, that the Rescue Home had cared for eight Chilton County girls during the past four years. He said that the building now used by the Salvation Army for this important social work is not only cramped for space and in other ways inadequate, but that it is a terrible fire trap.

The amount sought in the State Campaign is $150,000, and the quota set for Clanton is based upon the 1920 census and is computed to be a minimum of $150.00.

The Salvation Army is proud of the record accomplished at this home, it was said. The records show that more than 80% of the girls admitted to this home are reclaimed and lead clean, useful lives.

Surely Clanton will do her part in erecting a home that will assure the safety of these unfortunate girls and their babies.



W. E. Mitchell, Vice-President of Alabama Power Company, is State Chairman of the appeal.

Mr. George DeMent, publisher of the Southern Poultry Journal, of Montgomery, was a business visitor to Clanton Monday.

$78.00 Every Time Your Watch Ticks

~A Daily Total Expense Bill of $340,000 for Operating Costs

That's what it cost the Louisville & Nashville Railroad during the year 1925 to deliver the high type of freight and passenger service which has earned for this system the name of "The Old Reliable." Every day, this Railroad paid to its employes, citizens of the South, who contribute to the prosperity of the community in which they live, the sum of $186,000.00 in wages. Each day, this Railroad paid to the mine owners of the South the sum of $21,000.00 for fuel. Every twenty-four hours during 1925, the Louisville & Nashville Railroad paid $62,000.00 for materials and supplies. Every day during 1925, it paid in city, state, local and federal taxes, the sum of $20,000.00—while $31,000.00 per day was required for interest on its bonded indebtedness and $20,000.00 per day for rents, casualties and miscellaneous items. Figured down to the minute, it costs the Louisville & Nashville Railroad $78.00 in operating expenses every time your watch ticks.

Do you realize and appreciate what an important factor the American railroad is in promoting the prosperity of each and every citizen?

During the past five years, a daily average of $47,700 has been expended for permanent improvements, in order to enlarge the capacity of the L. & N. property.

Mims Announces For County Commissioner

J. M. Mims, present holder of the office of commissioner in the second district, has declared himself a candidate for the place again in the Republican primary of August 10th.

Mr. Mims has held the office for one term. His many friends who insist upon him running again, declare that he has proven to be such a very good county commissioner that they want him to continue for at least another term.

In making his announcement "Uncle Jimmie" said: "At my suggestion the court of county commissioners has set aside the sum of $50,000 annually to pay off the bonded indebtedness of the county. I believe such a step was in line with the wishes and hopes of our people that our debt should be paid as quickly as possible. And my personal opinion is that the best thing to do with a debt is to save money and pay it as quickly as possible. I want to see this program carried through in our county, and I am asking the people to put me back in office if they agree with my policies of conducting the county business."

Mr. Mims is a good man of high integrity and exceptional ability. He has made a good commissioner, and we feel sure that if the people put him back there again he would prove his continued worth to the county as he has done in his present term. There are now four candidates for the place: Mr. Mims, Mr. T. A. Maddox, Mr. D. H. Gentry, and Mr. J. H. Benson.

FIRST CRATE OF PEACHES WERE SHIPPED FROM HERE MONDAY

The first crate of peaches to be shipped from Chilton County went out from Clanton Monday of this week. The shipper was Mr. A. A. Jackson of Lomax. These peaches were of the Mayflower variety, and were very fine peaches. Mr. Jackson has about 75 Mayflower trees. He has four other varieties, averaging about one hundred trees to the variety. His peaches get ripe all the way from May to August. Mr. Jackson says that the frost got most of his Elbertas this year, as they are the first trees to blossom. However, the first trees to blossom are the last to ripen.

Mr. Jackson presented to The Union-Banner a sample box of his Mayflowers Wednesday, which were very fine to look at and superfine to eat.

JOHN ROGERS OUTLINED ROAD BUILDING PLANS

According to previous announcement Senator John Rogers, chairman of the Alabama State Highway Commission, appeared before a representative gathering of Chilton County citizens Saturday afternoon and discussed the proposed $75,000,000 bond issue for continuing the state's road building program.

Mr. Rogers took up the proposed amendment to the state constitution and explained it section by section in every detail. He showed that under the proposed bond issue Chilton County would receive $730,000 for the construction of a road from Plantersville to Clanton, another from Clanton to the Bibb County line, and another from Clanton to the Coosa County line, and $300,000 to build a bridge across the Coosa River.

Every county in the state, Mr. Rogers stated, has been taken into consideration and provided for upon the basis of the roads which are needed to complete the net work of roads connecting every county seat and making modern permanent highways out of all the main roads in the state.

The speaker outlined what he termed the plan of roas necssary to fulfill the needs of the entire state, pointing out that the roads should be built in the next four years and that it will require the $75,000,000 bond issue to build them. It is the only possible means, said Mr. Rogers, whereby Alabama can have the roads our state deserves, and can provide the money to build them.

JACK BICE ARRESTED WITH LIQUOR IN POSSESSION

Jack Bice, white man, was arrested Tuesday by Sheriff Littlejohn, when he was found with seven and one-half gallons of whiskey in his possession.

The liquor was over in the woods on the George Traywick place. Bice was trying to negotiate a deal to sell the liquor to another man. Sheriff Littlejohn was only a few steps away, and when he saw that the other man was not going to buy the liquor he stepped up and took charge of it.

Bice was brought to jail and his liquor was destroyed. He is a brother of William Bice, who was caught at a still last week.

Ed Smitherman of Maplesville was shaking hands with his friends in Clanton Tuesday.

Ex-Sheriff John S. Catts of Verbena was a business visitor to Clanton Monday.

HERBERT HOOVER TURNS SPADEMAN

The Secretary of Commerce turns up first spadeful of dirt at ground breaking ceremonies for emergency hospital on the grounds of the Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition in Philadelphia. The exposition will commemorate the 150th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of American Independence. At the cabinet member's right is Mayor Kendrick of Philadelphia. The hospital will be conducted by physicians and nurses from the Philadelphia General Hospital.

Republican Primary Date Set For 10th of August

The Republican Executive Committee of Chilton County met at the court house last Saturday pursuant to the call of Chairman J. N. Dennis.

The attendance was good, every beat in the county being represented.

The committee voted to hold a Republican primary on August 10, 1926, the day set by law for holding the state-wide primary.

The date for closing announcements of candidates in the Republican primary was set as June 15th.

The following resolution was adopted by the committee:

We, the Executive Committee of the Republican Party of Chilton County, Alabama, hereby adopt and pass the following resolutions:

That the United States, under the present administration of Calvin Coolidge, has experienced the greatest substantial prosperity that this country has ever known; that business of all kinds, labor and capital, and the farmers are all alike enjoying this good era of prosperity, and that under such wise and just administration as the Republican Party has offered during this administration this country is no doubt destined to continue in such prosperity.

We take this occasion also to congratulate the County Republican Administration on its wise and safe manner of governing the County affairs, and as tax payers we commend the act of the Commissioners Court in saving $50,000 annually to pay on the bonded indebtedness of the County.

We also take this occasion to congratulate the County for the good roads in our County and we trust that the good feeling working between the Democrats and Republicans in the progress of our roads will continue.

We also take this opportunity of thanking the State Highway Department for the splendid cement road which they placed through our County.

We call the voters' attention to the fact that two years ago the leaders of the opposition party ran their party away from the Democratic emblem and placed it under an independent emblem, and now the official organ of the party has announced that they will this year run the party back under the Democratic emblem. May we ask the voters if the Democratic Party emblem was not good enough then, why the sudden change? Is it any better now?

In conclusion, the governing body of the Republican Party invites the electorate to come into the Republican primary where you will be a part of its deliberations and where you will find stable ground to stand on. Our party has, through the years, in this County and elsewhere, stood the test and is now being looked to as the party of the future, having been found to be the best for Chilton County, as for the Nation. The Republican Party of Chilton County is not governed by any handful of men, and men without work to do, but by all the voters who care to take part, for in our party every voter has an equal chance, and we strive to place men and women in office who are the most deserving and meritorious. We therefore appeal to all the voters who believe that our party has done the best for Chilton County in the past and will be the best for Chilton County in the future, to come into our primary and help us elect such officers as will be honest and qualified in their positions. Our party strives to serve the interest of all the people and of our County as a whole.

We admonish the candidates to refrain from stirring up strife, but remember that the primary is a family affair, and after the primary the test will be in next November, when we will want the votes and harmony of all our people.

MARTIN BUYS AMBULANCE AND FUNERAL CAR

Mr. J. Mell Martin, undertaker of Clanton, left Monday afternoon for Chattanooga, Tenn., where he will attend the convention of the Tri-States Funeral Directors Association, which is in session in that city Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of this week. Mr. Martin will return to Clanton Friday.

Mr. Martin will drive back to Clanton a modern combination ambulance and funeral car, which he has recently purchased out of Freeport, Ill. The company selling these cars has the one which Mr. Martin has purchased on display in Chattanooga at this convention, and by special arrangements, Mr. Martin will get the car there and bring it directly to Clanton through the country.

The placing of this combination ambulance and funeral car in Clanton will fill a long felt want for a vehicle of this kind in our county. It will especially come in handy for transferring sick people and for the aid of those suffering accidents.

Claudy Wyatt and Will Hampton spent last week end in Pensacola, Fla.

ONE MILL TAX ELECTION CALLED FOR JULY 20

An election has been called for July 20, in Chilton County, to determine whether or not the special one mill school tax shall be reinstated and levied for school purposes for a period of ten years.

Chilton County levied this tax for a period of ten years, but it expired a year or so ago. An election on the proposition was held last year and the proposal was defeated. Our school administration is very anxious to have the tax levy reinstated in order to bring a much needed increase in our public school funds.

HUGHES ENDORSED FOR POSTMASTER AT VERBENA

At its meeting last Saturday the Republican Executive Committee of Chilton County made a unanimous endorsement of Charley D. Hughes for appointment as postmaster at Verbena. There are three names reported to be on th eligible list: Luther M. Yeargan and Judson Strock, Democrats, and Charley D. Hughes, Republican.

Rev. P. G. Carter passed through Clanton Tuesday.

FLAT TOP NEGRO SLAYS MAN WITH BASEBALL BAT

Birmingham, Ala., May 24.—Cal Brunner, negro, Flat Top convict, died today as a result of injuries received yesterday when he was struck on the head with a baseball bat by Isom Davis, negro.

The men had quarreled in the mine a few days ago and the row was renewed yesterday above ground, official reports said.

Brunner was convicted in Jefferson county on a charge of manslaughter and was serving a ten-year sentence. Davis is serving a like term for highway robbery.

Flat Top lately has been the center of a prolonged inquiry into the state convict system as it is operated in Jefferson county. As a result of an investigation by the grand jury six indictments charging first degree murder have been placed on the criminal court records.

CHILTON "TIGERS" NOSE OUT AUTAUGA COUNTY NINE

Chilton High's "Tigers" used 3 hits, 5 errors, 2 passes and some good base running to excellent advantage Friday afternoon on the local field, and defeated Autauga County High 5 to 1. The two free passes to first helped the Chilton lads considerably.

Chilton scored first in the second frame and again in the fourth. The tiger growled again in the seventh, when, with one away, L. Sanford got a walk, Sanders singled, Williams got a free pass to load the bases and A. Connatser delivered with a hot safety down the third base line. Three men counted in this frame. Autauga got a run in the fourth and another in the sixth, mainly on hits. Foshee allowed the Autaugans 6 safeties, while Chilton got only 3 off Collum, two of which came in the seventh, coupled with the two free tickets.

Autauga bobbled 5 times behind Collum, while Chilton gave Foshee an errorless game. Little "Mitch" Williams, Chilton's baby catcher, was on his job, and handled Foshee's smokers like a veteran. R. Connatser was good at the short field again, robbing Wadsworth of a seemingly sure hit in the eighth, which drew a round of applause from the fans.

Mullins, A. Connatser and Gore held their positions to perfection.

Sanders and P. Sanford got 'em far and wide, and L. Sanford made a beutiful running catch of a liner that was labeled for a double.

For Autauga, Collum's mound work was their best bid for the game, together with their hitting. Mills, Autauga's one-armed center fielder, gave the fans something to wonder about, and his single in the ninth, drew a hand from the crowd.

"SAMBO" COMING BACK FOR ANOTHER TRIAL

Deputy Sheriff W. G. Culp left Tuesday night for Banner Mines to bring back "Sambo" Harmon, negro, who will get a new trial in the courts of Chilton County.

"Sambo" was convicted some time ago on a charge of burglary. He was sentenced to a term of hard labor and went to the mines to begin service.

Now his case has been reversed by the higher court, and "Sambo" will have another round in his grapple with the law.

Death of J. M. Grant Last Saturday Night

Terminating a long illness the death of James M. Grant occurred at his home in south Clanton bout 10:30 o'clock last Saturday night. He had been sick for many months bearing his affliction with patience. Before his death he told his friends that he was prepared to surrender up the things of this life and face the future existence with full confidence and resignation.

Few men enjoyed such a wide circle of friends as was the happy attainment of Mr. Grant. His genial disposition was always used to make friends for himself, and no man ever appreciated a friend more fully than Jim Grant. During his long illness his friends visited him by the hundreds, attesting their love and devotion to him.

Mr. Grant was born and reared in Coosa County. He came to Chilton County in 1897. He was married in his early years to Miss Ida Daniel, daughter of Ed Daniel. She was his faithful companion for all the years of their association, and stood in sorrow with her children and loved ones to see his spirit take its flight to the great beyond.

In addition to his wife Mr. Grant is survived by five children, Eddie Grant, of Mt. Creek; Ernest, Osmond and Lilla, at home; Mrs. Harvey Foshee of Clanton; two brothers, Albert Grant of Birmingham, and John Grant of Maben, Miss.; one sister, Mrs. Mittie Rhodie, of Birmingham.

All of his near relatives were present with him at intervals during his illness, except his brother, John, who could not come on account of his own physical infirmities.

For many years Mr. Grant was a devout member of the Masonic fraternity, holding fellowship with Amand Lodge, of Cooper. His burial at Chestnut Creek Sunday afternoon was in charge of his lodge. The funeral services were conducted by Dr. S. J. Ezell of Clanton, and Rev. W. P. Lowery of Thorsby.

WILL AND JESSE ADAMS CAUGHT AT STILL

Sheriff Littlejohn and special Federal officer Gillespie caught Will and Jess Adams, white men, making liquor at a still below Pletcher last Saturday. The still was in operation. Will was attending to it while Jesse lay in the bushes close by with an automatic shot gun.

The still was destroyed and the men brought to jail.

Mr. and Mrs. Linz Bates of Butler County are in Clanton to see Mrs. Bates's father, Mr. Jack Jones, who is in Central Alabama Hospital.

SINGING AT FRIENDSHIP NEXT SUNDAY

There will be singing at Friendship church next Sunday afternoon, the fifth Sunday in May. The fourth Sunday is the regular singing time at this place, but it was postponed last Sunday on account of the annual singing at Providence. It is expected that a large crowd of good singers will be present, and everyone who enjoys good music is invited.

CHEVROLET FIRM PLANS EXPANSION

Detroit, Mich., May 15.—The largest expansion program in the history of the Chevrolet Motor Company involving the expenditure of $10,000,000 and increasing the company's production facilities to a peak capacity of 1,000,000 cars per year will be inaugurated June 1, according to an announcement just made by W. S. Knudsen, president and general manager of the Chevrolet Motor Company.

Building plans have been completed to build 1,000,000 Chevrolet cars during the coming year.

Under the new program company employees numbering 20,000 during full time operaaion will be increased proportionately.

Closed body production facilities will be 750,000 annually constituting 75% of the total production of Chevrolet cars.

Sixty per cent of the $10,000,000 will be spent in installing improved machinery and equipment of the most modern type and the remainder will be expended in erecting additions to various plants of the company in the United States.

With present equipment capable of producing 750,000 cars a year unable to meet the demand for Chevrolet cars and reports showing the factory production greatly oversold, the building program calls for additions to 7 of the company's plants located at Detroit, Flint, Bay City, Toledo, Cincinnati, Janesville, Wis., St. Louis.

The additions will provide greatly increased facilities at the forge gear and axle plants at Detroit, to the motor plant at Flint, the small parts plant at Bay City, and the transmission plant at Toledo. Expansion of the Fisher Body plants adjoining Chevrolet plants at Cincinnati, Janesville and St. Louis will meet the augmented demand for closed bodies.

FORESTRY LETTER

Over 3,000,000 acres have been added to the area included within forestry districts since the first of the year, according to a statement issued by the Alabama Commission of Forestry. This brings the total patrolled area to date to about 8,750,000 acres, 5,750,000 having been under patrol at the close of 1925. The new areas lie in Baldwin, Mobile, Washington, Conecuh, Clarke, Fayette, Walker, Tuscaloosa, Bibb, Clay, Talladega, Randolph Calhoun, and Jackson counties.

Forestry districts are established only where the land is predominantly of a forest character and in those localities where the local residents are desirous of cooperating among themselves and with the State and Federal governments in the development, protection and proper use of their forest resources. Thus far the forestry districts established comprise over 80% forest land.

Alabama has approximately 22,000,000 acres of land not used for any purpose higher than the growing of timber. Much of this, however, is scattered among the agricultural sections of the state an is not of sufficiently contiguous character to be included in regular forestry districts. In such cases the Commission of Forestry renders special assistance by direct cooperation with the owners on particular forestry projects and by other specific means in individual cases.

It is expected that by the close of the present year approximately 12,000,000 acres will be included in the organized territory. Frequent requests are being received by the Commission of Forestry to extend the patrol system into new localities, and these requests are being given careful consideration.

SHERIFF'S SALE—REAL ESTATE

State of Alabama, Chilton County.

By virtue of an execution issued out of the Justice Court of Chilton County, Alabama, and to me directed, whereby I, as Sheriff of said County, was commanded to make the sum of One Hundred Eight and 93|100 dollars, principal and interest, and Twenty-one and 75|100 Dollars, cost of suit, the amount of a certain judgment and costs therein obtained at the August Term, 1924, of said Court, against Mark Hosey in favor of J. C. Headley, I have levied upon and being ordered by the Circuit Court of said County, will sell to the highest bidder for cash at public sale, at the Court House door of said County, between the hours of 11 o'clock, A. M., and 4 o'clock, P. M., on Monday, the 14th day of June, 1926, all the right, title and interest of the above named Mark Hosey, in and to the following described real estate, viz:

The SE¼ of the NW¼, four acres in the NW corner of the NE¼ of the SW¼; the NW¼ of the SE¼, less four acres in the NW corner, and less four acres in the SW corner; and all of the SE¼ lying W of Swift Creek, in Sec. 19, Tp. 21, Range 14, containing 98 acres, more or less, situated in Chilton County, Alabama.

This, the 10th day of May, 1926.
T. J. LITTLEJOHN, Sheriff.

FLOYD

Saturday and Sunday were our regular preaching days, with an all day service on Sunday. The church was called to order with a song, "Standing On The Promises."

10:30—Talk, "The greatness of the church," by R. N. Wilkerson, W. J. Ruddick, and J. D. Deason, 15 minutes each. Another song, "I Love To Tell The Story." This brought us to the preaching hour. A fine sermon was delivered by Rev. W. J. Ruddick.

Noon.

1:30—Song, "Bringing In The Sheaves." Talk on "What is the purpose of Sunday School?" by Rev. W. J. Ruddick and Rev. J. D. Deason. A talk, "What it takes to make a good Sunday School Superintendent," by Rev. J. D. Deason. Song; this brought us to a close, and were dismissed by Rev. W. J. Ruddick.

We are glad to say our Sunday school is progressing fine.

There will be an all day singing at Floyd the first Sunday in June. We invite everybody, especially the quartets, to come and help us. Bring your 1926 books and a well filled basket.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our neighbors and friends for their kindness and help during the illness and death of our mother and grandmother.—C. E. Headley, Erby Calloway.

NOTICE OF SALE OF LAND FOR PAYMENT OF DEBTS

In the matter of the application of L. B. Gaither for sale of land for payment of debts.

Notice is hereby given that an application filed by L. B. Gaither, administratrix of the estate of R. D. Campbell, deceased, in the Probate Court of Chilton County, Alabama, to sell the hereinafter described real estate for payment of debts of said estate, which application was granted on the 8th day of May, 1926, and by an order of the Probate Court, said lands to-wit:

FORD "UNIVERSAL SERVICE"

The thousands who go touring in Ford cars this year will find their journeys made much more pleasurable through the extension of the Ford service organization. While the Ford car owner always has enjoyed a big advantage in this respect, there never has been a time when service facilities were so extensive.

"One thing the tourist should do before starting on his trip," says a Ford Motor Company statement, "is to take the car to his authorized Ford dealer and have it thoroughly inspected. Any small adjustments that may be necessary can be made and new parts supplied where necessary, so that the tourist will start his journey with a car fully fit for the trip.

"There may be nothing wrong at all. At that, it will be a satisfaction to the Ford owner to know before leaving that his car has been carefully examined by competent mechanics anr found to be in first class condition.

"Once on the road, the Ford owner has at his service an authorized dealer in almost any town or village."

Under its policy of direct supervision over the dealer service, the company during th last year has effected a number of improvements in this division of the business. As a result, authorized Ford dealers everywhere are much better equipped, both with mechanics and machinery, for serving car owners. This assures the tourist prompt and efficient attention any place along the road.

After a continuous service of 20 years and 4 months, John Lawrence Peek, locomotive engineer on the Alabama Mineral Division of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad, was retired from active service recently.

ANIMAL TRACKS FOUND

Washington, May 23.—A strange animal with 8 legs and 16 toes once roamed the region about the Grand Canyon of the Colorado.

Tracks in the ancient rock walls of the Grand Canyon furnished the clue. They were discovered by Dr. Charles W. Gilmore, of the national museum here, and park employees of the interior department, along with many evidences of prehistoric plants.

It was many ages ago that the 8-legged roamed the Colorado basin, as 1,000 feet of rock strata has been built above the place where the tracks were discovered. The Colorado river exposed its existence to the world, cutting the deep gorge into the rocks.

While the nature of the animal is not known, a cast of it may some day stand in the national museum, as the physical contour of other animals have been constructed from small evidence.

CARD OF THANKS

Firestone
TIRE DEALERS
Serve You Better
We Are Tire Specialists

Our experience and equipment help you get the most mileage, comfort and safety from tires.

Gum-Dipping—the only known method of insulating every fiber of every cord with rubber—gives the strongest construction possible. And the special Steam-Welding process makes Firestone tubes both leak-proof and long-wearing—further increasing the life of the tire.

The proof is demonstrated by the biggest taxicab and bus fleets—by race champions and in everyday service of hundreds of thousands of motorists.

Let us see that your tires are properly mounted, inflated and cared for.

We repair your tires, when necessary, by the new and better Firestone method.

Equip your car with these famous Gum-Dipped Cords and Steam-Welded Tubes. We will take your old tires in trade, giving you liberal allowance for unused mileage.

We Also Sell and Service Oldfield Tires and Tubes

These well-known tires are built in the economical Firestone factories and carry the standard guarantee.

We offer them at these low prices.

SOCIETY

Mrs. Grady Broadhead, Editor.

Wednesday Bridge Club.

The members of the Wednesday Bridge Club and others were delightfully entertained on last Wednesday by Miss Kathleen Mullins at her home on Second Avenue. Baskets of snapdragons, sweet peas and roses were effectively used to decorate the home. Following a series of bridge games, Mrs. Frank Callen held high score and received a beautiful hand embroidered guest towel. The booby prize was a set of tally cards, and was presented to Mrs. V. J. Heard. The hostess, assisted by Mrs. J. Watts Moore, served a delicious salad plate with iced tea.

Those present were Mesdames J. Hance Alred, John Browder, Frank Callen, L. F. Gerald, V. J. Heard, Arthur Johnson, N. S. Johnson, J. Watts Moore, Grady Reynolds, H. M. Simpson, C. H. Baumhauer of Mobile, and Jack Wade.

THE SOUTH AND THE TARIFF

One of these days the voters of the South will find a way to vote so as to advance their interests, to conserve their welfare, to increase their industries, employment, wages of labor, and prosperity—that is to say, in favor of Protective Tariff. Most Southerners now vote one way and pray another; they vote for Free-Traders and hope that Protectionists will be elected to the control of the Government. Happily for them what they pray for occurs oftener than what they vote for. If it were not so, Southerners would have "hard picking."

In the consideration in the United States Senate of the Fordney McCumber Tariff Bill, four years ago, but one Democrat consistently voted against Protection and in favor of Free-Trade on every vote. On the separate paragraphs it was almost the invariable rule for Southerners to support Protective measures that they regarded as helpful to their constituents, and to vote for Free-Trade, i. e., against Protection, only when they felt that the interests of their constituents were not so immediately concerned as at other times they were. These Southerners helped to frame a strongly Protective Tariff, piecemeal, but to "save their faces," voted against the Tariff Bill on final passage, after having assured themselves that there were enough votes in favor of it to pass it.

Once in a while a lone Southerner gives expressions to convictions in line with a Protective Tariff. Under the leadership of that irreconcilable Free-Trader, Cordell Hull, of Tennessee, a series of speeches have been made during the current session of Congress all expressing a desire for a reduction of the duties as fixed in the existing Protective Tariff. These are made, it is believed, wholly for political purposes, and to keep the "home fires burning" against Protection, rather than in the hope of actual Tariff schedule reductions in line with their advocacy.

Representative Hudspeth, of Texas, not only boldly declared that he would support any measure that aided cattlemen and other agricultural producers through higher rates, but he pointedly hauled over the coals colleagues from his State who voted against Protection, declaring them as working against the interests of the districts they represented in respect to Protection. One of these days, we repeat, some Moses will arise that will lead benighted Southerners out of the jungle of Free-Trade and into the clear light of Protection, with lasting benefit to the South and the whole United States.—American Economist.

GOOD ROADS AID DEFENDED BY OUTDOORS PICTORIAL

Every Congressional appropriation bill for the continuance of federal aid in the construction of a national system of improved highways meets with opposition based on ill-founded and purely selfish premises. Every American citizen ought to familiarize himself with the nation's highway program and its direct bearing on national defense, education and health. The subject is thoroughly covered in the June issue of Outdoors Pictorial, staunch supporter of the "See America First" movement. In this number Congressman C C. Dowell, chairman of the Committee on Roads of the House of Representatives, reviews Uncle Sam cooperation in building good roads, and Senator Lawrence C. Phipps, of Colorado, enumerates the great benefits of federal aid and clearly meets the opposition's arguments. Good roads is far from a dusty subject at the hands of these gentlemen.

THIS IS ENCOURAGING

It is encouraging to know that all the literary lights and other forward lockers who come from Europe to lecture us are not of the socialist or parlor pink brand. One of the latest to come from Great Britain is Gilbert Frankau, the London novelist. Mr. Frankau recently spoke in Chicago and it is said he spent some of the time in rapping the socialist piffle of Mr. Shaw and other of his British contemporaries, insted of lecturing the people of America on their duties to the world.

Mr. Frankau said: "I hate these communists who come here from my land with balderash and bunk. I tell you there'll never be socialism in England. There are two million young men like myself who won't stand for it." We will all hope that Mr. Frankau is right.

A EUROPEAN LEAGUE

In a speech at Buffalo recently, Sir Esme Howard, British Ambassador to the United States, undertook to lecture certain Americans who, in his judgment, want to destroy the League of Nations. Sir Esme said:

"I have always said, in speaking of the league in this country, that we in Europe now entirely understand that the United States objects to joining the league, and I think that most well informed people understand the why and wherefore of their attitude and accept it without question.

"But I must say I am surprised at times to note that there are still people in this country who write and speak as if the league was an invention of the devil which should be combatted by all honest men and the disappearance of which would be heartily welcomed.

"We in Europe who believe in the league have no wish to see this country adopt any policy which goes against the grain in regard to the league, but we can not understand the attitude of those who, standing outside it, are not satisfied with that, but wish also to destroy it."

We do not believe the situation in America is as dark as Sir Esme believes. There may be some people in the United States who would rejoice if the league were entirely destroyed, but they are certainly no more numerous than those who desire to see Uncle Sam plunged neck deep into the league himself, and that isn't so many.

If, as the British ambassador states, the people of Europe now understand and acquiesce in our position of aloofness from the league, it is equally true that the great majority of Americans now regard the league itself as a purely European institution. Now it is Europe which needs to be prevented from going to war, not America. And if the league can prevent war in Europe or can in any way make the path to peace easier, why all well and good. The average American will wish it success in the undertaking, so long as it lets Uncle Sam alone.

If there is any sentiment in America which would rejoice at the destruction of the league, the intemperate friends of the league itself are responsible for this. The average American does not relish hearing the proleaguer in this country call Uncle Sam a militarist and an international slacker, and when he runs across propaganda of this kind which is being kept up in the face of a 98% nationalist sentiment in the United States, he naturally takes it out on the league.

In short, the average American will be pleased at any good the league may be able to do in Europe. But he regards it as a European institution and does not want Uncle Sam dragged into it. And he especially objects to having a 2% minority in America tell him that he is all wrong in thinking as an American rather than as an internationalist.

HELPING THE CHILDREN

The latest American of note to point out the insidious activities of the communists in the United States is Governor A. Harry Moore, of New Jersey, who told the people of Atlantic City how the reds are working among the children of America, trying to render them disloyal through pamphlets and by personal contact.

"Neither law nor agencies nor anything devised by man will save America," Governor Moore said. "America will only be safe as the boys and girls of the present measure up to the standards set by the founders of the country."

The governor added that it is the duty of the parents to give their children the right start by training them rightly in their duties as citizens of the republic. This is certanly sound advice, and, if it is generally followed the organized efforts of those who seek to abolish patriotism in America will be unavailing.

Mr. J. N. Dennis made a tour of south Alabama and a brief visit to Florida last week, looking over the farming situation. He reports a most delightful time.

It pays to be an American. While British miners are striking so that their wages won't be cut to $11 per week, the anthracite miners in Pennsylvania continue to drive to work in their autos.

Hon. Belton B. Cather of Ashville, St. Clair County, was in Clanton Monday in the interest of his candidacy for secretary of state. Uncle Belt is a good old fashioned country editor, being publisher of The Southern Aegis for close on to forty years. The Democrats of the state can not do a better thing than elect him secretary of state.

Eighty home demonstration club girls from 40 Alabama counties are attending the annual short course at Auburn from May 26 to June 2. Each county having a home demonstration agent sent two girls, who, by their good club work, won the trip.

Tom Ogletree, our old time printer friend, who now lives at Haleyville, in Winston County, was a visitor to Clanton Sunday and Monday. He is connected with The Haleyville Journal.

Experiments have shown that when nitrate of soda is applied to cotton 40 days after planting the plants take it up in 14 days. Although it is taken up rapidly it lasts some time, just as a meal eaten by a man in 15 or 20 minutes lasts him several hours.

PLACING THE BLAME

Dr. John T. Shotwell, president of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, recently told those attending the New Jersey State High School conferences that if the nations of Europe were to close up their munitions factories under present conditions, they could still purchase arms from America, in which case the United States would no longer be neutral but a potential accomplice in international crime.

Dr. Shotwell then intimated that the responsibility for peace was therefore on our shoulders.

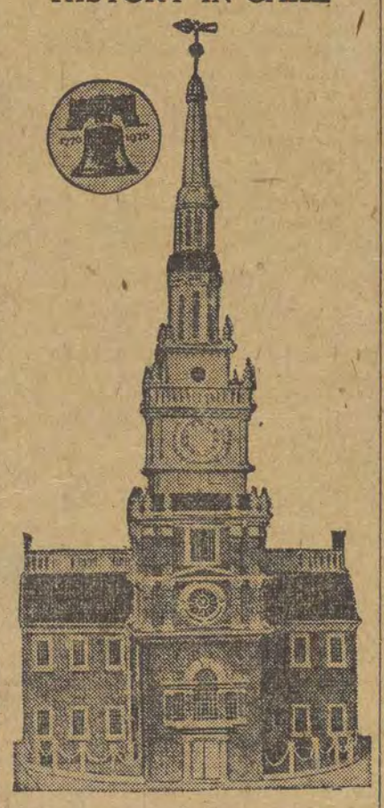
This ardent pacifist evidently forgets the fact that there is no disposition on the part of European nations to close up their munitions factories. In most of the countries across the Atlantic the tendency is all the other way and war budgets are growing rather than decreasing. It is admitted that the coming disarmament conference is to end in failure, if it ever does any conferring at all. Conditions in Eastern Europe, in Asia Minor and other parts of the globe are such at present that disarmament seems impossible to accomplish. This is not our fault.

Then why talk about Europe's doing something it has no intention of doing? There is plenty of time to talk about what Uncle Sam ought to do when Europe shows the disposition to do something for itself.

In the meantime trying to blame America for Europe's troubles is not only unpatriotic, but asinine. No sane person in America believes that Europe is only waiting to lay down its arms until America closes its factories where war munitions might be made. The day has passed, if it ever existed, when this sort of piffle is going to get anywhere with the people of the United States.

WHY THEY ADVERTISE

Newspapers of the United States carried $720,000,000 worth of advertising during the year 1925, according to William A. Thompson, director of the bureau of advertising of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association, who testified recently before the Federal Trade Commission. Of this amount, $500,000,000 was spent in local advertising, the remaining $250,000,000 representing the amount spent in advertisements of national circulation.



These figures show something of the faith that the American business man has in the value of newspaper advertising. This form of publicity must pay, or the advertisers of the country would not be spending three-quarters of a billion dollars annually on it. The keen business leaders of America do not put money in losing ventures.

It is doubly significant that two-thirds of this great sum, a half billion dollars, went into the so-called local newspapers, while only one-third of the amount went into the national publications.

Evidently it pays not only to advertise, but to advertise in your local newspaper. When we think of the value of the local newspaper, we usually masure it in terms of its worth as a collector of news and a moulder of sentiment in the community. But the value of a newspaper as an advertising medium is great, too, not only to the business man, but to the general public. It is through advertising in his local paper that the progressive merchant gets his goods before the people. And it is by reading the advertisements that the public learns where it can spend its money economically for reliable goods of the kind it wants.

C. T. Walker of Shoults was in Clanton Saturday attending the meeting of the Republican Executive Committee.

HISTORY IN CAKE

This replica of historic Independence Hall in Philadelphia is a fine example of the baker's art. It was made by the chef of one of Philadelphia's leading hotels to advertise the Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition, which will open in that city June 1 and run to December 1 to celebrate the 150th anniversary of American Independence. The "State House" stands on a table at the entrance to the main dining room of the hotel.

PLEASANT VALLEY

Quite a number of people from here attended the meeting at Floyd Sunday, and enjoyed the good sermon delivered by Bro. Ruddick.

The B. Y. P. U. met Sunday afternoon at 5:30 in order that the members might attend the commencement sermon at Clanton. An interesting program was rendered, with Miss Bertha Stockdale, group captain, in charge.

Leon Pierce, secretary-treasurer of our B. Y. P. U., received his diploma from Chilton County High School this week. We congratulate him, and wish for him continued success in his undertakings through life.

Messrs. Houston Strock and George Robert Cobern were visitors in this community Saturday night.

Mr. Jean Stockdale of Cherokee Bluffs spent the week end with relatives here.

Mrs. Martha Hutson and family were visitors here Sunday.

Miss Hazel Payton of Mt. Creek spent Sunday here.

Mrs. Sam Eiland of Dothan, Mrs. Maggie Cannon of Mt. Creek, Estelle Austin, Bessie Mae Culver and Elizabeth Eiland of Mt. Creek were at the meeting at Floyd Sunday afternoon.

Exports of merchandise from the United States in April were $388,000,000, making an import balance of $10,000,000. For four months in succession imports have exceeded exports. For the 10 months ending in April, exports were about $112,000,000 behind those of a year ago.

Russia's campaign to increase its supply of exportable grain is facing difficulties. Apparently, the chief limiting factors are the shortage and high price of farm machinery, an increased demand for grain for domestic consumption, a tendency for livestock raising to supplant grain growing to some extent, and a disposition on the part of peasants to hoard grain in preference to hoarding money.

For $400 a farmer can have a complete water system, including a windmill, tank, pump for a deep well, hot water tank and back, kitchen sink, necessary pipes, three-piece bathroom, and sewage disposal system, according to a calculation made by M. A. Barnes, extension agricultural engineer, Auburn. This is based upon the farmer doing most of the installation work. If he hires it done the cost will be higher.

THE COST OF SCHOOLS

Hon. John Rogers, in his speech here last Saturday, digressed from his road subject long enough to put in a parenthetical clause about Alabama's school system. He said it looked to him like our schools might be brought "closer home" to our rural needs, adding that a boy in common school now spent more money for books alone than one used to spend for britches, books, and everything. He expressed his favor for the election of county superintendents of education by the people.

The speaker was heartily applauded for his expressions on the school subject as well as upon the roads and the bond issue.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our thanks to our neighbors and friends for their kindness to us during the illness of our wife and mother, while at home; also to the many good folks of Clanton for their kindness, and for the many flowers carried to her. We especially thank Dr. V. J. Gragg, Bro. B. Lawrence and family, and Bro. Grady Williams and family for their kindness to us during the ten days she spent at Central Alabama Hospital.—S. J. M. Webb and children.

Muscle Shoals

How Properties Will Be Operated In Interest Of

Farmer, Manufacturer and Taxpayer

Under Plan Recommended by Joint Congressional Committee

An investment of $20,000,000 in synthetic ammonia and phosphoric acid plants using the same modern and economical processes now producing more than 300,000 tons annually of nitrogen in Germany, Italy and other European countries, enabling these countries to discontinue importation of Chilean nitrates for fertilizer. The same nitrogen fixation process is now producing over 20,000 tons of nitrogen annually in plants built in this country since 1918. The process is almost as well understood and as standard as the turn-plow. Identified with the Muscle Shoals Fertilizer Company as officers are men who built and operated some of these American plants. The contract is to produce 20,000 tons of nitrogen in fertilizer, within six years, containing 72% plant food, increasing to 30,000 tons and then to 40,000 tons annually as the market demands require. Forty thousand tons of nitrogen in fertilizer is the equivalent of 1,000,000 tons of mixed fertilizer if used in an ordinary (4-8-4) fertilizer brand.

FERTILIZER

Fertilizer sold direct to users at cost of production plus 8%. Its manufacture, methods of selling, territory in which sold, the cost price, and all other details is supervised, determined and safeguarded by a farmer board selected and removed by the Secretary of Agriculture. All power dedicated to fertilizer at cost of production.

Continuous experimentation, research and investigation in cooperation with government and state authorities to develop improved and cheaper methods for production of concentrated fertilizer and application to the soil.

Faithful performance of fertilizer obligations guaranteed by Muscle Shoals Power Distributing Company on penalty of forfeiture of entire contract (power and fertilizer) in event the fertilizer company defaults.

POWER

Distribution of surplus power for farm, home and factory through interconnected transmission lines accessible to power plants of 1,420,000 horsepower capacity, enabling sections of several states to secure a reliable source of power which are now dependent on small isolated steam plants, thus affording the South the opportunity for continued industrial growth. Operation of the Muscle Shoals power plants, in conjunction with auxiliary steam and hydro plants in other sections, securing thereby maximum efficiency and utilization for public use so far as is possible of the complete installation of 600,000 horsepower at Muscle Shoals.

Power sold at rates fixed by public authorities within the states where the power is used, thus guaranteeing rates not in excess of a fair return to the local distributing company.

Forty million dollars to be expended on developments and extensions of power plants at Muscle Shoals and for transmission lines making for greater industrial progress and community growth.

MONETARY RETURN

On the $150,000,000 invested at Muscle Shoals, including $50,000,000 in Wilson Dam, the government will receive $126,300,000 by the end of the lease period and still be in possession of its property, improvements and enhancements. No other piece of war-time property has been sold for anything approaching its cost or utilized for so useful a peace-time service and yet maintained for immediate use in future wars.

NATIONAL DEFENSE

In time of war or other emergency, the entire properties are subject to recall. Muscle Shoals power plants operated in an interconnected power system provides the nation with approximately 2,000,000 horsepower of energy (greatly increased as other power projects in the South are built) available for immediate use either at Muscle Shoals or elsewhere for essential war-time operation. Instead of being dependent upon the flow of one river, power may be transmitted either to the nitrate plants or elsewhere from several streams in different water sheds or from coal, gas and oil fields.

FUTURE EXPENDITURES

Under the proposal not another dollar of the taxpayers' money needs to be expended at Muscle Shoals.

THE FUTURE

The South, developing faster than any other section of the country, will continue to do so as long as it provides the first essential to industrial and agricultural progress,—cheap, reliable power at the point where the manufacturer and the farmer can use it to the best advantage. Divorcing a large source of power from a general system would be productive of ill results, the same as if the use of a navigable section of the Tennessee River were limited to the transportation requirements of one community. Power from a public stream, like its navigation value, increases in efficiency and usefulness as that use extends over the largest possible territory in conjunction with power from other sections.

Muscle Shoals nitrate plants and Muscle Shoals power, used first in the production of cheap fertilizer and second in turning of wheels of industry and lessening the burdens of farm and domestic life achieves its greatest benefit to the greater number of people and at the same time ready to perform its highest function,—national defense.

A NEW ADDITION

The establishment at Muscle Shoals of a $20,000,000 fertilizer concern at once becomes the largest single industrial acquisition in the South in many years, and initiates the tonnage for incoming raw material and outgoing finished product for water transportation to distributing points throughout much of the agricultural sections of the nation.

BELTON B. CATHER

Genial and bright, with the spring of confidence in his step and a smile on his face that instantly begets friendship, B. B. Cather, editor of the Southern Aegis, of Ashville, Ala., has been campaigning in the Muscle Shoals district this week, presenting to the voters his candidacy for Secretary of State. He has made a lot of friends. We believe he will carry Colbert County in a walk and it is well for when the people bestow honor upon a man like Editor Cather, they reflect credit upon themselves. Thirty-six years ago he succeeded his father to the publication of the Aegis, the paper then being twenty-four years old and he has never wavered in his duty as a moulder of public opinion. For the democratic party he has fought scores of battles and his shots were not fired at long range, for his section literally swarms with republicans. Direct and unafraid in his views, he is capable and possessed of sound and constructive ideas for the development of Alabama. He will make an efficient state official.—Tuscumbia Times.

THORSBY SECTION

(S. E. NORTON, Manager).

There will be English services at 10:30 a. m., at Thorsby Lutheran church, next Sunday.

Thorsby Institute new auditorium is now so far completed that it was formally opened last Saturday night with a beginning of commencement exercises, a recital by the music department under direction of Miss Alithea M. Parker who for the past three years has been at the head of this branch of the school.

The new school building, of which the auditorium is a unit, has been officially named by the board of trustees, "Helen Jenkins Hall," in honor of Miss Helen C. Jenkins, who for many years has been principal of the school. It is modern, commodious and well adapted for housing a first class high school. The past year was the first in the new building, which replaces the old Bates Hall, destroyed by fire in April, 1925, and as it stands today, has cost upwards of $20,000.

It is also the first year in the history of the school, now completing its 20th year, when every student is in or above freshman classes. At the opening Saturday night announcement was made of a notice received that day that Thorsby Institute is one of the four high schools of Alabama that won a place on the accredited list of the association of southern colleges for the school year 1924-25, the latest report.

The building is equipped with a water system, electric lights, an electric master clock and two large chemical fire extinguishers and a good library. At the music recital prizes were awarded to Lois Primm and Dorothy Butler.

Other features of commencement week will be as follows: "Step Lively" senior play, to be given at 7:30 p.m. Saturday, May 29th. Sunday, May 30th at 11 a.m., Baccalaureate sermon by Rev. W. P. Lowery. Monday, May 31st at 7:30 p.m., the annual declamatory contest; A. T. Arthur, Jewel Bean, Dorothy Butler, Ragnar Ekblad, Katherine Grace, Clara Grigsby, Coy Kirkland, Eva Mae Lynch, Olin Williams and Hudson Williams are the contestants.

The usual jolly good time, history, prophecy, will, etc., are planned for class night, June 1st. Commencement at 10:30 a. m., June 2; Prof. E. A. Axtell of Piedmont College, Demorest, Ga., will be the speaker.

Geraldine Dobson, Palmer Lefstead, Claudie Eiland and Bernice Williams have maintained an average above 90 for the entire high school course. Other members of the class are A. T. Arthur, Irene Benson, Sydney Davenport, Mabel Howard, Aleitha Johnson, Jewell Martin, Lois Primm, Lorena Primm, Gordon Sorrell, Pearl Steiner, and Boona Lee Wood.

At the close of the commencement exercises Wednesday, there will be the annual community dinner on the campus, under the auspices of the Ladies Guild of Thorsby. Everybody should bring well filled baskets. Ice cream will be for sale on the grounds.

Dr. S. C. Wood, J. C. Jones and Frank McCain went to Steel Bridges fishing Tuesday.

The Congregational ladies aid social will be held at the home of Mrs. J. H. Goddard Friday afternoon, June 3rd instead of Thursday, as usual.

Charles, Fred and Lloyd Howard and Henry Robinson went to Shaw's Mill fishing Saturday, remained over night and came home Sunday with a nice string of crappies.

The Ladies Guild social will be held Thursday afternoon, May 27th at the home of Mrs. E. F. Mead.

Miss Alma Lefstead is visiting her mother, Mrs. Johanna Lefstead, for a few days before going to Jacksonville normal school.

Miss Olene Mims will leave next week for a summer course at Jacksonville normal school.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Reagan, Naemi Turnquist and her father and W. M. Parnell made a trip to Lock 12 for a boat ride Sunday afternoon

Rev. Each and sons, Cecil and William, with Frank Wood, Roscoe Maddox and Robert Echols, Sexton Hall and Coy Kirkland, went to Gore's Pond for a dip Saturday afternoon; they say "the water's fine."

Thorsby strawberry season is practically closed. Sales amounted to $58,564.93 to date May 25th. Practically all sold F. O. B. Thorsby for cash before shipment, at prices averging the highest ever obtained in the history of the business in Thorsby, due to experience in growing, packing, grading, etc., together with intelligent and honest management n the business. The demand was far in excess of the supply. The planting of upwards of 350,000 new plants for next year's crop it is hoped will meet the future requirements.

Mr. Sam Mims, who has been ill for several months at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Mims, in Thorsby, has so far recovered as to be able to return to his work in Birmingham, takng his family with him Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Davenport of Deatsville visited Mrs. S. P. Franklin last Sunday.

Mrs. John Primm and family from Bessemer were visitors in Thorsby Sunday.

Y. W. A. met with Mrs. Webb Parrish Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Barnes of Montevallo is visiting Mrs. Raybon.

Dr. T. S. Jones of Russelville, father of J. C. Jones, attended the Confederate veterans reunion in Birmingham and spent a few days here.

Horace Franklin is home from Tuscaloosa, where he is a student in the University of Alabama.

With a normal season and average soil 100 pounds of nitrate of soda applied to corn when about knee-high will increase the yield 7 or 8 bushels per acre.

Mr. Charley Davenport is spending a few days with his brothers here.

Dr. S. C. Wood motored to Montgomery Saturday, carrying a patient to the hospital.

Mrs. Ben Franklin attended commencement exercises at Howard college, where her daughter, Miss Lena Franklin, received her A. B. degree.

Mr. C. W. Hubbard and wife of Birmingham, after visiting in Clanton spent a few days in Thorsby with his sister, Mrs. Ola Kelley. When they returned to their home they wer accompanied by Mr. Hubbard's daughter and her husband, Mr. Allen Blackmon. Mr. Blackmon is engaged in the produce business with seeming prosperity, speaking meat and bones together.

Mr. Coy Gibbons went to Birmingham Sunday.

W. H. Goodgame made a business trip to Birmingham Tuesday.

Mr. Bob Carter spent Sunday with his wife and children in Thorsby.

Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Massey and children, Frances, Annie, Wendel and Wilton, of Liberty Hill, spent Sunday in Thorsby as guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Goddard.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Marlar and Mrs. Annie Thacker of Clanton spent Sunday afternoon with their former neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Goddard.

Thorsby Eastern Star Chapter met in session Friday night, May 21st, and for their departed sister and chaplain, held appropriate "Chapter of Sorrow" Mrs. M. E. Maddox.

Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Norton had a party last Friday night in honor of Mrs. Loveland and other members of Thorsby Institute faculty, some of whom will not return next year. The Ladies Guild made it an occasion to present to Mrs. Loveland a beautful silver case as a token of regard for her.

Child-birth

Here is a wonderful message to all expectant mothers!

When the Little One arrives, you can have that moment more free from suffering than you have perhaps imagined. An eminent physician, expert in this science, has shown the way. It was he who first produced the great remedy, "Mother's Friend." Mrs. C. J. Hartman, Scranton, Pa., says:

"With my first two children I had a doctor and a nurse and then they had to use instruments, but with my last two children I used 'Mother's Friend' and had only a nurse; we had no time to get a doctor because I wasn't very sick—only about ten or fifteen minutes." Use "Mother's Friend" as our mothers and grandmothers did. Don't wait, start today, and meanwhile write to Bradfield Regulator Co., BA 46, Atlanta, Ga., for a free illustrated book containing information every expectant mother should have. "Mother's Friend" is sold by all drug stores—everywhere.

1ST AMERICAN YOUTH ENTRY

Edith May Adams, eighteen-year-old Barrington, N. J., girl, presenting her entry blank to Mayor Kendrick in his office at City Hall, Philadelphia. The American Youth and Teacher Award was established as a tribute to American youth and teachers by the Board of Directors of the Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition, through which the people of the United States and the world at large will celebrate the 150th anniversary of the Declaration of American Independence. The exposition will run from June 1 to December 1. Miss Adams' entry blank cited her for heroism displayed recently when she remained inside a burning building helping doctors render first aid to injured firemen. She is a candidate for the Golden Eaglette, the highest gift within the hands of the Girl Scouts. Each state will elect a girl and boy and one teacher to represent them and the successful candidates will be the guest of the Sesqui officials from June 28 to July 5 at the exposition. This will also include a trip to Washington where they will be received by President Coolidge and presented with medals.

IN MEMORY OF JAMES M. GRANT

Saturday night, May 22, about 10:30 the death angel visited the home of James M. Grant and took him out of his suffering. He has suffered intensely for several months, and everything that loving relatives and friends could do was done, but God saw fit to take him out of his suffering. He realized the end was at hand and expressed himself as being ready to go. How comforting to the bereaved loved ones to remember the words he left behind. His place will ever be vacant in the home, and the memory of his life will always be with us.

Mr. Grant had a host of friends over the county. He not only made friends, but kept them, and was loved by all who knew him.

Mr. Grant was born in Coosa County, Ala., July 31, 1867,, but has lived in this county for a number of years.

He leaves a wife and five children; three boys, Ed, Ernest, and Osmond, and two girls, Miss. Lilla, and Mrs. Harvey Foshee; two brothers, A. L., and John Grant, and one sister, Mrs. Mittie Rhodie, besides a host of his friends, to mourn his departure.

He was laid to rest in the Chestnut Creek cemetery by the Clanton and Cooper Masonic Lodges. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. S. J. Ezell. The esteem and love of his friends was manifest by the beautiful floral offerings.

May God's richest blessings rest upon the entire family in their sad bereavement.—Genie Collins and Hazel Cox Busby.

BASEBALL AT CLANTON

Baseball fans who have been bewailing the fact that we will have no baseball in Clanton this summer are advised to the contrary.

Clanton plays Calera here next Thursday afternoon, June 3, at 3:00 p. m., sharp, at Polk's park (at the high school). Calera has a good ball club, and those in charge will have a creditable team on the field to represent Clanton. Be there at the appointed time if you want to see some baseball. Arrangements will be made to furnish baseball games for Clanton fans during the summer.

Clanton plays Calera today at Calera.

The American people consumed 1.3 bushels less wheat per capita during 1925 than in 1879, a decrease of 24% in 46 years, federal economists say.

AID TO BEAUTY

Under this young woman's skillful hands the front of the Administration Building of the Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition Association quickly takes on a delightful aspect. She directs gardeners where to place the small trees and shrubs about the great stucco building. She is doing her share to make the big celebration of the 150th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence a success.

"CUPID UP-TO-DATE"

"Cupid Up-To-Date" is the name of a play to be presented at the high school auditorium on June 18, under the auspices of the M. E. Church. The cast will be drilled by an excellent coach, and a good presentation is expected.

Misses Lucile Mims, Jewell Martin, Mrs. W. J. Billingsley, and B. T. Franklin spent the week end in Birmingham, and attended the Commencement exercises at Howard College.

WOMAN THINKS SHE CAN'T TALK ENOUGH

"I had gall stones for 14 years and suffered severely from gas, colic and indigestion. Doctors wanted me to go to the hospial, but I took MAYR'S instead, and am now feeling fine and better than I ever did. I can't talk enough about this remedy." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. Alred Drug Co., and druggists everywhere.

CHEVROLET REPLACES LOCOMOTIVE

Replacing a disabled railway motor coach, a Chevrolet truck is scoring a decided success daily in the difficult role of a locomotive on an Alabama railroad.

The Sumter and Choctaw Railroad, owned and operated by the Allison Lumber Company of Bellamy, Ala., is using their Chevrolet utility express truck as a locomotive with gratifying results, according to Sidney Corbett, manager of fleet sales and truck division, Chevrolet Motor Company.

Formerly a gasoline motor railroad car was used by the railroad to transport passengers and freight, making a round trip, 52 miles, daily. During a recent breakdown of the motor in the "hoodle-bug," as railway men called the gas-driven coach, it was decided to attach the Chevrolet truck to the disabled car and haul it over the route on regular scheduled trips until repairs could be made to the coach. The truck had been operated for some time by the company in its ordinary capacity as a rubber tired vehicle.

The truck was equipped with flanged wheels and attached to the coach with a steel cable. On the first trip it handled the load with ease over the entire run—and instead of the 12 gallons of gasoline required by the motor coach, the Chevrolet made the round trip on 4 gallons of fuel. This saving led to the adoption of the truck as standard equipment on the railroad, and the old motor coach was discarded.

In addition to economy of operation, the Chevrolet truck offered another advantage. The truck body provided extra space for freight transportation, and extra passenger seats were available in the coach on removal of the motor

So well pleased were the officials of the lumber concern with the performance of the truck in its new sphere that they purchased another for the use of the logging crew. Then a Chevrolet touring was bought for the personal use of A. L. Gill, the company's superintendent. The automobile-locomotive will remain permanently on the active list of the firm's locomotives, officials said.

AUBURN IS READY FOR EDITOR MEET

Auburn, Ala., May 25.—Auburn is ready for the coming of the editors of the State for their annual convention here June 2, 3, and 4. Two weeks prior to the convention practically all plans had been completed and the town of Auburn and the Alabama Polytechnic Institute now stand ready, as one, with "open arms" to receive the editors.

For convenience, as requested by a committee of the Press Association, all of the "pen pushers" will be housed in one or two dormitories. The dormitories are only a few steps apart. Meals will be served in one of them; and this will add to the convenience of the members of the "Fourth Estate" and their families and friends who are here.

All sessions will be held in Langdon Hall, which is less than a block from the dormitories, and has a seating capacity of approximately 700.

In addition to arrangements for housing, meals, and a place of meeting, entertainment features have been included. It is the ambition of the people of the college and of the town of Auburn to give the editors a better meeting than they have ever enjoyed, although all of their annual conventions have been very delightful affairs. On the second day, June 3, they will be entertained by the people of Opelika.

Hon. J. C. McLendon, Luverne, president, Alabama Press Association, and also other officials, have sent requests to every editor in the state to be present during the entire three days. A similar invitation has been extended by Dr. Spright Dowell, president, Alabama Polytechnic Institute, and by Dr. Cecil S. Yarbrough, mayor of Auburn. The message to all is —come!

The Union-Banner is $1.50 Straight.

MRS. FELSTON MULLINS

We, the Home Demonstration Club of Fairview, wish to express our appreciation for the faithfulness of our former friend and co-worker. As a Christian she was true, brave and courageous.

Therefore, Be it Resolved:

1. That we emulate her virtue and cheerfulness.

2. That as an organized club desire to be like her.

3. That while we know that God in His wisdom saw fit to take her from us, we regret to give her up and bear testimony to her true Christian value.

4. That this is to be but a just tribute to the memory of Mrs. Mullins to say that in regretting her removal from our midst, we are thinking of one who was in every way worthy of our respect and regard.

5. That a copy of these resolutions be sent to her husband, a copy to the parents and one to the county papers and one to be placed on the minutes of the club.—Mrs. T. N. Martin, Mrs. Pearl Bailey, Mrs. O. P. Chandler, Committee.

Note—The above was taken from the Cullman Tribune, and will be of interest to the friends and relatives of Mr. Mullins in Chilton County.

AUTO RACES AT BIRMINGHAM SATURDAY

Birmingham, Ala., May 25.—Spring auto racing will be resumed at Birmingham after a lapse of several years when professional championship races will be held at the fast State Fair half-mile track on Saturday afternoon, May 29, in a program which will feature the entry of Mlle. Jean La Costa, world's woman champion driver.

Miss La Costa, who recently set world's records on the Florida beaches attaining a speed of 145.14 miles per hour, and who defeated Louis Disbrow, veteran racer, at Atlanta on May 15, will try for world's records at Birmingham and will also be pitted in a special match race with one of the leading entries at the Birmingham races.

Other drivers who will be in the gasoline frays include Burr Lampkin, British star, who will pilot the 181 miles per hour world's record holding Wisconsin Special, recently purchased from Sig Haughdahl; Oscar "Swede" Anderson, 1925 long distance dirt track champion; Louis Disbrow, greatest of all veterans; Fred Horey, former world's champion; Al Coty, Arch Powell, Bobby Green, Gugli mo Ferdannatti, and Rube Reynolds.

Birmingham is a part of the newly organized southern auto racing circuit, which has included races at Montgomery, Atlanta, and at Jackson, Miss., May 26. The Barney Oldfield diamond studded gold medal will be at stake in the sweepstakes events at Birmingham.

WALNUT CREEK

Last Friday night, May 21, about 7:30 o'clock, a large crowd, Methodists and Baptists, gathered at the parsonage. As a token of their love and appreciation they brought with them flour, sugar, coffee, lard, soap, soda, syrup, fruits—canned and dried, some other groceries and some money.

The following are those who came, accompanied by their families: Brothers Walter Maddox, Arthur Tippett, Ed Miner, Elijah Mims, Andrew Johnson, A. J. Johnson, C. D. Duke, R. E. Powell, T. J. Powell, S. V. Miller, George Tippett, Johnnie Tippett, Lester Powell, Jim Dunlap, Mrs. Tabitha Easterling, Mrs. Laura Powell, Mrs. Fannie Belle Powell.

After the groceries were carried into the dining room we gathered in the parlor and had some real good singing, after which we returned to the dining room and gave thanks unto the Lord for these good friends and their gifts.

We feel very grateful to be remembered in such a nice way.

We were dismissed, and the people went to their homes, leaving the pastor and his family very happy.—G. B. Golden.

ANNUAL MAY SINGING AT PROVIDENCE

The 27th Annual May Singing was held at Providence, Beat 16, last Sunday. This was one of the best, if not the best, that has ever been held since the organization on the fourth Sunday in May, 1900.

The house was called to order at 9:30 o'clock by chairman R. Robinsan, prayer by Rev. M. J. Parrish. The chairman appointed a committee to arrange directors for the day; the committee was composed of G. C. Powell, O. R. Robinson, and O. L. Devaughn.

Directors in the morning were: R. T. Grant, M. Lockhart, J. B. Hammond, a quartette arranged by W. M. Dvaughn; T. L. Robinson, O. R. Robinson, J. W. Cagle, two songs each.

Recess for dinner till 1:30 o'clock. A bountiful dinner was served the large crowd of visitors.

In the afternoon directors were: R. M. Robinson, W. M. Devaughn, quartet arranged by Jesse Baker; G. C. Powell, W. G. Culp, quartet arranged by G. C. Powell; W. L. Jones, J. E. Miner, quartet arranged by W. M. Devaughn; recess for 15 minutes; C. H. Robinson, R. E. Powell, S. V. Miller, Jean Wyatt, S. L. Baker, J. W. Clackler, J R. Robinson, all two songs each.

Organists for the day were Messrs. C. H. Robinson, W. G. Culp, Mesdames Alice Baker, Annie Robinson, Lillian Alford, Lena Mae Hancock, Jessie Jones.

A great day was enjoyed by all, and will long be remembered by all who attended.

The singing was closed by the chairman, singing one song, and dismissed by Rev. W. W. Robinson.—R. Robinson, Chairman; J. W. Clackler, Secretary.

AN OPPORTUNITY FOR YOUNG MEN AND WOMEN

We wish to call the attention of our readers to the advertisement of the Southern Telegraph Institute, Newnan, Ga., which appears in this issue of The Union-Banner. The Institute was established in the year 1888, and according to the statement by Prof. W. L. Stricker, the president of the college, enrolls annually between 200 and 250 young men and women from the Southern states. Prof. Stricker also advises that the demand for telegraph operators in the railroad and commercial telegraph fields is constantly growing and splendid positions are secured for the graduates of his Institute. Young men and women contemplating entering some professional field that offers remunerative employment and opportunities for advancement should investigate the opportunities offered by the Southern Telegraph Institue.

Admiral Stickney will be in full charge of the United States Government exhibit, which will be the largest of its type ever made.

MR. JACK JONES HURT LAST WEEK

Falling about fifty feet down a rock bluff last Friday morning Mr. Jack Jones, age 74, sustained a broken thigh and other painful injuries. He and his brother, J. Stealey Jones, were on a fishing trip to Coosa River. They had gone up the Bates Branch fishing for minnows. Coming to a bluff that was so close to the stream that they could not pass, they were forced to go over the point of the hill. In making the detour the two became separated a few yards. Stealey got by all right and went back to the branch and began fishing. He heard a distress call from his brother and went back to find him lying helpless on a ledge of rock at the brink of the water.

In attempting to pass over the bluff he had lost his foothold and fallen about fifty feet. Stealey made an effort to carry him to a more comfortable place but was unable to do so. He had to go quite a distance to get help and he feared to leave his brother in his precarious position because the slightest move meant that he would fall into the water below. He thought of tieing him so he could not fall off, but had nothing to tie him with. He bent a bush over to where his brother could reach it and told him to hold on to it till he could summon other members of the party.

Mr. Jones lay there on the narrow rock ledge suffering untold pain and clinging to the bush from 8:30 in the morning until noon.

A physician was summoned and Mr. Jones was brought to Central Alabama Hospital. His condition is very serious and his friends fear that his chances for recovery are not very good.

The last estimate is that Alabama farmers bought this spring about 600,000 tons of commercial fertilizer, setting a new high record.

J. N. Scott of Jemison was here Saturday at the Republican Executive Committee meeting.

The farmer who is using a two-horse cultivator is doing almost twice as much work as the fellow who is using only one horse.

Grady Reynolds, U. S. District Attorney, is in Washington this week on official business.

There is something wrong with farming or the farmer when it is necessary for the women to work in the field to earn a living for the family.

Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Robinson of Verbena were visitors to Clanton on Monday.

B. LAWRENCE WRITES ABOUT ONE MILL SCHOOL TAX

At the request of many of the people of the county we are making an effort on July 20, to re-vote the one-mill tax we voted on last year. We have been greatly embarrassed because of the increased demands being made for better schools and at the same time no funds with which to meet these demands. It seems that there is a vast majority of people in the county who are anxious to have an opportunity again to vote on the question of the one-mill tax, which I stated in the campaign last year would add a little over $13,000 to the school funds.

There never was a time people were so much interested in sending their children to school as they are today. Only a short period ago it was the object of parents to send their children to school until after the seventh grade had been finished, but now most parents are making an effort to send their children to school until after they have at least finished the Senior High School. This is commendable, and I wish that every parent was interested that much in his child. But as these parents have their vision enlarged and in proportion to their efforts in sending these children thru high school the enrollment is increased yearly. Not that we have more children in the county, but that they stay in school longer. Anyone knows that if these demands are met, we must have means with which to meet them.

There is no better way of financing a school system than thru the system of taxation. In this way those who are able to pay, do so in proportion to their ability.

I hope that we will vote this tax because of what it means to the schools of the county, and assure you that I am ready to do anything that means better schools.—B. Lawrence.

Cal Foshee of Maplesville was a visitor to Clanton Tuesday lookong after some business matters at the court house.

BROADUS CONNATSER ENTERS LEAGUE BASEBALL

Broadus Connatser made his debut into organized baseball Monday afternoon, when he took charge of first base for the Montgomery Lions at Crampton Bown. His entry was marked by a record that brought him into the big type of the sport head lines. His position was played without an error and his hitting was for a double and a triple that together netted four scores for his team.

For several years Clanton has been looking for "Connie" to make his mark in baseball, and every step he has taken has proven that he would reach the goal. He was the best player here during his high school days. When he went to the University of Alabama, he stepped into prominence as a first-baseman and held the place with increasing honors until his graduation this spring.

During his college career his summers were spent on the baseball field with some of the best ameteur teams of the state.

At the close of his college career he was signed with the Birmingham club of the Southern League, which place he still retains. He is playing with Montgomery now under an agreement between the two teams.

Many of "Connie's" friends went with him to Montgomery Monday to see him step in, and they came back much delighted with what they saw. Here's hoping he shall be able to go the highest.

Commenting upon the entry of Connatser into professional baseball The Birmingham Age-Herald had the following to say Tuesday:

"Broadus Connatser, former Alabama first sacker, who was sent by Birmingham to Montgomery of the Southeastern league, didn't wait long to get going in his new berth. The ex-Crimson banged out a double and a triple for Manager Brennan's club in their 14-6 victory against Jacksonville Monday in Montgomery.

"Connatser finished his college career at the University of Alabama during commencement week, a career of three years of varsity play and one year of freshman work. He was regarded as one of the hardest hitters in Dixie college baseball, and hit in the clean-up position for the crimsons the four years he was there.

"Manager Johnny Dobbs got him to attach his signature to a Baronial contract several weeks ago and has a heavy string attached to him down at Montgomery. The Clanton youngster is apt to make the Barons a cracking good first sacker in the future, and the experience he will gain this year in the Southeastern league should polish him up quite a bit."

PROVIDENCE—BEAT 13

I would like to say a few words about our Sunday school and B. Y. P. U. Our Sunday school is progressing nicely with a large attendance. Our B. Y. P. U. went to Oak Grove recently and put on a program which was enjoyed very much. Some of our members were absent, and we had to leave off some of the parts, but we tried to make it as interesting as possible.

The Providence singing class will meet at Oak Grove next Sunday afternoon to help out in the song service.

Now that we are going to the North Pole every few days, it won't be long until some enterprising Alaskan commercial club will be promoting the North Pole Highway.

SAMARIA

The health of this community is fairly good, although Mr. Albert Edwards is having trouble with an ulcerated ear.

Our Sunday school is doing good work under the able management of our superintendent, G. F. Harris.

Miss Nora Wood, our efficient secretary, is leaving this week for Howard College where she will take a course in training for teaching. We are very sorry to give Miss Wood up, but we are glad to know of her taking this advantage of her opportunity to fit and prepare herself for life's work. Miss Wood is a studious young lady of high ideals and a noble character, and we count that community fortunate which secures the services of Miss Wood as a teacher. Her every day life and conduct is a good teacher for a community to say nothing of her extra preparation for the school room.

There were several absent from our Sunday school last Sunday which we hope and believe will be back next Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Armstrong were away at Birmingham; Mr. and Mrs. J. Z. Mims and little daughter, Louise, attended the Fifth Sunday Meeting at Verbena, and several of our people attended the Fifth Sunday Meeting at Mulberry. Our Superintendent attended the Fifth Sunday Meeting at Verbena Sunday afternoon.

We have Sunday school every Sunday morning at 10 o'clock and preaching on the second Sunday and Sunday night in each month. All who are in reach are cordially invited to come and worship with us, and we assure you that your presence will be highly appreciated.—A member of the Sunday School.

WADE WILL IMPROVE PICTURE SHOW

Mr. C. W. Wade has bought the building in which his picture show is located, west of the railroad. He has already begun the work of remodeling the place to make it more adaptable to the picture show business.

DURWARD PENTON DIED FROM INJURIES

Durward Penton, age 14, from Billingsley, died at the Central Alabama Hospital at an early hour Tuesday morning. The youth sustained fatal injuries last Saturday when he got caught in a big water wheel at Billingsley. His skull was fractured and his body bruised all over. He was brought to the hospital here, although no hope was held for his recovery. It was a surprise that he was able to hold on to life as long as he did. He was never able to speak after the accidnt.

NORMAN CAMPBELL ARRESTED

Norman Campbell was arrested in Stumps Hills Monday by Sheriff Littlejohn on a charge of violating the prohibition law. He was released under bond Tuesday.

ICE CREAM SUPPER

There will be an ice cream supper at Pozy Robinson's, Saturday night, June 12. Everybody invited.—P. G. Robinson.

A recent unofficial estimate is that over 1,000,000 farms in the United States now have radio receiving sets.

FIFTH SUNDAY MEETING AT VERBENA

The fifth Sunday meeting at Verbena last Sunday was in many respects a grand success. The congregation was called to order by the local pastor, Rev. J. H. Roberts, and after song service, Rev. E. A. Norris conducted a short devotional service, and then the meeting proceeded to organize. J. Z. Mims was elected chairman for the day. After the organization the program was taken up and the subjects spoken to as arranged in the program, excepting the subject assigned to Rev. J. H. Roberts. We had not kept an eye on the clock, and ignoring the fact that "The wheel of time waits for no man," so by request of Brother Roberts, his subject was postponed and he gave way for the sermon at 11:30. Dr. S. J. Ezell, having failed to secure a State worker to make the address at this hour, spoke to the text, "The things that count most." I do not believe that I have ever heard a better sermon fall from the lips of man. The Doctor seemed to be beside himself in his delivery and the sermon was so appropriate to the times and the occasion. It was indeed unfortunate that each church in the district did not have a representative present.

At the noon hour there was a bounteous dinner spread under the spreading oak trees, by the good ladies of the community, and everyone present ate to their appetite's content. There were several baskets full of the fragments left.

To the sorrow of the meeting, there was a marked degree of absentees on the afternoon program, but in spite of this fact, there were several real good lectures on the various subjects for the afternoon.

The chairman was especially gratified to see the number of pastors present. The lack of the pastors to take an interest in the fifth Sunday meetings has been a problem for the past few years, but we hope this will be eliminated in the near future.

Our pastors and churches are now put to notice that, if not providentially hindered, we will have another meeting of this kind on the fifth Sunday in August, somewhere within the bounds of the Unity Association, and each pastor is expected to attend as well as at least one delegate from each church in the Association.

At the conclusion of the program the following resolution was unanimously adopted by the delegates and visitors to the meeting: "Resolved that we, the delegates, do hereby expss our thanks to the Verbena Baptist church and community in general for the gracious hospitality in entertaining the fifth Sunday meeting of the Unity Association."

J. Z. MIMS, Chairman.

DOLL EDWARDS ARRESTED WITH LIQUOR

Doll Edwards, a young man, was arrested with a syrup bucket full of liquor in the swamp below Clanton last Saturday afternoon.

By means of his wireless detecting machine for spotting "moonshine" Sheriff Littlejohn located the syrup bucket and concealed himself in a bunch of bushes close by to await further developments. Pretty soon he heard a car stop in the road a short distance away. Somebody got out and slammed the door and a voice was heard to say: "Now, by God boys, what if old Tom is settin out here in the bushes some where?" And sure enough, "old Tom" was out there, but they didn't find it out until Edwards got to the syrup bucket, placed a funnel in a bottle and began to fill her up. Then "old Tom" raised up and made his presence known.

Edwards was arrested and brought to jail.

LINDSEY CLECKLER ARRESTED

Lindsey Cleckler was found in possession of two bottles of whiskey last Sunday on the river near Mim's ferry by Sheriff Littlejohn and Deputy Foshee. At the approach of the officers Cleckler with some difficulty got his bottles out of his pockets and threw them into the river. One bottle about half full of liquor floated, and the other sank. The officers recovered both bottles of "evidence" from the water and brought Mr. Cleckler to jail. At the time this is written (Tuesday) he has not made bond.

In connection with the story of this arrest it is reported that just before the officers got to the river, Cleckler, Jack Bice and a man named Williamson came very near getting drowned when a boat capsized. The story says they were rescued by some other parties and saved from drowning. It is said that the three men in the boat were about drunk, which made them unable to save themselves when the boat turned over.

WEST CHILTON NEWS

Died at Randolph some days ago, Mr. Mat Merchant, an old gentleman well and favorably known. Burial at Antioch church.

Miss Bevie Smith of Birmingham recently spent a week with her mother, Mrs. T. J. Hubbard here.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Brantley of Birmingham visited at J. D. Hodgens Saturday and included the singing at Plantersville in their visit.

Rev. Dykes has resigned the pastorate at Pleasant Grove.

L. M. McCary and son, Rolly Waldrop and Relius Smitherman of Randolph recently went on a fishing trip with fine success.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Kinkade of Birmingham visited the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. H Hodgens, here Saturday.

Mr. Lee Smith, formerly of Randolph, now of Texas, is spending some time here enroute from the soldiers' reunion at Birmingham. He is an old Confederate soldier.

Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Posey recently visited their daugater, Mrs. Alice Martin at Birmingham.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Hodgens motored to Plantersville Sunday.

The candidates for commissioner keep coming. We feel sure the winners will not forget the roads of west Chilton. You know we want to be like other people and have our roads equal to the roads around Thorsby and Jemison. Perfection is the normal goal in everything, hence the continued demand on our county officials. The only way we see to save important rural sections of our county is by providing good roads and better educational facilites.

Sunday was a glorious day over at Plantersville. The old time singing was there. Rev. J. N. Scott of Jemison presided. There was a multitude of people present and such a fine dinner too. Enough to more than please the most fastidious. People were there from Selma, Birmingham, Jemison, Thorsby, Lawley. Several prominent visitors attended, W. F. DeShazo, Ex-commissioner Herrod, W. H. Conway, Rev. Littlejohn. Yes, some candidates too. Messrs. Scott, Gentry, and Waldrop were shaking hands with the voters.

We never shall forget our visit to Plantersville. Welcome was visible everywhere. Such a profusion of beautiful flowers on display in the church was enough to make every singer feel welcome. It was an occasion of joy, goodwill, friendship. How the people do enjoy those Sunday singings. The kindness of the Plantersville people and the happy occasion will be long remembered.

NITRATE OF SODA—I have another car of nitrate of soda which will be here the last of this week. If you need any, come and get it.—J. N. Dennis, Clanton. 6-3-1tch.

MUSICAL ENTERTAINMENT AND ICE CREAM SUPPER

There will be a musical entertainment and ice cream supper at the home of Henry Scott near Fairview Saturday night, June 5th. Everybody invited.—Henry Scott.

OLD TIME SINGING

The old time singing at Plantersville last Sunday was considered as good by all present. There was a bountiful supply of dinner, and in addition, two large tubs of ice water were kept ready, all of which we enjoyed very much.

Following the first song at 9:10 a. m., by J. N. Scott, prayer was offered by Z. J. Jones. J. N. Scott was elected chairman for the day. He appointed the arranging committee, and led song No. 88 while they were preparing their report.

The following leaders led 4 songs each:

W. L. Jackson, T. J. Baker, Mrs. Sarah Bates, W. A. Sanders, Marvin Jackson, Jack Langston, Miss Willie Pearl Cooper, T. J. Jackson, Miss Ordel Wilkins, W. B. Cooper.

Adjournment for one hour for dinner. Then the following sang three songs each:

J. D. Hodgens, E. D. Littlejohn, G. B. Williams, W. H. Conway, J. N. Scott, Mrs. Ruth Henley, J. N. Williams; T. J. Jackson sang No. 274 in the Harp, and closed out by singing No. 200 in the Harmony; prayer by Rev. Deason.

We will meet at the same place one year from this date.

There was some hand shaking during the day, as there were 3 candidates for County Commissioner present—Scott and Waldrup from the First District, and Gentry from the Second District.

May the Lord bless the people of Plantersville and those who attended until we meet again.—J. N. Scott.

IN MEMORY OF J. A. LOWERY

Thursday morning the death angel visited the home of J. A. Lowery and took him from this walk of life. His death was sudden and unexpected. On Wednesday he was at his daily occupation—on Thursday he was a corpse. His sudden death was a shock to his family and his many friends.

He leaves a wife and 7 children, besides a host of relatives and friends to mourn his loss. He has been a life-long citizen of Chilton County. His life as a citizen and neighbor has been such that he will be missed for years to come. He was a member of the Missionary Baptist church from his early years, and has been a faithful member of Providence church for 19 years, and a deacon for many of these years. We are sure that our loss is Heaven's gain.

The funeral was conducted by Rev. R. M. Honeycutt, and he was laid to rest in Providence cemetery.

The esteem and love of his friends was duly manifested by the beautiful floral offerings. May God's richest blessings rest upon the entire family in their sad bereavement.—W. F. Thompson, J. H. Martin.

ALL DAY SINGING

There will be an all day singing at Thorsby in the public school auditorium the second Sunday in June. All singers and lovers of music are invited to attend. Bring your song books and lunch for yourself and a friend. One of James D. Vaughn's famous quartets will be present.—James Franklin.

DRS. N. S. AND ARTHUR JOHNSON ENTER PARTNERSHIP

We learn that a partnership has been formed between Doctors N. S., and Arthur Johnson for the continued practice of medicine and surgery in Clanton. These men have practiced their profession here for many years, and need no introduction to the people of Clanton and Chilton County.

The office of Dr. Arthur Johnson has been at his nose and throat hospital for over a year past, where it will continue to be. Dr. Napoleon will remove his office to the same building.

Dr. Napoleon Johnson will continue to specialize in diseases of children. Dr. Arthur Johnson will pursue his special work of eye, ear, nose and throat treatment and surgery.

Together, the two docors will continue to conduct the eye, ear, nose and throat hospital.

STATE TO BUILD ROAD TO SOLDIERS HOME

VAUGHAN QUARTET COMING

News has been received in Clanton that the famous Vaughan quartet of Lawrenceburg, Tenn., will sing here on the 25th of this month. A more definite announcement will be made later.

CHILTON BLIND BOY HONORED AT HOWARD GRADUATION

Young Paul Oden, a blind boy whose home is in the western part of Chilton County, graduated at Howard College in Birmingham last week. The young man won an honor prize for the best proficiency in Greek. Other students would read his books to him once, after which he made his Braille text of what he needed to remember.

Mr. Oden, who is known and liked by lots of people in his home county, plans to enter the ministry. The record he has made at Howard speaks well of the young man, and the Banner joins his many friends in extending congratulations and wishes for the greatest possible success in his chosen profession of soul-winning.

TWO BIG STILLS DESTROYED IN COOSA COUNTY FRIDAY

Federal officer Gillespie, accompanied by two other Federal offices, raided two big copper stills near Quincey in Coosa county last Friday, destroying the outfits with a large quantity of beer and 10 gallons of whiskey. The outfits were in operation. Only one man, a young fellow by the name of Calfee, was at the stills. He was arrested and carried to Montgomery.

Calfee is said to be a Chilton County youth who had gone to Quincy to visit for a few days, and it is reported that he was employed by the owners of the stills to make a big run, which he was engaged in when the officers caught him.

ENGLISH AUTO EXPERT PRAISES ESSEX AUTOS

That English motor car manufacturers, seeking to improve the riding qualities of their cars, have turned to America for new ideas in spring suspension, and that several of them shortly will copy one of the best known and widely selling Yankee automobiles, is disclosed in a recent copy of the London Sunday Pictorial Review.

The British magazine, containing a "leading article" by E. M. Wright, celebrated British automotive engineer and automobile critic, featured trials made on the "Essex saloon"—as the coach is known in England.

Discussing the spring of the Essex, Mr. Wright wrote: "I liked everything about the Essex (except its nationality)—but, above all, I liked the springing.

"The makers do not pretend that there is anything out of the ordinary in the design of the latter, beyond the fact that the rear springs are splayed outward. But certinly the results are quite exceptional. On the worst roads the only motion imparted to the body is a slow, gentle rocking. Furthermore, the car holds the road like a leech at any speed within its range, which goes up over 50 miles an hour.

"The low center of gravity and the excellent suspension and road-holding qualities afford the feeling of absolute safety which is one of the many pleasent impressions conveyed by a run in this car."

Taking up other features of the American-built Essex coach, the English writer commented:

"Of the coachwork, I can hardly speak too highly. Whether one likes the appearance or not, is always a matter of taste. For myself, I must say that I like the lines of the Essex as well as those of any other saloon car on the market. For a closed car, it looks neat, even handsome, without being sporting, which too often means vulgar."

STEEL BRIDGES WANTED

The Commissioners Court of Chilton County, Alabama, will meet at Clanton, Alabama, July 5, 1926, at 11 o'clock a.m., for the purpose of receiving bids for two steel bridges complete, delivered at Clanton, Alabama.

Make price on two steel bridges, complete, 80 feet long, consisting of two 40-foot spans, one set of steel legs for each bridge 6 feet long, the county to build cement abutments for the ends of said bridges to rest on. Both bridges are to be constructed for wood floors.

All bids on said bridges to be in the hands of L. H. Reynolds, Judge of Probate, on or before 11 o'clock a.m., July 5, 1926. The county will pay cash for said bridges.

This, the 1st day of June, 1926.

CHEVROLET NEWS

A Chevrolet chassis, fitted with special "library" body accomodating hundreds of books neatly arranged on shelves, is entering its sixth year of service with the Evanston, Ill., public library, bringing literature to suburbs during the summer months when school branch libraries are closed.

The visits of the "circulating branch" are eagerly awaited by hundreds of children and adults in scores of communities near Evanston, according to Miss Ida F. Wright, librarian of Evanston, and is one of the most popular extension services ever inaugurated by the institution. Patrons wait on the streets for the arrival of the car, forming in orderly queues, to make their selection of books from the open shelves of the car. Withdrawal cards are stamped by one of the young men assigned to drive the car and act as librarians en route, and the library then proceeds to its next destination.

For ten weeks during the summer months the Chevrolet is used in this suburban distribution until the school branches open for the winter. It is then returned to headquarters to serve as a utility car for the main library. Evanston is the home of Vice-President Dawes and the location of Northwestern University.

The Chevrolet has given exceptional mechanical service, library officials say, and it has never been found necessary to supplement it with an extra car. Other communities are reported to be considering adoption of similar moving libraries.

Birthday Party.

A most enjoyable affair was on Tuesday afternoon when Mrs. D. C. Alred entertained in honor of her young son, Guy, whose fifth birthday anniversary was celebrated. Garden flowers were used to decorate the home. Games and contests were enjoyed. One contest affording much merriment was that of placing the candle properly on the birthday cake. William Hodges received the prize and J. Lee Smith the booby prize. In the dining room a color scheme of pink and white was artistically carried out. The table was centered with a large white birthday cake that held five burning candles. Pink and white streamers were extended from the chandelier to four corners of the table. Three baskets of sweet peas placed around the cake completed the decorations. When the cake was cut, William Hodges cut the button, Billie Retherford the dime, and Billie Johnson the ring.

A delicious ice course was served to Mary Frances Atkinson, Callen Alred, Peggy Page, Sam and Billie Johnson, Nell Rockett, Grace Ezell, Jake and Jane Neighbors, William Hodges, J. Lee Smith, Jane and Myrtle Pitts, Anne Cordelia and Frances Smith, Mary Calloway, Billie Retherford, Theda Wyatt, James Catherine Crumpton, Louise Messer, Cecil and Dorothy Carter, Olive Rainer Elmore, and Kin Vinson, Jr.

Mrs. Gowan Entertains.

Mrs. E. P. Stewart of Hope, Ark., who is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Arthur Johnson, served as the inspiration for a lovely domino party when Mrs. J. E. Gowan entertained on last Tuesday afternoon at her home on First Avenue. For this occasion the home was made most attractive with decorations of sweet peas, roses, delphinium, and nasturtiums. Mesdames J. B. Mauney and J. Lee Smith presided over the punch table. The table was beautifully appointed, the bowl being surrounded with sweet peas. The tally cards were passed by little Misses Ruth Gowan and Peggy Page. Tables for the games were arranged in the dining and living rooms. Each table was centered with a bowl of sweet peas. At the conclusion of the games Mesdames N. S. Johnson and Grady Broadhead held high scores; Mrs. Johnson drew the prize, a crystal basket. Mrs. Oscar Jones and Miss Kathleen Mullins cut for the booby prize, Mrs. Jones being the lucky one was presented a pretty hand embroidered guest towel. The honoree was given a beautiful piece fo Maderia linen. Mrs. Gowan, assisted by Mesdames J. Lee Smith, J. B. Mauney, Arthur and N. S. Johnson, served a delicious and beautifully arranged salad plate with iced tea. Several selections were rendered on the piano by Miss Marjorie Mauney.

Included in this hospitality were the members of the Study Club and a few others. Those present were Mesdames J. Watts Moore, John C. Page, Eric Hart, L. C. Ross, P. D. Wilson, Grady Reynolds, L. F. Gerald, T. C. McSwain, Oscar Jones, John M. Van Derveer, N. S. Johnson, J. B. Atkinson, J. A. Hester, Arthur Johnson, J. W. Hayes, J. P. Hayes, V. J. Heard, C. H. Baumhauer, J. Lee Smith, Meridith, Grady Broadhead; Misses Kathleen Mullins, Marjorie Mauney, and the honoree.

Mrs. McSwain Hostess.

Mrs. T. C. McSwain was hostess on last Thursday, entertaining the members of the Thursday Sewing Club and an additional group of friends at a luncheon at her home on Fourth Avenue. Sweet peas and other garden flowers adorned the home. The luncheon tables were beautifully appointed. Place cards with sweet peas marked the places of the guests. A four course luncheon was served, after which games were played. Mrs. McSwain was assisted in entertaining by Mesdames N. S. Johnson and Norman Roberts.

Those enjoying this hospitality were Mesdames V. J. Gragg, John M. Van Derveer, M. L. White, Bama Cox, J. Watts Moore, John Armstrong, C. Fenn Jones, J. C. Jones, J. Lee Smith, J. P. THEN AND NOW

Frederick I. Thompson, newspaper editor, assails John Rogers for suffering himself to be introduced recently by Judge L. H. Reynolds, of Chilton, to a Clanton audience, the sin being in the fact that Judge Reynolds is a Republican, while Rogers is a Democrat, though the subject of discussion at the time was a proposal to amend the State constitution. When amendments are voted on, men of all parties are eligible to participate. But 17 years ago it was not a sin from the Thompson point of view for a Democrat to be introduced by a Republican. In 1909, Governor B. B. Comer, now the business partner of Thompson, made his opening address in support of the prohibition amendment to the State constitution at Clanton. The meeting was presided over by Judge L. H. Reynolds. The gentleman who introduced Gov. Comer was Mr. J. O. Middleton, now U. S. District attorney. Both Mr. Middleton and Judge Reynolds were Republican leaders; both praised Gov. Comer in their speeches.

Moreover, Mr. Thompson has himself more than once been a job-hunter at the hands of a Republican president.—Montgomery Advertiser.

THE ORDER CHANGETH

The Civil War was fought to defeat sectionalism, to settle for all time that the Union is, above all, supreme. The aftermath was not pleasant and there were many bitter memories. War, no matter how fairly and bravely fought, always has it bitter memories.

Sixty years have passed since the great struggle ended, and now sectionalism is passing, too. Two later struggles in which the boys of the North and the South fought bravely side by side helped to wipe out the old feeling. The South has fully recovered and is now making strides along the path of progress and prosperity that may well astonish the world.

With the passing of sectionalism the old issues are passing too. The question of the tariff, for example, no longer brings an alignment of the North and the East against the South and West. For protective sentiment is growing more rapidly in the South than in any part of the country.

Good roads and myriads of automobiles are contributing their share. The northerner goes south in the winter and the southerner tours north in the summer. Each is finding the other a pretty good fellow and a good American.

Now we have a sterling American President, from old New England, journeying into the heart of the former Confederacy, taking with him not only a message of good will, but a modified theory of states rights, a theory which no longer divides us, North and South, Democrat and Republican.

The old order is changing, and the new order, if we stand firmly on fundamental principles, will bring us a better and even greater America.

Dr. H. M. Payne of Washington announced recently that potash deposits 500 to 1,500 feet deep and covering 60 square miles have been discovered in Texas. A few weeks prior to this announcement Herbert Hoover, Secretary of Commerce, said that the United States is now paying $15,000,000 a year for German and French potash and indicated that the recent combination between French and German interests may result in higher prices.

By mulching tomato plants with straw, leaves, or litter, moisture will be conserved, resulting in a longer fruiting season. Tomatoes are less likely to decay than where allowed to fall on the ground.

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

You will now have the opportunity of buying an Ericsson stamp. The Post Office Department is issuing 15,000,000 stamps of the five-cent denomination. The object for this, of course, is to commemorate the exploit of John Ericsson, builder of the little gunboat, the "Monitor," which played so important a part in the Civil War. The stamps are being issued in connection with the unveiling of the Ericsson statue in Potomac Park, Washington, which is taking place on may 29. The Crown Prince of Sweden is to be in Washington on that date, as it will be remembered that Eresson was one of our notable Scandinavian-Americans.

The unveiling of the monument comes very appropriately on the day before Memorial Day. Every school boy, of course, knows the story of the heroic exploit of the little monitor. When the unionists abandoned the Norfolk navy yard, they sank among other ships, the steam frigate Merrimac. Later the Confederates raised the hull and made it over into an ironclad, which they called the "Virginia." Captain Buchanan had charge of this formidable warship and on March 8, 1862, he sailed out to attack some union wooden warships lying in Hammpton Roads. Ramming the wooden Cumberland was easy work, and the ironclad next captured the wooden Congress and blew her up.

News of this disaster alarmed Washington, as it was feared that the new iron monster might force her way up the Potomac and shell the national capital. But something else new was coming. That night the little Monitor, invented by John Eresson, steamed into Hampton Roads. She was iron clad too, built on a new pattern. Her deck was nearly leve. with the water and the most visible part of her was a revolving gun turret. The Confederates jokingly referred to her as a Yankee cheese box on a raft, but later found that the Monitor was no joke. The strange little ship fought so effectively that the Merrimac limped away, going south, and not in the direction of Washington. And the little Monitor steamed insolently around the end of the bay, like a doughty bantam which has unexpectedly disposed of an adversary several times its size.

The Monitor may not have saved the Union, but she certainly saved the Union navy a lot of embarassing moments. And this battle between the Monitor and the Merrimac—for the name Merrimac survives in history—revolutionized naval warfare. Wooden ships were rendered archaic by that battle at Hampton Roads and the day of the ironclad had arrived.

Now, very fortunately, there is but one American navy. It is a fine navy of ironclads, and it represents the North, the South, the East, and the West. All sections are equally proud of it and all patriotic Americans want it kept to the top notch of efficiency, as strong and capable as our inernational agreements will permit. Of course we hope that it will not be needed for a long time for actual fighting, but no one can foretell what is ahead of the nation. Certainly the outlook, the world over, is none too encouraging so far as universal peace is concerned. And the best way to assure peace for ourselves is to be ready to defend America should the occasion arise.

Very few farmers are rich enough to allow their farm implements to rust out while being unprotected in fence corners and under trees.

The new milliner at the Boston Store got back yesterday from Chicago and when Sam Smith jokingly asked her what was the latest thing in silk hose, she said, "runners."

FAMOUS EXPRESSIONS ON MEMORIAL DAY

Following is a compilation of what some of our recent Presidents have had to say about Memorial Day. They were compiled by the National Republic:

Benjamin Harrison: I have never been able to think of the day as one of mourning. I have never quite been able to feel that the half-masted flags were appropriate on Decoration Day. I have rather felt that the flag should be at the peak, because those whose dying we commemorate rejoiced in seeing it where their valor placed it. We honor them in a joyous, thankful, triumphant commemoration of what they did. We mourn for them as comrades who have departed, but we feel the honor of their dying and the glory of their achievement covers all our great country, and has set them in an imperishable roll of honor.

William McKinley: Blessed is that country whose soldiers fight for it and are willing to give the best thy have, the best that any man has, their own lives to preserve it because they love it. Such an army the United States has always commanded in every crisis of her history. From the War of the Revolution to the late Civil War, the men followed that flag in battle because they loved that flag and believed in what it represented.

Theodore Roosevelt: Besides the material results of the Civil War, we are all, North and South, incalculably richer for its memories. We are richer for each grim campaign, for each hard-fought battle. We are the richer for valor displayed alike by those who fought so valiently for the right, and by those who, no less valiantly, fought for what they deemed the right. We have in us nobler capacities for what is great and good because of the infinite woe and suffering, and because of the splendid ultimate triumph.

Woodrow Wilson: America, I have said, was reborn by the struggle of the Civil War, but America is reborn every day of her life by the purposes we form, the conceptions we entertain, the hopes that we cherish. We live in our visions. We live in the things that we see. We live, and hopes abound in us as we live, in the things that we purpose. Let us go away from this place renewed in our devotion to daily duty and to those ideals which keep a nation young, keep it noble, keep it rich in enterprise and achievement; make it to lead the nations of the world in those things that make for hope and for the benefit of mankind.

Warren G. Harding: In the aspirations that we may gain through today's contemplation of the deeds of these, our heroes of all wars, we are called to look toward tomorrow's obligations. Our country has never failed to measure up to the demands presented to it in behalf of humanity, and never will. When it ceases to meet these drafts, it will no longer be our country; it will be, if that time ever comes, the wretched and decaying memorial of another civilization which has crumbled, of another ideal which has failed, of another ambition for men's happiness which has somehow gone away. We feel, aye, in our hearts we know, that ours is not to be that fate. We believe that the torch will flame more brightly in our hands, that we will hold it safe and high aloft, and that its light will help, at least, to point the way for humanity on the path of safety and in the task of building for all time.

Calvin Coolidge: Our country can not exist on the renunciation of the heroic souls of the past. Public service, from the action of the humblest voter to the most exalted office, can not be made a mere matter of hire and salary. The supporters of our institutions must be inspired by a more dominant motive than a conviction that their actions are going to be profitable. We can not lower our standards to what we think will pay but we must raise them to what we think is right. It is only in that direction that we shall find true patriotism. It is only by that method that we can maintain the rights of the individual, the sovereignty of the states the integrity of the Union, the permanency of peace, and the welfare of mankind. You soldiers of the Republic enrolled under her banner that through your sacrifices there might be an atonement for the evils of your day. This is the standard of citizenship for all time. It is the requirement which must be met by those who hold public place. That must be the ideal of those who are worthy to share in the glory which you have given to the name of America, the ideal of those who hold fellowship with Washington and Lincoln.

The annual fire loss in the United States is placed at $550,000,000, of which approximately $150,000,000 occurs on farms and in the smaller rural communities. It is estimated that from 70% to 90% of this loss on farms could be prevented.

On your girl.

Take him out for a game
Of golf. If he makes the
First hole in 70, see
That you make it in 75.
Be sure to remind him of—
"What a whale of a player"
He is!

Flatter his car even if
It is ready for the junk heap.
Tell him it "runs smoother'n Silk" though it shakes the Daylights out of you while Saying so.

Never argue with him or make
The mistake of calling
Him "a liar." If he says—
"The World Court is where the International tennis matches are held and that Florence

a famous actress"—
Remember—he's right—you're Wrong!

Keep telling him how you
Admire his brilliance and just
When you've got both his head
And chest swelling with pride
And he's smiling, say:

"Dad—May I marry your daughter?"

Then—

RAYMOND MERCHANT

The death of Raymond Merchant, which occurred at the Central Alabama Hospital on Friday, May 28th, was a shock to his many friends and relatives. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Merchant of Jemison, and was a splendid young man. He was 18 years of age. He was sick only a few days and no one expected that his condition was at all serious until a short while before his death.

THORSBY SECTION

(S. E. NORTON, Manager).

We desire to embrace this first opportunity to correct a very serious error which appeared in last week's issue of The Union-Banner, caused by a misunderstanding of the information we received concerning the standing of many high schools of Alabama.

We said Thorsby Institute was one of only four secondary schools in the State that were on the accredited list of the Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools of the Southern States. The fact is there are 52 high schools in Alabama that are on that list.

We should have said Thorsby Institute is one of four such schools in Alabama in the A-1 class or grade of that list. To attain this standing requires that all students of such schools who enter college for their freshman year should go through the year without failure in examinations on any subject they study. We sincerely regret any seeming attempt to cast ignominy on any educational institution of the State, which has never been our purpose.

Mr. Lawrence Lefstead of Birmingham, with his wife and little son and Miss Lillian Chambers were week end visitors, together with Mr. Waldemar Lefstead, a theological student in a South Carolina college, at the home of Mrs. Johanna Lefstead, their mother, in Thorsby.

Rev. Charles M. Coffelt, pastor of Christ Lutheran Church of Birmingham, made a business trip to Thorsby Monday and visited a few friends while here.

Rev. Thorwald Bakke, pastor of Thorsby Lutheran Church, left Sunday night for Minneapolis, to attend the national meeting of the Norwegian Lutheran Church of America.

Mr. J. L. Foss is expecting this week a visit from his brother, Mr. Albert Foss and wife from Oceana, Cal., whom he has not seen for upwards of 25 years.

Carl R. Peterson and family of Fairfield were week end visitors to kinfolks and friends in Thorsby.

Mr. Harry Peterson and family of Oxmoor were Sunday visitors at the home of Mr. Peterson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl C. Peterson.

Mrs. Nels Petersen and children spent Sunday with friends in Prattville.

Miss Clara Peterson of Birmingham visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Petersen, Sunday, accompanied by several friends from the city.

Miss Jennye Robinson and brother, Henry, made a business trip to Birmingham last Saturday. Miss Mary Sue Robinson will go to Birmingham Thursday to spend a week with her aunt, Mrs. Whitley.

Mr. Sam Goddard met with an accident Sunday afternoon which seriously injured his right hand and will prevent him from working for some time.

Last Saturday afternoon quite a party of Thorsby people motored to Gore's pond, where they enjoyed a good swim, followed by a picnic.

Miss Hattie Davenport and sister, Mrs. Williams, of Birmingham, are visitors at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Davenport. They attended the commencement activities at Thorsby Institute.

Mrs. Fred Howard is on the sick list this week.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Goddard and Mrs. J. E. Each and son, Cecil, spent Sunday afternoon visiting Mr. and Mrs. Albert Foshee and daughter, Etta. They also made a brief call on Mrs. G. L. Foshee, late of Thorsby, in her new home.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Goddard had as their guests last Sunday evening Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Smith.

Mr. A. T. Robinson from Kalign Bridge, near Eclectic, is spending a week with his family in Thorsby.

Omer Beasley of Jemison and Frank Vault of New York are spending a vacation visiting friends in Jemison and Thorsby.

Miss Era Robinson is spending a week with friends in Clanton.

Mr. J. Bice announces that he is manager of a new company just opening a "Sweete Shoppe" in Wade's new hotel building at Calera, where he will carry a good line of candies and soft drinks.

Thorsby Institute library will be open during the vacation every Friday afternoon between the hours of 2 and 5. Through the kindness of friends of the school there are now on the shelves, since the fire, more than 1,000 books, which may be taken out by anyone in the community who cares to read them and will observe the simple rules common to all well regulated public libraries.

Commncement exercises for the current week include the senior play, in which most of the senior class took part. The new auditorium was well filled, and all parts were creditably played, making the whole a very delightful entertainment. Sunday was Baccalaureate day, when the whole community united in services at 11 a.m., in the school auditorium. Rev. W. P. Lowery delivered a splendid sermon, taking for his text, "Seek Ye First The Kingdom Of God, and His Righteousness, And All These Things Shall Be Added Unto You." Other Thorsby ministers taking part in the service were Each, Butler, Bakke, and Bonner. Monday night came the annual declamatory contest, participated in by 10 contestants, Clara Grigsby, Dorothy Butler, Katherine Grace, Eva Mae Lynch, Jewel Bean, A. T. Arthur, Ragnor Ekblad, Hudson Williams, Coy Kirkland, Olin Williams. The young people showed great oratorical powers, and the judges had no easy task in awarding the prizes, $5 each to one boy and one girl. The declared winners were Katherine Grace and Olin Williams. Tuesday night came Class night, with its usual amusing incidents and the awarding of prizes to undergraduates, $5 in gold going to each of the following as having done best in the following subjects: French, Dorothy Butler; English, Betty Lakeman; Geometry, Dorothy Butler; Algebra, Ruth Champion.

Wednesday Commencement exercises were held, Prof. Axtell of Piedmont College, delivering the principal address. Then came the awarding of diplomas to the 16 graduates. At the close of the exercises the Ladies Guild of Thorsby sponsored the usual community dinner, which is always an enjoyable feature of such occasions. The Alumni Banquet Wednesday night came after our copy had gone to press and comment on that will be reserved for next week's issue.

LEGUMES IN CORN MIDDLES PAY WELL

Auburn, Ala., June 1.—Planting legumes in corn middles at the last cultivation is a very profitable practice. The Agricultural Experiment Sation at Auburn has a record of an experiment which ran 23 years, during which it was shown that the production of corn can be practically maintained year after year by applying enough mineral fertilizers and cowpeas in each corn middle when the last cultivation is bein made.

The experiment consisted of two plots, each of which received a mixture of acid phosphate and kainit at the rate of 160 pounds of each per acre. The only difference was that cowpeas were planted in the corn middles in one plot, but not in the other.

That receiving cowpeas averaged 19.2 bushels per acre during the first ten years, 16.2 bushels the second ten years, and 17.4 bushels the last three years.

The plot receiving no cowpeas produced an average of 17.1 bushels the first ten years, 10.2 the second ten years, and 8.8 bushels the last three years.

In practical terms the cowpeas almost kept the production up to what it was at the beginning, while that receiving no cowpeas dropped down to one-half.

The lesson taught by this is that a legume should be planted in each corn middle at the laying-by cultivation. Cowpeas and soybeans are both good. Although it is a little late to plant velvet beans, farmers have used them in this way to advantage.

Press dispatches from Boston based upon cabled advices from foreign countries say that Japan is consuming less American cotton but more foreign cotton this year.

If Michigan had a "Michigan Power Company" like Alabama has an Alabama Power Company, we don't believe Senator James would cast any slurs. Why should Senator James worry if Alabama Power Company spreads out a little? Alabama has just as much right to furnish all the "power" as Michigan has all the automobiles. There are a lot of important things that can be manufactured, or produced in Alabama—and Alabama knows it. We might say "in what States does Senator live," the question would be just as civil.—The Moundville News.

GULF

NO-NOX

MOTOR FUEL

STOPS KNOCKS

Turns Mountains into Mole hills

FOR many years mechanical engineers struggled to build automobile engines of higher compression. As compression is increased the power line goes up and the fuel consumption line goes down—ordinary gasolines would not withstand this higher compression without knocks, clicks, or detonations—accumulated carbon deposits increased this compression by decreasing the size of the combustion chamber—and the audible sounds of the engine distress grew louder.

It has been our good fortune to produce a gasoline that positively eliminates clicks, pings, and knocks.

Gulf No-Nox and Carbon are Power Twins

GULF No-Nox Motor Fuel withstands compression to a high degree; carbon, increasing the compression of the engine, ceases to be a nightmare as long as it does not interfere with valve action. In other words, it puts carbon to work. More power and greater efficiency is thereby accomplished, resulting in greater mileage.

With GULF No-Nox Motor Fuel in your tank—step on it—you will get the story better than we can tell it.

This Guarantee goes with it

GULF No-Nox Motor Fuel is Non-Noxious, Non-Poisonous and no more harmful to man or motor than ordinary gasoline—that it contains no dope of any kind—that the color is for identification only—that it positively will not heat the motor summer or winter.

GULF No-Nox Motor Fuel is priced three cents per gallon higher than ordinary gasoline—and is worth it.

TRAVEL
is the Great Broadening and Educating Influence

Plan this summer to see a different part of the world from that in which you live. See some of the great God-made, as well as man-made, wonders of the universe.

Different climate, different environment, different people—these are the things that make a vacation trip beneficial, from the standpoints of health, of pleasure and of mental stimulation.

The Louisville & Nashville Railroad is the great vacation line, affording excellent through service to the mountains, lakes, seashore, inland watering places, big cities and points of general interest. Ask any L. & N. Passenger Agent to help you plan your vacation trip.

Each year more people are traveling greater distances on American railroads. During 1921 the average ride of each passenger on this Railroad was but 48 miles, whereas during 1925 the average ride was 65 miles.

This Railroad carried 10,381,000 passengers during last year.

T. J. DORMINEY WRITES

Editor Union-Banner:

Please give me a little space in your valuable paper, as I am a candidate for Commissioner in the First District.

I want to say a few words to the voters of Chilton County. You all know I was elected when the county was almost in bankruptcy. The Commissioners thought for a while they would have to borrow money, as the County's credit was no good. You know the County's script was worth about 40 or 50 cents in the dollar. We talked of mortgaging everything we owned rather than let the County go under during our administration. Mr. Will Callen came to our relief, and loaned us $16,000, with the understanding that his money was to be paid back before our term of office was out. Mr. Callen loaned us money as long as we needed it. We had a court house to build, and the tick eradication law came in on us at the same time. I wish I could tell you just how much money was spent in tick eradication work. There was no way out of it but to dip out. We are promised by good authority that the quarantine will be lifted this year.

So, we have a new court house, are about rid of ticks, got a good road, bought a lot of road machinery, worked and made good roads all over the County, put in several steel bridges, have used several carloads of sewer pipe on the roads, and the County has as good credit as any County in the State.

I am not bragging, as I have done no more than my duty. I have had a lot of help from the Judge and the other Commissioners, and can not thank the voters of Chilton County enough for what they have done for me. Now, if the voters of the County will give me the office of County Commissioner one more time I think we can pay old Chilton out of debt. That is our plan now. When that is done I can go back to Stumps Hills perfectly satisfied with the work I have done for the County.

Now, the voters can see how much I lack of having my task finished—to leave the County out of debt. I have four mighty good men out against me, and if the voters want one of the others in First District, alright with me, and I will do all I can for the Republican nominee. While I think August 10th will settle the matter, I am with the majority.—T. J. Dorminey.

AN ORDINANCE

To prohibit the maintenance of a nuisance and provide for the abatement of same.

Be it ordained by the Town Council of the Town of Clanton, Alabama, as follows:

Section 1.—Any person who creates or causes, permits or suffers any nuisance on his lot or premises, or on any lot or premises of which he has charge or control, or on any street, or who does any act or creates, causes or permits the existence of anything calculated to endanger the safety of the Town or the lives, health or comfort of the citizens, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Section 2.—Whenever any nuisance dangerous to the health, safety, comfort or morals of the public shall be found to exist on the lot or premises of any inhabitant of the Town, or within the police limits, and it shall be found necessary to have the same removed and abated, the Health Officer shall immediately notify the owner or occupant of such lot or premises, or the person who causes or permits such nuisance, to forthwith abate the same, allowing in the said notice such reasonable time for the abatement of such nuisance as the nature of the case and the public good may require, and any person who fails to abate such nuisance after due notice, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

Read and finally adopted this the 10th day of May, 1926.

Of our old Chevrolet some folks make fun—
They say she was born in 1801.
Maybe she was, but I'll bet you
She'll beat any car and it brand new!

* * * *

She gets by on the least of gas
That ever I have seen;
She isn't the least bit hard to drive
For a driver who's ever so green.

* * * *

She'll go where no other car can go—
Over the mountains, high or low;
And bet your life, my folks say
Grand old things of our Chevrolet.

* * * *

Some folks say she has a knock;
I can not believe it is so;
She goes right on through the mud,
As well as ice and snow.

* * * *

They are the cars that everyone needs
For economical use;
They are the cars you don't have to feed
So much expensive juice.

* * * *

If you want to buy a good car,
Let me give you some good advice—
Just go and buy a Chevrolet—
It sells at a reasonable price.

NEW CHURCH BODY IN CLANTON

The church building and grounds recently sold by the colored people of Salem Baptist church in East Clanton, have been bought by members of the Church of God in Christ, better known as the "Temple." Repairs will be made on the building and finishing touches applied throughout.

Supporters of the new church are former members at the Temple, and are headed by Rev. L. P. Adams, pastor.

Arrangements are being made for an extended evangelistic campaign and conference during the coming summer, which will be in charge of Rev. Adams, who will be ably supported by several ministers from other branches of the church. Announcement will be made as to when this meeting will begin, etc.

"Power Companies' Bid Far More Advantageous"

Says Government Advisory Board, in its report to Joint Congressional Committee. Described as better from standpoint fertilizer production, financial return to Government and future investment of people's money. Report published below, together with excerpt from public record, showing why and by whom, board was appointed:

Excerpt From Deneen Report, No. 672, Sixty-Ninth Congress

"Your committee invited the Hon. Dwight F. Davis, Secretary of War; the Hon. Hubert Work, Secretary of the Interior; the Hon. William M. Jardine, Secretary of Agriculture, members of the Federal Power Commission—and the Hon. Herbert Hoover, Secretary of Commerce, to confer with it and requested their aid in securing the services of technical experts and advisers to assist the committee in its work. They suggested the organization of an advisory board and recommended the following persons, who have assisted the committee in its investigations and negotiations:

"1. Brig. Gen. Edgar Jadwin, Assistant Chief of Engineers, United States Army.

"2. Mr. Paul S. Clapp, representative Department of Commerce.

"3. Dr. S. C. Lind, Associate Director Fixed Nitrogen Research Laboratory, Department of Agriculture. (Dr. F. G. Cottrell, director of the Department of Agriculture, was the representative for the Department of Agriculture until he left for Europe on April 16.)

"4. Mr. C. A. Bissell, Bureau of Reclamation, Department of the Interior.

"In addition to the foregoing, the following gentlemen assisted materially in the studies:

"Lieut. Col. George R. Spalding, Corps of Engineers; Maj. Max C. Tyler, Corps of Engineers; Maj. Philip B. Fleming, Corps of Engineers; Mr. F. A. Ernst, Department of Agriculture; Maj. James H. Burns, Ordnance Department, United States Army; Maj. Glen C. Edgerton, Chief Engineer, Federal Power Commission; Dr. P. E. Howard, Ordnance Department, United States Army."

Report of Government Advisory Board

The results of an anlysis by the Government Advisory Committee were summarized in the following letter:

April 23, 1926.

Hon. Charles S. Deneen,
Chairman Joint Congressional Committee on Leasing Muscle Shoals, United States Senate, Washington, D. C.

Dear Senator Deneen: In accordance with your verbal request, your advisory committee has given consideration to two revised bids, one from the Air Nitrates Corporation and American Cyanamide Company, and the other from the associated power companies.

We have endeavored to make a comparative analysis of these two bids from the following main standpoints:

(a) National defense.
(b) Fertilizer benefits to agriculture.
(c) Distribution of power not required for national defense or in fertilizer manufacture.
(d) Monetary return to the United States.
(e) Additional expenditures required by the United States or other considerations to be given by the United States.
(f) Guaranty of performance.
(g) Situation at end of lease period.

* * * The outstanding points under each head may be summarized as follows:

(a) NATIONAL DEFENSE—Both bidders provide in a satisfactory manner for maintenance of properties in a state of readiness for national defense. The Air Nitrates Corporation until Congress shall decide that this is no longer necessary. The Associated Power Companies until the Secretary of War shall so decide.

(b) FERTILIZER AND BENEFITS TO AGRICULTURE—It appears from this study, so far as the production of fertilizer is concerned that, because of the seemingly better assurance of reaching the 40,000 tons of nitrogen production and through a process of present and apparently future greater possibilities for lessening costs, and also because of the larger invested capital which will in itself be an incentive to keep up production, the proposal of the Associated Power Companies is more advantageous. It is believed, however, that the feature of a discontinuance of production because of a storage of fertilizer containing 5,000 tons of nitrogen would be improved by an amendment requiring one year's production in storage.

(c) DISTRIBUTION OF POWER NOT REQUIRED FOR NATIONAL DEFENSE OR IN FERTILIZER MANUFACTURE—The bid of the Air Nitrates Corporation provides that surplus power will be available to the lessee, the American Cyanamide Company, and/or its subsidiaries for use in their own local industries at Muscle Shoals, for other local industries, and for distribution in Alabama and other States. The Power Company bid provides for distribution of surplus power through a system of transmission lines already constructed and in operation covering a large territory in Mississippi, Alabama, Tennessee, Georgia, South Carolina, and North Carolina. These lines are tied in with auxiliary plants operated by interconnected companies. This gives opportunity for fullest utilization of surplus power, both primary and secondary, and from this standpoint the Power Company's bid carries out more fully the spirit of the congressional resolution.

(d) * * * The installation of Dams Nos. 2 and 3, and, in the case of the Power Company's bid, the steam plant, return to the United States under the two bids will be as follows:

MONETARY RETURN TO THE UNITED STATES:

(Note: The Power Companies' offer in this respect was amended after this report was compiled. The revised figures follow):

Rental Payments on Properties as They Stand Without Obligation of United States to Expend Further Sums

Air Nitrates Corporation

Dam No. 2	$ 75,509,000
Annual Average	1,510,000
Headwater Improvements	None
Total	$75,509,000
Annual Average	1,510,000

Associated Power Companies

Dam No. 2	$88,300,000
Annual Average	1,766,000
Headwater Improvements	48,000,000
Total	$136,300,000
Annual Average	2,718,000

If United States Builds Dam No. 3, the Net Return Will Be

Air Nitrates Corporation

For Dams Nos. 2 and 3	$ 95,739,000
Annual Average	1,914,780

Associated Power Companies

For Dams Nos. 2 and 3	$181,348,000
Annual Average	3,626,960

These estimates indicate that financially, i. e., looked at from the standpoint of the United States and its taxpayers, the Power Company's bid is far superior.

(e) ADDITIONAL CAPITAL INVESTMENT REQUIRED OF THE UNITED STATES BY BIDDERS—Air nitrates bid requires additional capital investment by the Government of $39,360,000, while the Power Company requires no additional appropriation by the Government. * * *

The air nitrates bid sets up as a prerequisite the granting to a subsidiary of the bidder by the Federal Power Commission, of preliminary permits for the Cove Creek, Cenator, Melton Hill and Clinton Dams, all on Clinch River, and issuance by the commission of licenses therefor if desired by the company. The Power Companies' bid requires no permits or licenses. * * *

The Power Companies' bid, in that it does not further complicate the situation by requiring further additional appropriations and further license commitments, is the more advantageous offer.

(f) GUARANTEES OF PERFORMANCE—The American Cyanamide Company definitely guarantees the performance of the obligations of the Air Nitrate Corporation. The Associated Power Companies do not appear to provide a definite guarantee on the part of the distributing company for the performance of the fertilizer company, beyond the provision of capital, and the ownership of the common stock. In this particular the Cyanamide Company is better.

(Note: Subsequent to this letter the Power Companies' offer was amended to provide for a forfeiture of both power and fertilizer contracts if the fertilizer company defaulted in its contract.)

(g) CONDITIONS AT END OF LEASE PERIOD—Both bidders provide for recapture by the United States of additional generating units and/or other power facilities built by lessee at own expense, and both bidders abandon to the United States all buildings and equipment built on leased property by and at the expense of lessee for manufacture of fertilizers.

Air Nitrates Corporation reserves right to remove within reasonable time all buildings and equipment built by it for other purposes. Both bids are satisfactory in this respect.

Inasmuch as both bids are satisfactory from the standpoint of national defense, and the Associated Power Companies' bid is so much better from the standpoints of fertilizer performance, financial return to the United States, and freedom from complications incident to additional appropriations, in the opinion of your committee, the Power Companies' bid is far more advantageous.

Respectfully submitted,
EDGAR JADWIN,
Assistant Chief of Engineers (War).
PAUL S. CLAPP (Commerce).
S. C. LIND (Agriculture).
C. A. BESSELL (Interior).

Singing School Begins At Concord July 5th

Arrangements have been completed for the singing school to be taught at Concord schoolhouse this summer. It will begin on Monday, July 5th, and promises to be an exceptionally fine school.

The school will be conducted by two teachers, both of whom are recognized as the best music teachers in this part of the State. It will be taught jointly by Prof. W. M. Devaughn and Prof. L. T. Grant. Neither of these men need much introduction to the people around here. They are both fine singers and as for teaching they have proven their ability at the various schools they have taught at different times and places for the past several years.

It will be a rare privilege for those wishing to learn more about sacred music to attend this school. All the different grades will be taught from primary rudiments to advanced harmony, and there being two competent teachers, there will be ample time for each class to be drilled thoroughly in their particular courses.

J. H. BENSON WRITES

To the Voters of Chilton County:

As the voters of this county know, the time is not far off when they will go to the polls to cast their votes for a commissioner for the second district. I am writing this letter in view of the fact that it will reach practically all of the voters of the county, and as you may know, it will be almost impossible for me to see and talk to every voter of the county.

I wish to emphasize the fact that I have no objections to the work of the present commissioners, neither do I think that I am better fitted for the place than my competitors in the race. But, if I am the choice of the people then I shall put forth every effort to the upbuilding of our county, and I believe if I have a chance to show to the people my work as commissioner of this county, they will not regret their choice.

I was born and reared in this county and have watched the progress of the county affairs every year; therefore, I have made it a study of the best ways of doing the work of a commissioner to the greater satisfaction of the tax payers of the county.

As you may know, I was defeated four years ago, asking for the same place I am now asking for, but I took it as my part, like any true Republican should do.

In conclusion I wish to say I hope to see and talk to you all, but if I should not, do not consider yourself slighted, and remember I am ready to explain where I stand at any time you may see or write me.

Thanking you in advance for your careful consideration, I am,

Yours truly,
J. H. BENSON.

OUR TRADE BALANCE

Uncle Sam is now having an unusual experience, at least one that is decidedly unusual for him since 1914, and that is in having to do with an unfavorable trade balance. In April the exports came nearer to balancing the imports than in any previous month of the year 1926, but even at that there was an unfavorable balance of $10,000,000, the exports totaling $388,000,000 as against imports of $398,000,000.

The $10,000,000 doesn't look so big but it is to be remembered that it brought the unfavorable trade balance of the first four months of the year up to $136,000,000. It is to be remembered also that in April, 1925, our trade balance was a favorable one in the sum of $52,000,000, so that we were $62,000,000 behind in the balance of trade in April, as compared with the same month a year ago.

Ten months of the current fiscal year, which ends July 1, have already gone by and our favorable trade balance for the 10 months is $250,000,000. But most of this excess of exports was gained back in the year 1925, and this balance is not so reassuring when we compare it with the balance for the first 10 months of the fiscal year 1925. Then the trade balance was $998,000,000 in Uncle Sam's favor, showing that there has been a great falling off in our trade balance during the present fiscal year.

This change in the trade balance does not, of course, mean that we are about to be plunged into a terrific slump, but it is worth watching, just the same.

In the meantime, those in America in favor of protection and other nationalist policies can have a good laugh at the expense of the free traders and internationalists. These latter economic experts have been telling us that it would be impossible for Europe to pay us what she owes us, and it would be impossible for us to maintain any considerable foreign trade unless we repealed the Fordney-McCumber tariff law and went back to a tariff for revenue only basis. This assertion was based on the belief that our tariff was so high that Europe could not pay us in goods and would be unable to buy from us because she wouldn't have any money to pay with.

The present situation of the trade balance indicates that these internationalists, always seeking to help Europe at the expense of Uncle Sam, have made a very bad guess. The "iniquitous" tariff law is still on the statute books and Europe is sending us more goods than ever. If you don't believe it, just step into a city department or chain store and notice the amount of European goods on the counters. Then when you get outside again, look into the windows along the street and see the tremendous sales they are making on dresses, shirts and other garments made of genuine English broadcloth and other imported materials.

It begins to look as though the anti-tariff campaign which the free-traders planned to wage this fall will not get beyond the teething age.

POLK BROTHERS BUY BUILDING FOR CHEVROLET

Polk Brothers, local Chevrolet dealers, have bought the building which they occupy on Sixth Street, from Mr. J. B. Downs. With the building they also bought additional space north to the corner of Sixth Street and First Avenue, including the building occupied by White's Garage.

The Polks have made a splendid record with their business here and are preparing for great things in the future with Chevrolet. Their business is destined to grow far beyond its present proportions, and the purchase of this property places them in a position to take care of it.

Mr. W. M. Polk, member of the firm, is now a citizen of Clanton, having recently brought his family here from Columbiana. He lives in the A. L. Robinson house on First Avenue. We are glad to have him and his family in Clanton.

JACK HAYES PLAYING BALL WITH ALICEVILLE

Jack Hayes, Clanton's crack shortstop, is playing ball this season with the Aliceville team. He is piling up honors on his former record, handling his position in his usual manner and hitting better than before. In a game last Saturday against Elrod he contributed to the victory of his team by a home run.

E. D. Dawson of Jemison Route 1 was a visitor at The Union-Banner office Tuesday.

Uncle Dock Wells of Thorsby was a visitor to Clanton Tuesday.

TO CLOSE STORES ON THURSDAY AFTERNOON

We, the undersigned merchants and business men of Clanton agree to close our places of business, and to remain closed during the afternoon of each Thursday, beginning Thursday, June 17, and ending August 20:

Parrish's Style Shop, Elmore's, W. A. Kemp, Hugh Jones, Mullins & Moore, W. Z. Hodges, Alred Mercantile Co., Powell Pressing Shop, Sanford Barber Shop, J. R. MACK BROADHEAD CANDIDATE FOR TAX ASSESSOR

Announcement has been filed in the office of the Probate Judge by Mack Broadhead as a candidate for Tax Assessor of Chilton County in the Democratic primary of August 10th. Mr. Broadhead is a well-known merchant of Clanton, a member of the firm of J. R. Broadhead & Sons. He is the only Democratic candidate yet to announce for Tax Assessor. Two Republicans are running, S. M. Pate, present incumbent, and Kin Vinson.

Donald Merchant has moved his stock of goods from Clanton to Thorsby. His place in the Rockett building has been occupied by W. W. Fox.

Call For Republican State Convention at Birmingham

By direction of the Republican State Executive Committee of Alabama the following call for a Republican State delegated convention is hereby promulgated, convention to be held in the city of Birmingham, Alabama, Wednesday, August 18th, at 12 o'clock noon, for the purpose of nominating a candidate for United States Senator and candidates for all other state offices to be elected in Alabama at the general election to be held in this state on the 2nd day of November, 1926, and to elect a new Republican state organization for Alabama, and its officers.

The Republican electors of the several counties of Alabama entitled to representation in this convention and all other electors without regard to past political affiliations, who believe in the principles of the Republican party and endorse its policies, are cordially invited to unite under this call in the election or selection of delegates from the several counties to this convention, and to take part in all county or precinct meetings, conventions or primaries held under this call.

Delegates elected from the several counties entitled to representation in this convention shall be selected or elected in the following manner: By primary elections held in conformity with the laws of this state, on the 10th day of August, 1926, or by County Mass Meetings held at or near some voting precinct or district of the County on the 10th day of August, 1926, as provided by the laws of this state, or in County delegated conventions held on the 11th, 12th, 13th, or 14th day of August, 1926, and in case of a county delegated convention the delegates from the several precincts or voting districts of the county shall be elected at precinct or voting district meetings held at or near a voting place in such precinct or voting district on the 10th day of August, as provided by the laws of this state.

That the representation of the counties of this state in this convention shall be one delegate for each one hundred and fifty votes, or majority fraction thereof, cast for the candidates for Presidential Elector in the Presidential election of 1924 of this state on the Republican ticket. Provided that any county of this state that cast as many as twenty-five votes for such Republican electors in said election, wherein there is a regular Republican county organization, shall be entitled to one delegate in this convention.

Upon the basis of official election figures furnished to the State Executive Committee, the apportionment of delegates from the several counties of the state to this convention is as follows:

Autauga 1, Baldwin 4, Barbour 1, Bibb 2, Blount 10, Bullock 0, Butler 1, Calhoun 5, Chambers 1, Cherokee 6, Chilton 11, Choctaw 0, Clarke 0, Clay 7, Cleburne 5, Coffee 2, Colbert 4, Conecuh 1, Coosa 3, Covington 1, Crenshaw 1, Cullman 11, Dale 2, Dallas 1, DeKalb 23, Elmore 1, Escambia 1, Etowah 11, Fayette 7, Franklin 15, Geneva 3, Greene 0, Hale 0, Henry 1, Houston 2, Jackson 6, Jefferson 38, Lamar 2, Lauderdale 5, Lawrence 3, Lee 1, Limestone 1, Lowndes 0, Macon 1, Madison 2, Marengo 0, Marion 6, Marshall 11, Mobile 12, Monroe 0, Montgomery 2, Morgan 3, Perry 1, Pickens 1, Pike 1, Randolph 4, Russell 0, Shelby 12, St. Clair 10, Sumter 1, Talladega 4, Tallapoosa 1, Tuscaloosa 2, Walker 16, Washington 1, Wilcox 0, Winston 7.

That each county may elect as many alternate delegates as such county may be entitled to delegates in the convention under this call; provided that no more than one alternate for each delegate shall be elected or seated in the convention, and alternate delegates shall vote only in the absence of the delegate for whom such alternate was elected.

That immediately after the holding of a county primary election, a county mass meeting or county delegated convention in the respective counties, the Chairman and Secretary of the County Executive Committee, in case of a primary election, and the Chairman and Secretary of the county mass meeting or county delegated convention, as the case may be, shall make and certify to the list of delegates and alternates elected in said county and immediately forward such list to Charles B. Kennamer, Secretary of the Republican State Executive Committee at Birmingham, Alabama, such list of delegates and alternates from the county.

The Republican State Executive Committee shall meet, and is hereby called to meet, at some public place in Birmingham at 1 o'clock p.m., on Tuesday, August 17th, the day preceding the state convention, and receive from the Secretary of this Committee the credentials or list of delegates from the respective counties, and shall hear and determine all matters of contest, make up the temporary roll of the convention, recommend to the convention the temporary officers for the convention, and the Chairman and Secretary of this Committee is hereby directed to procure a suitable public hall or place for holding the convention and make all other necessary arrangements for the same.

The Republican county organizations of each county is hereby directed to meet some time between now and the 1st day of July, 1926, and by proper action determine the manner of electing delegates from the county to this convention in conformity with this call, and in conformity with the laws of this state, and said county organization shall give twenty days' notice of the manner and of the place at which delegates are to be elected from the county to this convention, and where practicable such notice shall be by publication in some newspaper in the county, and where this is not practicable by the printing of circulars or posters and distributing them throughout the county.

That printed copies of this call shall be mailed by the Secretary of this Committee to each member of the committee, and to the Chairman and Secretary of each Republican County Committee of this state.—J. M. Atkins, Chairman of the Republican State Executive Committee of Alabama; Charles B. Kennamer, Secretary of the Republican State Executive Committee of Alabama.

This, the 12th day of May, 1926.

WYATT-JONES WEDDING

Mr. Claudy Wyatt and Miss Evie Jones were married last Saturday night by Judge Gulledge at his home in South Clanton. After a trip to Jasper the happy couple returned to Clanton to make their future home. Their many friends extend best wishes.

SUMMER SCHOOL AT STANTON

I wish to announce that I will teach a Summer School at Stanton in the public school building, beginning on Monday, June 28th.

An opportunity will be given those deficient in part of their studies, or those who failed to complete their grades this year, to finish their year's work, so that they may be able to begin their new year next session on an equal with the rest of their respective grades.

If desired, a special class in arithmetic will be offered. For further information apply or write to H. A. Harris, Stanton, Ala. 6-10-2t-ch

ARTHUR WILLIS TAKES OVER GULF AGENCY HERE

During the past week the management of the business of Gulf Refining Company in this territory has passed into the hands of Mr. Arthur Willis. The former manager, Mr. Frank Culpepper, has been forced to give up the business on account of ill health.

The Gulf business in Chilton County is already well-known, as is also Mr. Willis, the new manager, he having been in the business under Mr. Culpepper ofr the past year or more.

The Gulf Refining Company puts out that Good Gulf Gasoline, No-Nox, and Supreme Auto Oils. On the merit of their goods they have established a wide range of customers who are served by filling stations in all parts of the county.

In the capacity of manager for Gulf Refining Company here Mr. Willis will have charge of the wholesale distribution of Gulf products, which is done by a fleet of trucks which operate with Clanton as a base.

Mr. Willis is a hustling business man, and his friends are congratulating him upon his elevation with the Gulf Company. The many friends of Mr. Culpepper regret that his health has forced him to retire from active business. We hope he may soon regain his normal condition.

LIBERTY HILL

The Liberty Hill-Cedar Grove singing society met here Sunday afternoon with a very large crowd present and good singing. The president being absent, Mr. Zack Lowery conducted the singing. Directors for the afternoon were Zack Lowery, Kermit Lowery, Harrison Hayes, Misses Etta Foshee, Estelle Price, Bertha Melton, and Mr. Houston Melton. Organists were Misses Lucile Price, Onzelle Eiland, and Mrs. Paul Littlejohn. A quartet was rendered by Alpheus Littlejohn, Kermit Lowery, Gresham Smith, and Hershel Lowery. A short talk was made by Rev. A. L. Foshee which was enjoyed very much. We thank the visitors for their presence, especially those from Plantersville. We meet at Liberty Hill on the first Sunday afternoon, and at Cedar Grove the third. You are always welcome.—D. W. Ward, Sec'y.

Big Barbecue Saturday July 3rd At Clanton

The ladies of the Clanton Methodist church are preparing their plans for the big barbecue and celebration day at Clanton on Saturday, July 3. The High School grounds will be used for the center of activities, where a fine barbecue will be arranged for the public, as well as plenty of cold drinks and all kinds of refreshments. Tables will be built on the grounds and everything fixed up for serving everybody who will come.

A committee will have charge of the arrangements of the program of entertainments, and every effort will be made to put on a program that will be entertaining. Speakers will be given a chance to talk to the folks, and it is probable that the candidates for state and county offices will have a chance to lay their claims before the people.

As soon as posible a detailed program for the day will be printed. Meanwhile, the ladies extend an invitation to everybody to come to Clanton on July 3, assuring you that they will amply provide for your comfort and amusement. Watch for further announcement.

AUTO WRECK ABOVE TOWN SUNDAY NIGHT

A Ford coupe driven by Otto Jones was hit by a Stutz racer on the highway about two miles above Clanton last Sunday night. The Ford was turned over and broken up considerably. The Stutz was so disabled that it had to come back to town for repairs.

Mr. Jones was driving out from town and when he slowed down his car to turn around he was hit by the Stutz which was following close behind him.

ICE CREAM SUPPER

There will be an ice cream supper at Floyd Patterson's, near New Salem church on Saturday night, June 12.

John M. Robinson of Deatsville was a visitor to Clanton Tuesday, coming to see his father, Uncle Mose Robinson, who is in ill health. Mr. Robinson has bought 40 acres of land at the pecan grove on the Montgomery highway, where he is faming.

Mr. Oliver Mullins of Jumbo was among the visitors to Clanton Tuesday.

The French are now trying to collect a part of what Russia owes them. The French certainly have an optimistic, never-say-die spirit.

Press dispatches from Boston based upon cabled advices from foreign countries say that Japan is consuming less American cotton but more foreign cotton this year.

We learned when we studied physics that heat expands everything, and this is doubtless why the price of gasoline swells up in warm weather.

Must See Ahead

If there is a sharp curve in the road, you go slow. You want to see what's ahead. After dark you will not drive without lights for the same reason.

Being able to see ahead is what insures safety and success, no matter what the undertaking. In financial as well as other affairs, the only way to look into the future is by the light of the past. Successful men have worked, planned and SAVED. Why not follow the light they have given and do likewise? Our Bank will help you.

Chilton County Becomes A Factor in State Races

(From The Birmingham Age-Herald)

Montgomery, Ala., June 5.—Chilton County promises to come more and more prominently into the political picture of Alabama as the campaign of 1926 progresses. Chilton County's politics is dominated absolutely by one man, and he is a Republican. Judge L .H. Reynolds rules with an iron hand in his domain and has even aspired in the past to supersede O. D. Street, who is referee of the national republican administration in Alabama matters. Judge Reynolds holds the office of probate judge of his county.

It may seem strange for a Republican county and a Republican leader to be playing any part in Democratic party affairs in Alabama, yet it is brought about by a very definite concatenation of circumstances. Among these are the fact that Judge James J. Mayfield, a candidate for the United States senate, is counsel for Judge Reynolds in the varipus matters of litigation in which he finds himself engaged from time to time. Judge Mayfield also is personal advisor and counsel for Gov. W. W. Brandon, so that if need should arise for executive action of any kind against the probate judge of Chilton County—as has been indicated by recent developments—Judge Mayfield would be in position of prosecutor, when at Montgomery, and defender, when at Clanton.

There is also an exceptional bond of intimacy between Judge Reynolds and John A. Rogers, chairman of the state highway commission and reputed "master's voice" in the gubernatorial ear. Judge Reynolds introduced Mr. Rogers at the meeting in Clanton the other day when Mr. Rogers discussed before a Republican audience of less than 100 people a question upon which there is difference of opinion in the Democratic party in Alabama—namely, whether county superintendents of education should be elected by the people directly, or by the county board of education, which are elected by the people as at present. Through Judge Mayfield and Mr. Rogers there is probably no man in Alabama who has a closer and more direct route to the ear of Governor Brandon than has Judge Reynolds of Chilton County.

In connection with the relations between Republican Chilton County, and the Democratic state administration, it is interesting to note the warmth of Judge Reynolds' advocacy of the $75,000,000 bond issue proposal sponsored by Mr. Rogers, fostered by Governor Brandon, and nursed by Charles S. McDowell. The finest stretch of pavement which has been built by Mr. Rogers in Alabama is the 35 miles of concrete highway through Chilton County, a part of the Birmingham - Montgomery highway. It is a good pavement and ought to have been built. Birmingham-Montgomery highway pavement was completed in Shelby and Chilton counties, two of the counties which went for Reynolds when he was Republican candidate for the United States senate against Underwood a Democrat, long before pavement of the Birmingham-Montgomery highway in the Democratic counties of Jefferson, Autauga and Montgomery.

Attitude of Commissioners

The attitude of Judge Reynolds and the Chilton County commissioners toward this road is shown by the following resolutions adopted at Clanton May 10:

That, whereas the State of Alabama, through the highway department, has constructed a cement road through Chilton County, said road being in length about 35 miles; and that whereas said road has recently been completed with the exception of occasional gaps over unsettled fills, said road being federal aid project 100-A and 100-B; that whereas some parts of said road have been in constant use for 12 months, and out of the total length of said road approximately 12 blocks will have to be replaced; and in view of some criticism of said road, the commissioners court of Chilton County, Alabama, on this, the 10th day of May, 1926, hereby declares and publishes the following resolutions:

First—We regret the fact that any criticism of this road should have come from any citizen of Chilton County, in view of the fact that Chilton County, without practically any cost, has been fortunate enough to have constructed through it a road of this character.

Second—We believe that we have 35 miles of road that will compare favorably with any constructed in the United States, and we want to compliment the highway department for its splendid cooperation during the construction of the road and the satisfactory manner in which it dealt with the public in regard to right-of-way, sewers and turnouts.

Third—Lastly, be it resolved, That the commissioners court of Chilton County, Alabama, extend its grateful appreciation to the highway department for this splendid road.

L. H. Reynolds, Judge of Probate; T. J. Dorminey, J. M. Mims, J. L. Burnette, A. P. Vinson, commissioners.

Factor In State Politics

Judge Reynolds is a factor in the politics, not only of his county, but also in the state. When he ran as Republican candidate for the senate against Senator Underwood, the Democratic nominee in 1920, he received 71,337 votes as compared with the 155,664 received by Senator Underwood. Reynolds received 7,653 votes in Jefferson County, and carried 10 of Alabama's 67 counties, as follows: Chilton, Cleburne, Cullman, DeKalb, Fayette, Franklin, Shelby, St. Clair, Walker, and Winston. That his influence and ability, together with his relations with Judge Mayfield, Mr. Rogers and Governor Brandon will make him a factor in the approaching August primary, and in the efforts to carry the $75,000,000 bond issue, is recognized by those familiar with the politics of Alabama.

THE BUSINESS MAN

Of the 12 members of Congress from Alabama 11 are lawyers—not one business man. Former Governor Kilby is the only business man in the race with experience in legislation. He knows the needs of Alabama. Send him to the United States Senate. (Paid political adv., by Kilby Club, Anniston). 8-5.

TAKE SUMMER COURSE AT MONTEVALLO

Misses Hixie Mae and Lillabel Golden of Walnut Creek community, and Misses Jewel and Pearl Miner of Clanton left Monday for Alabama College at Montevallo, where they will take a course in training for teaching. These are studious young ladies of noble character and high ideals, and we wish for them much success as they prepare themselves for life's work.

Oscar Bean of Thorsby was a visitor to Clanton Monday. Mr. Bean has just finished construction work on the new Thorsby Institute auditorium and will soon begin building the new negro school at Thorsby.

FRANK CULPEPPER SICK

We learn with regret that Mr. Frank Culpepper is in such a state of ill health that he has been forced to resign his position with the Gulf Refining Company here and give up active busines pursuits.

His many friends hope that he may soon recover. His place as manager of the Gulf business has been taken by Mr. Arthur Willis.

RESOLUTIONS

Cooper, Ala., June 5, 1926.

To the Worshipful Master, Wardens, and Brethren of Amanda Lodge No. 250 A. F. & A. M.

Dear Brethren:

With bowed heads we must again acknowledge the work and wisdom of the Supreme Grand Master of the universe in the death of our dear friend, Brother J. M. Grant. Brother Grant was born in Coosa County, July 31, 1867, where he lived until 1897, when he moved to Chilton County, where he spent the rest of his life, a great part of which was spent in the membership of this lodge.

Whereas, the long and intimate relation held with him in the faithful discharge of his duties in this fraternity makes it eminently befitting that we record our appreciation of him; therefore,

Be it Resolved, That the wisdom and ability which he has exercised in the aid of our order by service, contributions, and counsel, will be held in grateful remembrance;

Be it Resolved, That the sudden removal of such a life from among us leaves a vacancy and a shadow that will be deeply realized by all the members and friends of this organization, and will prove a serious loss to the community in which he lived;

Be it Resolved, That with deep sympathy to the bereaved relatives of the deceased Brother we express our hope that even so great a loss to us all may be overruled for good by Him who doeth all things well;

Be it Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the records of this lodge, a copy be printed in each County paper, and a copy sent to the bereaved family.—T. D. Whitworth, John C. Dennis, C. D. Hughes.

Brock Wells and a friend, Mr. Hobbie, from Selma, came over Monday and spent the day fishing at Lock 12.

Green Retherford went to Birmingham last Saturday and brought back a truck load of "Buffalo Rock" bottles.

WANTED --- 50 YOUNG PEOPLE
TO ATTEND THE SUMMER SCHOOL AT CLANTON

In keeping with the educational policy of a number of towns and cities, we shall begin a six-weeks Summer School at Clanton, Ala., on July 19th. This school is given for the benefit of pupils who are deficient in their grades, pupils who wish to shorten their time in school by doing some extra work, and adults who are not satisfied with their education. All grades through the Junior High School will be taught.

In this school special emphasis will be placed on the Palmer Method of Business Writing. Sixty-four pupils in the Clanton Grammar school received Palmer Diplomas last year.

The fee for all grades above the fourth will be $6.00; for the fourth grade and lower, $4.00.

For further information call or write W. E. MARTIN, Clanton, Ala., or Miss THELMA GUY, Wetumpka, Ala.

ALL DAY SINGING AT INDIAN GRAVE

It has been announced that there would be an all day singing at this place the third Sunday in June, but on account of most of the good singers having other appointments for that day we have decided to have the singing the fourth Sunday.

We invite everybody to come and be with us, and especially the good singers. Bring your song books and a well filled basket.

AROUND PLETCHER

Sunday was our regular preaching day at Pilgrim's Rest. We were glad to have a good crowd out.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Cherry were visitors in this community Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Ousley and family attended preaching service at Bethel Sunday.

Misses Cordelia and Lula Johnson, and Mr. Dorby Sims attended W. O. W. services at Sardis Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Ousley spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Williams.

Don't forget our preaching and prayer service at Alpine every third Saturday night.

ANOTHER CHEVROLET "LOCOMOTIVE"

Described by veteran circus men as "the most novel advance car ever sent out by a traveling show," a replica of a railroad locomotive on a one-ton Chevrolet truck chassis, hauling a miniature railroad coach, is on a tour of 12 states with the Morris and Castle circus.

The passenger coach also serves as a ticket and band wagon and is a feature of the parades in every town where the circus exhibits.

Traversing country roads and city streets, the strange looking "trackless train" has been the center of curious crowds of spectators wherever it has appeared.

Plans supplied by the Kansas City Southern Railroad enabled Brownlee Wells Motors, Inc., Chevrolet dealers in Shreveport, Ia., headquarters of the circus, to build the locomotive over the Chevrolet truck chassis. It is an exact duplicate of one of the road's big "Moguls" and is strikingly realistic. The locomotive was christened "Shreveport" by request of the Shreveport Chamber of Commerce.

The advance man of the show, the press representative, contract man, and a band of 16 men find accomodations in the passenger coach during their travels. Ample room, assuring riding comfort on the long tour, has been provided. After leading the parade preceding exhibitions, the train is set up as the official ticket office at the circus grounds.

Members of the party assert no circus ever sent out a more economical "railroad" car. They have found their tour can be arranged with more convenience, as their schedules can be altered to suit varying conditions, and no delays result from awaiting train orders.

Due to the weight of 12 tons carried and drawn by the one-ton truck, careful tests were made previous to the start of the trip. It was found the truck had ample power to handle the load efficiently. Economy of operation was the determining factor in selecting the Chevrolet as the power unit. Chevrolet service stations act as "round houses" for the locomotive in each city visited.

All you have to do to start a riot in the Senate now is to get up and yell "wet or dry."

SOCIETY

Mrs. Grady Broadhead, Editor.

Mrs. Jones Hostess.

On last Friday Mrs. Oscar Jones entertained at her home on First Avenue at a bridge luncheon, when Mrs. E. P. Stewart of Hope, Ark., who is the guest of Mrs. Arthur Johnson, was the honored guest. Quantities of sweet peas, delphinium and gladioli were used to decorate the home. A three-course luncheon was served on small tables arranged on the screened porch. Each table was centered with a basket of varicolored sweet peas and delphinium. Attractive combination place and score cards were used. Following the luncheon a series of bridge games was played. Miss Kathleen Mullins held top score and was given a bottle of bath salts. Mrs. Eric Hart won the booby prize, a small bottle of perfume. The guest of honor was presented a box of powder.

Those included in this lovely hospitality were Mesdames J. C. Jones, H. M. Simpson, Carrie Mullins, C. H. Baumhauer of Mobile, Hosea Downs, Eric Hart, V. J. Heard, Grady Reynolds, N. S. Johnson, John Browder, Frank Callen, Arthur Johnson, J. Watts Moore; Misses Bettie Mullins, Kathleen Mullins, and the guest of honor.

Bridge Club Entertained.

The members of the Wednesday Bridge Club were entertained by Mrs. John Browder last Wednesday afternoon at her home on Sixth Street. The decorations for the home on this occasion were of sweet peas, dahlias, roses and delphinium. Bridge was played at three tables arranged in the living room. The high score prize, a pretty boudoir pillow, was won by Mrs. N. S. Johnson.

A delicious plate with iced tea was served to Mesdames J. Hance Alred, Frank Callen, Lawrence Gerald, V. J. Heard, Arthur Johnson, Oscar Jones, N. S. Johnson, J. Watts Moore, Grady Reynolds, H. M. Simpson; Miss Kathleen Mullins. The invited guest was Mrs. E. P. Stewart of Hope, Ark.

Thursday Sewing Club.

Mrs. J. Watts Moore delightfully entertained the Thursday Sewing Club and a number of extra guests on last Thursday afternoon at her home on Fifth Street. The home was attractively decorated with sweet peas and pansies. Various kinds of sewing furnished diversion for the afternoon.

The hostess, assisted by Mrs. T. C. McSwain, served a delicious salad course with iced tea to Mesdames Arthur Johnson, E. P. Stewart, C. H. Baumhauer, J. E. Gowan, T. C. McSwain, S. J. Ezell; Miss Bettie Mullins.

Former Clanton Girl Honored.

Appearing in the gravure section of The Birmingham News Sunday, June 6, was a picture of six girls who were students at Woman's College, Montgomery. Among them was Miss Theo Headley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Headley, formerly of Clanton. Miss Headley received her A. B. degree at Woman's College this spring. The following comment accompanied the picture: "The prettiest girls in Alabama," as selected by one of the leading studios of New York from the student body of Woman's College of Alabama, at Montgomery."

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Cole and family, Mrs. Willard Nontom and daughter, Carolyn, of Attalla, spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Danforth.

Mr. and Mrs. Grady Reynolds and children, Grady, Jr., and Morgan, motored to Birmingham Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Hance Alred went up to Birmingham Saturday and returned in a new Buick sedan that they purchased recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Mullins and baby of Mitchell Dam spent the week end with relatives.

Mr. Grady Reynolds returned Saturday from a two weeks business trip to Washington, D. C.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Lee Smith and children motored to Birmingham Sunday and visited relatives.

Mr. John T. Morgan of Columbia, S. C., spent the week end with his sister, Mrs. Grady Reynolds, and Mr. Reynolds.

Friends of Mr. Reed Mullins will regret to know of his illness.

Mrs. C. N. Huggins and children, Charles and Nell, of Birmingham, are the guests of Mrs. Huggins' parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Jones.

Mrs. J. E. Gowan and children, Ruth and Paul, plan to leave Saturday for a two weeks stay at Mentone. While there Mrs. Gowan will attend the Baptist Sunday School summer assembly.

Little Miss Mary Courtney Jones returned Monday from a week's visit to relatives and friends in Birmingham.

Mrs. Amzi Gowan and children, William and Mildred, of Brewton, are expected to arrive the latter part of the week to spend some time with relatives.

Birthday Party.

A most enjoyable affair was on Monday afternoon when Mrs. Ocie Powell entertained in honor of her daughter, Kathleen, whose 10th birthday anniversary was celebrated. Potted plants and cut flowers were used to decorate the home. The gift basket was decorated with blue, with a huge bow on the handle. The dining room was decorated in white and blue. In the center f the table was a large white cake which held ten blue candles. Around the cake were placed daisies and sweet peas, which completed the decorations in the dining room. The living room was decorated with roses, daisies, sweet peas, and pot flowers. When the cake was cut, Jack Gillespie cut the dime, and Edith Parrish the button, which drew a doll.

Mrs. Powell, assisted by Miss Inez Kittrell, served a delicious ice course to the following: Miriam Kittrell, Owen Glenn Sanders, Agnes and Bernice Powell, Arlene Sanford, Jack Gillespie, Winston Powell, Jeff Miller, Gladys Martin, Virginia Nell Sanford, Dandy Lee Sanford, Winston Calloway, Thomas Sanford, Eloise and Margie Nell Jones, Roberta Marcus, Ruth Miller, Gladys Thomas, Mike Pickens, Edith Parrish, Flora Thomas, Mavis Miller, Ruth Jones, Vivian Lowery, and Verlon Goodgame.—Contributed.

Mesdames Ellis and Duncan Joint Hostesses.

A pretty affair of the week was Tuesday afternoon when Mrs. Latham Ellis and Mrs. Lucien Duncan were joint hostesses, entertaining the members of the Young Matron's Club and others at a forty-two party at the home of Mrs. Ellis on Eighth Street. A profusion of garden flowers in baskets and tall vases were placed in the living and dining rooms, where six tables were arranged for the games. The punch table was artistically decorated and was presided over by Mrs. Lucien Duncan and Miss Elizabeth Duncan. Following several games of forty-two Mesdames Loren Smith and Bill Murphy, members of the club, held top scores and cut for the prize. Mrs. Smith received a bottle of bath salts. The guest prize, a box of Coty's powder, was presented to Mrs. Norman Roberts. Mrs. Leon kemp, who rendered a number of selections on the piano, was presented a string of beads. The hostesses, assisted by Misses Elizabeth Duncan and Mary Ellis, served a salad plate with iced tea.

Included in this hospitality were Mesdames Lester Jones, Julius Burnett, Joe Calloway, Norman Roberts, L. C. Ross, Grady Heflin, Leon Kemp, Hubert Jones, Bill Murphy, Kin Vinson, John Browder, J. P. Crumpton, W. M. Wyatt, Flem Higgins, Milton Smith, Loren Smith, Earnest Hartley of Montgomery; Misses Della Latham, Mary Upchurch, Leslie Polk, Elizabeth Duncan, and Mary Ellis.

Rev. and Mrs. Henry Crumpton and daughters, Lucile and Cerita, of Brewton, were guests of Mrs. J. Watts Moore Monday. They were enroute to visit relatives in Birmingham.

Mr. Charles Moore returned Wednesday from a week's visit to relatives in Montgomery.

Mrs. J. M. Curlee spent the week end in Birmingham with her sons.

Mrs. W. C. Robinson made a business trip to Birmingham Monday.

Miss Iola Gerald of Thorsby is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Gerald.

Misses Dorothy and Louise Cole of Attalla are guests of Misses Mildred and Janice Danforth.

Miss Alma Robinson left Tuesday for Havana, Fla., where she will be the guest of Miss Margaret Robinson for a fortnight.

Mr. Arthur Broadhead of Birmingham spent Sunday night with his father, Mr. J. D. Broadhead.

Mr. and Mrs. Loyd Popwell and daughter, Mildred, of Birmingham, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Calloway Sunday.

Mr. Udah Curlee returned Tuesday evening from Jacksonville, where he attended the State Normal School.

Mrs. John Hollis and baby of Mitchell Dam are guests of Mrs. J. Hance Alred.

Young Matron's Club.

The Young Matron's Club was entertained by Mrs. Milton Smith on last Thursday at her home on Sixth Avenue. Baskets and vases of varicolored summer blossoms decorated the home. Late in the afternoon a delightful ice course was served by the hostess.

Enjoying this hospitality were Mesdames Flem Higgins, Leon Kemp, Grady Taylor, Lucien Duncan, and Latham Ellis.

Birthday Party.

Miss Hilda Hart entertained a few friends on last Wednesday afternoon at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eric Hart. The occasion was in celebration of her ninth birthday anniversary. A variety of golden flowers decorated the home. Various outdoor games were played on the lawn.

The little hostess, assisted by her mother, served a tempting ice course to Celia Gerald, Helen Moore, Nell Ross Mullins, Sallie Mahan, Ruth Gowan, Eloise Rasberry, Nell Neighbors, and Peggy Page.

Parrish McKinney.

A marriage of interest to many was that of Miss Mamie McKinney of Mitchell Dam and Mr. Erle Parrish, which took place in Prattville June 10. Mr. Parrish holds a responsible position with the First National Bank. They will make their home with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Parrish.

Mrs. Dennis Knowles of West Point is visiting her sister, Mrs. J. Mell Martin.

Child-birth

Here is a wonderful message to all expectant mothers!

When the Little One arrives, you can have that moment more free from suffering than you have perhaps imagined. An eminent physician, expert in this science, has shown the way. It was he who first produced the great remedy, "Mother's Friend." Mrs. C. J. Hartman, Scranton, Pa., says:

"With my first two children I had a doctor and a nurse and then they had to use instruments, but with my last two children I used 'Mother's Friend' and had only a nurse; we had no time to get a doctor because I wasn't very sick—only about ten or fifteen minutes." Use "Mother's Friend" as our mothers and grandmothers did. Don't wait, start today, and meanwhile write to Bradfield Regulator Co., BA 46, Atlanta, Ga., for a free illustrated book containing information every expectant mother should have. "Mother's Friend" is sold by all drug stores—everywhere.

BOOSTING THE HOME TOWN

Quite often we get good sound advice to the effect that we ought so far as possible to buy goods made in America. It is the theory of the protective tariff advocates that when American goods are bought and consumed the money goes to keeping American workers employed and American capital active.

And if it is true, as it undoubtedly is, that we ought to favor American goods wherever possible, it is also true that we ought in the same measure favor the goods which are manufactured and sold in our home community. For just as we are in favor of building up American industries as a whole, we should strive for the progress and prosperity of the town or city in which we live.

It is a good rule, therefore, to patronize the business men of our own community and to purchase so far as possible goods manufactured in the home community. A great many American cities feature this home consumption campaign. They ask the people to buy from local merchants, and they ask the merchants to push, so far as possible, the goods manufactured at home. And communities which feature this patriotic rule are always numbered among the most progressive in the whole country. Their business slumps are few and far between and they are often prosperous and progressive when communities with less civic consciousness are floundering in the slough of depression.

After all, it is the community in which we live that shapes our character and the characters of our children. If the community is clean, progressive, with a fine sense of civic pride, and with good local institutions, we are apt to be happy and progressive ourselves. And to form such a community we must keep the civic consciousness alive, and, as far as possible, keep our money at home for local development.

TEXTILE INDUSTRY MOVES TO THE SOUTH

The South now has 46.86% of all the cotton spindles in the United States and during 1925 consumed 65.09% of the cotton used in American mills, it is shown in the Southern Railway System's textile directory for 1926, just issued, according to James Freeman, division passenger agent.

Continued growth of the textile industry in the territory served by the Southern Railway is noted. One thousand and forty-three textile plants operating 13,178,395 spindles, 260,241 looms and 47,736 knitting machines, were scheduled January 1, 1926. Including projects under construction at the end of the year, 140 additions were made to plants during 1925.

In the directory of the growth of the cotton textile industry and the consumption of cotton in the South as compared with other parts of the country are shown by diagrams. The rate at which the textile industry is moving south is shown by the fact that since 1922, there has been a net increase of 1,786,995 spindles in the South as compared with a net decrease of 847,061 spindles elsewhere.

A map shows the distribution of spindles in the territory served by the Southern's lines, the electric power transmission lines and the coal fields in this territory, showing its advantages at a glance.

The railway serves cotton mills with 13,349 looms and 744,613 spindles in Alabama, knitting mills with 1,624 knitting machines, and braider mills with 5,000 spindles and 300 braiders. Of the total number of mills eight are operated exclusively by steam, six by steam and electricity, and 23 by electric power exclusively. —The Birmingham News.

WHY A MERCHANT MARINE?

The unfavorable trade balance that steadily refuses to right itself so far as the United States is concerned, is beginning to attract pretty general notice among American economists, and all sorts of reasons are given, and varied effects predicted. The general opinion seems to be that while this condition, if unremedied, can not immediately affect the prosperity of the country, yet it will bear watching so far as the future is concerned.

The change about has certainly proved that our protective tariff is not too protective. Indeed, the present situation proves embarassing to all the internationalists who predicted that if we kept our present tariff, maintained our merchant marine, and insisted on the payment of the European debts, we would ruin the chances for world trade, because the rest of the world could not buy from us.

It is rather significant that the low tariff people, those opposed to government aid to a merchant marine and the debt cancellationists seem to be allied, mentally at least.

Take those who don't want a merchant marine and who profess to believe that the duty of carrying the world trade belongs to Great Britain and not to the United States. They base their attack on opposition to any sort of subsidy or other assistance by the government to the American merchant marine. Their chief argument has been that if we insist on controlling our own markets and in carrying our own goods across the seas, we will defeat our own purposes, because Europe will be ruined, and that pretty soon we will have no trade at all. They predicted that our present nationalistic policies would ruin the world, and this, of course, included ourselves. They argued that it was better to permit foreign ships to carry our trade for the reason that this would check the trade balance in our favor and give Europe some money with which to buy our goods.

Of course this argument was simply another phase of internationalism. The first argument in favor of a merchant marine is not so much economic, as patriotic. We need a merchant marine for our national safety in time of war, and we ought to have enough national pride to want to see our flag flying in every sea in time of peace.

But aside from all this, the present international trade situation proves the internationalists wrong in their economic arguments. We are still trying to do what we can to maintain our merchant marine, and are going to do more in the future, if the people of America have their say. Yet our foreign trade has not declined and, judging from the trade balance, our maintenance of a merchant fleet and a protective tariff has not impoverished Europe.

The fact is that there are both patriotic and economic reasons for maintaining our merchant marine. The patriotic ones have just been mentioned. One economic reason is that by maintaining our own routes of ships we will protect ourselves from a foreign shipping gouge which would be just as unpleasant as the recent foreign rubber holdup.

It may be stated further, all other claims of the internationalists to the contrary, that so many different elements enter into the makeup of foreign trade and the conditions affecting it, that no statement about what the tariff, or the merchant marine, or the debt policy will do to affect trade can be accepted as conclusive. Our present unfavorable trade balance bears out this assertion.

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

Just now the newspapers are full of the disarmament conference. Some statesmen seem to be of the opinion that the man who does not advocate total disarmament is in favor of war. Nothing could be farther from the truth. George Washington himself believed that the best way to preserve peace was to have an army and navy which would at least command the respect of the world.

Those who favor total disarmament say that the time has come when all nations should lay down their arms by agreement. All well and good. The United States has few to lay down except those which are in the hands of the gun-men. No sane person objects to the limitation of armament by universal agreement. But a great many wise men believe that this is now impossible of attainment.

They say that the only way really to end war is to abolish the causes of war, which are the oppression of minorities, and the fear and prejudice of one country for another. But minorities and majorities are so intermingled in Europe that it seems impossible to devise a scheme for the limitation of boundaries which will please everyone. Even the treaty of Versailles was a distinct failure in this respect. And it is going to be difficult to abolish fear in Europe so long as Russia is a menace against all of the capitalist governments of the world

There is one form of pacifism that is really dangerous to the country, and that is the cult which preaches that America should disarm entirely as example to the rest of the world. This doctrine would be dangerous indeed, except for the fact that so few people believe in it.

To understand the full limit of its folly we have only to consider the case of China. The Chinese disarmed fully, and we all know how much respect this gained for them from the rest of the civilized world. They have been kicked and buffeted around until the Chinese have become the football of international politics.

And this disarmament has not even given the Chinese the advantage of peace at home. Because of the helpless condition of the government China has been torn by civil wars for a generation. In fact, civil war in China has become so common that it no longer gets on the front page of the American newspapers.

This internal situation in China brings up another question. Suppose we could eliminate international wars by agreements and limitation of armaments. What effect, if any, will this have toward reducing the number of civil wars? These have always been more numerous and more bloody than the international wars, and it is just as inconvenient to be killed in civil as in international combat. Could any international agreement or limitation of armament have prevented our own civil war?

This abolition of war and limitation of armament problem is more complicated than it seems at first glance. The only encouraging thing about it is that the world as a whole seems more tired of war than it has been for some little time. How much of this is due to exhaustion and how much to change of sentiment remains to be seen.

PRESENT TARIFF IS NOT SUFFICIENTLY PROTECTIVE

That the present protective tariff law not only is not excessively protective but is proving insufficiently protective in the light of post war developments is the statement of Geo. B. Lockwood, who writes editorially in the National Republic under the caption "Danger Ahead." In commenting on the present tariff situation Mr. Lockwood says:

"While the existing tariff law is attacked as excessively protective, the predictions of those who have insisted that it is insufficiently protective are borne out by official statistics.

The balance of trade against the United States in March was approximately $70,000,000. During January the unfavorable balance was $36,000,000 and in February $19,000,000. For the first quarter of the year the unfavorable balance of trade aggregates $125,000,000. If the same rate of loss should be continued throughout the year we will be a debtor nation on foreign trade account for a half billion dollars, due chiefly to increasing imports.

These figures do not tell all the story, because imported goods come in under foreign valuations, which are only a fraction of the American value and the price charged for them in the United States. To this drain must be added our large payments for freights to foreign shipping, immigrants' remittances and expenditures of American tourists abroad, a total of more than a half billion more. The only important offset is the excess of income from American investments abroad over foreign income on American investments—about a half billion dollars.

Unless our tariff rates approach the difference in American and foreign labor costs, American industry and finance must suffer from the drain of gold thus foreshadowed.

When a wife asks her husband to "fire the big Swede cook"—he doesn't know yhether she's recognizing his authority in the home or just asking a favor.

Lose your temper on a wife and she'll only smile. But if she loses hers and she as much as sees a twinkle in your eye—you're going to be out the price of a set of new dishes.

MULBERRY CELEBRATES HUNDREDTH ANNIVERSARY

On Sunday, May 30, Mulberry Church celebrated its 100 anniversary. The exact age of the church is not known, but from reliable sources it is known to be more than 100 years old. Many of the members who are now living at other places, and many who once held membership in this old church were present Sunday, and it was much like a big family that has been scattered to the four winds of the earth come together for the first time in years. It was truly a great day. Many of the former pastors were present, and had part on the program.

An effort was made to get a list of all the men who have ever been pastors of this church, but I am sure we did not get every name. We did our best, and here they are: William Lee, Raines, McCord, Ruddick, A. E. Burnes, J. G. Lowery, Connell, Maness, Adams, Winsor, Bevis, H. G. Williams, F. M. Wood, Olive, Hays, Mills, Mitchell, Lawrence, and perhaps a man by the name of Chrockin.

Brother Adams and Bro. Mitchell spoke about the noble men of God, and told how that Bro. Raines walked from Coosa County to preach to this church.

Rev. J. D. Martin of Bibb County preached the sermon. We were very sorry that Bro. J. O. Williams could not be with us, but Bro. Martin had a worth while message to deliver to us.

Another interesting part of the program was the speech of Bro. Connell on the pastors and missionaries gone out from Mulberry church. Three of them are holding responsible positions at this time; another is a young man just finishing Howard, Paul Oden.

In the afternoon the 1927 program for Southern Baptists was discussed by Bro. Deason and others.

Everybody went away feeling that the day had been well spent. Many thanks for the splendid dinner prepared by the women of this community.—B. Lawrence.

MULBERRY-ISABELLA NEWS

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Thomas are the proud parents of a baby girl. Mr. Thomas went to Tallapoosa County last Sunday to get Mrs. Thomas' mother, Mrs. Laney, who will spend a while with them.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Williams made a business trip to Selma Saturday on business in connection with Mulberry church.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Edwards visited their children in Birmingham last week end.

Mr. Thomas Lecroy who has been attending school at Auburn, spent a few days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Lecroy, last week. He left Sunday for Memphis where he has a position.

Mrs. D. O. Manning visited her sister, Mrs. W. R. Screws, in Jasper recently.

Messrs. Earl Williams and Russell Martin of Birmingham visited Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Williams Sunday. Mrs. Williams returned with them to Birmingham to spend a while with her sons Carlos and Earl.

Mrs. J. H. Wells and children, Mrs. R. E. Tucker and children, Mrs. C. H. Oliver, all of Birmingham, and Mrs. C. T. Farmer of Montgomery visited their parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. O. Manning, recently.

Mrs. M. Belcher (Mary Bell Woolley) died at the hospital in Selma May 30, and was buried at Antioch Monday. She had many friends in this community. We extend our sympathy to the bereaved.

The Mulberry W. M. U. met with Mrs. A. J. Lecroy Saturday afternoon and enjoyed a good program. We meet with Mrs. H. R. Oden June 19.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Veazy and children, Pauline and Renfro, visited relatives in Jemison Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Deshazo spent Sunday with Mrs. Deshazo's sister, Mrs. John Wright, near Jemison.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson from Selma were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. O. O. Calfee Sunday.

Sometimes we doubt whether the farmers of the country will be entirely ruined if Congress adjourns without finding a remedy for them.

GUM-DIPPING
the Extra Process for Extra Miles!
Breaks all Tire Records

The 500 Mile Speed Classic at Indianapolis has always been a Battle of Tires. In 1911, Firestone won with fabric tires at 74.59 miles per hour. In 1920, Firestone won with cord tires at 88.55 miles per hour. In 1925, Firestone won with Full-Size Gum-Dipped Balloons at the record breaking average speed of 101.13 miles per hour.

In 1926, Firestone again won with Full-Size Gum-Dipped Balloons. The ten cars to finish "in the money" were all Firestone-equipped. They went the distance without a single blowout and with but two tire failures—one due to a puncture and the other to a leaky valve.

The Mark of Quality

This performance is even more remarkable when you consider the terrific speeds at which the cars traveled over this fifteen-year-old, rough brick track.

Experienced race drivers will not risk their lives or chances of victory on any other tires. And in the commercial field, large truck, motorbus and taxicab fleet operators, who keep careful cost records are among the big users of Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires.

The City Transportation Co., of Tacoma, Wash., writes "One of our 12 buses on Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires has gone over 40,600 miles and still looks good for many miles of extra service For all around tire safety and mileage, Firestone cannot be beat."

From Calumet Motor Coach Co., Hammond, Ind., the following: "We operate 40 buses all equipped with Gum-Dipped Tires. The very low cost per mile on which these tires operate is considerably less than that of any other make." Hayes Bus Lines, Columbia, S. C., say: "We operate 19 buses equipped with Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires. A number of these tires have run over 45,000 miles without ever having been removed from the rim."

The largest taxicab companies in the world standardize on Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires. W. R. Rothwell, taxicab operator, Detroit, Mich., writes: "Two of my Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires have run 76,000 miles."

Hundreds of thousands of car owners voluntarily testify to the safety, comfort and economy of Full-Size Gum-Dipped Balloons. W. H. Peacock, Birmingham, Ala., testifies: "I have had Firestone Balloons for thirteen months and they have delivered in that time 24,469 miles." H. C. Staehle, Minneapolis, Minn., says: "My Firestone Balloons have gone 49,900 miles and are still in good condition."

These records of endurance, speed, safety and mileage could only have been made because of Firestone development of the Gum-Dipping process which insulates and saturates every fiber of every cord with rubber, reducing friction and heat and building greater strength and endurance in the cords—assuring you at all times—

The Chief Telephone Expense Is Taxes and Wages

THE wage and tax bill of this company for the year 1925 amounted to $12,469,603.

These two items alone are more than 70 per cent of the entire cost of producing your service.

Since 1916 the tax bill has increased 354 per cent and the wage bill has increased 267 per cent. During the same period the average investment in service has increased 132 per cent.

In Alabama the taxes for 1925 amounted to $375,124, an increase of 303 per cent since 1916, while the wage bill for 1925 was $1,883,906.

Although taxes form such a large part of the cost of producing telephone service, we have no objection to paying our just share of taxes. This is a duty of citizenhip which we perform cheerfully.

While the cost of producing telephone service has increased, like the cost of all forms of government, the rates charged our customers for the service have not increased in anything like the same proportion as taxes, wages and other expenses.

Such facts as these are of interest to telephone users, and indicate the care and economy observed in the business of rendering telephone service.

BRITISH CAPITALISTS

The capitalist class is gaining in Great Britain. This does not mean that the rich are growing richer and the poor are growing poorer, but that more people in the ranks of the workers are steadily becoming capitalists as well as workers.

Statistics recently gathered in London show that there are 16,000,000 Britons who have safely put by in the banks, in small sums, the amount of 1,750,000,000 pounds, and this is taken to mean that there would be at least 16,000,000 votes against a capital levy or any other sugar-coated measure put up by the British reds at the inspiration of Moscow.

According to one British economist, "these are remarkable figures and although they are not sufficient to justify anyone in stating that poverty is a thing of the past, they go to prove that there is a much wider distribution of wealth now than at any time in the history of the country, and that capitalists, so far from being restricted to a small circle, now include an ever-increasing number of millions of our people. Indeed, only a minority of the adult population—a very substantial minority—are not to a greater or smaller extent capitalists."

Those of us who have believed that the average Briton has been in serious danger of starving to death during the past year or two will doubtless be both surprised and pleased by the figures and the statement above, which come not from a die-hard Tory, but from the Right Hon. Walter Runciman, a "radical" Liberal in politics, although a big employer of labor.

These people with savings in the banks are another reason why the reds were disappointed that no revolution grew out of the recent general strike in Britain. A man who has money in the bank and a little home of his own is not apt to succumb easily to the lure of socialism—in fact not so apt to do so as the idle millionaires with nothing but time on their hands and a desire for sensations, or the college instructor who wants to make the world all over again.

And this is why the United States of America is the most stable government in the world. Our workers are infinitely more prosperous than the British workers and in greater numbers. They have, therefore, little desire to trade the substance which they have, and which is on the increase, for some promise which they see no possibility of having materialized.

Incidentally, the figures above show that it will not do to place too much dependence on the "bear" stories coming from across the ocean to show that Europe is disheartened and starving. The statistics show differently. Just look at our trade balance, if you are not convinced. Europe, at least in the countries of western and central Europe ,is slowly emerging from the post-war mire and we are therefore finding competition for the world trade livelier in each succeeding year. And it is going to get a whole lot livelier a little later on. Then we are going really to need our protective tariff and our merchant marine in a way not heretofore realized.

TEN AUTO RACE WINNERS ON FIRESTONE TIRES

Firestone full-size gum-dipped balloon tires again made a remarkable showing in the Indianapolis speedway classic on Decoration Day, when all ten winners participating "in the money" rode on these tires.

This is the second time balloon tires were used in the great speedway event, the first being last year when Peter DePaolo on Firestone balloons made a new world's record at an average speed of 101.13 miles per hour.

Smaller motors of 91½ cubic inch displacement, compared to 122 cubic inches in 1925, combined with rainy weather and a slippery track, slowed up the time of the 1926 winner, Frank Lockhart, who won this year's race at 95.88 miles per hour.

Walter Gillespie of the Federal prohibition force in Montgomery came home last Saturday night to spend Sunday with his family in Clanton.

Alf Mims, candidate for Tax Collector, was in Clanton Saturday. Mr. Mims says things are looking good for him, and he expects to show somebody a trick on August 10. Alf is a hustler. He works hard at everything he tackles. And it is very seldom that hard work properly directed fails to get the answer.

THORSBY SECTION

(S. E. NORTON, Manager).

The following Thorsby Institute items came in too late for publication last week:

Thorsby Institute Alumni Association held its annual meeting at 1 p. m. June 2 in Helen Jenkins Hall. Officers for the new year were elected: Waldemar Lefstead, President; Arnold Soberg, Vice-President; Odie Lee Arthur, Secretary; Agnes Leary, Treasurer. Plans were completed for the banquet which was held at 8:00 o'clock that evening at the dining hall. The tables were beautifully decorated with the school colors and centered with baskets of pink and white carnations, the class flowers of the class of '26, who were the special guests of the Alumni. Place cards for the faculty, who were also guests of the Alumni, carried out the color sceme —blue and gold. The guests were grouped according to classes and the place cards carrying out the color sceme of each class marked places. The following program was cleverly rendered: Address of welcome to the Seniors, Lillian McKee; Response, Palmer Lefstead; If I were starting to Thorsby Institute again, Gresham Lowery; The dignity of a Thorsby Institute teacher, Odie Lee Arthur; My most thrilling experience at T. I., Gordon Sorrell; To Thorsby Institute, Agnes Leary; Response, Mrs. Loveland; Our greater Thorsby Institute, Roscoe Maddox; The classes in review, Mr. Butler; Alma Mater; Toastmaster, Waldemar Lefstead. A delightful three-course luncheon was served to 40 guests and members. Of the 93 members, those present were Odie Lee Arthur, Margaret Butler, Palma Dahl, Eugene Davenport, Eva Grenn, Agnes Leary, Waldemar Lefstead, Gresham Lowery, Roscoe Maddox, Ruth Martin, Lillian McKee, Nels Nelson, Jennye Robinson, Arnold Soberg, and Essie Belle Willis.

Members of the faculty will spend all or part of the vacation as follows: Mrs. Loveland expects to spend part of the summer at 1589 San Lorenzo St., Berkeley, Calif.; Miss E. J. Robinson's summer address will be 2532 North 28th St., Birmingham, Ala.; Miss Sue Murray leaves this week (Thursday) for her home in Wadena, Minn.; Miss Lois Hawkes will spend the summer at her home in Phoenix, N. Y.; Rascoe Maddox will attend a summer school at Peabody College, Nashville, Tenn.; Robert W. Echols will attend Birmingham-Southern College in Birmingham part of the summer. Miss Arthur will attend business college in Montgomery; Mrs. Post has gone to her home in Chattanooga; Miss Fairbank will remain in Thorsby in charge of the school office and library; Miss Parker has gone to her home in Boston. She expects to be married in September and will not return to Thorsby Institute. Of the graduating class, Misses Bernice Williams and Pearl Steiner have gone to normal school at Florence; Jewel Martin and Claudie Eiland have gone to Massey Business College, Birmingham; Miss Ruth Martin, of the class of '25, with Mattie Scott and Lena Franklin, left Monday for summer school at Howard College; Misses Alma Lefstead, Olene Mims, and Miss Smith have gone to normal school at Jacksonville.

Gordon Sorrell has gone to Birmingham, where he will find work for the summer.

Virginia and Eliza Bice, children of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Bice of Palatka, Fla., will visit their grandmother, Mrs. T. W. Robinson, this week.

Mesdames Each, Post, Wood, and Miss Parker motored to Gore's pond Wednesday afternoon, where they enjoyed a delightful swim.

Mr. and Mrs. Each entertained at dinner last Sunday Misses Fairbank, Clara Griggsby, and Messrs. Lewis Kelley and A. T. Arthur.

There will be a Christian Endeavor Social at the parsonage next Saturday night. All members are invited, also a special request is made to all who attend the meetings of the society who are not members.

Mr. Edwin Grenn, Mrs. Sam Grenn, and daughter, Ena, came from Chicago to attend Thorsby Institute Commencement. Verner Carlson and Mabel Howard left with them on their return trip Monday morning.

A crowd of young folks spent a very enjoyable evening Friday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Carlson. This was a sort of farewell party for Mabel Howard and Verner Carlson, also in honor of Ena and Edwin Grenn.

Mrs. Barnes of Free Springs, near the Bibb County line, is visiting her friends, Mr. and Mrs. Primm, and Raybon.

Little Imogene Peterson was four years old Saturday, June 5. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert W. Peterson, who gave her a party Saturday afternoon, which was attended by about 30 of her little friends. The house was tastefully decorated in pink and white. Ice cream and cake were served for refreshments.

Coy Gibbons and his mother made a trip to Birmingham last Sunday, dining with his uncle, Mr. C. W. Hubbard. In the afternoon they motored through the business section and then out to the beautiful new home of Mr. and Mrs. Blackmon.

Miss Cora Pound went to Birmingham Sunday.

Miss Vera Cleckler, daughter of Perry Cleckler, was rushed to Central Alabama Hospital Sunday evening by Dr. Wood, for appendicitis.

Mrs. Anna Parnell of Birmingham is spending a few days with her dauter, Mrs. S. C. Wood.

Mr. Tom Robinson of Collins Chapel is very sick.

There has been a lot of sickness among the old people at the county farm, several having died lately.

Messrs. Burt, Cecil and Jake Bosworth, with their families, all of Birmingham, motored to Thorsby Sunday where they joined Mrs. Bosworth and children and then went to Mitchell Dam, where they enjoyed a wonderful picnic dinner.

On last Friday afternoon Mrs. Conrad Carlson was hostess to a number of friends, honoring her sister-in-law, Mrs. Sam Grenn, of Chicago. Delightful refreshments were served, after which Victrola music was enjoyed throughout the afternoon. Guests who enjoyed Mrs. Carlson's hospitality were Mesdames Ernie Hanson, Johanna Lefstead, K. A. Ekblad, Martha Grothy, C. R. Foss, Albert Foss, A. E. Reagan, James Bosworth, Fred Howard, Charles Howard, Karl Grenn, T. Bakke, Sam Grenn, M. J. Soberg, J. O. Johnson, Karl Carlson, Frank Nelson; Misses Ida Grenn, Marie Grenn, Nell Werness, Naemi Turnquist, Mabel Howard, Ena Grenn, and Alma Lefstead.

On last Sunday a number of Thorsby folks enjoyed a picnic at Camp Lopez, Pelham, Ala. Among those who enjoyed the outing were Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Foss and children, W. M. Parnell, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Foss, J. L. Foss, C P. Turnquist, Naemi Turnquist, Mr. and Mrs. Reagan, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Howard and children, Edith Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Hanson, and Mr. and Mrs. Karl Peterson and children of Fairfield. A bountiful dinner was served, after which the remainder of the day was spent in fun. This is an ideal place for picnics, and the owner of the camp asked us to tell our friends of the place, and that he welcomes anyone who wishes to chose this place for camping or picnics.

Mrs. Bean of Mineral Springs is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Jim Pate.

Mrs. Glass of Randolph is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Pete Franklin, in Thorsby, where she is being treated by Dr. Wood.

The Baptist Ladies Aid social will be held at the home of Mrs. Lucien Martin on Thursday afternoon of this week.

Last Sunday the Baptist Sunday school had an attendance of 72.

The United Singing Society met at the Baptist church Sunday afternoon, attended by a large crowd. Many good leaders took part on the program.

The B. Y. P. U. had a good meeting Sunday night. Those taking part were Essie Willis, Gordon Sorrell, Dovey Tatum, Jewell Martin, Hugh Sorrell, and Ruth Martin. A duet was sung by Sidney Davenport and Gordon Sorrell.

The R. A.'s met with Mrs. Wm. Billingsley last Saturday afternoon.

The G. A.'s met with Miss Dovey Tatum; a special program was given. Miss Tatum is a new comer in Thorsby, and is making a place for herself by efficient Christian service.

Next Sunday is regular preaching day at the Baptist church. Rev. Bonner says he hopes the people will attend church services in preference to an all day singing which has been announced for Thorsby on that day.

Candidates Must Make Announcement by 15th

Editor Union-Banner:

The time for those to announce in the Republican primary who want to run for office as Republicans will close next Tuesday, June 15. I would admonish all who want to run for office to announce and let the people decide who they want for officers in this County for the next four years. Do not wait until the time has expired and then say that we ought to have had some other candidates running. If you do not want office yourself, but have a friend you want for an officer, get him or her out. The Republican party stands for the people. They do not close their doors to any legal voter— they never put the bars up—they invite all the voters to join them. They have no committees to meet behind closed doors to handpick candidates and select their leaders. They put their cards on the table. They have not got a few employed to spend all their time running over the County telling the people what they ought to do—the Republican voters are their own bosses. The Republicans have not and will not have a select few to go over the County to abuse those who do not agree with them. We look at this as a free country, and deal with the voters of Chilton County as free men and women. We are opposed to taking the liberties of the people away from them.

Now, I hope that we will have a harmonious primary, and nominate the best men we have for office. I hope there will not be any soreness or dissatisfaction after the primary, and that all will vote for the nominees. There is but one way to have a party, and that is to make nominations fairly and squarely, and then vote them, and when a majority of our people have expressed themselves, let not a few say their opinion is worth more than a majority of the Republican voters, and then go off and vote against their party. This is a family affair. I hope all candidates will regard the primary as such.

We have too much abuse and criticism, and not enough real beneficial suggestions. We are, after all, one people, and we must live and reside together, and let's be Republicans, but not in such a manner that we will make enemies of those who do not agree with us. When we ask the voters to vote the Republican ticket they know what it means—they know where the party stands on roads and other constructive policies that go to build up our County. But very few know what the Democratic party in Chilton County stands for. In fact, there was doubt where the nominees would be placed until recently, and then the Democratic paper announced that the ticket would be under the rooster—two years ago they ran away from the rooster.

Now, in conclusion, I hope everybody who wants to run for office in our party will make it known by next Tuesday night, the 15th, by filing their announcement in the Probate Office, and with Mr. J. N. Dennis, Chairman, and then all go out and vote for their choice in the primary; and in the General Election, vote for the nominees.—L. H. Reynolds.

AMERICAN YOUTH CANDIDATE

Miss Helen F. [illegible] of Pennsylvania, holder of a Carnegie medal for heroism, has been nominated as a candidate for the American Youth Award established by the directors of the Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition, which is to be held in Philadelphia from June 1 to December 1 in celebration of 150 years of American Independence. Miss Dodge, the daughter of George H. Dodge of 5944 Walton avenue, Philadelphia, jumped into the Toms River at Ocean Gate, N. J., fully dressed, and, while having use of only one arm, saved the life of a drowning girl.

Miss Fairbank announces a new box of clothing for men received at the sales room, to be placed on sale Saturday afternoon. The sales room will be open afternoons only during the summer; closed Thursday and Friday all day.

New officers of the Christian Endeavor Society were installed at the Congregational church last Sunday night. The meeting was followed by the usual monthly praise service, the first Sunday night of each month. The attendance was large, and singing led by Rev. Each and Lewis Kelly, was good..

A special program will be given at the Baptist church Wednesday night. Everybody come.

Mrs. Earnest Hartley and little son, Earnest, Jr., of Montgomery, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. Mell Martin.

J. W. Lowe, linotype operator for the Selma Times-Journal, was in Clanton Wednesday.

ALPINE SINGING

The all day singing at Alpine the fifth Sunday in May was the best we have ever had. The singing was called to order at 10:30 o'clock. I. D. Huett was elected chairman. The following directors sang two songs each: I. D. Huett, Archie Devaughn, A. C. Weaver, A. O. Boswell, W. M. Devaughn. Dismissed for dinner at 12 o'clock. In the afternoon R. W. Kendrick, J. R. Walker, W. G. Culp, Akin Collins, Mollie Belle Ousley, A. O. Boswell, W. M. Devaughn, and I. D. Huett sang two songs each. Organists for the day were Mrs. Jones, A. O. Boswell, W. G. Culp, and Cordelia Johnson. The Clanton Quartet gave a number of selections during the day that were thoroughly enjoyed.

We thank each one who came and helped make the day a success and we are especially grateful to the Clanton Quartet. We hope to have them with us again soon.

WHITE CITY

There will be an all day singing at White City the second Sunday in June. Everybody invited.—S. McDonald.

CONCORD

We had our regular Sunday school last Sunday with a good attendance. Preaching at eleven o'clock by Rev. R. L. Bonner.

In the afternoon the monthly session of our singing society was held. The program was opened by the chairman, S. V. Miller. The following directors conducted three songs each: Dewey Huett, Jesse Baker, Clydie Mims, W. L. Mims, Vanness Mims, Melvin Mims, Lester Mims. During the afternoon we were favored with three excellent quartettes arranged by Jesse Baker.

The closing song was sung by the chairman, S. V. Miller, followed with prayer by C. P. Jones.

The Concord singing society meets on the afternoon of the first Sunday in each month. Everybody is extended an invitation to come.

OPERATION NOT SUCCESSFUL

"Sixteen years ago I was operated for appendicitis and later operated again for gall stones. Neither did me any good and I suffered all kinds of torture since. Five years ago I took MAYR'S and have felt no symptoms of pain since." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation that causes practically all stimach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. Alred Drug Co., and druggists everywhere.

Many Clanton people went to Montgomery Sunday to see the ball game.

GULF
NO-NOX
MOTOR FUEL
STOPS KNOCKS
Turns Mountains into Mole hills

FOR years the carbon knocks, clicks, pings or detonation in automobile engines have been a menace to motor efficiency and a sore spot to the motorist. GULF No-Nox Motor Fuel has turned the old time carbon bugaboo into an asset, in fact it has put carbon to work.

No-Nox and Carbon are Power Twins

Compression is power—Carbon adds compression—No-Nox withstands compression and the combination gives wonderful motor efficiency.

GULF No-Nox Motor Fuel not only withstands the high compression of the modern automobile engine—but also the added higher compression caused by carbon deposits on the walls and piston head which increases with the age of the car;—clicks and knocks are eliminated—greater efficiency is accomplished—followed by more power and greater mileage.

This Guarantee goes with it

GULF No-Nox Motor Fuel is Non-Noxious, Non-Poisonous and no more harmful to man or motor than ordinary gasoline—that it contains no dope of any kind—that the color is for identification only—and will not heat in summer driving.

GULF No-Nox Motor Fuel is priced three cents per gallon higher than ordinary gasoline—and is worth it.

Finds Relief After Six Years Suffering

Mississippian Strong in His Praise of Dr. Thacher's Liver and Blood Syrup

"I suffered with indigestion for six years," said H. L. Alexander, McNeill, Miss.

"I had gotten to the place where I could hardly eat a thing. I had smothering spells and fell off twenty pounds.

"I was in a bad fix until I decided to try Liver and Blood Syrup. I gained in weight. I've not had a bad spell of indigestion since. I believe Liver and Blood Syrup is the best liver medicine made. I cannot say enough for what it has done for me."

BARBECUE AT PLANTERSVILLE

The ladies of the Baptist church at Plantersville will give a barbecue on Thursday, June 17, for the benefit of the Baptist church.

10:00 to 12:00—Speaking, by candidates for our state and county offices.

12:00 to 1:00—Dinner. Regular plates, 75 cents.

2:00 to 4:00—Ball games.

It will be a fine place for the candidates of the county to see the voters in this section of Chilton, as we are right on the line and will have them here at the barbecue. We hope every one who can will come and help us in a worthy cause.—O. H. Barnes, Clerk.

UNCLE DICK JONES HURT

Uncle Dick Jones is nursing a black eye which he received in a fall last Friday. As usual he was fishing from the edge of the old barge at Lock 12. In walking across the floor of the barge he stumbled and fell, striking the side of his face on a scantling. His injury was painful though, happily, not serious.

Uncle Dick says he hates it mighty bad that he got hurt, but he sure is glad that he didn't roll off into the river. He expects to be able to go fishing again right soon.

SPURGEON DRIVER ARRESTED SATURDAY

Spurgeon Driver, a young white man, was arrested in Clanton last Saturday on a warrant charging him with violating the prohibition law.

He was placed in jail, but was released a few minutes later on bond.

Eight thousand Germans are awaiting trial at Berlin for complicity in a huge alcohol plot. It seems that the iniquities of the Volstead law are international in scope.

A young gunman recently robbed and held up a New York City hotel. If he is ever brought to trial it would be a little difficult to get an out-of-town jury to convict him.

TO THE FARMERS OF ALABAMA

There are 11 lawyers in Congress from Alabama—not one business man. Ex-Governor Kilby is the only business man running for the United States Senate versed in state affairs, with legislative and executive experience. He knows your needs. He increased appropriations for farm demonstration work from $40,000 to $162,500 per year. He inaugurated the good roads movement. He built 587 rural school houses. He increased the annual apportionment to common schools from $2.86 to $4.59 per child for 800,000 children. He is leading the fight for the manufacture of fertilizers at Muscle Shoals, opposing the power company monopoly with all his might and favoring Henry Ford. He is a prohibitionist true and tried. He has a record of performance. Compare it with the record of others. The farmers of Alabama need one such business man at Washington. (Paid political advertisement by Kilby Club of Anniston.)

Everybody says—

"It's so Easy to Drive"

Take the wheel of an Improved Chevrolet. Learn with what remarkable ease you can control the car. Over rough roads or smooth, over ruts or slippery pavement, the modern semi-reversible steering mechanism makes it easy and safe for you to hold the car to the road—and makes it a pleasure for you to drive for hours at a time in perfect comfort.

The powerful motor carries you everywhere, smoothly and without effort. The disc-clutch makes gear-shifting easy and silent. The semi-elliptic springs, longer in proportion than on any other car, provide a comfort and a resiliency that will delight you. Everywhere, everyone says, "It's so easy to drive"—and you can learn how true that is by getting a demonstration. Phone for one now.

"Cupid-Up-to-Date" Friday Night, June 18

"Cupid-Up-To-Date," which is to be produced here under auspices of the Womans Missionary Society on Friday evening, June 18th, at the high school auditorium, is one of the most original and unique plays on any stage today.

The action of the play is centered around Father Time, played by Reese Mullins; Common Sense, Miss Willodean Reynolds; Dolly Extreme, Miss Elizabeth Duncan; Will Steady, Charles Moore; and many others who add to the confusion Cupid and Father Time throw the world into.

The choruses, too, which are made up of pretty local girls, not to mention the Cupid, Fairy, Time To Retire and Star Choruses of little tots, add much to the striking ensemble. Their songs and dances are fresh and modern and their costumes sparkling and new.

No one can afford to miss "Cupid-Up-to-Date" when it goes on the stage at the high school on Friday night of this week at 8:00 p.m.

Reserve seat tickets are on sale at Upchurch's Drug Store.

WATERMELON IN CLANTON

Mr. Steve Baker of Refuge was showing a fine watermelon in Clanton Monday morning. Folks were looking at it with much interest, it being the first one seen here this season. But the interest soon faded when Steve explained that it came by express from the farm of Andrew Easterling in south Texas.

It will not be long until home-grown melons will be here in abundance. Prospects indicate a good crop, and acreage around here is rather extensive.

SESSIONS BACK FROM VACATION

Rural Carrier, B. J. Sessions of Route 7 and daughter, Miss Ruth, have returned from a trip to East Alabama and Georgia. Mr. Sessions, while away, witnessed the graduation of his brother, Tom, at Emory University in Atlanta.

While in Atlanta they visited the Ford Motor Company plant, the Federal prison and Grant Park. West Point and LaGrange were included in the trip. Several days were spent with relatives of Mr. Sessions at Abanda in Chambers County.

AUTO WRECK IN CLANTON TUESDAY NIGHT

A short while after dark Tuesday night, a Ford truck driven by Lewis Mims, and a Ford touring car driven by Mr. H. S. Watkins, collided in front of Nivens & Broadhead's meat market on Second Avenue.

Mr. Mims had just left Goodgame's lumber yard, coming into Second Avenue from the alley leading from the lumber yard. As he came out of the alley, the Watkins car struck the back part of the truck, just in front of the rear wheel. The truck was not hurt, but the touring car's front running gear was damaged considerably.

TWO NEGRO WOMEN ARRESTED FOR FORGERY

Sue Martin and another negro woman by the name of Simmons were arrested at Jemison this week on a charge of forging a check. Sue made bond and Simmons is in jail. The latter woman is a sufferer with a severe case of asthma.

ANDREW ELLISON ARRESTED

Andrew Ellison was arrested a few days ago on a warrant charging him with violating the prohibition law. He made bond and was immediately released to await court action.

FOUND 10 GALLONS OF LIQUOR

Ten gallons of moonshine lipuor, hid in the woods, was found by officers Monday near the steel bridge on Waxahatchie Creek. No arrests were made and no evidence obtained as to who the lipuor belonged to.

STILL FOUND NEAR STANTON

Sheriff Littlejohn reports the destruction of a box still and 100 gallons of beer two miles west of Stanton on Monday. Nobody was at the still and no arrests have been made in connection with the raid.

Friends of Mrs. Omar Reynolds will be glad to learn that she is recovering nicely after a serious operation at a Montgomery hospital.

FIRST COTTON BLOOM EXHIBITED IN BUTLER

Greenville, Ala., June 14.—Butler County's first reported cotton bloom was plucked by R. A. Beeland, a local merchant-farmer from his farm near Greenville Sunday morning

Mr. Beeland, for the past few years, has been the first one of the first to report the first cotton bloom of the county.

The field from which this bloom was taken was planted during the middle of March.

The earliness of this bloomm does not depict the cotton situation in Butler as a whole, for the crop is almost two weeks late there.

There have been no boll weevil reports thus far from Butler County.

NINETY POUNDS PASTURE DAILY IS COW'S LIMIT

A cow giving an average of 35 pounds of milk a day would have to consume 175 pounds of good pasture every day to maintain her yield and keep in good condition, according to the Larrowe Institute of Animal Economics. Since few cows can eat more than 90 pounds of grass in one day even from the most luxuriant growth, a big portion of the 35 pounds of milk she gives comes right off her back unless the pasture is supplemented with a grain ration.

"All grass, regardless of condition, or location, is well over one-half water," states the Institute. "In ordinary field grasses this percentage runs from 53 to 77. Sweet clover is 75% water. Alfalfa ranges from 70% to 80% water. From any pasture a cow gets more than 2% to 5% protein and a fraction of 1% of fat, and of all the grasses she eats, only 15% to 30% is made up of very necessary carbohydrates."

Striking Match Exhibits

THIS fair Brooklyn lassie is exhibiting four interesting items that were featured in a recent Matchcraft contest. All are made entirely of matches! It required 10,000 of the little wooden blazers to fashion that violin, which took first prize. The loud-speaker, which won second honors, was made by a 17-year-old Chicago lad.

DEFEAT FOR BOND ISSUE IS SEEN BY AUBURN MAN

State Voters to Reject $75,000,000 Expenditure, Dr. Smith Says.

Montgomery, Ala., June 16.—That the proposed $75,000,000 is already dead and will be formally buried, along with the politicians sponsoring it, when the voters of the state go to the polls on August 10th, was the conviction expressed Monday by Dr. E. P. Smith of Auburn.

Dr. Smith, who served overseas in the world war as captain of the famous 167th Infantry, has since his return home taken an active interest in public affairs and is a close observer of public sentiment on questions of the day. He has spent some time in a tour of Alabama. He stated unequivocally that he has found that the people of Alabama are thoroughly satiated with "Brandonism" and that they appear to realize that the huge bond issue advocated by the present administration is merely part of an effort to perpetuate the present regime. McDonald's failure to make even a definite promise of new sources of revenue for schools has also hurt the bond issue candidate, in the opinion of Dr. Smith who stated that the people of the state appear determined to have neither McDowell nor mud, and have not been deceived into believing that they must swallow the son of Abraham as the lieutenant governor was designated by one of the newspapers supporting him, in order to get good roads.

The slogan, "McDowell or Mud," is being interpreted by many to mean $75,000,000 for the bond holders and not an additional dollar for schools," Dr. Smith said.

"The proposed $75,000,000 bond issue is as dead as the proverbial salt-cured herring. This bond issue that the Rogers-Brandon-McDowell political clique are sweating to put over on the people will be swept into the discard along with their sponsors on August 10th. The slogan 'McDowell or mud' is but to provoke a smile. The people will not have either mud or McDowell. Brandonism and Rogersism has sounded the death knell of McDowell's ambition to be governor while the possibility of using 1,500 able-bodied convicts on the roads has effectively killed 'mud.'

"A three-cent tax on gasoline and convict labor on the roads, together with federal aid solve the 'mud' stuff being shouted over the land by the bond machine, debt making political beneficiaries of Rogerism and Brandonism. This noise is neither alarming nor dangerous. The people are determined to make doubly sure that the state of Alabama shall get a divorce from Brandonism and Rogerism for the next four years at least."

JACK WALTON TO RUN

Deposed Oklahoma Executive Again Seeks Senate Seat.

Oklahoma City, Okla., June 15.—Jack Walton, deposed governor of Oklahoma and defeated Democratic nominee for the federal Senate in 1924, has again entered the lists as a candidate for the Senate.

He said it was his desire to run for governor, but that there was some doubt as to his eligibility. He said he was running as a Progressive Democrat.

MULBERRY & ISABELLA

Prof. Earl Thomas and Mr. Griffin of Marbury made a business trip to Montgomery and Auburn last Saturday.

Mr. Wilbur Smith from Birmingham visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Y. E. Smith Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Tucker from Birmingham spent Sunday night with Mrs. Tucker's parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. O. Manning. They left there on Monday to visit her sister, Mrs. C. T. Farmer in Montgomery, for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. O. F. Davenport and sons, Willard and O. F., Jr., visited his brothers, Messrs. Ben and Bob Davenport in Thorsby Sunday.

Mrs. R. J. Williams returned home Sunday from an extended visit to her sons, Carlos and Earl in Birmingham.

Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Williams visited their cousin, Mrs. Essie Gandy last Saturday and Sunday, in Besemer.

J. M. SMITH ANNOUNCES FOR MEMBERSHIP ON CO. BOARD

The Union-Banner is carrying in its announcement columns this week the name of Mr. J. Monroe Smith of Thorsby.

Mr. Smith needs no introduction, as he is already serving as a member of the County Board, he having been elected to that office two years ago.

The reason Mr. Smith is running again is because something is said to have been illegal about his election before, and he has made his announcement full enough to cover the whole ground this time.

Mr. Smith is a fine man and well qualified to fill the position for which he is announcing.

STORM HITS RED LEVEL

Much Property Damage Done When Gale Sweeps Section.

Red Level, Ala., June 15.—A rain and wind storm swept this section of the State Sunday, uprooting trees, tearing down barns and houses. No person was reported injured.

The village of South, near here, in Covington county, suffered more than any other community. The school house was blown down and many roofs lifted by the gale.

MILLER-MIMS WEDDING

On Monday afternoon of this week, Mr. Ed Miller, Jr., was married to Miss Odel Mims, at the home of the latter's father, Mr. Harve Mims, who lives a few miles north of town.

Ed is the son of Ed. W. Miller, the rural mail carrier on Clanton Route 8.

MAY PAVE ROAD FROM WETUMPKA TO SPIGENER

The State Highway Commission has under consideration the proposition of paving a road from Wetumpka to Spigener. The movement is sponsored by the state convict department, and is said to have the favor of the highway department.

CONCERT AT MITCHELL DAM SATURDAY NIGHT, JUNE 19

The Clanton and Verbena quartets will put on a concert at Mitchell Dam Saturday night of this week, June 19. It is expected that the Thorsby concert band will be there to furnish band music.

The program will begin at 8:00 o'clock and will be held in the Masonic Hall. No admission fee will be charged and the public has a cordial invitation.

SOCIAL AT MT. CREEK

There will be an ice cream and box supper at Mt. Creek Saturday night, June 19th, given by the Ladies Aid and the B. Y. P. U., to make money to pay for electric lights in the church. Everybody invited to come.

Preaching Sunday and Sunday night of the Third Sunday. Come.—Mrs. L. H. Gentry.

LIGHTNING KILLS ELEVEN ANIMALS OF LOGGING TEAM

Eight Oxen and Three Mules Struck By Bolt in Mississippi.

Mobile, Ala., June 15.—Noah Dye of near Lucedale, Miss., is glad today that lightning does not strike in the same place twice, for he found, according to a story brought to Mobile today, that once is more than plenty.

Noah was driving toward Lucerdale behind a non-descript logging team composed of eight oxen and three mules when his first experience with lightning came, according to the reports brought this morning.

Seeing a thundershower approaching, the logging driver whipped his odd team up and got under a big tree to wait until the storm had passed. But almost the first flash of lightning sought him out and struck his team, killing every one of the eleven animals.

SENATOR NORRIS SLAMS THIN FEMALE FINERY

Washington, June 15.—The woman of today wears fewer clothes on the street than her grandmother wore to bed, says Senator Norris, of Nebraska. The observation was made during discussion of farm relief in the Senate.

Mr. and Mrs. John Goodgamme and daughter, Mattie, of Birmingham, were down Sunday visiting her sister, Mrs. J. H. Marler.

FISH TOWS YOUTHS SIX MILES TO SEA

Daytona Beach, Fla., June 15.—When Roland Mix and George Price, Daytona Beach lads, went out to inspect a baited barrel line early tonight they found a huge stingaree on the end of the line. Mix and Price were rowing a catamaran and the giant fish towed them six miles out to sea before they succeeded in cutting loose.

When their absence was noted, Chauncey Myatt, a life guard, went to their assistance in a motor boat but darkness hindered his search. Daytona Beach police also sent out a boat. Three hours after being towed to sea Mix and Price managed to row back to the beach, Myatt and the police crew following a short time later.

Big Barbecue Saturday July 3rd At Clanton

The ladies of the Clanton Methodist church are preparing their plans for the big barbecue and celebration day at Clanton on Saturday, July 3. The High School grounds will be used for the center of activities, where a fine barbecue will be arranged for the public, as well as plenty of cold drinks and all kinds of refreshments. Tables will be built on the grounds and everything fixed up for serving everybody who will come.

A committee will have charge of the arrangements of the program of entertainments, and every effort will be made to put on a program that will be entertaining. Speakers will be given a chance to talk to the folks, and it is probable that the candidates for state and county offices will have a chance to lay their claims before the people.

As soon as posible a detailed program for the day will be printed. Meanwhile, the ladies extend an invitation to everybody to come to Clanton on July 3, assuring you that they will amply provide for your comfort and amusement. Watch for further announcement.

ALL DAY SINGING AT REFUGE SUNDAY

The Union-Banner has been requested to announce that there will be an all day singing at Refuge church, 5 miles east of Clanton, on next Sunday, June 20th.

The public has a cordial invitation and all good singers are especially invited.

MARTIN WITHDRAWS FROM COLLECTORS' RACE

The Chilton County News last week contained notice from D. M. Martin that he has withdrawn from the race for nomination for Tax Collector of Chilton County, in the Democratic primary of August 10.

Leon B. Popwell of Thorsby was a visitor to Clanton Monday.

Col. J. Osmond Middleton came up from Montgomery last Saturday to spend the week end at home. Mr. Middleton expects to "catch up with his work" at the Federal court pretty soon, after which he will be at home during the summer months.

French and German industrialists have just met and agreed on a program of cooperation which doubtless means more work for our protective tariff.

H. J. Groom of Maplesville was in Clanton last Saturday.

ALL DAY SINGING

There will be an all day singing in the old books at Minooka the Third Sunday in June, 30th. All singers are invited.—W. L. Sanders.

Mrs. N. E. McKee and son, Mr. O. O. McKee, left for an extended visit to her sister, Mrs. John Dykes at Belton, Texas, Mr. J. B. McKee at Electra, Texas, and Mrs. T. J. Arledge at Cisco, Texas.

CHEVROLET SALES INCREASE

For the first time in the history of the Chevrolet Motor Company sales during the month of May have exceeded sales during April, according to figures just made public by the sales department of the company.

During May 70,935 Chevrolet cars were sold in the United States, making a total of 84,944 cars, including Canada and export, the largest number of three-speed transmission cars ever sold in one month by any automobile manufacturer. Sales increased by 23,650 cars over May, 1925, when 47,285 Chevrolets were sold in the domestic market.

For the first five months during 1926, up to June 1, 250,927 cars were sold in this country alone, an increase in sales of 84,138 over the same period in 1925, when 166,789 cars were sold in the United States.

A tremendous expansion of dealer representation is also shown, the number of direct and associate dealers representing the Chevrolet Motor Company increasing by 2,488 in the first five months of this year over the same period in 1925. On June 1, 1926, 8,398 dealers were merchandising Chevrolet cars, and on June 1, 1925, there were 5,910 dealers in the United States. Applications for dealer franchises still continue to pour in to the sales department daily. At the present time sales are running at the rate of more than 18,000 weekly. The best weekly sales record prior to this year was the week of May 2, 1924, when 10,700 Chevrolet cars were sold in the retail domestic field.

Domestic sales are continuing at so high a peak that the mammoth production facilities of the Chevrolet Motor Company have been taxed to their utmost capacity to fill the demand. In fact, the company would have been unable to fill this spring's orders had it not been for the reserve stock built up during the winter. This is illustrated by domestic sales totaling 70,935 cars in May while factory production for domestic distribution was approximately 61,000 during this month.

A tabulation of monthly domestic sales for 1926 and 1925 follows:

1926	1925
Jan.—25,006	Jan.—11,258
Feb.—33,150	Feb.—18,184
March—53,505	March—38,779
April—68,331	April—53,283
May—70,935	May—47,285
Total—250,927	Total—166,789

WEST CHILTON

Everybody extremely busy, and the weather hot and dry.

Mr. Kin Vinson, the popular candidate for Tax Assessor, was here last week.

Mrs. D. A. Gibson of Thorsby Route 1 spent a few days visiting friends here last week.

Rev. Johnson of Birmingham has been called to the pastorate of Pleasant Grove.

Mr. J. P. Gentry, while gradually improving, is confined to the house. His grandson, Hanson Headley, looks after the store.

Rev. Durbin of Thorsby filled the pulpit at Macedonia Sunday night.

Sunday was a gla dday at Mars Hill. The old book singers had an engagement there that day. The crowd was large as usual, many directors were present, and dinner was fine and abundant. Among the visitors we noted Sheriff Littlejohn, our old friend Walter Gillespie, Prof. Howard Roper, Messrs. Stewart and Fountain of Lawley, John S. Waldrop of Randolph, Frank Lowery of Birmingham, Mr. and Mrs. Van Wallace of Dry Valley, Mrs. Ed Littlejohn of Lawley, Mr. and Mrs. George Jackson of Thorsby, also a few candidates, Messrs. Waldrop and Scott. Rev. J. N. Scott presided. Those Sunday singings are glad times for both old and young. How the children do enjoy them. It gives us a foreview of the coming glad period when with the source of evil restrained, men and women, boys and girls will be looking forward to life instead of death, man's normal situation.

The writer had the pleasure of a visit by Mr. J. W. Davis of Dayton, Ohio, Sunday and Sunday night, who was enroute from Washington County, Ala., to his home in Ohio, and at the request of one of your correspondent's relatives in the north came by to see us. We found him quite a pleasant and intelligent visitor. It was quite a treat to have him.

Mr. Benson's letter in the last Banner sounded good.

Rolly Waldrop, Bud Williams, and Nat Smith of Randolph went on a fishing trip Saturday to Mitchell Dam.

Singing School Begins At Concord July 5th

Arrangements have been completed for the singing school to be taught at Concord schoolhouse this summer. It will begin on Monday, July 5th, and promises to be an exceptionally fine school.

The school will be conducted by two teachers, both of whom are recognized as the best music teachers in this part of the State. It will be taught jointly by Prof. W. M. Devaughn and Prof. L. T. Grant. Neither of these men need much introduction to the people around here. They are both fine singers and as for teaching they have proven their ability at the various schools they have taught at different times and places for the past several years.

It will be a rare privilege for those wishing to learn more about sacred music to attend this school. All the different grades will be taught from primary rudiments to advanced harmony, and there being two competent teachers, there will be ample time for each class to be drilled thoroughly in their particular courses.

"Boll Weevil Control" is the title of a circular just published by the Extension Service, Auburn, Ala., and being distributed by county agents. A postal sent to Auburn will bring a copy free.

WANTED --- 50 YOUNG PEOPLE
TO ATTEND THE SUMMER SCHOOL AT CLANTON

In keeping with the educational policy of a number of towns and cities, we shall begin a six-weeks Summer School at Clanton, Ala., on July 19th. This school is given for the benefit of pupils who are deficient in their grades, pupils who wish to shorten their time in school by doing some extra work, and adults who are not satisfied with their education. All grades through the Junior High School will be taught.

In this school special emphasis will be placed on the Palmer Method of Business Writing. Sixty-four pupils in the Clanton Grammar school received Palmer Diplomas last year.

The fee for all grades above the fourth will be $6.00; for the fourth grade and lower, $4.00.

For further information call or write W. E. MARTIN, Clanton, Ala., or Miss THELMA GUY, Wetumpka, Ala.

DEVELOPMENT BY EDUCATION IS BIG OBJECT OF EDITORS

Wishes of Editors and Needs of Alabama Were Stated at Auburn Convention

Auburn, Ala., June 5.—(Special.)—The proper use and development of all the resources of Alabama through proper education of her people was the keynote of the forty-third annual convention of the Alabama Press Association in Auburn, June 2-3.

Dr. Spright Dowell, president of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute, gave voice to this thought in his address of welcome, and other speakers made it their central theme.

Dr. Dowell referred to editors and educators as comrades working together for a common cause, namely, the elimination of ignorance and the ushering in of prosperity by training Alabama boys, girls, men and women to render the right kind of service in the progressive and prosperous new era which has been ushered in.

L. H. Nunnelee, editor of the Centerville Press, responded to the address of welcome, voicing the same thoughts as uttered by Dr. Dowell. The annual address of the President, J. C. McLendon, editor Luverne Jurnal, was hinged upon the thought of education for development.

F. G. Stephens Talks

On the second day, F. G. Stephens, editor Southern Democrat, Oneonta, spoke on the subject, "The Press and Auburn," saying in part: "I make the assertion that there is no like area in the United States that contains more natural wealth than does the State of Alabama; and that the matter of working out the full development of this wealth and its utilization to the fullest extent lies witnin the province of this and similar institutions of learning and the press."

Altnough every editor in attendance appeared proud of his profession and anxious to obtain ideas which would help him with his own problems, education was the overshadowing thought of the entire convention; and the editors, who came from every section of the state, were unanimous in looking at it in an unselfish way.

They declared that with better educated people will come better farms, more and better industries and prosperity in general, in which all people will take part. It was agreed that one of the big needs of the farms of Alabama is more industry, which will increase the demand and provide a market for products produced by the farmers, thereby encouraging diversification and other things contributing to a prosperous agricultural and industrial section.

Endorse Press Foundation

Another important discussion was that of the International Press Foundation, in which President McLendon, R. B. Vail, secretary and Dr. Frank Willis Barnett, of the Birmingham News, took part. The proposition was given unanimous endorsement.

In addition to the resolution on education and development, other resolutions were passed in the interest of the profession and for the good of Alabama. J. C. McLendon, retiring president, was given a vote of thanks for his work in promoting the movement to "Broadcast Alabama." The development work of the Alabama Power Co. in education, new industries and rural lines was given a vote of appreciation.

Another resolution endorsed the creation of a revolving fund for worthy Auburn students who are in need of financial assistance. The resolution requested that the president of the college have charge of this fund and that it be lent at an interest rate of 4 per cent per annum, arrangements being made for the borrower to make payments as soon as practical after completing his or her college education.

Editors Entertained

While in Auburn the editors were housed in the college dormitories and entertained by the Extension Service of the college. On the second day they were the guests of the people of Opelika at a delicious chicken barbecue, after which they made a tour of the city and saw the business, residence and industrial sections of the city.

Special music was furnished by the West Point Manufacturing Company at Lanett, Ala., and by the Sorrell Brothers' Orchestra of Five Points, Ala.

On the first night in Auburn they were entertained at a banquet at which Hon. Frank N. Julian, superintendent of insurance at Montgomery, was toastmaster. On the second night they were entertained at a beefsteak barbecue served on the agricultural campus. Both of these features were thoroughly enjoyed by all in attendance.

Officers elected for the ensuing year were F. W. Stanley, president; R. B. Vail, vice-president; Horace Hall, of the Dothan Eagle, secretary-treasurer; P. O. Davis, Auburn, reporter; John C. Williams, Talladega, historian; Mrs. C. W. Thomas, Citronelle, poetess. Forney Stephens, Oneonta, was elected editor, and N. C. Cady, of the Western Newspaper Union, business manager of Alapressa.

All who attended the convention agreed that it was one of the very best in the history of the association, and that great good will come from it.

THE VOICE OF THE LIBERTY BELL

This is one of the two new official posters of the Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition, opening in Philadelphia June 1 to celebrate 150 years of American Independence. The Exposition will continue to December 1. Dan Smith, the artist, has symbolized the epoch in history which the tolling of the Liberty Bell in Independence Hall, July 4, 1776, marked and has depicted the growth of the United States from the original thirteen states, represented by the thirteen stars which emerge from the mouth of the Liberty Bell.

THE CHOICE OF YOUNG COHEN

It so befell in the months preceding our entry into the World war that in a suburb of Chicago a preparedness league was organized. Swept away by patriotic love for his adopted country a youth named Cohen joined it. Now, military drill was a part of the duties of a member, and young Cohen did not take with any great amount of enthusiasm to this feature.

One evening the commander of his squad sought to liven him.

"Buck up, Herman!" he said. "You learn how to be a soldier, and some of these days you may go back to the old country—to Poland—and be a field marshal."

"I think," said Herman, "I'd rather stay here and be a Marshall Field."

Time Out for Republicans To Announce for Office

Tuesday of this week, June 15, was the last day upon which Republican candidates may announce for running in the primary of August 10. The closing day did not bring forth any new crop of candidates as had been predicted by political prophets.

J. M. Smith of Thorsby announced for the school board. He will ask the people to again pass upon him for membership on the board in order to settle a legal dispute that has arisen concerning his election two years ago.

It is said by some that J. D. Cleckler of Thorsby and Tug Willis of Clanton filed with the probate judge their declarations as candidates for Sheriff. The Union-Banner was not able to find out from these gentlemen whether or not they will make the race.

As the matter now stands, the following are the candidates who are formally announced and who will be in the Republican primary of August 10:

For Sheriff—J. D. Collins of Clanton.

For Tax Collector—Tom Rockett of Clanton; Will Culp of Clanton; Alf Mims of Thorsby.

For Tax Assessor, Sam Pate of Thorsby; Kin Vinson of Clanton.

For Representative in the Legislature—Percy Pitts of Clanton; John S. Dennis of Clanton Route 1.

For member of the County Board of Education—R. H. Bean, W. J. Easterling, S. J. M. Webb, J. L. Vines, C. C. Conway, J. M. Smith.

For County Commissioner, First District—T. J. Dorminey, D. F. Jones, J. N. Scott, J. P. Bean, S. E. Waldrop.

For County Commissioner, Second District—D. H. Gentry, J. H. Benson, T. A. Maddox, J. M. Mims.

Take a Johnson with you and Enjoy the Water

The Johnson outboard motor is an easy, one-hand "carry"—35 pounds is the weight, complete and ready to run. It is just the type of motor the fisherman and outdoor enthusiast needs and wants.

Powerful, always ready to go—

Quickly fitted to any make rowboat or canoe without altering either—

It is so portable you can take it with you wherever you go this summer and be ready to fully enjoy the water when you get to it.

No other outboard motor is so truly portable. No other so surely safeguarded against starting troubles or from injury in hitting submerged logs, sand bars or rocks. Its patented SHOCK ABSORBER DRIVE positively prevents damage to propeller or to the motor.

Ask Your Friend who has Traveled Abroad

to give you a comparison between the railroads of the United States and those of the Old World; to tell you something about the accommodations afforded as to luxury of travel, as to frequency of trains and as to dependability of reaching your destination on time.

The American Pullman car as used by this and other great trunk lines, affords not only comfortable and clean beds, but adequate toilet facilities, which are not to be found even on the finest trains in Europe. Between the principal American cities and the points of interest there are many railroads operating many fast trains daily and Sunday. In Europe only a very limited number of trains operate through the week, and on Sunday most of the fast trains are taken off, and practically all of the dining-car service is done away with ---making it necessary for travellers to get off even the best trains at stations and eat at lunch counters.

While some of the Continental trains run faster per mile than American trains, their through schedules are on the whole very much slower. For instance, between Cincinnati, Ohio and Mobile, Alabama---a distance of 781.3 miles---the Pan-American requires but 26 hours, 33 minutes; whereas, between Nice and Paris---a distance of but 675 miles (106 miles shorter than between Cincinnati and Mobile)---23 hours, 25 minutes is required on their fastest trains. Think of this again! In America, 781 miles in 20 hours and a half---in France, 675 miles in 23 hours and a half.

PRAYING FOR RAIN

Portions of South Carolina are reported to be again in the grip of a dry spell like which was experienced there last summer. A dispatch of the Associated Press from Chester says: "All business will cease here to-morrow (Monday) at eleven a. m., for one hour prayer service for rain. Citizens have been asked to fast during the morning until after the service."

Effective June 10, all domestic quarantines previously imposed by the U. S. Department of Agriculture because of foot-and-mouth disease of livestock were revoked. This announcement applies particularly to California, in which certain areas have been kept under supervision as a precautionary measure. An outbreak of this disease appeared in Texas in 1924, and reappeared in 1925, but Texas was officially freed from all quarantines April 1, 1926.

PROTECTION

Many years ago, when the United States bought its steel in Europe, Abraham Lincoln said: "If we buy steel in a foreign country, you get the steel and the foreign country gets the money, but if you buy steel at home, you have in your own country both steel and money." Here is a truth as simple as two plus two equals four. It is a statement that a six-year-old child could understand and appreciate. Building its economic structure on this policy, the United States has become the greatest and richest nation in the world. Even England, for ages incurably addicted to free trade, is at last getting tired of being the dumping ground of the world, for protection sentiment in England is growing by leaps and bounds. Over fifty countries have raised their tariffs in recent years. Only in Canada are there wooden-headed politicians who can not see the wisdom of giving the manufacturer the first right to sell in his own home market. If we had world-wide free trade it would, no doubt, be a wonderful thing, but when the United States raises an impregnable tariff barrier against us, let us fight them with their own weapons. Not to use these weapons is plain, unadulterated suicide. Canada imports $500,000,000 worth of goods which should be made in our own country by our own people.—From O'Brien and Williams Circular, in the Montreal Star.

REMEMBERING "OLD IRONSIDES"

The Constitution is a symbol of patriotism. The story of its stury defense of the American flag is one of the most glorious chapters in the history of the United States. This story should be known by every American child, and every child should be privileged to give a penny or a dime toward the preservation of "Old Ironsides." No hour could be more usefully employed than in inculcating into childish minds the lessons of patriotism and valor that cluster about the name of "Old Ironsides."—Washington Post.

TheUniversity of Tennessee announces that a barred rock hen owned by the University established a new high record in continuous egg production by producing 104 eggs in 104 consecutive days. So far as is known no other hen of a heavy breed has exceeded 100 eggs in 100 days. The world's record for all breeds is 127 eggs in 127 days.

At a recent national convention in New York, Gabriel Davidson, manager of the Jewish Agricultural Society, made the statement that there are now 7,500 Jewish farmers owning approximately 1,000,000 acres of land, valued at $100,000,000, in the United States. He said that 25 years ago there were only 1,000 Jewish farmers in two or three states.

One place where it ought to be easy to get mass production is in the chewing gum industry.

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

We are now in the midst of the primary season and it is a season that will last up until within a few weeks of the general election. The opinion is growing among thinking people that the primary has about lost its usefulness, if it ever had any. Indeed the primary is held to be one of the reasons why the percentage of the people who vote is steadily declining.

The average American doesn't like too much of a good thing, even when it comes to an election, and there are so many of these nowadays with our primaries, referendums and so on, in addition to our general elections, and so much bitterness is engendered in the contests, that there is little wonder so many people are refusing to go to the polls. And when it comes to arousing bitterness, one primary can do more than a half dozen general elections.

The primary system has failed to live up to the promises made for it, especially in the larger cities and in the state-wide contests. Many small counties, in which every man pretty well knows his neighbors, get along all right with a primary. But in larger territories and congested centers of population the system does not work so well.

Certainly it can not be said that the primary has raised the quality of the candidates over that obtained by the convention system. Of course we have a lot of good men getting office, but no one has yet been able to show that they have improved either in honesty or efficiency over the ones we used to get when we had conventions. Then we used to get a black sheep from the convention once in a while, but now we are just as apt to get one through the primary system. In the old days the delegates had a sense of party responsibility which usually prevented their nominating anyone who was incompetent or corrupt, for the simple reason that such a candidate was likely to be defeated at the polls. Under the primary system the people do the selecting and are not moved by party responsibility. Of course this puts the blame on themselves if they select bad candidates, but that does not help the general situation any.

And it is a noteworthy fact that it is just as easy if not easier for a political boss to dominate a primary as a convention. The bosses are usually found in the large cities where the average voter is unacquainted with the candidates for whom he is voting. He is unable therefore always to make a wise choice and the process resolves itself into voting for a slate of candidates, representing one interest or another.

It used to be argued that the primary system was democratic but the opposite has proved to be the case. It has restricted running for office by the poor man rather than encouraged it, because it takes a lot of money to run a primary and few men can afford either the time or money required to make the race.

Our Constitution was built on the theory of representative government. The primary has not assisted in giving us real deliberative representative government, and the sooner we devise a system which at least will eliminate the objectionable features now found in the primary, the better it will be for the government in general.

Embarrassed The Newlyweds.—Doris' mother was entertaining a young couple just returned from their honeymoon. Doris, feeling neglected, sat a little apart reciting nursery rhymes in a loud voice to attract attention to herself. Little notice was taken of her until the conversation slackened a bit, then she was heard reciting, "Needles and pins, needles and pins, when a man marries—" she hesitated, striving to recall the remainder of the couplet. Suddenly her brow cleared. "When a man marries, the cradle will rock," she finished triumphantly, and she wondered why she was sent out of the room.—Boston Transcript.

OFFICER—HE'S IN AGAIN

Pop-eyed we looked at his catch.
As beautiful a fish as we had Ever seen. And to add to our Admiration, he rendered us almost Breathless with this story:
"Yep—fellas. Ain't he a beauty?
Lookit that large mouth. And,
Bah-leeve me, maybe that baby
Didn't give me a fight! I had Just shot the ol' frog in
'Midst of a cluster of lily pads
When—there came a loud 'Swish!'
The battle was on. Out went the Line—the whirl of that reel
Was music in my ears. Then—a Sudden stop. I drew the line
Taut and started to reel in.
Nothing doing. He started in Another direction. Things kept
Up that way for more than a
Half hour, this baby zig-zagging
All over the lake. Finally I
Noticed that he was tiring and
I started his nose toward the Boat. Once close, he spotted me and
Made a sharp dive for the bottom.
I thought sure my line wouldn't
Hold. But it did. The fight raged
On. At last I brought him to gaff.
I whipped the ol' net under him
And—and—"

AND JUST THEN—

His wife stepped into the room and Interrupted him with—
"Pardon me, dear. But here's a bill I don't understand. It's from the butcher and says:
'One 7-pound Black Bass—$2.80'."

One Who Desired to Know

A suburbanite in New Jersey was moving from one street to another where he had just built a new house. Observing with dismay the care-free way in which the moving crew yanked his cherished antiques about, he was filled with a desire to save from possible damage a tall grandfather's clock which he prized highly and which was reliably reputed to be more than a hundred years old.

Taking the clock up in his arms he started for the new house. But the clock was as tall as its owner, and heavy besides, and its doors kept swinging open, so that he had to put it down every few feet and rest his arms and mop his streaming brow. Then he would clutch his burden to his heaving bosom and stagger on again.

Before he had gone a block he had repeated this operation a dozen times and was panting from exhaustion. Every time he put the clock down he would gaze into its round, impassive face and curse it for weighing so much and for being so unwieldy.

After half an hour of these strenuous exertions he was nearing his destination when a man who had been watching his labors from the opposite side of the road took advantage of a halt to hail him.

"Mister," he said thickly, "could I ask you a quest'n?"

"What is it?" demanded the pestered suburbanite.

"Why in thunder don't you carry a watch?"

Get Rid of That Tired, Run-Down Feeling. Build Yourself Up! Win Back Your Strength, Energy and "Pep."

THERE are lots of people who drag around with that tired, run-down feeling because they have tried many treatments and have failed to get results. They're discouraged and "blue"—afraid to take the advice even of their family physician.

These are the people we want Dr. Thacher to help. We want them to test his famous treatment in their own homes at our expense. For we know what it has done in countless numbers of cases of indigestion, constipation, impoverished and impure blood, rheumatism and the many "pep-less" symptoms of a torpid liver and stomach trouble. And we know that these sufferers will become our most enthusiastic praisers once they are convinced.

THE TWO-THIRDS RULE

Evidence is piling up that the Democratic Party is preparing for a fight to a finish in its convention of 1928. This, of course, will be hailed with some glee by the brethren in the Republican Party who remember what easy sailing the Democratic convention fiasco of 1924 gave them.

And the best evidence that a finish fight is being prepared lies in the fact that there is now a sincere movement on foot to abolish the time-honored two-thirds rule which has long been necessary for a choice of candidates in a Democratic convention. In fact this rule has been in effect since 1832, when the convention met to nominate Andrew Jackson for the Presidency.

It seems now that the followers of William G. McAdoo and Governor Al Smith, bitter rivals in 1924, are in favor of abolishing the two-thirds rule, so that a majority of the delegates can name the candidates, as is the rule now in Republican conventions. This, if true, can only mean that the followers of William G. McAdoo and the followers of Al Smith, who are as far apart as the poles on many issues, are determined to have a real show-down of strength for the purpose of seeing who is the real boss of the Democratic Party.

In 1924 McAdoo might have been nominated had the majority rule been in effect. Evidently Governor Smith's friends believe that by 1928 he will have grown so in the party councils that he can command a majority of the delegates. Supporters of McAdoo, remembering his strength in 1924, doubtless feel that the Californian can be nominated in case of a majority choice.

If the two-thirds rule were kept in effect, it is very likely that neither man could be nominated, and another compromise would be forced, as was the case in 1924. The most significant fact therefore is that the supporters of McAdoo and Smith seem to have decided that they prefer a finish fight to another compromise, with the elimination of either one or the other from a commanding place in the councils of the party.

Such a finish fight might easily wreck the party so far as the 1928 campaign is concerned, but on the other hand, there is no alluring prospect of victory in another long-drawn-out convention with a compromise candidate as the result, after everybody has become tired and disgusted with the whole affair.

The Republican Party has its troubles, too, but they are not so fundamental as those which split the Democrats into two hostile camps. The moves made on the Democratic chessboard within the next few months will be worth watching.

REDUCING TAXES

Thinking people will be inclined to agree with President Coolidge that it is decidedly too early now to talk about another tax reduction in the near future. It is true that there will be a surplus instead of a deficit at the end of the present fiscal year, and that is a pleasant surprise to most of us. The country is undoubtedly prosperous now. But there is no assurance that there will be a surplus at the end of the next fiscal year. If the surplus then continues and grows, there will be time enough to consider what we ought to do about it. And there are many who think that the best way to ease the burdens of the taxpayers is to continue to pay off our giant war debt as rapidly as possible.

The United States now has the least burdensome tax of the countries taking part in the great war. This does not mean that we ought to quit reducing federal taxes, but it does signify that there is no longer a tax crisis and that any further reductions ought to be considered very carefully. Sound economics and not politics should be the inspiration in the future, just as the administration has been guided by such a standard in the past.

Nobody will seriously maintain that any further reduction in federal taxes will aid the farmer, who needs more than anyone else to be aided just now. He has already been relieved of his income tax burdens.

By all means let us reduce the taxes further when practicable, but let us approach the subject with caution as the President suggests. Incidentally, it may be suggested that any tax reduction ammunition we have left ought to be used on our state and local taxes. There is where the most good can be done.

THORSBY SECTION

(S. E. NORTON, Manager).

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Peterson went to Birmingham Wednesday of this week to attend the wedding of their daughter, Clara Victoria, of Birmingham, and Mr. Noel Lewis Self of St. Clair Springs, Ala., solemnized at 8 p. m., Wednesday, June 6, in the parlor of the Sixth Presbyterian Church of Birmingham. Mr. and Mrs. Self will spend two weeks on a honeymoon trip to Lookout Mountain and Atlanta. Miss Peterson spent her childhood days in Thorsby with her parents, but ever since she reached maturity she has been engaged in office work. For some time past she has occupied an important position in the Birmingham office of The Alabama Power Company. She is a young woman of pleasing personality and prominent in church work; she has a faculty for making friends among good people wherever she goes. Of Mr. Self we know little, but folks who know him have only good things to say of him, and we are confident that he must be of a good sort to have attractions for Miss Peterson.

Mr. Fred Howard, accompanied by Loyd Howard, Palmer Lefstead, and Henry Robinson, motored to Shaw's Mill on Waxahatchie River Saturday morning. They spent most of the day in fishing and casting. Fred Howard landed an unusually large trout, and the others caught some fish. They camped Saturday night and returned home Sunday, saying they had a splendid time.

Miss Eva Mae Parnell, Miss Jethrie Larrimore, Mr. Adcock and Robert Harris of Birmingham motored to Thorsby and spent Sunday afternoon with Dr. and Mrs. Wood.

The Y. W. A. met with Mrs. Ed Piper Tuesday afternoon. The program and social hour were enjoyed by all present.

Mrs. Annie Brewer of Chicago is visiting Mrs. W. J. Billingsley and friends in Thorsby.

Mrs. Martin, Mrs. C. S. King and little daughter, Lorraine, spent last Tuesday with Mrs. S. C. Wood.

Miss Hattie Davenport of Birmingham spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Davenport, at their home in Thorsby.

The Vaughn Quartet concert at the public school house last Monday night drew one of the largest audiences attending a similar entertainment in Thorsby for many a day. The singing of these young men was of a high order and greatly appreciated by everybody. We hope they will favor us again some day. Lawrenceburg, Tenn., is their headquarters.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry V. Thompson, Mrs. Green and George Jasper of Birmingham, were Thorsby visitors Saturday night and Sunday, as guests of D. D. Manny, an uncle of Mrs. Thompson, who occupies the Thompson home in Thorsby.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl C. Petersen and young Jack left Thorsby Tuesday for a two weeks visit with their son, Albert, and wife, in New York City.

Miss Violet Thorson, daughter of Sam Thorson, one of the pioneers of Thorsby, now of Waseca, Minn., is a guest of her aunts, Mrs. A. E. Reagan, Mrs. C. R. Foss, Mrs. J. M. Bosworth, and Miss Naemi Turnquist. Miss Thorson left Thorsby as a baby in arms nearly 20 years ago, and this is her first visit to this section during all these years.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Reagan, Miss Violet Thorson, Miss Naemi Turnquist, and W. M. Parnell motored to Birmingham in company with Carl R. Petersen and family, who had been spending the week end in Thorsby. The party attended a Lutheran childrens' service at Birmingham Sunday night. On the way to Birmingham they ran into a blockade caused by an auto accident on one of the bad curves on a mountain side, where a man and woman were very seriously injured.

Rev. Each went Sunday to one of his out-of-town appointments at Stoney Point, near Deatsville. He was accompanied by his daughter, Alta, and Miss Lorena Primm. The latter went to help out in the singing.

Miss Lois Primm left Saturday morning for a normal school course at Jacksonville, Ala.

Miss Claudia Smith, who is attending summer school at Howard College, taught last season at Pleasant Grove, and has been engaged as assistant Principal at Isabella Junior High School.

A party of 12 young people, accompanied by Mrs. Each and E. W. Butler went to Gore's Pond for a picnic Thursday afternoon.

Miss Winnie Garrick of Carrolton, Ga., is visiting her sisters, Mrs. C. M. Williams and Mrs. Tom Burdette, and her brother, Howard Garrick.

Howard Brothers announce that carnations are about done blooming, and they are clearing out their benches in the greenhouses preparatory to refilling for next season's business. They have, however, just now a considerable supply of choice gladioli in bloom.

Nels Nelson left Monday for training at Camp McClellan, near Anniston, after spending two weeks with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Nelson, in Thorsby.

The Lutheran Ladies Aid will meet Thursday afternoon this week at the home of Mrs. J. M. Bosworth.

The Ladies Guild Social will be held Thursday afternoon, June 24, at the home of Mrs. D. M. Paxson.

Miss Odie Lee Arthur, head of Thorsby Institute business department, and office secretary, left for a short visit to her home at Midland City, and later will take a summer course in a Montgomery business college.

Mrs. Loveland will be in the office of Thorsby Institute mornings until about June 25, to advise with pupils concerning their courses of study for next year.

Any who wish to be in the boarding department enroll now and pay enrollment fee, $1.50, if you wish to reserve a room.

Report cards of 1925-26 are ready. If you have not called for yours, do so at once.

Miss Fairbank wishes to announce changes in library rules for the summer. The hours the library will be open will be from 3 to 6, instead of 2 to 5. Remember, 3 to 6, only Friday afternoons. Books may be kept three weeks, instead of two, as in term time. They may be renewed by means of a post card addressed to Miss Fairbank, Thorsby, Ala. A fine of two cents per day will be charged for each book which is not returned or renewed at the time it is due.

Mrs. George Freeman and daughter, Meryl, have gone to Birmingham for a few weeks vacation.

The Baptist church will begin special revival meetings the second Sunday in July, to be conducted by Rev. John J. Milford, D. D., a former pastor of this church, who now has the charge of a church at Carrolton, Ga.

Rev. R. L. Bonner, pastor of the Thorsby Baptist church, has tendered his resignation, to take effect the fourth Sunday in July, at the close of the services that day.

E. W. Butler received one day last week from his wife a birthday present of a new Ford touring car of modern design and equipment. There are few people in Thorsby and vicinity, except those seeking office, who are more liberal in the use of their car for the benefit of those who do not have one than Mr. Butler. Therefore we feel sure he will get a lot of enjoyment from his new car.

The Thorsby P. T. A. social will be held Tuesday, June 22, at the home of Mrs. T. W. Robinson. Everybody cordially invited to attend.

English services next Sunday at 10:30 a. m., at Thorsby Lutheran church.

Mrs. Hattie M. Gerald, who has spent the past school year making a home for four of her children at Piedmont College, Demorest, Ga., returned to her home in Thorsby last Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Soberg and son, Arnold, were week end visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Morgan in Wylam. Mrs. Morgan is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Soberg, and lived many years in Thorsby before her marriage.

Stationery, the quality that you get elsewhere, but does not cost as much. V. J. Elmore 5c and 10c Store.

I am expecting another car of Nitrate of Soda Saturday of this week. If you need any, come and get it.—If you can't come, send me check or money order for what you want and I will hold it. $6 for 200-lb. sack.—J. N. Dennis, Clanton, Ala.

The Reason the Artist Quit

This, in effect, is in explanation of why a rather well known New York politician gave up free-hand drawing. Although without any artistic training, he rather fancied himself a pretty fair amateur sketch artist until a certain incident, which I am now about to narrate, came to pass.

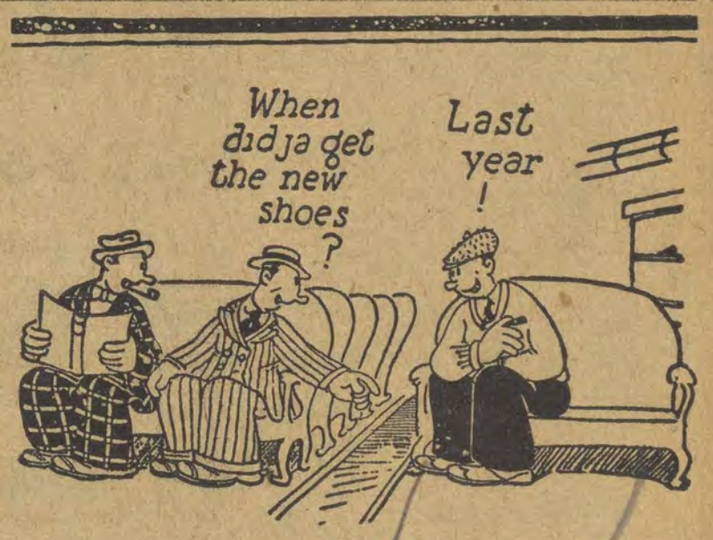
In company with a newspaper man he was touring Spain. One morning in Malaga the two Americans dropped into a little cafe for breakfast. They knew no Spanish and their waiter knew no English. Largely by signs they made him understand that they wanted coffee and rolls. This was no very hard job inasmuch as coffee and rolls practically constituted the breakfast menu of the establishment. But when the newspaperman decided that he wished also a glass of milk difficulties arose.

Singly and in chorus they pronounced the world "milk." Then they spelled it out. They shouted it loudly as one always does, somehow, when using one's own language, one is dealing with a stranger who doesn't understand that language. The waiter merely shrugged his shoulders and spread his fingers in a gesture of helplessness.

The man who wanted milk imitated the action of one milking a cow, meanwhile mooing plaintively, and then, to round out the illustration, went through the pantomime of emptying an imaginary glass. Still the waiter stared at him uncomprehendingly.

"Hold on," said the politician, "I've got an idea. I can draw about as well as the next one. Lend me a pencil; it won't take me a minute to make this fellow understand what you want."

With the pencil, on the table cloth he sketched rapidly what seemed to him, at least, a very clear and graphic likeness of a domestic cow, and, squatted down alongside the cow, his conception of a conventional milkmaid engaged in the act of milking. As he made the finishing strokes, the waiter, who had been watching the operation over his shoulder, burst into a delighted cry of "Si! Si! Senor!" and, tucking up his apron, dashed from the restaurant and ran across the street into the shop of a tobacconist.



"Now then," said the politician to his friend, "see what a knack with the pencil will do for a fellow when he gets into difficulties in a foreign country. I'll venture I could go all over the world, making my meaning clear by dashing off these little illustrations of what I meant and what I wanted, and never have any trouble at all about getting along."

"Maybe so," said the newspaper man, "but why in thunder did the waiter go to a cigar store for milk?"

"Probably a custom of the country," said the artist. "The main point was that just as soon as he'd had a good look at my drawing he was on his way. He'll be back here in a minute with your glass of milk."

The prediction was only partly true. The waiter was back again in a minute or less but he brought no milk. Triumphantly, and with an air about him of having accomplished a desired errand with satisfaction to all concerned, he laid down in front of his patrons two tickets for a bullfight.

NITRATE OF SODA APPLICATION

The advantages of applying nitrate of soda to cotton are shown in the data from the experiment stations. Many farmers still have the idea that they get the largest increase from applying it when the cotton is blooming and the corn is bunching to tassel; but an application at these stages of growth does not produce the greatest profits, as is shown by carefully conducted experiments over a wide section of the country.

Cotton.

The Director of the Alabama Experiment Station recently gave out the following results, which were secured from a 200-lbs. application of nitrate of soda per acre on fourteen tests over a two-year period:

Time of application	Increase in seed cotton from 200 lbs. nitrate of soda
All at planting	357 lbs.
All at chopping	289 lbs.
All at bloomins	174 lbs.

100 lbs. at planting and 100 lbs. at first cultivation, 372 lbs.

The study of these figures shows the importance of early liberal applications of nitrate of soda.

Corn.

The average results of a large number of tests made in different parts of Alabama over a period of many years show that the best and safest time to apply nitrate of soda to corn is not when the corn is bunching to tassel, as many farmers have been taught to believe, but is when the plants are about knee high.

NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that a special election will be held in Chilton County, Alabama, on the 20th day of July, 1926, for the purpose of determining whether or not a special tax shall be levied and collected annually, at the rate of ten cents (10c) on each one hundred ($100.00) dollars worth of taxable property in said County for the present tax year and continuing for a period of ten years (10) from September 30, 1926, and said levy is proposed to be made for public school purposes in said County.

This, the 8th day of June, 1926.

A European scientist says that the average American doesn't take things seriously enough. He ought to attend a baseball game between the crack teams of two rival county seat towns.

Senator Edwards accuses Senator Borah with playing politics in his stand on prohibition. Of course Senator Edwards wouldn't think of doing such a thing himself.

Speaking of public calamities, just suppose the little silkworm should go on a strike, forcing the ladies to go back to cotton stockings!

A CHANGE IN EUROPE

According to Frank H. Simonds, noted American writer on international affairs, who has just returned from Europe, there is a noticeable change in attitude on the part of certain European nations as to the advisability from the European standpoint of Uncle Sam's joining the League of Nations or getting any farther into European affairs.

The diplomats coming to this conclusion are, of course, looking at it from their own interests. They have been somewhat jolted by the fact that we have insisted on the payment of the war debts and doubtless feel that there is no use in our coming into European affairs if we refuse to play Santa Claus to the nations across the water. Indeed they can perhaps see that our presence there might in some ways be a handicap to political designs which they may have in the future.

Now, if it is getting to be advisable from the European viewpoint that the United States stay out of Europe, it is all the more advisable that we stay out from an American standpoint. It is doubtless true that nothing is to be gained either for Europe or America by obligating America in some sort of a world super-government. Much more can be done for the peace and good will of all the nations of the world by leaving Europe to regulate European affairs, while America is taking care of the problems of the Western Hemisphere. The sceme worked admirably for more than a hundred years, and when circumstances made America's participation in a European war necessary, our lack of political commitments did not prevent our doing our duty. Indeed, the absence of political commitments between Europe and America is much more apt to lead to peace and harmony than positive agreements which might easily lead to disputes which might be otherwise avoided.

The policy of no political commitments was advocated by every early American statesman in our country. The honor roll in this regard contains the names of Washington, Adams, Madison, Monroe and Jefferson. Indeed, it was Thomas Jefferson who wrote, in the time when the Monroe Doctrine was up for discussion, that it would be a good thing, in his opinion, if a line could be drawn through the middle of the Atlantic, with America on one side attending to its own business and Europe on the other side doing the same thing.

It may be argued now that the affairs of nations have become so interlocking that such isolation is no longer possible. But it can not be argued from this that political commitments, open to question and debate whenever trouble arises, are to be preferred to an independent course of action which would preserve alike the rights of both Europe and America.

In closing it might be remarked that it is a sort of grim joke that the early patriot who is most admired by those of internationalist tendencies is none other than Thomas Jefferson, who would have disagreed with them entirely in their view of our international duties.

QUINCY ADAMS GREATEST AFTER HIS PRESIDENCY

John Quincy Adams was one President of the United States whose most heroic work was performed after he had left the Presidency, according to Frank P. Litschert, who writes in the current issue of the National Republic under the subject, "John Quincy Adams, the Man Who Came Back."

After Mr. Adams served one term as President he was defeated for a second term and retired broken hearted firm in the belief that his public work was over. But he came back to Congress from his native state of Massachusetts and for years kept up a heroic fight in favor of the abolition of slavery. At first he fought almost alone but proved himself more than a match in debate for his opponents, both North and South. His great fight was to secure the right of petition for the abolition of slavery and he finally won it. As Mr. Litschert says:

"The story of John Quincy Adams might well be called the story of the man who came back. Having represented his country with honor in Europe as a diplomat and as Secretary of State in Washington, where he assisted in the framing of the important Monroe Doctrine, John Quincy Adams retired from political life after one term in the Presidency, discouraged and, as he thought, discredited thru no fault of his own. Old age was creeping on him and it seemed that his sun was setting. But he was yet to enter into his period of greatest usefulness as a leader in the House of Representatives and as the champion of human liberty. Hated and feared at first as the spokesman of the abolitionists, he lived to win the respect of even his bitterest enemies and to die in the harness, as it were, at a ripe old age and with the knowledge that his efforts had not been in vain."

STEEL BRIDGES WANTED

The Commissioners Court of Chilton County, Alabama, will meet at Clanton, Alabama, July 5, 1926, at 11 o'clock a.m., for the purpose of receiving bids for two steel bridges complete, delivered at Clanton, Alabama.

Make price on two steel bridges, complete, 80 feet long, consisting of two 40-foot spans, one set of steel legs for each bridge 6 feet long, the county to build cement abutments for the ends of said bridges to rest on. Both bridges are to be constructed for wood floors.

All bids on said bridges to be in the hands of L. H. Reynolds, Judge of Probate, on or before 11 o'clock a.m., July 5, 1926. The county will pay cash for said bridges.

This, the 1st day of June, 1926.

L. H. REYNOLDS,
6-3-4t-ch Judge of Probate.

GULF NO-NOX MOTOR FUEL STOPS KNOCKS

PUTS CARBON TO WORK

PUTTING the old demon, carbon, to work sounds like a paradox—nevertheless that's just what GULF No-Nox Motor Fuel does and here's how it happens: Compression is power. The more compression the more power. Greater compression is secured by reducing the displacement or space in the combustion chamber. Carbon deposits materially reduce this space—old time gasoline would not withstand this added carbon compression — clicks — knocks — pings or detonations of distress quickly following sudden acceleration or heavy pulls.

No-Nox withstands higher compression—stops the knocks or detonations, thereby increasing engine efficiency. GULF No-Nox and Carbon Deposits work together for more power and greater mileage.

Turns Mountains Into Mole Hills

This guarantee goes with it: GULF No-Nox Motor Fuel is Non-Noxious, Non-Poisonous and no more harmful to man or motor than ordinary gasoline—that it contains no dope of any kind—that the color is for identification only—that it positively will not heat the motor, winter or summer.

GULF No-Nox Motor Fuel is priced three cents per gallon higher than ordinary gasoline—and is worth it.

Those present were Mesdames G. C. Harris, S. J. Ezell, J. E. Gowan, J. A. Hester, Lester Gilbert of Marbury, J. Lee Smith, E. E. Upchurch, and Grady Broadhead.

Mrs. Callen Hostess.

Mrs. Frank Callen was hostess to members of the Wednesday Bridge Club and others on last Wednesday afternoon at her home on Fifth Street. On this occasion the home was decorated with quantities of sweet peas, dahlias and gladioli. Three tables for bridge were arranged in the living room. Following a number of games, Mrs. Lawrence Gerald held high score and was presented a handpainted bridge slate.

A salad plate with iced tea was served by the hostess to the following Club members: Mesdames J. Hance Alred, John Browder, Lawrence Gerald, V. J. Heard, Arthur Johnson, Oscar Jones, J. Watts Moore, Grady Reynolds, H. M. Simpson; Miss Kathleen Mullins. The invited guests were Mrs. E. P. Stewart of Hope, Ark., and Mrs. John Hollis of Mitchell Dam.

Mrs. Page Hostess.

On last Thursday afternoon Mrs. John C. Page was a most gracious hostess, entertaining at a bridge party at her home on Fifth Avenue. The home was made most attractive with a profusion of beautiful cut flowers. The punch table was artistically arranged with decorations of sweet peas. Punch was served by Mrs. George Trotter. A series of bridge games was played at nine tables. The high score prize, a pretty wall vase, was won by Mrs. C. Fenn Jones. The consolation prize, a salt and pepper set was presented to Mrs. J. P. Hayes. Mrs. Page, assisted by Misses Alred, Frank Callen, Hugh Jones, H. M. Simpson, J. Watts Moore, V. J. Heard, J. W. Hayes, J. P. Hayes, C. Mrs. Jones Entertains.

One of the prettiest affairs of the week was a reception given by Mrs. Hugh Jones at her home on Fourth Avenue in honor of Miss Minnie Merle Pinckard of Dallas, Tex., Mesdames C. H. Baumhauer of Mobile, and Amzi Gowan of Dothan. The home was beautifully decorated with a profusion of bright garden flowers. The punch table was artistically decorated a color scheme of orange and green being carried out. Presiding over the punch table were Mesdames J. W. Hayes, J. Hance Alred, and Grady Broadhead. Assisting Mrs. Jones in receiving were Mrs. J. P. Hayes, and H. M. Simpson. The reciving line stood in the living room and was composed of the hostess, honorees, Mesdames J. H. Shepherd of Birmingham, W. H. Lanier of Wetumpka, E. P. Stewart of Hope, Ark.; Misses Mary Mauk of Birmingham, and Mary Pow of Bessemer. A color scheme of pink and white prevailed in the dining room. Baskets of gladioli and sweet peas were used to carry out the colors. The dining table, with a lace cover, was centered with a silver basket of white carnations. Pink candles burned in crystal candle sticks and bon bons in pink and white completed a lovely arrangement. A delicious salad plate was served by Mrs. J. Watts Moore and Frank Callen.

Among the guests calling were Mesdames John C. Page, Eric Hart, Carrie Mullins, C. C. Wilkerson, S. J. Ezell, W. M. Wyatt, T. C. McSwain, Arthur Johnson, N. S. Johnson, J. B. Mauney, Clarence Evans, J. P. Van Derveer, Grady Reynolds, B. M. Roberts, V. J. Elmore, H. F. Downs, P. D. Wilson, J. Lee Smith, Norman Roberts, J. C. Jones, C. Fenn Jones, John M. Van Derveer; Misses Mary Upchurch, Willodean Reynolds, Elizabeth Duncan, Bettie Mullins, Kathleen Mullins, Bessie Thomas, Lurline Harper.

An enjoyable affair of the past week was on Friday afternon when Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Simpson were hosts at a fish fry at Lock 12, honoring Mrs. E. P. Stewart of Hope, Ark.

Among those enjoying this affair were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Callen, Mr. J. Hance Alred, Dr. and Mrs. Arthur Johnson, Mrs. Stewart, Messrs. William, Moses and Charles Simpson, and others.

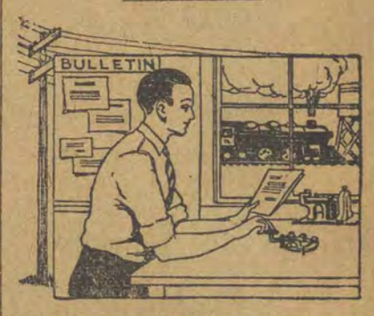
On last Friday afternoon Mrs. V. J. Elmore entertained a group of children at her home on Second Avenue, in honor of her little daughter, Olive Ranier. The occasion was the fifth birthday anniversary of the little honoree. Punch and animal cookies were served by Jane and Helen Roberts. The table was decorated in a color scheme of pink and green. Outdoor games were played. A contest, "pinning Plug's tail," afforded much fun for the little folks. Late in the afternoon the guests were invited into the dining room, which had been converted into fairy land. The table was centered with a large doll dressed as a fairy, with tinsel wings. In one hand was a group of pink and green ribbons that extended to the places of the guests. Upon drawing these Myrtle Pitts drew the ring, Jane Roberts the dime and Grace Ezzell the button. The white birthday cake was beautiful with its decorations of pink rose buds holding tiny green candles. Cakes, candies, lolly-pops in the chosen color scheme completed the decorations of the table. A dainty ice course was served. The little honoree received a number of presents, among them a canary bird presented by her best friend.

Mrs. Elmore was assisted in entertaining by Mesdames G. L. Phillips, Donald Merchant, Wilson and L. C. Ross.

Those included in this gracious hospitality were Grace Ezell, Helen and Jane Roberts, Jahn White Plyler, Iva Mae Tommerman, Peggy Page, Sam and Billie Johnson, Theda Wyatt, Guy Alred, Billy Murphy, Jane and Myrtle Pitts, Jane and Jake Neighbors, Ruth Gowan, Mary Frances Atkinson, Nell Ross Mullins, Helen Parrish, William Hodges, Annie Ross, Annette Merchant, Anne Cordelia and Frances Smith Warren Hull, Annie Rea Wilson, Mae Annice Polk, Leonard Farley Jr., and others.

Forty-Two Party.

Among the parties of the week, none was more enjoyable than the forty-two party given by Mrs. Kin Vinson and Mrs. Julius Burnett, on Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Vinson on Fifth Avenue. A profusion of bright summer blossoms artistically arranged in baskets and vases decorated the home for this affair. The punch table was decorated with sweet peas and nasturtiums. Punch was served by Miss Sara Mullins and Ruth Sessions. Following a number of forty-two games, Mrs. Gady Heflin held top scoe and was given a pretty vase. A delicious salad plate with iced tea was served to Mesdames W. M. Wyatt, Latham Ellis, Loren Smith, Joe Higgins, J. P. Crumpton, Lucian Duncan, Joe Calloway, Grady Heflin, W. E. Martin, Jean Wyatt, Bill Murphy, Misses Sara Mullins, Ruth Sessions and Mary Ellis.



Mr. Chester Wingard returned on Wednesday from a visit to relatives at Shelby, Ala.

Mr. and Mrs. Grady Heflin have as their guest his mother, Mrs. Heflin.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Atkinson and children, Mary Frances and Jo Ann, spent last week at Sylacauga, to be with Mr. Atkinson's father who underwent an operation at a Sylacauga hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. V. J. Elmore and little daughter, Olive Ranier, motored to Montgomery Tuesday and spent the day with relatives.

Miss Kate Athey of Marbury is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Wilson.

Sam Mitchell Brings First Cotton Bloom

The first cotton bloom presented at the Union-Banner office this year was brought here last Friday, June 18, by Mr. Sam Mitchell of Cooper. Mr. Mitchell is farming on the Joe Berry Jones place this year. He has about five or six acres of this planting of citton and says that there are a number of blooms in his field.

Another bloom was brought in by Dave Easterling from one of his patrons on Route 6 Saturday morning, and another one by Mr. Alfred Baker from Route 5 Saturday afternoon. Several more have been brought in later, but the honor of the first one belongs to Mr. Sam Mitchell of Cooper.

The first cotton bloom was brought in last year on June 6 by Mr. M. D. Dennis of Clanton Route 2. Just a few minutes after Mr. Dennis left his last year, Mr. J. S. Aldridge of Route 6 came in with another.

MANY COTTON BLOOMS HAVE COME IN

Since the first cotton bloom reached The Union-Banner office there have been some others sent in. One came by mail from J. T. Abbott of Pletcher, one from Pete Baker of Refuge, and one from Gid Smith of Lomax.

BOB CONNELL SENT COTTON BLOOM TUESDAY

The Union-Banner received a cotton bloom Tuesday from Bob Connell of Refuge community, which he says is the first one on his farm. Although not the first one to send in a bloom, we will have to give Bob credit for being one of the "early birds."

Mr. J. O. Chambers of Maplesville sent in a cotton bloom Wednesday morning. Mr. Chambers says he has 75 acres in cotton this year. He said his bloom was picked Monday.

PATTILLO-STRICKLAND WEDDING

Mr. James Cato Pattillo of Verbena and Miss Lucy Estelle Strickland of Montgomery were married in Montgomery on Sunday, June 20th. Announcements of the wedding have been received by friends of the contracting parties in Clanton.

Miss Strickland has been a teacher in the Verbena High School for some years past, where she has made many friends by her charming personality.

Mr. Pattillo is a well-known business man of Verbena. The Union-Banner joins their many friends in extending congratulations and best wishes.

They will reside in Verbena.

A CORRECTION

In making announcement of the singing to be held at Minooka last Sunday, we gave the date as June 30, when the correct date should have been June 20.

A letter from Mr. W. L. Sanders says that a large class was present, the singing fine, and dinner plentiful. We are glad to make the correction and hope that none were discomfited by it.

PEOPLES BANK MAKING SOME IMPROVEMENTS

The Peoples Savings Bank is engaged in making some changes in the arrangement of their offices which will make their place much better for appearance and much more roomy and convenient for carrying on their business.

The entire building will be done over inside with new paint, new paper, and new floor covering.

The Peoples Savings Bank was organized here 25 years ago, when the banking business was a new venture. Time has proven the prediction of its founders that such a business could be made a success.

SUMMER SCHOOL AT CHILTON COUNTY HIGH

Opens July 12. Courses offered to pupils who have conditions which they wish to remove, and to those who wish to earn advanced credits.

FRIENDSHIP CHURCH BLOWN DOWN BY STORM TUESDAY

A severe storm descended on Clanton and surrounding territory Tuesday about noon. Much damage was done by wind and hail. Cotton was beaten down to a bare stem in some places, while corn was blown and beaten down over a wide area. Several buildings were blown down. Friendship Baptist church, about one and one-half miles northeast of Clanton, was crushed like an egg-shell. Reports say the church will be rebuilt in the near future.

WILL MEET AND DEVISE PLANS FOR REBUILDING FRIENDSHIP

The Board of Deacons of Friendship Baptist Church hereby calls a meeting of all its members and all others interested on Thursday night of this week, June 24, at the home of Mr. J. D. Collins near the church.

The purpose of the meeting is to devise and discuss plans for rebuilding the church which was blown down by the storm on Tuesday afternoon. It is hoped that as many members as possible will be present at this meeting, as this is a matter requiring the hearty support of every member of the church as well as the other good citizens of the surrounding community. The meeting will be held about 8 o'clock.

JOHN A. THOMAS HERE

The many friends of Mr. John A. Thomas were glad to see him in Clanton Monday. He now lives in Lakeland Fla., where he is engaged in the furniture business. For twenty years Mr. Thomas was connected with the Peoples Savings Bank in Clanton. He left here four years ago on account of his health.

He is much improved physically since going to Florida.

PLEASANT GROVE

The Christian Harmony Singing Class met at Pleasant Grove Sunday afternoon, and had a good singing. Directors were: Miss Ora Dell Wilkins, Mrs. Sarah Bates, W. B. Cooper, Marlo Williams, Misses Pauline and Irene Williams.

Beauties - - Two Kinds !

NO wonder the poets, since time immemorable, have raved about the "rarity of a June day." 'Tis, indeed, the month that has never failed them in providing poetic inspiration—its clear, blue skies and warm sunshine, with an occasional warm rain, producing myriads of beautiful flowers of every hue and every fragrance that not only poets but everybody loves so well.

But there we go raving ourselves. Gaze upon the pretty blossoms in the above photo. Would that printer's ink could produce their actual colors here. Yet, really, aren't they wonderful? (A little color imagination, please.) The beauty in the center? Oh—that's Miss Gladys Glad whom the floral beauties tempted. Can't blame her for nestling so close to them, can you?

MUSICAL ENTERTAINMENT AT MITCHELL DAM

A very enjoyable musical entertainment was given at Mitchell Dam last Saturday night. The program was composed of various numbers rendered by Mr. E. T. Weldon and his string band, composed of himself, Lonnie Price, J. C. Price, Kin Vinson, and Walter Ward. Many very excellent vocal selections were rendered under direction of Prof. W. M. Devaughn, with W. G. Culp, Archie Devaughn, Renfroe Jones, Frank Porch, Mrs. John Hancock, Mrs. Renfroe Jones, and Miss Romie Lee Devaughn.

Attendance was good, and everybody thoroughly enjoyed the music. The players were served with refreshments by some of the Mitchell Dam residents.

RENFROE MULLINS CANDIDATE FOR TAX COLLECTOR

The Chilton County News last week carried the announcement of J. Renfroe Mullins as a candidate for Tax Collector of Chilton County in the Democratic primary of August 10.

Mr. Mullins is a well-known business man of Clanton, a son of W. I. Mullins, and a member of the mercantile firm of Mullins & Moore. He has been in busness here for several years and has made a wide and favorable acquaintance with the people of the County. This is his first venture in politics.

Mr. Mullins is the only Democratic candidate for Tax Collector, the other candidate, D. M. Martin, having withdrawn from the race. The republican candidates for Tax Collector are Tom Rockett, present collector, seeking re-election, Will Culp, and Alf Mims.

ATCHISON CARRIED TO THE ASYLUM AT TUSCALOOSA

Deputies Culp and Foshee went to Tuscaloosa Tuesday to carry Roscoe Atchison, white man, of Pletcher, who is said to have gone crazy and attempted to take his own life. It is reported that he tried to cut his throat Monday, which was his second attempt at suicide. Culp and Foshee drove to Pletcher in a car, and carried the man from there on a train.

HOSPITAL STOCKHOLDERS IN ANNUAL MEETING

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Central Alabama Hospital, Inc., was held at the court house on Monday.

Officers of the corporation elected for the ensuing year were as follows: Dr. V. J. Gragg, president; Dr. R. B. McNeill, vice-president; W. M. Wyatt, secretary; J. C. Page, treasurer; Board of Directors, V. J. Gragg, R. B. McNeill, C. O. Lawrence, M. L. White, C. R. Mullins, W. L. Popwell, J. B. Atkinson, J. W. Gore, Tom Kemp, C. F. Jones.

Reports at the meeting showed that during the past six months there have been more patients in the hospital than ever before since its establishment.

Dave and DeWitt Easterling have bought out the Clanton Cafe from Mat Ware. They are continung operation of the place at the new location in Dr. Sam Johnson's new building back of Upchurch's, on Seventh Street.

"CUPID UP-TO-DATE" WAS A GOOD PLAY

A large audience at the high school last Friday night was pleased with the presentation of the play "Cupid Up-To-Date" by a strictly local cast under the direction of Miss Mary Frances Dunaway of the Wayne P. Sewell Co., of Atlanta.

The following young folks composed the cast of characters:

Stars—Hilda Hart, Jane Roberts, Elizabeth McSwain, Elizabeth Gragg.

Time-To-Retire Kids—Helen Roberts, Celia Gerald, Elizabeth Lawrence, Eloise Rasberry.

Fairies—Jane Pitts, Mary C. Jones, Nell Ross Mullins, Mary Wallace.

Cupids—Lump Pitts, Nell Rockett, Theda Wyatt, Olive Rainer Elmore.

Chorus Girls—Lurline Minor, Wilhelmna Kittrell, Inez Kittrell, Myra Johnson, Katharine Hayes, Gertie Fiquette, Sunset Polk, Lottie Vance.

Cupid, Hal Broadhead; Dolly Extreme, Elizabeth Duncan; Father Time, Reese Mullins; Common Sense, Willodean Reynolds; Bully, Leon Kemp; Domestica, Mrs. Jack Wade; Will Steady, Charles Moore; Cora Dumb, Minnie Fiquette; Dora Dumb, Lorine Murphy; Eddie Freeverse, William Simpson; Freddie Freeverse, Lewis Williams; John Scientist, Sam Upchurch; Senator Bing, Madelyn Orr. The play was put on by the Methodist ladies of Clantor

FARMERS ATTEND TRACTOR SHOW NEAR TALLASSEE

Over near Tallassee there is a farm owned by the man who runs the Ford agency in that city, upon which the entire cultivation of the crops is done by means of a Fordson tractor and cultivators.

Last Friday was "show day" at this farm. Many people from far and near gathered there to see a crop of cotton in which there has not been a horse or mule plow.

A number of our Chilton county farmers went, among whom are mentioned W. H. Gaines, Eddie Edwards, Julius Edwards, W. M. Deramus, Barney Wilkins, R. N. Roebuck, Greer Culver, J. M. Gaines, R. N. Wilkins, A. J. Wilkins, D. H. Misseldine, John Cox, C. D. Foshee.

These gentlemen are reported to have had a nice time, and came back very much impressed with the successful work done by the Fordson.

FRIENDSHIP SINGERS WILL MEET AT WALNUT CREEK

Next Sunday afternoon is the time for the regular monthly singing at Friendship church, and through the courtesy of the good people of Walnut Creek church, the society will meet at that church next Sunday afternoon. So all the singers and others who intended to come to Friendship are asked to meet with us at Walnut Creek. Singing will begin promptly at 2 o'clock. This change is made on account of the building at Friendship getting blown down Tuesday of this week.

Mr. Archie Glass and his United Singing Society of Union Grove, Collins Chapel, etc., have promised to be present, and it is expected that a fine singing will be had. All singers and lovers of music have a cordial invitation. You will be welcome both by Walnut Creek and Friendship.

WANTED TO BUY—5 gallons nice huckleberries. Bring to Union-Banner office. 1t-ch.

VAUGHN QUARTET AT HIGH SCHOOL FRIDAY NIGHT

The Vaughn Quartet, of Lawrenceburg, Tenn., will render a concert at the High School auditorium in Clanton on Friday night of this week, beginning at 8:15 o'clock. The program will be under auspices of the Baptist Missionary Society, and the proceeds will go to the foreign mission fund which is being sponsored by the local society. The ladies of the Baptist church hope to have a large attendance. The Vaughns are well known here. Their programs have always proved highly entertaining, and we are sure this one will be equally as good as those in the past.

TWO BARRELS OF BEER DESTROYED TUESDAY

Sheriff Littlejohn and Deputy Foshee destroyed two barrels of beer Tuesday near the Hatcher Bridge in Beat 13. There was no still at the place and no arrests were made in connection with the raid.

CASS KILLINGSWORTH FOUND WITH LIQUOR

Sheriff Littlejohn and Deputy Loss Robinson arrested Cass Killingsworth with a small quantity of liquor near Providence in Beat 13 last Sunday. He was brought to jail and made bond Monday.

WOOLLEY HOME-COMING

Our good friend, Mr. J. C. C. Woolley, of Stanton, was in the Banner office a while Monday bubbling over with glee as he told the Banner man that his children were all at home with him again.

His daughter, Miss Armour Woolley, who has been away for some time at Rock River, Wyoming, is back home with her parents.

Mr. Woolley's married daughter, Mrs. Gertrude Stuart, of Wellington, Texas, is back home for a few weeks.

Mr. Brown Woolley, who is working in the oil fields at Cromwell, Oklahoma, is also back home with his parents.

Miss Frances Woolley, who will be remembered as Stanton's representative in The Union-Banner's contest last fall, and who is now attending school at Auburn, will join the other children at Mr. Woolley's home the last of this week. Since going to Auburn, Miss Woolley has made a noteworthy record as a student. During the few weeks she attended school there last regular session she advanced to the head of her class. Shortly after re-entering this summer she attained fame as a musician and is now broadcasting a program twice weekly over the Auburn radio station.

The Union-Banner joins the young lady's other friends in extending congratulations for the splendid record she has already made at Auburn, and hopes that in the future her accomplishments may be even still more gratifying.

ELLIS ELECTED PRINCIPAL OF HIGH SCHOOL

Prof. Ellsworth Ellis has been chosen as principal of the Chilton County High School for another year. Mr. Ellis has been principal of the school for the last half year and his work has been satisfactory to his patrons.

Program for July 3 At High School Park

The committee in charge of arrangements for the big barbecue and celebration in Clanton for July 3 have issued announcements of some details that have been worked out for the amusement and plasure of the thousands of visitors that are expected to attend.

There will be plenty of nice barbecued meats and chicken for everybody furnished by the ladies of the Clanton Methodist Church at a very reasonable price. All kinds of cold drinks and refreshments will be available on the high school grounds where the attractions will be centered for the day.

Judge Leon McCord, Hon. Oliver D. Street, and Prof. J. S. Lambert will make the principal addresses of the day. All candidates for county offices, both Democrats and Republicans, will be given a chance to tell the dear people how bad they want to be elected.

Some of the special amusements which the candidates will provide the the people will be as follows:

Tom Rockett, Alf Mims, Will Culp and Renfroe Mullins will sing a quartet of their own selection. These gentlemen are candidates for Tax Collector of Chilton County.

There will be a demonstration of the performance of a Sheriff's duties by Dudley Collins, Bud Jones, and Davis Cleckler, who are candidates for that office.

Candidates for Tax Assessor will demonstrate a foot race of three times around the ball park. Those eligible for entry in this event are Mack Broadhead, Kin Vinson, Sam Pate, D. M. Martin and J. R. Taylor.

Squire Dennis and Percy Pitts, candidates for the legislature, are scheduled to climb the greased pole.

There are a number of candidates for county commissioner and the school board. The committee on arrangements announce that they have been unable to see all these men and determine what they would be willing to do for entertainment of the people. They will make arrangements for these candidates between now and the third.

There will be two ball games during the day, one in the morning and one in the afternoon. It is not announced who the opposing teams wil be.

The committee says they guarantee that all who come will have a good time and get plenty to eat and drink. If anybody is not satisfied when the day is over, the committee promises to give them a free pass to Coosa County for the rest of their life.

Music for the day will be furnished by Price's String Band. Everybody is invited to come and spend the day. Don't forget the place, the grounds of the county high school, in Clanton. Plenty of parking space, good shade, and everything to make your visit pleasant and enjoyable.

All These Stamps for One Little Telegram !

FROM the looks of all the stamps this fellow is holding, you'd think he was getting ready to send his whole household to some foreign port by parcel post. However, such was not the case. The man is a government official at Irak, in Turkey, who—unable to get revenue stamps of larger denomination—had to use several yards of smaller ones just to forward that little telegram he's holding in his left hand.

Singing School Begins At Concord July 5th

Arrangements have been completed for the singing school to be taught at Concord schoolhouse this summer. It will begin on Monday, July 5th, and promises to be an exceptionally fine school.

The school will be conducted by two teachers, both of whom are recognized as the best music teachers in this part of the State. It will be taught jointly by Prof. W. M. Devaughn and Prof. L. T. Grant. Neither of these men need much introduction to the people around here. They are both fine singers and as for teaching they have proven their ability at the various schools they have taught at different times and places for the past several years.

It will be a rare privilege for those wishing to learn more about sacred music to attend this school. All the different grades will be taught from primary rudiments to advanced harmony, and there being two competent teachers, there will be ample time for each class to be drilled thoroughly in their particular courses.

LETTER FROM MR. J. R. MARLER

Ensley, Ala., June 21, 1926.

Editor Union-Banner:

Please give me space to say a few words, as I have just returned from good old Chilton, where I went to see my sick daughter, but thank the good Lord, she was up. I found everybody behind with their work, but otherwise they are doing well. We are needing rain around Ensley. I am glad to say that the crops in Chilton (what I have seen) are better than they are north of Chilton.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Anderson of Birmingham motored to Thorsby Sunday to see his uncle, Mr. J. H. Anderson. They visited Union Grove community, to see Messrs. Alvin and Alfred Marler. They were accompanied by Mr. J. H. Holmes.

Good luck to your good paper and its readers.—J. R. Marler

MUSCLE SHOALS

Senator Heflin, who is supporting the Air Nitrates and American Cyanamid Company's bid for Muscle Shoals has given notice that if that bid is voted down, in which event the Southern Power Company's bid would be the only one left before the Senate, that he would offer the two following amendments to that bid and make a fight for their adoption.

The amendments are as follows:

Sec—The Muscle Shoals Fertilizer Company and the Muscle Shoals Power Distributing Company agree that continuously throughout the lease period, except as the manufacture of fertilizer may be prevented during the first six years by construction or reconstruction of the plants themselves, or at any time during the lease period by strikes, fires, accidents, or other causes beyond their control, they will manufacture at Nitrate Plant No. 2, or its equivalent in capacity on the leased premises, nitrogen fertilizers, ammonium phosphate and other commercial fertilzers, mixed or unmixed, and with or without filler (the kind of fertilizers to be specified by the Farmer Board and Secretary of Agriculture). The annual production of such fertilizers shall contain 40,000 tons of fixed nitrogen which is the present annual capacity of Nitrate Plant No. 2. One of the two prime objects in the construction of this government project at Muscle Shoals was the manufacture of cheap fertilizer for our farmers in time of peace, and the failure to produce annually at least 40,000 tons of fied fertilizer nitrogen, unless prevented as above provided, shall be deemed sufficient cause to cancel the lease of all said government properties at Muscle Shoals. If and when such a failure to comply with the requirements of the fertilizer provision of this section is made known to the Secretary of War and said Companies shall for sixty days after notice of their failure has reached the Secretary of War, persist in such failure, it shall be the duty of the Secretary of War to cancel the lease on all of said Muscle Shoals properties.

Sec—That the hydro-electric power produced at the government's steam plant and Dam No. 2 at Muscle Shoals shall be used—

First—So much thereof as is necessary to manufacture at least 40,000 tons of fixed nitrogen annually for fertilizer purposes.

Second—then so much hydro-electric power as is necessary shall be used to meet the domestic and industrial needs of the local communities.

Third—The hydro - electric power not needed for the purposes enumerated in Paragraphs 1 and 2 of this Provision shall be equi'ably distributed in other communities and states where it is economically practicable to do so.

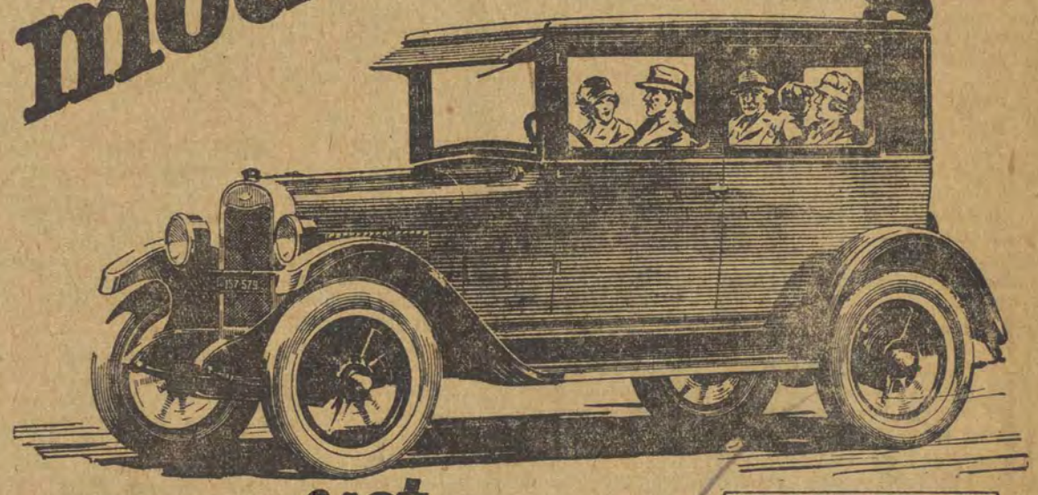
Senator Heflin also said that in order to provide for additional hydro-electric power at Muscle Shoals and to aid the cause of navigation on the Tennessee river, he would offer an amendment to provide for the building of Dam No. 3 and in order to make certain the manufacture of cheap fertilizer for our farmers and obtain cheap power to consumers he would insist upon another amendment reducing the price to be paid the government for hydro-electric power produced at Muscle Shoals.

CABBAGE AND SAUSAGES WOMAN'S DIET



"I have doctored with the best doctors in the United States. Some said one thing and some another was ailing me and all wanted to cut me open, but MAYR'S saved me, can now eat cabbage, sausage and anything I want to. Nothing hurts me." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. Alred Drug Co., and druggists everywhere.

CHEVROLET NEWS

Another monthly production record for Chevrolet motor cars was shattered in May, when the Chevrolet Motor Company produced 74,617 automobiles, the largest single month's production in the history of the company.

This production also constitutes the largest single month's production of modern three-speed transmission cars by any manufacturer in the automobile industry, and is an increase of 21,620 cars over May, 1925, when 52,997 cars were produced. With sales continuing to break all previous records, the production of Chevrolet cars for 1926 is expected to total approximately 700,000, as compared to 519,060 cars made during 1925.

During the first five months of 1926 up to the first of June, a total of 307,332 Chevrolet cars were produced, an increase of 102,444 cars over the same period in 1925, when total production reached 194,888 units. Sales will continue to break precedents throughout the summer months, Chevrolet sales officials predict.

"Our constant endeavor to improve our product, taking advantage of the most modern appliances known in the automobile industry, with never-relaxing vigilance on maintenance of quality, is meeting with the sincere appreciation of the public," said W. S. Knudsen, president of the Chevrolet Motor Company.

"The $10,000,000 expansion program of the company, providing facilities for production of 1,000,000 Chevrolet cars during 1927, is well under way at this time, with ground broken and building additions being made at Chevrolet plants throughout the country. Machinery necessary for the increase in our production is now in transit from the manufacturers, and by January 1 the company will be fully prepared to go ahead with its enlarged program."

A comparison of monthly production records for the first five months of 1926 with the same period in 1925 follows:

1926	Month	1925
45,088	January	18,292
51,303	February	28,081
65,167	March	43,495
71,157	April	52,023
74,617	May	52,997
307,332	Total	194,888

BIRTHDAY PARTY

On June 18, at the home of Mrs. David Goff in west Clanton, Myrtice Adams, from Birmingham, celebrated her 12th birthday. Several games were played. The table was beautifully decorated, and centered with a lovely cake with 12 pink candles. After the little guests had played a while the lovely little hostess, assisted by her aunts, Mrs. Goff and Miss Cleo Broadhead, served ice cream and cake to the following: Ethel Jones, Lonise Mims, Bernice, Dewey, and Elizabeth Williams, Lucille and Billie Scroggins, Clyde Ward, and Irby Wood. The hostess received several presents. The guests departed for their homes, wishing for Myrtice to come back to Clanton for each of her birthday parties.

GREAT SESQUI STADIUM OPENED AT PHILADELPHIA

The giant arena in the centre of the Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition site in Philadelphia was built in approximately 300 working days. It was completed and in use a month before the opening of the big exposition which celebrates the 150th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence. This photograph, made from the air, shows nearly 3,000 boys on the playing field, massed there for the dedicatory exercises on May 1 which formally opened the structure. In the stands are seated 10,000 persons watching the program. A group of 10,000 persons is a large crowd but they are only a "drop in the bucket" in the big Philadelphia stadium. The boys paraded onto the field to the accompaniment of fourteen bands and there went through their drills and athletic exercises for the benefit of city officials and parents.

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Jones of Ensley spent Sunday with relatives here, and were accompanied home by their little niece, Myrtle Farley.

The Fault of the Climate

It was a good many years now—ten or twelve anyhow—since an enterprising promoter undertook to put on in Cheadle, New York a creditable imitation of a frontier Day celebration and roundup, such as are institutions at Cheyenne, Wyo., and Pendleton, Ore., and other far Western towns. His intentions were good and his plans were ambitious, but he failed to reckon into the proposition the fact that the average New Yorker hadn't the faintest idea what the thing was all about, and thereupon failed to attend the show.

The lamentable result was that the enterprise collapsed. The champion punchers and busters and ropers of the West, who had been drawn across the continent by the promise of good pay and fat prizes, were left stranded in the great city to make their way back home as best they could.

I happened to know one of the disappointed outfit. I had met him years before on an Arizona ranch. One hot summer afternoon I met him as he went clanking along Park row in his high-heeled boots and his buckaroo hat and invited him into a life saving station in the World building. There over cooling libations I asked him for the details of his disastrous experience on the occasion of this his first visit to the Eastern seaboard.

"Well," he said, in his gorgeous drawl, "I had it worse than some of the boys did. Bein' busted here ain't the only thing that's happened to me. On the second day of the show in the ropin' contest, my pony fell with me, and then she rolled on me and mussed me up right sharply—cracked a couple of ribs for me and split my upper lip here so the doctor had to take three or four stitches in it, and loosened up a bunch of front teeth. Well, that wasn't so bad. What really made me sore is that two days later I goes into the bull-doggin' contest and wins first prize, and that very night the show busts up and I can't collect the money that was comin' to me."

"Do you mean to tell me," I said "that with two of your ribs fractured and your face ripped open you went into the bull-dogging event within two days after sustaining those injuries?"

"Sure," said the simple child of nature, "why not? I was entered for it, wasn't I?"

"But didn't you suffer constant pain?" I asked. "I wonder how you could get about?"

"Well," he said, "somethin' did keep on botherin' me, but I figgered it was this here d—n New York climate."

Where the Partnership Dissolved

One of the oldest stories in the known world—and, in my humble judgment one of the best ones as well—deals with three actors—an aged negro, an itinerant conjurer and a twelve-pound snapping turtle.

The most popular version runs in this wise: It is a hot day in a Mississippi countryside. The conjurer, who is making his way across country afoot, is sitting alongside the dusty road, resting. There passes him an ancient negro returning from a fishing expedition. The undertaking has yielded no fish but the darkey is not going home empty-handed. He has captured a huge snapping turtle. He is holding it fast by its tail, which is stretched taut, over his right shoulder so that the flat undershell of the captive rests against his back. He has delectable visions dancing in his mind of turtle soup, turtle steaks and turtle stew. He bids the recumbent stranger a polite good-morning and trudges on. He has gone perhaps twenty feet further when an impish inspiration leaps full-grown into the magician's brain. In addition to his other gifts he is by way of being a fair ventriloquist.

He throws his voice into the turtle's mouth and speaking in a muddy, guttural tone such as would be suitable to a turtle if a turtle ever indulged in conversation, he says sharply:

"Look here, nigger, where dre you taking me?"

The old man freezes in his tracks. He rolls his eyes rearward. There is the look of a vast, growing, startled bewilderment on his face.

"W-h-who—who dat speakin' to me?" he asks falteringly.

"It's me speakin' to you," the turtle seemingly says, "here on your back. I asked you where you were taking me."

"Huh, boss," cries the old man, "I ain't takin' you nowhars—I'se leavin' you right yere!"

And he does.

Child-birth

Here is a wonderful message to all expectant mothers!

When the Little One arrives, you can have that moment more free from suffering than you have perhaps imagined. An eminent physician, expert in this science, has shown the way. It was he who first produced the great remedy, "Mother's Friend." Mrs. C. J. Hartman, Scranton, Pa., says:

"With my first two children I had a doctor and a nurse and then they had to use instruments, but with my last two children I used 'Mother's Friend' and had only a nurse; we had no time to get a doctor because I wasn't very sick—only about ten or fifteen minutes." Use "Mother's Friend" as our mothers and grandmothers did. Don't wait, start today, and meanwhile write to Bradfield Regulator Co., BA 46, Atlanta, Ga., for a free illustrated book containing information every expectant mother should have. "Mother's Friend" is sold by all drug stores—everywhere.

A new slant to the exodus of farm people to towns and cities was presented when Senator R. S. Copeland, New York, issued a warning that migration from farm to city must be stopped to prevent a surplus of industrial labor.

THE FARMER AND THE TARIFF

A great deal has been said in recent months about the farmer and the protective tariff. Free traders have sought to make it appear that the present tariff law taxes the farmer on the articles he consumes and renders him little or no protection on the articles he produces.

An examination into the official figures of our imports for the year 1925 show the utter fallacy of this argument. According to these figures, which are official, the total imports coming into the United States during the year 1925 amounted to $4,227,995,000. Of this tremendous amount $2,652,020,000 came in on the free list without paying any tariff at all. The total of dutiable goods amounted to $1,575,975,000. In other words, only 37.3% of the goods which came in paid any duty at all, while the other 62.7% of our imports came in free.

But let us look into these figures a little further. Of this amount of goods which paid duty, $280,048,000 was in the class called luxuries, the duties on which did not affect the average citizen either in the town or the country. This cuts down the value of goods on which duty was paid to $1,295,927,000 so far as the average man is concerned.

From here on the figures are even more significant. Of this total of $1,295,927,000 in dutiable goods, the sum of $735,166,000 in tariff was paid on agricultural goods in competition with what the farmer produces at home, while the duty paid on goods in competition with what the city and industrial population produces was only $560,761,000, so that the farmer received more actual protection on farm products than the industries received on their products.

In addition to this, it is to be remembered that of the two-thirds of our imports on the free list, are included jute, manila, sisal, fertilizers, binder twine, and many other minor commodities in which the farmer is directly interested.

About 50% of the total of our population is classed as rural, and about 60% of this, or 30% of the total number really live on the farms. On this estimate it may be said that at least 30% of the remaining free imports to a value of $750,000,000 are also used directly or indirectly by the farmer. This added to the $154,000,000 of free imports directly used by the farmers, gives a total of over $900,000,000, or around 34% of our total free imports from which the farmer directly benefits by having them imported free.

To sum up, judging from the duties paid on imports in 1925, farming received more actual protection in dollars and cents than did all the other industries, and it is further shown that practically everything used exclusively by the farmer on the farm came in free of duty.

The figures on actual imports are convincing and they entirely refute the tirade of the demagogue against the tariff as it affects the farmer.

OWNING YOUR OWN HOME

Ever since the advent of the automobile the humorists in the newspapers and periodicals have been coining jokes about how the people who have homes do not stay in them any more. And the great boom in apartment houses in the larger cities has added to the belief that the individual home is becoming passe.

Doubtless this condition has been exaggerated, but if it is true that the people as a whole do not care so much about their homes as they used, there is more reason than ever to encourage the "own your own home" movement. Every enterprising city likes to pride itself on the fact that it is a city of home-owners, whether it really does enjoy that distinction or not. And there is a reason for this.

As a general thing the home-owner is a pretty good citizen. And he is more apt to stay in his home than the fellow who only rents parking space in an apartment. This is not saying that the apartment is undesirable. It doubtless fills a necessary place in our city life, but the individual home is still the ideal to be strived for.

The home-owner is not apt to become a bolshevist. He feels that he has a little property right in his own city and country, and if he is ambitious, as most home-owners are, he wants to increase that property right. He is a taxpayer. He is interested in the improvements in his home city and is very apt to be a very useful citizen in general. Of course the man who rents may be just as good and useful a citizen as the man who owns his home, but this is not gainsaying the fact that the homeowner has it on the renter in more ways than one.

A city or town therefore can not do itself or its citizenry any greater good than in encouraging in every way it can the "own your own home" movement. It will not do to say that people do not stay in their homes after they have acquired one, because this is not true. The latest inventions of science, including the radio, to say nothing of the electrical conveniences of which every housewife knows the value, have checked the "away from home" movement, and it is quite possible that there will be a general movement in the other direction—back home.

Why not do what we can therefore, through our banks and our civic organizations, to encourage this home ownership idea? Some would-be home-owners are deterred by lack of proper financing, a condition which can usually be remedied. And there are others who are waiting for the cost of building material and labor to come down. But we are not going back to the pre-war standard of prices very soon, and building costs are apt to go up rather than down. Therefore the time to begin to own your own home is now. And the enterprising city and town will see that this idea is encouraged in every legitimate way.

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

We are again hearing something through the newspapers of the proposal to abolish the rule in Democratic national conventions requiring two-thirds of the votes of all the delegates for a nomination of president and vice-president. It is rumored that some of the leaders in the Al. Smith and the McAdoo factions of the party now agree about abolishing the rule. If this view prevails and the rule is eliminated, there will be a fight to a finish in 1928 and the Democratic national convention will be worth going some distance to see.

In view of all this talk, the political writers have been digging into the musty past to see what this two-thirds rule is all about. And they have found that it was adopted in 1832 at the behest of Andrew Jackson and his friends to keep Jackson's arch enemy, Calhoun, from getting the nomination for vice-president. Jackson's and Calhoun's views on public affairs were fundamentally as opposite as the poles. Jackson was a strong Unionist and Calhoun was a firm believer in the doctrine of nullification and disunion if necessary.

The Democrats had Jefferson dinners even in those days, and at one of these affairs, back in April, 1830, Jackson gave the toast, "The Federal Union—It must be preserved." Calhoun's toast in reply was "Liberty—Dearer than Union." At this time Jackson was president and Calhoun vice-president. Then came the nullification trouble in South Carolina, which was to make Jackson and Calhoun bitter political enemies. Jackson's political manager was the astute Martin Van Buren. The Jacksonites did not want Calhoun for vice-president again in 1832, so the clever Mr. Van Buren and his associates evolved the two-thirds rule which was adopted in the convention and under which Mr. Calhoun was given a thorough steam rollering. Mr. Van Buren himself was chosen candidate for vice-president and in 1836 won the presidency.

But with Van Buren came the panic of 1837 and the Whig victory of 1840, which put Van Buren out of the White House. Van Buren tried to get the nomination again in 1844, but the southern Democrats were suspicious of him and resolved to prevent his nomination. And here Fate came to the bat in a strange way and Mr. Van Buren was steam rollered by the same two-thirds rule he had used in running over Mr. Calhoun back in 1832.

By this time the southern Democrats had begun to see the value of the two-thirds rule from their standpoint. They might be in the minority, but they could always control more than one-third of the delegates and so prevent the nomination of a ticket which was unfriendly to themselves and the slave power which they represented. And so it came about that the rule which was adopted originally to prevent the nomination of a southern disunionist for vice-president was used to perpetuate the power of a southern minority in the national Democratic Party.

The two-thirds rule is now a tradition in Democratic politics and its repeal is not going to be easy in view of all the history surrounding it. But there seems to be in the making a more determined effort to repeal it in the next convention than has been apparent for some time. And if it is repealed there is apt to be a finish fight in the convention that will go down big in history.

WEEVIL CONTROL REPORT IS MADE

Although the weather is a big factor in boll weevil activities, proper poisoning pays many times when it is not thought to be profitable, according to the results of boll weevil poisoning experiments reported in a new bulletin published by the Alabama Experiment Station.

The bulletin is a result of experiments at Auburn and with several farmers in 1924, and again in 1925. Weather conditions were not the same the two years, hence the results of poisoning varied.

In 1924, Prof. J. M. Robinson, acting entomologist and author of the bulletin, said that the average increase in yield from dusting on the experiment station at Auburn was 204 pounds seed cotton per acre. The increase from the same plot in 1925 was 37 pounds seed cotton per acre. He attributes the difference largely to a very dry season in 1925.

The similar results were obtained in experiments conducted in cooperation with farmers in Lee and Montgomery Counties. However, there were variations in which weather was the chief factor.

The average cost of dusting was $7.25 per acre. Thirty-six pounds of calcium arsenate will make 6 applications per acre.

The buletin states that the best time to begin dusting cotton to protect the young squares is when the infestation reaches 10%. Three dustings at intervals of 4 or 5 days are sufficient to reduce the infestation.

The summary concludes with the statement: "Boll weevils can be controlled economically when the applications of dust are thorough and are applied at the proper time."

SUMMER SCHOOL AT STANTON

I wish to announce that I will teach a Summer School at Stanton in the public school building, beginning on Monday, June 28th.

An opportunity will be given those deficient in part of their studies, or those who failed to complete their grades this year, to finish their year's work, so that they may be able to begin their new year next session on an equal with the rest of their respective grades.

If desired, a special class in arithmetic will be offered. For further information apply or write to H. A. Harris, Stanton, Ala. 6-17-2t-ch.

REVIVAL

A revival meeting will be held at an arbor 2 miles west of Jemison, beginning July 4. Will have service at 10:30 a. m. Come and be with us and serve the Lord.—R. L. Sturdivant.

One Little Yea Among the Noes

During the Republican National convention of 1920 the leaders behind the scenes, fearing Senator Hiram Johnson might kick over the traces in the event of the nomination of a Presidential candidate displeasing to him, repeatedly made overtures to the Californian to take the second place on the ticket. Invariably Johnson declined the proposition. Toward the last he showed signs of temper.

At this critical period the stage managers invoked the offices of Col. Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., as an intermediary. They counted on the friendship which had existed between Johnson and young Roosevelt's father. Johnson was as briskly emphatic in stating his position to young Colonel Roosevelt as he had been in his language to earlier emissaries.

Nevertheless, right up to the eleventh hour the bosses trusted that Johnson might be induced to change his mind. Three of us, all newspaper correspondents, were in Johnson's room at the Blackstone hotel in Chicago on the night before the ticket was named, when Johnson's secretary came to say that Colonel Roosevelt was on the telephone, desiring to speak with him. Johnson took down the receiver, and we heard him say this, with pauses between words:

"No—no—no—no—yes—no—NO!"

When Senator Johnson had hung up the receiver and returned to his seat, one of those present said: "Senator, I'm curious to know what the question from Colonel Roosevelt was which caused you to reply in the affirmative when all your other answers were such positive noes."

Johnson's eyes twinkled.

"That," he said, "was when the young man asked me if I could hear distinctly what he was saying."

A HAPPY REUNION

On Sunday, June 13, there was a happy meeting at the home of Mrs. Jack Harris. All of her children and grand children, sons-in-law and daughters-in-law, and others, were present. A bountiful dinner was enjoyed. Anything to eat or drink could be had for the asking.

In the afternoon, music was enjoyed—piano music, saxophones, vocal, and combinations.

Mrs. Harris was 76 years old on that day. Her two daughters, Mary and Matilda, bought two cakes, which bore 76 candles.

All left in the afternoon happy for having had such a pleasant day.—One who was present.

NEW FIRM IN CLANTON

Arrangements have been made for the creation of a new firm in Clanton, to be known as A. J. Culp & Co., manufacturers and wholesalers of the Culp Vacuum Exhaust Trap. It is the intention of the firm to manufacture or have manufactured the Culp Vacuum Exhaust Trap, for all types of gasoline engines, and offer the same direct to the trade, through the most feasible channels. The list price of these articles will be about $12.00, and any one who operates an automobile or gasoline engine of any type will find the purchase of one of these traps a very profitable investment, as they add much to the power of the motor. A vacuum is created which makes a forward pull on the pistons of the motor as the exhaust ports of the motor are opened. It also clears the motor of any accumulation of carbon, and makes a more smooth running power plant.

The device is one of A. J. Culp's own inventions, and was discovered through his experimental work on other devices which he has worked with since March, 1912. The article is covered by Patent No. 1,514,441, and two other pending applications.

The first sample of this device made is now being operated by the inventor on his Ford roadster and giving good service on actual road test. The vacuum trap shows a gain of 8 miles to the gallon over the old style open muffler, although the general construction of this first sample is not as near perfect as the article will be when introduced to the trade, as the very best skill is being employed to aid in perfecting the article in a neat and compact form so that it can be easily attached to any car or engine without any extra cost or trouble.

SOCIETY

Mrs. Grady Broadhead, Editor.

Mrs. Gerald Hostess.

Mrs. Lawrence Gerald was hostess to the members of the Wednesday Bridge Club and others on last Wednesday afternoon at her home on Fifth Avenue. The home was profusely decorated with sweet peas, nasturtiums, and gladioli. The punch tabe was beautifully appointed and was presided over by Mrs. J. P. Wade. Miss Kathleen Mullins made high score and was presented a pretty silk scarf. The hostess, assisted by Mrs. Hugh Jones, served a delicious salad plate with iced tea.

Those enjoying this hospitality were Mesdames J. Hance Alred, John Browder, Frank Callen, Arthur Johnson, N. S Johnson, J. Watts Moore, H. M. Smpson, Grady Reynolds, Amzi Gowan of Brewton, E. P. Stewart of Hope, Ark., Norman Roberts, Grady Broadhead; Misses Kathleen Mullins, and Minnie Merle Pinkard of Dallas, Texas.

Picnic At Gore's Pond.

An enjoyable affair of last week was a chicken broil and picnic at Gore's Pond, given in honor of Mrs. E. P. Stewart of Hope, Ark., last Thursday. The party motored out to the pond late in the afternoon. Swimming was enjoyed, after which a picnic supper was served.

Among those enjoying this affair were Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Simpson, Mr. and Mrs. J. Watts Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Gerald, Mr. and Mrs. John Browder, Mr. and Mrs. J. Hance Alred, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Jones, Dr. and Mrs. Arthur Johnson, Dr. and Mrs. N. S. Johnson, Mrs. E. P. Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. T. C. McSwain, Mrs. Amzi Gowan, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Jones; Misses Lurline Harper, Kathleen Mullins, Minnie Merle Pinckard, and others.

Young Matrons Enjoy Barbecue.

Members of the Young Matron's Club and their husbands enjoyed a delightful chicken barbecue and picnic at Hugh Mims's pond near Clanton on last Thursday evening.

Those taking part in the affair were Mr. and Mrs. Lucien Duncan, Mr. and Mrs. Latham Ellis, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Murphy, Mr. and Mrs. Mack Wyatt, Mr. and Mrs. Briggs Crumpton, Mr. and Mrs. McD. Messer, Mr. and Mrs. Grady Taylor, and Mr. and Mrs. Milton Smith.

Our farming system has in it too much of taking from the soil, and too little of giving back to it.

LIBERTY HILL-CEDAR GROVE.

Our singing society met at Cedar Grove last Sunday afternoon with a large crowd, and the singing was just fine. Directors for the afternoon were J. W Lowery, D. T. Melton, Harrison Hayes, Kermit Lowery, Zack Lowery, Hudson Williams, John Jackson, Miss Estelle Price, Bertha Melton, and Miss Gladys Jackson. Organists were Mrs. Bonnie Rollins, Miss Lucille Price, and Miss Onzelle Eland. We were glad to have so many visitors with us, and ask them to come back again.—Secretary.

Clanton was visited by a young flood on Tuesday. The rain was accompanied by a lively display of electrical fireworks.

Be sure to visit V. J. Elmore's 5 & 10c Store Sale starting Saturday and running for 1 week.

PLEASANT VALLEY

Mrs. Arthur Patterson spent the last two weeks here with relatives.

Mr. J. C. Norrell and Mr. H. U. Courtney motored to Rockford last Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Courtney are the proud parents of a fine 8-pound boy, born June 18.

A large crowd from this community went berry picking at the river last Thursday.

Little Miss Eland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Eland, of Montgomery, is visiting relatives here.

Mrs. Eliza Weldon was the spend-the-day guest of Mrs. J. E. Lett Sunday.

The ice cream supper planned by the Arrangement and Social Committees of the B. Y. P. U. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Lett, was a success. The large crowd behaved perfectly, and a nice sum was taken in for the church.

We are glad to be continually enrolling new members in our B. Y. P. U. We have enrolled several members recently. We feel that every new member enrolled adds strength to our Union. Come next Sunday to Sunday school and B. Y. P. U.

WAR VETERANS GO TO ATLANTA FOR CONVENTION

Atlanta, Ga., June 20.—Approximately 5,000 disabled veterans will be present for the formal opening of their sixth annual convention here tomorrow. Six special trains brought 2,000 members of the organization to Atlanta today, while others will pour into the city tomorrow from all sections of the country. The convention will continue through Saturday.

National Commander John W. Mahan said the sessions of the organization would be open to the public. Governor Walker, Mayor Sims, and General Finch will deliver addresses.

Mme. Schumann-Heink, noted opera singer, who lost two sons in the world war, and who is official "mother" of the veterans, arrived today. At 11 o'clock tomorrow morning she will sing "Taps" and at the moment floral wreaths will be placed on the tombs of unknown soldiers at Arlington National cemetery, London, Brussels, and Paris. She will conclude her program with "The Star-Spangled Banner."

A varied entertainment program has been arranged for the veterans, includng banquets, barbecues, concerts, vaudeville entertainments and an inter-veteran golf tournament over the course of the East Lake Country Club.

CARD OF THANKS

I desire to thank my friends and neighbors for the kindness, help and assistance which has been so generously rendered to me during the sickness and death of my wife. I wish also to thank Dr. Hayes for his kindness.—J. F. Hayes and Daughter.

SHILOH

The singing society met here Sunday afternoon and did some real good singing. Directors for the afternoon were J. I. Bice, T. W. Billingsley, F. I. Popwell, S. A. Henley, Velma Deason, Minnie Bice, all directing two songs each. Organists were Misses Elma Williams, Minnie Bice, and F. I. Popwell. We were glad to have with us some visitors from Pleasant Grove, and hope they will meet with us again next third Sunday afternoon.—J. I. Bice.

CHESTNUT CREEK

Owing to the fact that there were singings at other places Sunday quite a number of people were disappointed with the exercise at Cooper. Our chairman, W. M. Devaughn, being absent, S. M. Yates was appointed in his stead for the afternoon. Three lessons were directed by S. M. Yates, R. T. Grant, and W. F. Gilliland, with Mrs. Connell performing at the piano.

We have been having very good singings at Chestnut Creek, and we don't think we should let it fail now. Attend your home church singing society first. Altho a disappointment Sunday afternoon, it was quite a success the first Sunday in June. The large audience that afternoon was entertained by several directors. We had some fine quartets, rendered by W. M. Devaughn, W. G. Culp, Archie Devaughn, and Renfroe Jones. None of these were present last Sunday afternoon, but we cordially invite them back next first Sunday afternoon. Hoping to see all our directors and many good singers present.—Secretary.

NEWS FROM FLORIDA

Mr. Raymond, calloway, who has been attending the medical college of the University of Illinois, at Chicago, arrived home last week, and is enjoying his vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Callaway.

Miss Alma Robinson of Clanton is visiting Mr. J. E. Robinson and Miss Margaret at Gibson, Fla.

Mr. Joe Gibson motored to Wetumpka, Fla., to attend an all day singing Sunday. He carried his family, and was accompanied by Mr. J. E. Riley and family. They report a good singing and plenty of dinner.

Mr. Perry Shelfer invited a number of young folks to Orchard Lake last week for dinner, among them Misses Margaret and Alma Robinson, Messrs. J. E. Robinson, Raymond and Lamar Callaway. They say it was indeed a grand affair.

Mrs. Morgan and Mrs. Adewild were chaperones at a Camp Girls' party at Orchard Lake last week. A number of girls camped at the lake for the night, among them Misses Alma and Margaret Robinson.

The tent show at this place for three days last week was well attended.

Raymond Callaway visited in Tallahassee one evening last week.

Misses Margaret and Alma Robinson spent one day last week in the capitol city, shopping.

Mr. W. C. Robinson of Clanton, who has been here for the last two weeks in the interest of his business, returned home last Friday.

Mr. Henry Robertson drove to Quincey last Saturday on business.

On last Sunday the writer, with his family, Mrs. Callaway, Raymond and Lamar, Misses Laura and Zonie Robinson, Mr. J. E. Robinson, Misses Margaret and Alma, and Master James Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Robertson, Mr. and Mrs. Arcie Duke, motored to Thomasville, Ga., via Tallahassee. While there we drove over some of the large estates costing millions of dollars to build and keep improved. Immense buildings, gardens and drive ways. It is indeed a treat to see how they are kept. We returned by way of Cairo, Reno, and Calvary, Ga., having spent one of the most pleasant days of the summer.

Messrs. J. B. Phillips and H. K. Brundydge are attending court at Quincey this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Ocie Gibson motored to River Junction Sunday to see his brother.

Mr. Walter Sellers is on the sick list this week.

Messrs. Leonard Driver, H. C. Cummings, and Robert Davis visited Concord Sunday.

Mr. R. L. Davis and family spent the week end in Oclocknee, Ga.

A ROYAL ENTERTAINER PERFORMS

Amir Bux, a genuine East Indian conjurer, produces a Liberty Bell from a reporter's hat. He is one of the artists in the India Building at the Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition, which opened in Philadelphia June 1 to December 1 to celebrate the one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence.

Mr. Sam Eiland of Mt. Creek was here Monday on business.

Mr. Peterson of Montgomery was here last week in interest of his business of building the new bridge over Oclocknee at this place.

Mr. Babe Oats of Mt. Creek, contracting for Peterson and Earnhart on bridge construction, was at his home for the week end.

George Oats is playing ball with the local team, as well as doing carpenter work on the bridge.

The Truckers Association is shipping quite a lot of vegetables from here now. A solid car of tomatoes, beans, pepper, cukes, squash, cabbage or lettuce is being shipped every day and some days two or three cars are shipped. Irish potatoes go out several cars at a time. Roasting ears are plentiful now, and are selling reasonable. Tobacco is ready for priming, and the farmers are busy getting it into the barns. Crops as a whole are good, and farmers are pleased with conditions.

Mrs. W. W. Slappey will leave Saturday for Tampa to visit her daughter for a month.

Mrs. Lizzie Atkinson is under the care of Dr. Sapp. We wish for her a speedy recovery.

We see from The Union-Banner the candidates are getting warmed up in their race, and from now until the primary will be doing some good running. Voters had better keep a sharp lookout or they may meet a candidate Ford on some sharp curve at high speed.—L. A. Callaway.

The Union-Banner is $1.50 Straight.

STRAIGHT TALKS WITH AUNT EMMY

On How to Lose Your Inheritance

"It is so hard for me to get along on what John left me," complained Mrs. Norris to Aunt Emmy. "Junior wants to get a job, but I always wanted him to go to college—"

"Yes, yes, I know," interrupted Aunt Emmy, "but what about this mining stock?"

"I'm coming to that. You see I thought I could invest some of those bonds John left, they yield such a tiny income, in something that would bring real money. I needed more money, so when the telephone rang that day and a man, he had the nicest voice, said he had been referred to me by a friend and wanted to talk over some gilt-edged investments, I told him to come right up.

"His name was Mr. Stanhope. He was so nice. He told me all about the big money people are making in platinum mines. Platinum jewelry is so fashionable now. He said he could let me have some stock in a wonderful mine, and that the company would buy the stock back if I ever wanted my money."

"Have you a statement signed by one of the officers of the mining company to the effect that the company will repurchase your stock?" asked Aunt Emmy.

"Why no—"

"Well, you will have trouble getting your money back. A company cannot be compelled to buy its own stock back."

"Oh, I don't know. Anyhow, I got out my bonds and showed them to him—"

"What, you keep your bonds in the house instead of at the bank!" exclaimed Aunt Emmy.

"Why, yes, but in a box that locks—and Mr. Stanhope said that he was surprised that a woman with the good business judgment I had should be getting such a small income as those bonds paid— scarcely anything. He said that I should make my money work harder for me. He knew I must have good business judgment, he said, because I brought my children up so beautifully. He offered to take the bonds and change them for his stock."

"Oh, Lord!" exclaimed Aunt Emmy, "did he give you a receipt?"

"Why, of course, he was the nicest man. But Junior said after he left that he didn't like him. He said he looked slick. Boys are so funny. Well, I got the platinum stock but Mr. Barnes at the bank says it's no good. He must be mistaken. But I want my bonds back so I came to you for help. And you're always so lucky about your investments."

"Not lucky, just sensible," corrected Aunt Emmy. "Why, oh why, don't you consult your banker, who understands finance before you risk your money? This is not your first loss. Remember that piece of land you bought that was under water?"

"That was different," said Mrs. Norris blushing, "and anyway, Mr. Stanhope is honest, I can tell that."

"If he were honest, he would not have promised you the things he promised. Reputable houses don't send out representatives who make promises about repurchase of stock. Why don't you 'phone your Mr. Stanhope?"

"I did, but he's out of town. I've written, too, but I suppose I shall have to wait until he gets back. It's been several weeks now, so he should be back soon."

Just then the evening paper came. Aunt Emmy glanced at it, then read it attentively. Her expression grew serious. She handed the paper to Mrs Norris. On the front page was an account of a financial scandal. The house that sold Mrs. Norris her mining stock was involved and the men who ran the business had been indicted for fraud.—A. B. Aymes.

ALL DAY SINGING AT ANTIOCH

There will be an all day singing next Sunday, June 27, at Antioch church, 3 or 4 miles east of Pletcher, in the Christian Harmony books. All singers are invited to come, and as many as can, bring dinner, and help us make the day a success.

As announced in The Union-Banner all candidates are expected to attend, bring a full basket of something good to eat, and a box of cigars. So don't miss the singing.—J. N. Scott, County Chairman.

PLAY AT STANTON SATURDAY NIGHT

A play will be given at Stanton Junior High School Saturday night, June 26, at 8 p. m., entitled, "All A Mistake." A farce comedy in three acts, very interesting from beginning to end. A play in which every character goes entrely insane, creating quite a mix-up, and in the end they find that it was all caused by a mistake.

Everybody invited. Come and enjoy the evening wth us. Admission, 20 cents and 35 cents. For benefit of school.

See Mrs. Curry for Franchon frocks. These are made to fit all figures and all occasions. 6-24-tf.

THORSBY SECTION

(S. E. NORTON, Manager).

Scandinavian services at Lutheran church, Thorsby, June 27, 10:30. All urged to come to both Sunday school and services.

Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Norton will leave early next week for an extended visit with their son, Sereno G. Norton, at Kenvil, N. J. Before they return they expect to visit other people and places of interest. From time to time Mr. Norton hopes to furnish readers of The Union-Banner with "Notes of Travel," which proved interesting on former trips to many people who have expressed themselves as enjoying them greatly. During the absence of Mr. Norton Thorsby Section will be in charge of Mrs. Hattie M. Gerald, who so ably handled it while he was absent on previous occasions, and we bespeak for her the kindly cooperation of the people of Thorsby, as has for the most part been given to Mr. Norton. If all will help, all will get a better paper. Since Mrs. Gerald's residence is not so conveniently located as the Norton home for all to reach, arrangements have been made to have a small box at the hardware store, where contributors may deposit their copy. Always turn in your copy before noon on Tuesday of each week. Such copy should be signed by the writer, as no editor cares to publish anonymous correspondence. Mrs. Gerald will attend to business matters connected with The Union-Banner the same as Mr. Norton has done.

Rev. Joseph E. Each and Miss Lorena Primm will leave Thursday as Thorsby delegates to the Interdenominational Conference, at Blue Ridge, N. C., to be held June 25 to July 5, inclusive. These conferences have become an annual institution attended by many hundreds of delegates, as a sort of training school for missionary work common to all evangelical denominations.

Next Sunday morning at 11 o'clock there will be the annual "'Children's Day" service, instead of preaching service. It is always interesting to see and hear what the children say and do at such a service.

Miss Fairbank announces there are a number of magazines at Thorsby Institute Library to be given away. Among them almost an entire year of The Progressive Farmer, and scattering copies of a large number of other periodicals. Anyone who would like some of them come to the library Friday and take youd pick.

Among the various uses to which electric current may be applied, is a cheap and effective method of pumping water and distributing it to institutions, homes, stores, and other places of business. Since the advent in Thorsby and Jemison of the Alabama Power Company about 6 months ago these automatic electric pumping systems have been installed by Thorsby Hardware Co., local agents for these outfits, except E. F. Mead & Son, who were first to adopt it, the hardware people have installed one of these pumps at each of the following places: Thorsby Institute, Ernie Hansen, Luncie Martin, and J. R. (Bob) Martin, in Thorsby, and Felix Eiland and G. J. Thompson at Jemison. The mechanism of these pumps is so arranged as to maintain a given pressure between two points. Drawing off the water reduces the pressure. When it reaches low the pump automatically starts and runs to high, where it stops. No tank is needed for the water, which always comes fresh from the well. Although the initial cost is considerable, it is not more than the old style gasoline engine and tank, and the operating expense is very low.

Little Mabel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russian Gibbons, is improving from a serious illness.

Miss Bessie Robinson returned to her home in Thorsby from a visit to friends and relatives at New Salem.

Mr. A. T. Robinson of Thorsby returned to work at Lock 12 Monday, after spending a week with his family at their home here.

Last Thursday, June 17, a large crowd motored down to the old mill place of Mr. Jesse Maddox to clean off the family cemetery and to take dinner once more at the old home. Among the party were Henry Robinson of Collins Chapel, Mrs. W E. Maddox, Mrs. Celestia Gillespie, Mrs. Perry Bussey and little daughter, all of Clanton; Mr. and Mrs. Homer Beasley of Jemison, Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Jones and son of Salem, Mr. Archie Robinson of Thorsby, with son and daughter, Era and Dewey, and Mr. Frank Volte of New York. After dinner all went down to the old mill pond, fishing and kodaking.

Mrs. P. M. Bussie and little daughter, Hidon, of Clanton, are visiting friends and relatives in Thorsby this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl C. Petersen and little Jack have reported their safe arrival in New York. They were passengers on the double header express train which at full speed plowed into another train stopped for repair of something, and which posted signals which should have stopped any following train. The crash demolished both engines and made a mass of wreckage of four sleepers filled wth passengers. Fifteen or more were killed, and many more or less injured. Only the crew of the moving train were killed or seriously hurt.

Mr. Oscar Campbell of Sulligent was a visitor to friends in Thorsby a couple of days last week.

Mrs. J. O. Johnson and daughter, Edith, went to Birmingham last Saturday wth Mrs. Charles S. Howard and son, Loyd, and daughter, Ella, where they visited Mr. and Mrs. John Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Morgan, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Howard, and Mrs. Bennett Forsman. The party returned to Thorsby Monday evening.

Mrs. Lewis Howard, who has been spending several days visiting her son's family and other friends in Ensley and vicinity, returned Monday bringing with her Miss Esther Johnson, who since the end of her year in college at Demorest, Ga., has been visiting friends in Chattanooga, Atlanta and Birmingham.

On Friday of last week Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Butler with their daughters, Margaret and Dorothy, went to Montgomery, leaving the two girls to visit their brother and his family. The Butlers returned home, bringing with them Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Horn, former residents of Thorsby, to spend the week end among old friends here. Tuesday of this week the Butlers took them home to Montgomery and brought their girls home.

Mr. Clarence Butler and family of Montgomery are expected for a visit this week at the home of Mr. Butler's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Butler.

Mr. and Mrs. Reno S. Villadsen of Montevallo, accompanied by their six children, were in Thorsby a short time Sunday and stopped to greet the Nortons.

Mrs. Loveland went to Birmingham to meet her mother, Mrs. Howe, from Kansas City. They arrived in Thorsby Saturday evening. After visiting here about two weeks they expect to leave for Downer's Grove, near Chicago, making the trip by motor.

Dr. Frank E. Jenkins paid a brief visit to Thorsby, spending Saturday night here. He came to inspect the Thorsby Institute new building, "Helen Jenkins Hall," and especially the extenrior finish of the building, with a view to using a similar coating for some of their college buildings at Demorest, Ga., where Piedmont College is located, and of which Dr. Jenkins is president, as well as president of the board of trustees of Thorsby Institute.

Miss Naemi Turnquist and niece, Violet Thorson, accompanied by W. M. Parnell, went to Prattville Sunday, where they took dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Guy Higgins. On their return trip, when near Elmore they stopped where a large touring car was stalled for some reason. On speaking to the elderly man who was in charge of the car, they recognized Dr. L. V. Stabler, whom many people in and about Thorsby will remember as a much loved Thorsby doctor in years long past. He was delighted to see friends from Thorsby and made many inquiries concerning the older residents here.

Mr. J. L. Foss is taking his first vacation in over thirty years. He left Tuesday morning accompanied by his brother, Albert Foss, and wife, of California, who had been visiting with him for several week. The party was accompanied by C. R. Foss and daughter, Katherine, Edith and Ruth, in their car, and Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Reagan in another car, who will take the tourists as far as Birmingham, and see them started for Minnesota, where they will make an extended visit among relatives and friends.

Among the interesting weddings of June was that of Miss Clara Peterson and Mr. Louie Self, which was solemnized in the parlor of the Sixth Avenue Presbyterian Church of Birmingham on Wednesday evening at 8:15. The parlor presented a lovely setting for the ceremony with floral decorations of sweet peas and other summer flowers. Miss Margueirte Jones played the Wedding March and the accompaniment for Mrs. E. P. Davidson who sang "O Promise Me." The bride wore a pink embroidered georgette gown with a pink picture hat, and carried sweetheart roses, showered with maiden-hair fern and valley lilies. Dr. Joseph McClellan Broady performed the ceremony as Miss Marguerite Jones improvised a soft melody on the piano. Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Self left on a motor trip to Chattanooga and other points. Among the out-of-town guests attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Peterson, the bride's parents, and other friends and relatives.

OTHER THORSBY ITEMS

The Woman's Missonary Society met at the Thorsby Baptist church last Monday afternoon. A good meeting was held.

Reynolds' Statement of Poll Tax Records, Etc.

Editor Union-Banner:

I am preparing a statement for the public, which I will have ready in a few days, just as soon as I am served with the copy of the proceedings in the supreme court.

As J. L. Johnson, the noted tramp of Chilton County and surrounding communities, is one of the four who made affidavits against me, I publish herewith a correspondence between myself and Johnson:

Letter to Johnson

Clanton, Ala., April 12, 1926.
Mr. J. L. Johnson, Registrar,
Clanton, Ala.
Dear Sir:

The book you filed of stricken voters for 1925 is not by Precincts and Districts, as I understand the law requires.

I have searched the records and there are many names on said book that I do not find on the Registration list.

Mr. J. W. E. Gulledge, Chairman, and Mr. E. H. Adams, a member, of the Registration Board, said that you and Mr. Tom Hand furnished the list to the Board that they struck from the record. Inasmuch as you have helped furnish this list, I would appreciate it if you would come in at once and go over the book you filed for 1925 with me, as the list will be published this week, and I find many names you have stricken from the list that are voters and still live in the beats where you have stricken them.

This is an important matter, as I want to make a correct list of the voters, and I hope you will come in the Probate Office at once and explain the record.

Thanking you for yur prompt attention to this matter, I am

Respectfully,
L. H. REYNOLDS,
Judge of Probate.

On April 12th I registered him this letter, and Mr. Bean's certificate shows that he received it April 12th at 10 o'clock, A. M. I have never received any reply.

Postmaster's Certificate

The above is an exact copy of a letter registered to Mr. J. L. Johnson, Clanton, Ala., by Judge L. H. Reynolds, on April 12, 1926. The above was received and receipted for by him April 12, 1926, at 10 A. M.

W. M. BEAN, Postmaster.

On April 13th I registered him the following letter, which he refused to take out of the office:

Clanton, Ala., April 13, 1926.
Mr. J. W. E. Gulledge, Chairman,
Board of Registers, Chilton County,
Alabama.
Dear Sir:

In regard to a book which was left in the office of the Judge of Probate of Chilton County, Alabama, by the Board of Registrars or one of its members, which book purports to be a register of names stricken from list, and upon the outer cover of which appears the following: "Chilton County, State of Alabama, Register of Names Stricken From List to 12-10-26 of Registered Voters, December 19, 1925," but upon which book I do not find any certificates.

JUDGE REYNOLDS SAYS CHARGE IS FALSE

Chilton Probate Judge Brands the Thompson Statement as Misrepresentation of Fact.

Probate Judge Lewis H. Reynolds of Chilton County, declaring Monday that J. F. Thompson in an affidavit filed last Friday with the supreme court of Alabama asserted that he, Judge Reynolds, changed poll tax records of Chilton County, branded the alleged statement as false. The affidavit referred to, was one of four affidavits submitted to the supreme court in support of a motion filed by T. C. McClellan and Horace C. Wilkinson asking that the court issue order to the attorney general to bring impeachment action against Judge Reynolds, whom the motion charged with official misconduct.

The affidavit of Mr. Thompson referred in particular to alleged circumstances in connection with an election contest action brought against Judge Reynolds some months ago, by C. D. Messer, which case has been disposed of. Mr. Thompson was one of the attorneys in the case.

Commenting further upon Mr. Thompson's alleged statement, to which exception is taken, Judge Reynolds stated Monday: "He can select any probate judge, circuit judge, or supreme court judge and bring that judge to Chilton County and if he can prove I have changed the official poll tax record of one single voter, I will resign the office I now hold."

Judge Reynolds said the official poll tax records of Chilton County were not in court during the contest trial. "They only had a book that I was making of the registered voters and poll tax payers from the official registration book and the official poll tax book filed in my office and I was correcting this latter record wherever it was necessary; which record I was not required to make," Judge Reynolds said.

"This record was for my own personal use and for the purpose of maintaining information absolutely up to date as to registered voters and payers of poll tax so that any changes that might become necessary in the regular order of procedure might be made promptly."

Judge Reynolds added that he is preparing a formal statement for the press. He sad he had not yet been served with notice of the motion now before the supreme court but that when that notice is received he will issue his statement to the public.

After the motion and affidavits had been filed with the supreme court last Frday, the court issued a preliminary order requiring Judge Reynolds to show cause, in affidavits to be filed on or before September 1, why the order requested in the motion should not issue, to be made returnable on October 4. Complainants were given until September 15 to submit rebuttal affidavits.—The Montgomery Advertiser.

MOVE MADE TO IMPEACH REYNOLDS

Supreme Court orders Judge Reynolds To Prepare Answer by September 1.

Proceedings seeking the impeachment of Probate Judge L. H. Reynolds of Chilton County, were started in Montgomery last Saturday with the filng of a motion with the supreme court asking the court for an order directing the attorney general to institute proceedings for the impeachment of Judge Reynolds. The motion was filed by Judge Thomas C. McClellan and Horace C. Wilkinson, attorneys, and was supported by affidavits from citizens charging improper conduct by Judge Reynolds in publication of the list of qualified voters of Chilton County. It was charged that Judge Reynolds, who is a Republican, had published on the list of qualified voters the names of hundreds of deceased or disqualified voters, and left off the list the names of others who voted against him.

Following the filing of the motion, the supreme court issued an order to Judge Reynolds requiring him to show cause why the court should not direct the attorney general to institute impeachment proceedings against him returnable October 4. The supreme court in its order gave Judge Reynolds to September 1 to file affidavits showing cause why the impeachment proceedings should not be ordered instituted against him and gave the complainants to September 15 to file rebuttal affidavits.

Johnson Files Affidavit.

Affidavits filed with the supreme court included one by J. L. Johnson, member of the Chilton County board of registrars, who charged that Judge Reynolds caused to be published on the list of qualified voters for the year 1924 the names of about 374 persons who had been dead for years or were disqualified; in 1922, 146 such names; in 1920, 35; and in 1919, 300. On the 1924 list it was charged Judge Reynolds left off the names of over 50 persons who voted against him in the 1922 election. Johnson also charged that in publishing the list of voters Judge Reynolds ignored the "stricken list" prepared by the board of registrars. The vote cast in Chilton County in the 1922 election was 1,810 Democratic and 1,843 Republican, it was stated.

A similar affidavit was filed by W. B. Corley, another affidavit by W. T. Hand, also charged Judge Reynolds in the publication of the voting list with effecting the rights of many citizens and enfranchising others who were not qualified.

A fourth affidavit was filed by J. Fritz Thompson, prominent attorney, who represented Judge Reynolds' democratic opponent, C. D. Messer, in an election contest in which the election of Reynolds as probate judge was contested, the contest being decided in favor of Reynolds. Thompson stated that he, with others, in December, 1923, checked the list of qualified voters published by the probate judge against the registration and poll tax records in the probate office. As a result of this check a list of something over 700 voters alleged to have voted for Reynolds and said not to have been qualified, was made up, it was stated, and served on Reynolds as names of voters whose legal qualifications would be challenged on the trial in the case.

Records Declared Changed.

After the introduction of testimony began, Mr. Thompson declared in his affidavit, it was discovered that the poll tax records on file in the office of the probate judge were not in the same condition as when the check referred to was made. It was found that the records had been changed, the affidavit declared, so as to show several hundred persons as qualified voters so far as poll tax payments were concerned when they had been found to be not qualified by reason of failure to pay poll tax when the check was made. Reynolds admitted that the changes were made under his direction, the affidavit stated, claiming that voters had produced evidence of payment of the tax for the years formerly not shown by the records. It was claimed that these changes were improperly made by the probate judge.

The above report of the proceedings which have been instituted against Judge Reynolds was taken from The Birmingham Age-Herald of last Saturday. We suppose the report gives a fair idea of what Corley, Johnson, and Hand hope to establish as the grounds upon which they expect to bring about the impeachment of Reynolds.

There are very few people in Chilton County who believe that Judge Reynolds is guilty of improper conduct in regard to the voters list. It will be interesting to observe how the case will take form in the courts, if it gets into court, which possibility may be reasonably doubted.

CARY BOWLES IN JAIL CHARGED WITH STEALING

Cary Bowles, young white man, age 19 years, was lodged in jail Monday by Sheriff Littlejohn on a charge of burglary and grand larceny. It is alleged that Bowles, with another boy, broke into the store of Hugh Taylor at Cooper last Saturday night and stole a quantity of merchandise. The officers Monday found in the possession of Bowles merchandise which were identified as those stolen from the Cooper store.

At the time of this writing Bowles has not made bond. Other arrests will be made in connection with the theft, according to Sheriff Littlejohn. Bowles has been mixed up in stealing scrapes heretofore. There was a charge against him a few years ago for stealing chickens and not long ago he was identified with the theft of a tire from the car of the Jack Rabbit minstrel man.

RENZIE MIMS ARRESTED

Renzie Mims was arrested last Wednesday near Fairview with a small quantity of liquor. The officers met him in the road and took charge of him and his booze. They went to his home later and made a search which revealed some more liquid evidence of violations of the prohibition laws. Mims was brought to jail. He made bond Thursday and was released.

JOHN T. ELLIS COMING BACK TO CLANTON

Mr. John T. Ellis has finished up at Tifton, Ga., and is coming back to Clanton to live. He has not yet announced his plans for the future, but he will engage in business here, it is understood. His many friends are glad to welcome him back home.

CONCORD SINGING SCHOOL BEGINS MONDAY

The time is close at hand for the opening of the singing school at Concord, next Monday, July 5th, being the day set for the beginning. The school will be taught in the Concord school house three miles east of Clanton on the Higgins Ferry Road. The school will be taught jointly by Prof. W. M. Devaughn and Prof. L. T. Grant. Both these men are well known in the singing circles of the county, they being two of the foremost music teachers in this part of the State.

Anyone wishing to obtain further information about the singing school may confer with either Prof. Devaughn, Prof. Grant, or Jesse Baker at Clanton.

NEW SWIMMING POOL OPENS TODAY

The new swimming pool which has just been completed by Mr. W. A. Reynolds on the paved highway just north of Lomax, will be officially opened to the public at noon today, Thursday, July 1. An invitation is extended to the public to attend. Everybody will be given a free plunge into the new pool. Music will be furnished by the string band from Weldon's Music House. Plenty of refreshments will be available at the place.

DAVIS CLECKLER ANNOUNCES FOR SHERIFF

The announcement of J. D. (Davis) Cleckler of Thorsby as a candidate for Sheriff of Chilton County in the Republican primary appears elsewhere in this issue of The Union-Banner. His entry into the race is made after due consideration by himself and much solicitation by Republican voters throughout the County.

Mr. Cleckler is known and recognized as a high-toned gentleman by all people with whom he has ever been associated. He was reared on a farm west of Jemison. For several years he has been a very active and aggressive business man, being engaged in numerous business enterprises, such as mercantile business, lumber business, and real estate.

At present Mr. Ceckler is Mayor of Thorsby, where he lives and manifests an interest in every phase of community development. He was elected mayor two years ago.

In making his announcement Mr. Cleckler states that he is very busy at present with his peach crop and other business obligations, but that he will make every effort possible to see all the voters in the different parts of the County before the primary.

The answer to every question about Davis Cleckler indicates that he is a man fully capable and worthy of the great responsibilities of a Sheriff of Chilton County. He asks the Republicans to inquire into his ability and qualifications and vote for him if they become convinced that he is a man worthy of the office. "If the Republicans will nominate me for Sheriff," he said, "I will assure them now that I shall spare no effort I am able to put forth honorably to be elected in November. And if elected, I will perform the duties of the office to the very best of my ability and knowledge."

REYNOLDS AND JOHNSON ENGAGE IN FIST FIGHT

Grady Reynolds and J. L. Johnson staged a fist fight on the streets Tuesday morning in front of Wagoner's barber shop. Several disinterested persons witnessed the encounter. The difficulty grew out of agitation over impeachment proceedings which Johnson and others have instituted against Probate Judge L. H. Reynolds, father of Grady Reynolds.

It is reported that Judge Reynolds and Johnson had some heated words just prior to the fight and that when Johnson saw that Judge Reynolds was ready to fight he (Johnson) went away to get policeman Curlee.

When Johnson and Curlee returned to the scene, Grady Reynolds was there, and he and Johnson soon came to blows. Neither of the combatants was very badly hurt.

Judge Reynolds, Grady Reynolds, and Johnson were placed under bond by policeman Curlee to appear in Mayor's court.

OFFICERS FOUND LIQUOR CLOSE TO HIGHWAY

Last Saturday the officers of Chilton County found four gallons of liquor hid in the woods close to the highway about two miles north of Clanton. They found no evidence as to who the liquor belonged to and no arrests were made. The liquor was destroyed.

ZINC STILL DESTROYED NEAR ELMER BARNHILL'S

A 35-gallon zinc still and three barrels of beer were destroyed by Chilton County officers last week near the Elmer Barnhill place on Sixmile Creek. The still was not in operation, and no arrests were made in connection with the raid.

OFFICERS MAKE RAID NEAR UNION SPRINGS

A raid made by Sheriff Littlejohn and his deputies Tuesday proved to be rather fruitless. All they could find was about seven or eight barrels of beer slop, which they destroyed. The still was not found, and no person was identified with the outfit.

VAUGHAN PROGRAM AT HIGH SCHOOL GREAT SUCCESS

The musical program put on at the high school auditorium last Friday night by the Vaughan Quartet of Lawrenceburg, Tenn., was a success from every angle. A nice crowd was present, and the boys were there with the goods when it came to excellent singing.

The group putting on this program was the original quartet with the exception of one. The complete line-up consisted of Messrs. Pace, Walbert, McCoy and Bernard. These are all excellent singers, and their renditions were accepted with strong applause from the eager congregation.

The people of Clanton always look forward with much anxiety to the annual event of the Vaughan Quartet. The people here know what Vaughan means, and a good crowd always turns out to hear them.

The Union-Banner joins the other Vaughan enthusiasts in congratulating the singers for their splendid program and look forward with eagerness to the next coming of the quartet.

Program for July 3 At High School Park

The committee in charge of arrangements for the big barbecue and celebration in Clanton for July 3rd have issued announcements of some details that have been worked out for the amusement and pleasure of the thousands of visitors that are expected to attend.

There will be plenty of nice barbecued meats and chicken for everybody furnished by the ladies of the Clanton Methodist church at a very reasonable price. All kinds of cold drinks and refreshments will be available on the high school grounds where the attractions will be centered for the day.

Judge Leon McCord, Hon. Oliver D. Street, and Prof. J. S. Lambert will make the principal addresses of the day. All candidates for county offices, both Democrats and Republicans, will be given a chance to tell the dear people how bad they want to be elected.

Some of the special amusements which the candidates will provide the people will be as follows:

Tom Rockett, Alf Mims, Will Culp, and Renfroe Mullins will sing a quartet of their own selection. These gentlemen are candidates for Tax Collector of Chilton County.

There will be a demonstration of the performance of a Sheriff's duties by Dudley Collins, Bud Jones, and Davis Cleckler, who are candidates for that office.

Candidates for Tax Assessor will demonstrate a foot race of three times around the ball park. Those eligible for entry in this event are Mack Broadhead, Kin Vinson, Sam Pate, D. M. Martin, and J. R. Taylor.

Squire Dennis and Percy Pitts, candidates for the legislature, are scheduled to climb the greased pole.

There are a number of candidates for county commissioner and the school board. The committee on arrangements announce that they have been unable to see all these men and determine what they would be willing to do for entertainment of the people. They will make arrangements for these candidates between now and the third.

There will be two ball games during the day, one in the morning and one in the afternoon. It is not announced who the opposing teams will be.

The committee says they guarantee that all who come will have a good time and get plenty to eat and drink. If anybody is not satisfied when the day is over, the committee promises to give them a free pass to Coosa County for the rest of their life.

Music for the day will be furnished by Price's String Band. Everybody is invited to come and spend the day. Don't forget the place, the grounds of the county high school, in Clanton. Plenty of parking space, good shade, and everything to make your visit pleasant and enjoyable.

MONROE CRUMPTON ARRESTED

Monroe Crumpton was arrested on Tuesday by Sheriff Littlejohn near Mineral Springs church in the western part of the county. The charge against him was carrying a concealed pistol. He was brought to jail.

BAPTIST MEET TO DRAW BIG GATHERING

Organization of Young People in Conclave at Los Angeles Expect Over 7,000 Delegates.

Los Angeles, Calif., June 30.—Sunshine and plenty of it, will be the meteorlogical menu for 7,000 young Baptists who will meet in Los Angeles July 7 to 11, in the annual international convention of the Baptist Young People's Union of America. Unless all weather records for southern California are reversed, the period of the convention will be fair and bright. The young Baptists, although traditionally unafraid of water, will not be compelled to use rainchecks at the Los Angeles conclave.

Last year when Los Angeles was host to the great Shrine convention, rains during the first week in June moistened but did not dampen the spirits of the gathering. The Baptists however, in determining, the convention dates for their organization made a careful study of all rainfall records for 30 years past, and are able to guarantee fair weather.

Only twice during the last 30 years has the weather office recorded even a trace of rain between the 5th and the 12th of July, and never in that period has a measurable amount fallen. The rainfall records for the entire month reveal that July is the driest month of the year, that the first half of the month is slightly more arid in point of recorded rainfall than the latter half, and that the second week of the month is a shade less liable to precipitation than the first week. The Baptists, therefore, in choosing July 7-11 as their convention dates, selected the period during the year most likely to be ideal convention weather.

The record rainfall of slightly more than half an inch during the first week of June last year was the occasion for much laughter at the expense of Los Angeles, and, in fact, was almost as much of a surprise to residents of the city themselves as to the thousands of strangers in the city. It was not entirely unique, however, for the weather office records indicate that twice before since 1899 more than half an inch of rain has fallen in Los Angeles during the month of June.

PLEASANT VALLEY

Friends of Miss Lula Courtney will regret to learn that she was hurt in an automobile wreck Sunday, while riding with Mr. and Mrs. Bill Nelson. Mr. Nelson was almost stopped on one side of the road, when hit by a fast moving car, driven by a young man.

Clark Burkhalter, young son of Mr. and Mrs. Huff Burkhalter, sustained a broken arm in a fall Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Ruben Taylor of Lake Martin was the guest of Miss Gussie Norrell Sunday. Accommpanied by Miss Mary Courtney and Mr. Earl Williams they motored to the singing at Indian Grave Sunday afternoon.

Miss Noleon Meroney of Verbena is the guest of Miss Bertha Stockdale this week.

The ice cream supper at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ray for the benefit of the Enterprise ball team was enjoyed by a good crowd. An interesting ball game was played by Enterprise school boys and outside boys of this community. The outside boys were winners. Light for the game was furnished by bonfires and car lights.

Messrs. H. L. Lett and Oscar Huett of San Pedro, Calif., are expected to visit their parents and spend the 4th of July.

Some good quartets were sung Sunday night at B. Y. P. U. by Mr. Malvin Taylor and his daughters, Lelia, Mary, and Bessie, and Marshal Burkhalter.—Mrs. R. C. Burkhalter, and Mrs. Effie Vinson.

LIBERTY HILL

The Clanton and Verbena Quartets and several other good singers will sing here next Sunday afternoon, the 4th. All singers and lovers of sacred music are invited.—D. W. Ward.

FISH EXPEDITION CONDUCTED BY PROF. HUBBS

Collection and classifications of new species of fish heretofore unknown to the scientific world is the aim of a motorized expedition now enroute to northwest and Pacific coast regions, headed by Prof. Carl L. Hubbs, Curator of Fishes of the University of Michigan zoological museum.

A specially designed Chevrolet truck, donated to the University by the General Motors Corporation, is being used by Prof. Hubbs for transporting equipment and members of his party from Ann Arbor, Mich., the home of the university, to various coast and inland cities where investigations will be made. Free service will be rendered by Chevrolet service stations during the trip, which will take 5 months, from June 1 to October 1.

Automobile tourists frequenting Michigan and other central states will especially benefit by the program of Prof. Hubbs which calls for the introducton of fresh water game fish of Washington and Oregon streams. Motorists find fishing one of the chief diversions, and in order to keep pace with their demands, new species must be introduced. State fish commissions throughout the country will follow Prof. Hubbs' experiments in restocking of streams, as inducements for the motor tourists to visit their localities.

Other regions where specimens are to be collected are Wisconsin, Lake Superior, Minnesota, North Dakota, and California streams.

Specimens of fish are collected in the compact truck laboratory for future study by students in zoological courses.

Prof. Hubbs is a well known figure in the scientific world for his original work in investigating fish life. He studied fish propagation in the Au Sable, Mich., river drainage area and Cheboygan County lakes for the Michigan Department of Conservation, and in several of the Pacific coast and northwestern states.

Two hundred different kinds of fishes are now known to science as dwellers in the shore waters of Washington and Oregon, according to Prof. Hubbs, and many others there have never been classified. Use of the Chevrolet truck will allow a wide territory to be covered at a minimum expense, Prof. Hubbs says.

CHILTON COUNTY POLL LISTS

In view of the disquieting rumors which have for many months been current regarding the condition of the polling lists of Chilton County, it will be a cause of general satisfaction that the case is being taken into court so that the rumors may be either verified or disproved. The matter comes into the open in the form of application before the supreme court for impeachment of the probate judge of the county, L. H. Reynolds. The court was sufficiently impressed by the application to order Judge Reynods to appear and show cause why impeachment proceedings should not be instituted.

Chlton County is one of the very few counties in Alabama which have Republican officials and which usually vote Republican majorities. Judge Reynolds is not only the Republican leader of his county, but is one of the best known figures in the Republican party of the state. It is understandable that with party feeling running very high in the county, and with the results of voting sometimes very close, there should be charges and counter charges in the heat of campaigns which might be difficult of substantiation in the courts. For this reason, even Democrats may well take with a grain of salt the reports that the polling lists of some of the precincts of Chilton County correspond cosely with the names on the headstones of some of the county's cemeteries. Such charges as this are so easily proved or disproved that they should give the courts no serious concern.

One feature of the application for impeachment of Judge Reynolds is of a character to cause special apprehension. It is charged that changes have been made in the poll records in the probate office; that when attention has been drawn to improprieties in the lists the lists were found changed and set in order by the time the next examination was made. This is not only an extremely serious charge against a public official, but presents a court probem of great seriousness and difficulty. If the proceedings are found to be justified and carried through, they should be conducted in the most exhaustive manner. It will be expensive, and it will be laborious, to check over thousands of names to determine when poll tax payments were made and whether those who paid have been properly credited and had their names placed on the lists. It will be even more trying to determine whether names have been placed there without conformity to the statute requirements. Though it is a Republican county which is affected, the investigation of the matter should be non-partisan, and should be conducted with a view to impressing upon county officials everywhere, Democrat and Republican, that the voting privilege is a sacred privilege; that it must not be tampered with and that probate judges must guard with special care the rights of every man entitled to vote, as well as protect the public against those who vote illegally.—The Birmingham Age-Herald.

THORSBY SECTION

(S. E. NORTON, Manager).

(Mrs. H. M. Gerald, Special Cor.)

There will be an English patriotic observance of Independence Day at the Lutheran church next Sunday, July 4, at 10:30. Any and all are welcome, for this is our common country.

At her home in Thorsby, Mrs. Aaron Littleton died June 27. She was buried Monday in the Collins Chapel cemetery. She leaves 9 children and quite a number of grandchildren, besides several brothers and sisters and a host of friends to mourn her loss.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Peterson and little Jack returned last Saturday from New York, where they have been visiting their son, Albert and family. They felt very thankful to arrive safely at their home, after a narrow escape in the bad wreck they were in on their way north.

Mrs. Anna Villadsen returned home last week from a two weeks trip in Birmingham, with her sister, Christina Christensen.

Mr. C. C. Driskill's family moved into their new home on the highway last Friday. Rev. Bakke, who has been occupying Mrs. Gerald's home the past year has moved into the house occupied by Mr. Driskill and which has been purchased by the Lutheran congregation for a parsonage.

On last Saturday a number of our Thorsby people left for Lock 12, and are spending a week camping there. Those composing the party are: Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Howard, Loyd and Ella, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Reagan, C. R. Foss, Kathryn, Edith and Ruth Foss, Naemi Turnquist, Violet Thorson, W. M. Parnell, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Higgins, and Mr. Karl Peterson and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Peterson and little daughter were week end visitors with Mr. Peterson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Peterson.

Miss Nettie Will Donovan of Marion, Ala., has been spending a week visiting at the home of Misses Margaret and Dorothy Butler.

Mrs. T. A. Shannon is a visitor this week at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Nels Peterson.

Mr. E. Hollingsworth and sister, cousins of Roy and Edna Raybon, were visitors Sunday at the Raybon home.

The Congregational Ladies Aid will meet this week Thursday at the home of Mrs. Martin Peterson.

Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Horn, old residents of Thorsby, now of Montgomery, have been visitors among us the last week and have decided to spend the summer in Thorsby. They will be in Mr. Norton's home while the Nortons are having their vacation in New Jersey.

Misses Margaret and Dorothy Butler entertained at a party last Saturday evening in honor of their visitor, Miss Nettie Will Donovan.

Miss Agnes Leary, who is attending Montevallo this summer was a week end visitor at her home in Thorsby.

A young Thorsby lady just home from Piedmont College was heard to remark: "Isn't it surprising how many of our boys and girls go to college now?" A few years ago a college education was thought not necessary. The remark suggested an account of the number of young people from our vicinity attending summer school. These are at least 19.

Mrs. Olaf Scheve celebrated her 76th birthday June 19. The following day she was surprised by a few friends, for a spend-the-day party, composed of Mr. and Mrs. Sorensen, Miss Caroline Skinner, Mrs. Grothy, and Mr. and Mrs. Dyrhood.

Master Frank Wood has been spending a week in Birmingham with his aunt, Mrs. Dr. Watts.

The Y. W. A. met Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. G. L. Harper. They are preparing to give a play July 10, the proceeds to be used in the purchasing of a new piano.

Miss Edith Robinson returned on Tuesday from an extended visit in Florida, where she has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Clarence Bice.

Miss Nell Shannon, well known in Thorsby, and who lives in West Point, Ga., spent a few days last week with her sister, Mrs. Nels Peterson. Miss Shannon has been taking her vacation in the mountains of North Carolina, at Lake Junaluska.

Mr. Earl Meade of Birmingham spent Saturday with his parents in Thorsby.

The old Littleton home on the highway in town has been sold and torn down; we understand a filling station is to built on the site.

Mrs. August Larsen has a fine lot of young geese. Having water close to her home she is making quite a success with them. If others are interested she can furnish them some for a start.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Hansen spent last Sunday at Lock 12 with the camping party from Thorsby.

Mrs. James Bosworth and two children, Christine and Leonard, made a trip out to Lock 12 Tuesday to enjoy a little outing.

Mrs. Vescar Martin and children of Lock 12 were visitors here last week.

Mr. J. W. Mitchell and family from Texas visited relatives and friends here last week.

Rev. Bonner and wife and Mrs. Bruer of Chicago spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Harper.

Mr. W. A. Hayes carried his son, Hershel, to Birmingham to a hospital Monday for treatment of his eyes.

Rev. Bonner and wife have returned from their visit to Mississippi. Regular preaching service was held Sunday. The house was crowded at both morning and evening serviees. Special music was rendered by Gresham Lowery.

Miss Lena Franklin spent the week end here with relatives.

Mr. Gordon Sorrell of Birmingham spent Sunday here with relatives.

Mrs. Shannon of West Point, Ga., arrived Sunday to spend a few weeks with her daughter, Mrs. N. C. Peterson.

Mrs. J. L. Richardson and children are spending a few days with her daughter in Montgomery.

Messrs. Webb Parrish and J. C. Jones spent Tuesday fishing at Lock 12.

Miss Nell Shannon, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Nels Peterson, returned to her home in West Point, Ga., Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Piper motored to Birmingham last Friday and spent the day.

The B. Y. P. U. had a splendid program Sunday night, and it was well rendered by those who took part.

Mr. and Mrs. George Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Billingsley, Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Brown, and Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Mann of Birmingham were here Monday to attend the funeral of their grandmother, Mrs. Aaron Littleton.

Mr. Willie Scott of Montgomery spent the week end here with home folks.

Mr. Ray Littleton and little daughter of Bessemer were here Monday for the funeral of his grandmother, Mrs. Aaron Littleton.

Don't forget the revival at the Baptist church beginning July 11, and continuing through the 20th. Rev. J. J. Milford will do the preaching. All are invited.

M. N. Brown and daughter, Voncille, of Lowndesboro, Luiton Brown of Omega, Ala., and Mrs. W. H. Raybon attended the funeral of Mrs. J. A. Brown at Elmwood cemetery, Birmingham, last Friday.

Phares Raybon left Saturday for a two weeks visit with his cousin, Alvin Brown, of Lowndesboro.

Miss Gladys Killingsworth of Bessemer is visiting her cousin, Edna Raybon, here.

Mrs. M. A. Barnes is spending a few days with Mrs. J. C. Prim, Mrs. Prim having just returned from several days visit with her daughters, Mrs. P. D. Killingsworth of Bessemer, and Mrs. E. M. Fletcher of Birmingham.

Mr. Ray Raybon left Sunday for several days stay with his cousin, Eudora Killingsworth, of Bessemer.

REYNOLDS' STATEMENT OF POLL TAX RECORDS, ETC.

I am now preparing the official list of voters of Chilton County as provided by law. My understanding of Section 396 of the Code of 1923 directs the Board of Registrars to enter on a book to be furnished by the Secretary of State the names in alphabetical order by precinct of all electors stricken from the registration list, which book shall be filed in the office of the Judge of Probate. And that the Judge of Probate upon the filing of said book shall strike all such names from the list in his office, and the Judge of Probate shall not again send them out to the inspectors.

In said book there are approximately 598 names, and out of this number I have found approximately 392 on the official list. I am enclosing herewith a copy of said names which I do not find on said list.

In a conversation with you one day last week in my office in regard to this matter, you stated to me in reply to a question that Mr. W. T. Hand furnished the Board of Registrars the list of names in said book. The following morning after this conversation with you Mr. E. H. Adams, another memeber of the Board of Registrars, also stated to me that this list of names was furnished by W. T. Hand through J. L. Johnson, another member of the Board of Registrars, to the Board of Registrars.

In carrying out the provisions of the law relative to striking said stricken names from the list in the office of the Judge of Probate, I have encountered numerous difficulties in failing to find the stricken names on said list in my office, and that some names have been stricken as being dead as shown by said book, and it appears on the list in my office that a voter bearing the same name has paid Poll Tax for this year and I have no way of ascertaining whether these parties are the same or different. There are other instances where names have been stricken and from information I have gathered, they are legal and living voters now in said beats, bearing the same name.

As stated above, from the conversation with you and one of the other members of the Board of Registrars, Mr. E. H. Adams, I am informed that this list of stricken names was furnished by Mr. W. T. Hand, and therefore, in view of the difficulties above stated, and with the duty of preparing an official list as provided by law, by the 26th day of April, 1926, I will appreciate the kindness of the Board of Registrars or some of its members in coming to my office with Mr. W. T. Hand or with the necessary information or data from Mr. Hand that will enable me to remove the difficulties above referred to and prepare as near as possible a correct list of qualified voters.

As you know, it has been your custom heretofore to assist me in untangling any difficulty that might arise, in which you have always readily responded with courtesy, and you have heretofore advised me that if it occurred that a name stricken from the list and a voter by that name appearing on the list in that beat and residing in said beat, to leave said name on the official list. Therefore, as stated above, I will appreciate the compliance of yourself as chairman and the other members of the Board with the request made in this letter.

Yours very truly,
L. H. REYNOLDS,
Judge of Probate.

Copy of same to J. L. Johnson, Clanton, Ala.; E. H. Adams, Thorsby, Ala., Members of the Board of Registrars.

The above letter was registered to J. L. Johnson, Clanton, Ala., April 13th, 1926, and refused by him, as the following letter from the Postmaster shows, and to this date I have heard nothing from him.

Postmaster's Certificate

Clanton, Ala., April 22, 1926.

Hon. L. H. Reynolds, City.

Dear Sir:

Registered letter No. 969 mailed by you on April 13th, 1926, and addressed to Mr. J. L. Johnson, Clanton, Ala., was offered to Mr. Johnson in person, and refused by him. I am today returning same to you.

Very truly,
W. M. BEAN, Postmaster.

I also enclosed him a copy of about two hundred names that I could not find on the list of voters. The Registrars filed something over 500 names to be stricken from the official list of voters of this County in 1925, and after carefully searching all the records I could not find about 200 of them on the list. Was it unreasonable to ask an official who had furnished the list to at least show me where the names came from?

I ask the public to withhold any opinion of the proceedings filed against me until I can answer the same.

For four years I have been hounded and slandered by a few people. I have had examination after examination, lawyer after lawyer has been employed against me. I have made no complaint, but I have appealed to the State departments to send one examiner up here of their own selection and send the Attorney General and the Chief Examiner of public accounts with this Examiner, and instruct him to examine all my records according to law. Was this unfair? Let's see for a moment just a few of the efforts that have been made against me.

We had a contest. It was fought out in the courts. The Democrats had the best counsel, and they examined the records here over and over, with Mr. J. F. Thompson, the leading counsel. Then this man Hand got uneasy, and hired Judge Tate, and I am informed, payed him a big fee himself. The records were still being examined. Then two experts from Jefferson County were employed to examine the records, and I turned over every record of all voters in the probate office to them relating to voters, and got them the Treasurer's office, and they worked for weeks; then the contest was dismissed by my opponents on the merits of the case. Let me ask you, as fair minded people, if I had been corrupt in my official duty, wouldn't it have been exposed in court? If the lawyers against me knew that I had wilfully changed any record and did not expose it to the court, they were not true to their clients.

Mr. J. F. Thompson has sworn that I changed the records of poll tax payers, which is a positive lie, and he says I explained it in the court. What would Judge Denson have said if anything of this kind had happened? My recollection is that none of the books in this County was ever introduced in court, and I am sure the official records of the Poll Tax payers was never mentioned while I was present, nor in the presence of my attorneys. For my benefit and for the benefit of the public I made a book by putting the registered voters on it and crediting them with the poll tax they had paid, and at all times I have corrected this book. I am now correcting any voter's name on this record that can prove to me there is an error. I have corrected several for Mr. Smith recently, and J. L. Johnson has brought in several. This is the record that I made from the official records that was being corrected.

I make this proposition to Mr. J. F. Thompson—that if he can select any probate, circuit or supreme judge in Alabama, bring them to my office and prove to them that I have changed the record of a single Poll Tax payer, then I will resign. Now he has sworn that I have changed the record of Poll Tax payers. Let him come along and put me out of office. He has been trying to do this for a long time, and I suspect he made some very wild statements to his clients here while he was getting a large fee from them. The readers of The Union-Banner remember one statement he made which I proved was not true, and he did not deny it.

This matter has been before every department at Montgomery, has been before the Grand Jury here, and represented by Mr. H. C. Wilkerson, a special attorney general. They had something like two hundred witnesses before the Grand Jury trying to find something against me, and after the investigation Mr. Wilkerson did not even ask the Grand Jury to recommend my impeachment, or to criticise me in the least. He told parties in Clanton that he had authority to call the Grand Jury back any time he wanted to after he had looked over the testimony. He never called them back. This cost Chilton County over $2,000, so Mr. Mims, your Clerk, informs me.

May I ask this question: If corporations and individuals with money they do not need can pursue and persecute an officer and have the full cooperation of all courts, using the public money to pay such expense, in the name of all that is just and true, is any officer safe who will not do the bidding of such corporations or individuals?

I want to say and make it plain, that I do not believe that the people of Chilton County are behind this persecution, regardless of politics, and yet how glad many of them would be to see me out of office. But we have honest people, and when it comes to official duty, they do what they think is right.

I do my best to help every voter who asks me to assist them. I instruct my clerks to always stop and look up the record of any voter who asks help. The law, as I understand it, does not require me to compile the Poll Tax payers and registered voters on a record, but I do this, which enables me to show a voter his record when he asks my help. If I was to only comply with the law, when a voter comes to my office and asks me how his record is, I would point him to the Official Poll Tax Records and the registration books and let him look up his record. How many could find it? There is not a Democratic lawyer in town that has not asked me to show them the record of voters. I help all persons, regardless of politics. I do the best I can. I answer all inquiries. I do several hundred dollars worth of work for the Democrats in this County each year that I am not required to do.

I am not appealing for sympathy; I only ask justice and fair play, and I must say that up to this time the Democrats in this County, when in the discharge of their official duty toward me, have been fair.

I will say that Mr. J. W. E. Gulledge and Mr. Enoch Adams have been very courteous, and have always been ready to explain any part of their work to me which they knew about.

Yours truly,
L. H. REYNOLDS.

THE REYNOLDS IMPEACHMENT CASE

After a search of many months for something upon which the official conduct of Judge Reynolds might be attacked, J. L. Johnson, W. B. Corley and Tom Hand have at last perfected their malicious fabrications and made a start in the courts of the State toward their long cherished dream of throwing the Republican Probate Judge of Chilton County out of office.

These men claim to have found discrepancies in the poll tax records of Judge Reynolds' office which they allege will furnish grounds sufficient to effect the removal of Reynolds from public office. Elsewhere in this paper will be found full details of their charges which have been filed in the Supreme Court, as has been reported in the daily press of the state during the past week.

Now, as a local proposition among the people of Chilton County, who are most concerned by the allegations made, we feel warranted in saying that there are comparatively few people in this County who believe that Judge Reynolds is guilty of the things that are charged by Corley, Johnson, Hand, and Fritz Thompson. Their proceedings are regarded as a monstrous joke, as the effusions of small minds that are burning with political and personal hatred against a man whom the Democratic party has never been able to entangle with its charges of malconduct in office. There is much interest among the people awaiting the answer which Judge Reynolds will soon make to the charges against him. There is little doubt as to his ability to prove by the records that the charges which are made by these men are unfounded and purely malicious.

OLD POSTAL CARD FOUND IN CLANTON

Thomas Gragg recently found a United States postal card in Clanton which was addressed to Sam'l Adams, Esq., Clanton, Alabama, and mailed in New York by Thomas Doyle on October 29, 1879. SCHOOL TAX ELECTION JULY 20

The Union-Banner hopes that the voters of Chilton County will give just consideration to the proposed one-mill school tax which is to come up for their disposal on the 20th of July.

It is a fact evident to all that we need better rural schools in our county. We need schools of longer terms.

Anything that is reasonably and equitably helpful in bettering our schools should be put into practice. Let us not pass by the 20th of July carelessly.

If you do not understand the one-mill tax proposal, ask somebody who does. Then if it is a good thing for your school, go and cast your vote for it.

The biggest hindrance to educational progress lies in the fact that most people neglect to do the things they could easily do for better schools.

The Union-Banner is $1.50 Straight.

RUSSIA IN ENGLAND

British recognition of soviet Russia is having its logical consequences. The British government recently sent a note of protest to the Moscow government on account of aid furnished by the Bolshevik government during the general strike to those who were active in fomenting the trouble.

The situation in England during the general strike was critical. It was realized that if the strike got out of hand the next thing might be revolution. The aid was furnished by the communists, not because of any love for the British coal miners, but in the hope that a revolution might result and a soviet government be set up in England. The money sent, therefore, was to be used for the purpose primarily of undermining the British government and bringing about a socialist revolution if it could be effected.

It is stated on good authority that the British government is preparing in the form of a white book, some startling disclosures of the plans of the British Reds. The information, it is stated, was secured by government agents in the numerous raids made on Communist headquarters a few months ago. It is said that these disclosures will contain facsimiles of 40 documents which go to prove that the Moscow government has been directly concerned in the penetration of the British labor groups by the reds.

Great Britain of course is reaping the results of official recognition of the soviet government. This recognition has made it much easier for the communists to get funds into Britain and to carry on the red propaganda which they regard as their world-wide mission. And this revolutionary work has been performed in spite of an agreement made by the soviet government that it would engage in no anti-capitalistic propaganda in Great Britain.

The recognition of Russia by Great Britain was brought about by the pressure of commercial interests who thought that it would greatly increase British trade. The results along this line have been disappointing, and the political results on the other side of the balance sheet have been serious.

Certainly the recent experiences of Great Britain will not furnish much ammunition for those in America who think that the United States government ought to resume official relationship with Russia and its red government.

SENATOR UNDERWOOD

With the retirement of Senator Oscar W. Underwood from public life, the Senate will lose another member whose name has been before th public for almost a generation. The Alabama senator has purchased a beautiful estate on the Potomac River in Virginia not far from Washington, and doubtless will become a citizen of the Old Dominion.

Senator Underwood's national services began in 1895 when he went to Washington to serve in the House of Representatives. In the year 1915 he was selected to represent his native state in the Senate and he has been there ever since. He is not now a candidate for re-election.

Senator Underwood's public career has been a long and honorable one. He has served under six Presidents, McKinley, Roosevelt, Taft, Wilson, Harding, and Coolidge. A stalwart Democrat he has always stood for sound representative government, and has been in opposition to the radical elements both in and out of the Democratic party. The country and his party can ill afford to lose Senator Underwood, but as he retires from public life, the people, regardless of politics, will wish him well.

QUESTION ANSWERED FOR A SCHOOL TRUSTEE

At the request of a man who has lived all his life in the county and served much of his time as trustee of his school, I am answering through the paper a question which was asked him several days ago, about our 1-mill tax. Some one wanted to know whether or not the State would get any of the tax if voted.

The 1-mill tax is one which if voted never leaves the county. The tax collector collects it, turns it over to the county treasurer of school funds, and it is paid out on order of the County Board of Education. This money will be used to lengthen the school term. None of it will be used for operating expenses, that is, overhead expenses, because that will be the same whether or not the tax is voted. This tax will be a net saving.

The County Board is trying to inaugurate a program of rigid economy and most of the county is already aware of this. If this is continued and the tax voted, I believe that the time is near when we can have a longer school term, and at the same time, we must not neglect to provide adequately in matters of equipment. The big thing hurting teachers now is not so much the monthly salary as the fact of a short period of employment. Few of them would complain at the salaries now paid if they could get a longer term.

In an article some time ago I gave you the standing of Chilton County as compared with other counties in the State in per capita wealth back off every school child. This gave Chilton County third place from the top, but if we hold first place and fail to place a tax on it we are none the better off.—B. Lawrence, County Superintendent of Education.

WHY WE GAVE UP GARDENING

Once upon a time we bought
A package of Seeds because
On the outside of it there
Was a most beautiful colored
Picture of—Asters.

It showed them in blue and
Pink and lavender with a
Thousand petals on each and Every blossom. And the Printed matter under the Picture said:
"Seeds enclosed are guaranteed to grow
the most wonderful
Asters in the world."

So home we hurried. And we Dug up a patch of ground. And
We sowed the Seeds and we Raked and we hoed until our Back felt like it was bent
For life. And every night we Faithfully sprinkled that Sacred plot.

Soon—up there came little
Signs of green. We jumped
With joy. We measured the Growth each day. Then—came Buds. Glorious! We dreamt of
Our neighbors envying our
Colorful garden and coming to Us for advice on how to Grow flowers.

Well—there were flowers. And
The neighbors did come to us.
BUT—not for advice. Only to Look and giggle!

You guessed it. The finest
Crop of DANDELIONS
They ever laid eyes on!

And then—
We took up Golf!

PROF. W. M. DEVAUGHN REPRESENTING STARR CO.

Mr. E. T. Weldon of the Starr Music Company of Clanton, announces this week that Prof. W. M. Devaughn will in the future represent his firm and will sell Starr pianos and other musical instruments and supplies handled by the local Starr store.

Prof. Devaughn has a number of friends all over Chilton County, and his profession of teaching music in various places will bring him in contact with lots of people and will enable tim to do much toward introducing and demonstrating Starr instruments to the people of the county.

The fact that Prof. Devaughn has taken this position with Mr. Weldon will not interfere with the singing school contracts which the former has in effect for this summer. He will teach his singing schools right on and will sell Starr pianos, phonographs, etc., at the same time.

My Favorite Stories

By IRVIN S. COBB

He Lacked Storage Space

Congressman John K. Hendrick of Kentucky, now deceased, was notoriously soft hearted. He was sitting in a courtroom one day when a young and struggling member of the local bar, who was not especially renowned for mental brilliancy, undertook to read a petition in a divorce suit and speedily got himself badly tangled up in a confused maze of legal phrases. The judge undertook to set the young lawyer right, but the only result was to tangle him worse than ever. The judge was showing signs of losing his temper when Colonel Hendrick arose.

"I hope, your honor," he said, in his courtly speaking voice, "that you will bear patiently with our young friend here. He is doing his best."

"I know that, Colonel Hendrick," said the judge, somewhat testily, "and I intend to bear patiently with him. I am merely trying to give Mr. So-and-So an idea."

"Your honor," said Colonel Hendrick, "don't do it. He's got no place to put it."

Mrs. Johnson Hostess.

The Wednesday Bridge Club and others were entertained by Mrs. Arthur Johnson on last Wednesday afternoon at her home on Second Avenue. For this occasion the home was decorated with varicolored zenias and shasta daisies. Following a series of bridge games Mrs. John Browder held high score and was presented a pretty fern dish. Mrs. Johnson, assisted by her sister, Mrs. Stewart, served a salad plate with iced tea.

Those enjoying this hospitality were Mesdames John Browder, N. S. Johnson, H. M. Simpson, J. Watts Moore, Frank Callen, Lawrence Gerald, Oscar Jones, A. M. Gowan of Brewton, E. P. Stewart of Hope, Ark., and Miss Lurline Harper.

Thursday Sewing Club.

Mrs. J. Watts Moore delightfully entertained the members of the Thursday Sewing Club and others at a luncheon on last Thursday at her home on Fifth Street. Shasta daisies and zenias were used to decorate the home. The table was beautifully appointed. Attractive score cards marked the places of the guests. A delicious four-course luncheon was served. The afternoon was spent sewing for the hostess.

Enjoying this affair were Mesdames J. P. Hayes, T. C. McSwain, John M. Van Derveer, V. J. Gragg, J. C. Jones, C. Fenn Jones, John Armstrong, E. E. Upchurch, M. L. White, Amzi Gowan of Brewton, and S. J. Ezell.

Miss Pinckard Complimented.

Among the many affairs given for Miss Minnie Merle Pinckard was a dinner party given by Dr. and Mrs. N. S. Johnson on last Thursday evening at their home on Sixth Street. The beautifully appointed table was centered with a crystal bowl of nasturtiums. Dainty place cards were used to mark the places of the guests. A delicious four-course dinner was served to the following: Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hayes, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wade, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Roberts, Dr. and Mrs. J. P. Hayes, Miss Minnie Merle Pinckard, and Dr. and Mrs. Johnson.

Dr. and Mrs. Hayes Hosts.

Dr. and Mrs. J. P. Hayes entertained at dinner last Wednesday evening complimenting Miss Minnie Merle Pinckard of Dallas, Texas. The home was attractively decorated with garden flowers. The dinner table was centered with a Venetian bowl of varicolored zenias. Place cards with floral designs marked the places of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hayes, Mr. Jack Hayes, the honoree, and hosts.

Mr. and Mrs. Hayes Entertain.

On last Wednesday Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hayes honored Miss Minnie Merle Pinckard of Dallas, Texas, at a dinner at their home on Sixth Street. Baskets of nasturtiums and gladioli decorated the home. The table was beautifully appointed, being centered with a bowl of shasta daisies. Hand painted cards were used to mark the place of each guest. A delicious three-course dinner was served.

Enjoying this affair were Mr. and Mrs. Norman Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wade, Dr. and Mrs. J. P. Hayes, Miss Minnie Merle Pinckard, and the hosts.

Birthday Party.

Mrs. J. B. Atkinson entertained at a birthday party Tuesday morning at her home on First Avenue, honoring her little daughter, Mary Frances, who celebrated her 4th birthday anniversary. The home was profusely decorated with daisies and sunflowers. The punch table was beautifully arranged, a color sceme of yellow and white being carried out. Punch was served by Misses Hilda Hart and Doris Lawrence. Many games were played. A duck contest furnished much amusement. Little Mary Wallace won the prize, and Leonard Farley, Jr., was presented the consolation prize. Just before noon the little guests were invited into the dining room, which was beautifully decorated. Yellow and white streamers extended from the chandelier to the four corners of the table. A large white birthday cake with four lighted candles formed a center piece. Ribbons extended from the cake to the place of each guest, and upon drawing, Nell Rockett drew the ring; James Carl Martin, the dime; Guy Alred, the button; and Nell Ross Mullins, the thimble. Attractive favors were given to those present. Mrs. Atkinson was assisted in entertaining by Mesdames George Trotter and V. J. Elmore. A tempting ice course in the prevailing color scheme was served.

Messrs. Stealey Jones, Dennis, Goddard, and Griffin arrived in Gibson Monday, from Cooper, on a fishing trip.

Mr. Raymond Callaway and Misses Alma and Margaret Robinson left Monday morning for Jacksonville, for a two-day trip. They will have Mrs. Johnson with them from Madison on to Jacksonville.

Mr. Leonard Driver was at Concord Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Brandydge spent Saturday in Tallahassee, shopping.

Mrs. Caily of Wetumpka is visiting her sister, Mrs. Atkinson, this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Perry Shelfer and daughter, Eula, are visting in West Bay for the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Shelfer and Miss Valda Shelfer visited Mr. and Mrs. Callaway Sunday.

The truckers are shipping heavily just now, getting off a car or more each day.

TRIP TO AUTAUGA

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Johnson, and Mr and Mrs. G. N. Easterling and children motored to Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Baker's, near White City, in Autauga County, last Thursday and spent the week end with them. They went on a bee tree hunt, and found three trees, from which they took about 75 pounds of honey. Mr. Johnson and Mr. Easterling could not make friends with the bees. Rev. A. W. Jones of White City dined with Mr and Mrs. Baker Sunday.

Saturday afternoon Carl and Senie Baker and Miss Ora Belle Easterling motored to Clanton, and were accompanied back to Mr. Baker's by Mr. Reese Baker. The large crowd of guests Sunday enjoyed the dinner and refreshments, and left Sunday afternoon, thanking Mr. Baker for his grand hospitality.

See Mrs. Curry for Franchon frocks. These are made to fit all figures and all occasions. 6-24-tf.

A Dizzy Job His - - Counting Moving Wheels

STRANGE vocation that this fellow has—counting moving train wheels every day for a living. He is Michael O'Connor of Council Bluffs, Ia., and he's been at his task for the last 18 years as an employee of the Union Pacific Railroad. In that time he has averaged approximately 32,000 wheels a day.

Here's the reason for the job. The U. P. collects a wheelage tax for the use of its bridge over the Missouri River at Omaha. Nine trunk lines use the bridge and because of that, the wheels must be counted instead of the cars—the locomotives varying in number of wheels from 18 to 36 and the cars 8 to 12. It is figured that O'Connor has counted about 198,500 wheels and that the cars, end to end, would make a string 280,000 miles long.

PARKED CAR YIELDS HUNDRED QUARTS TO INQUIRING COP

While examining an automobile that is said to have exceeded the parking limit on a Montgomery street Friday morning, Policeman W. Rhodes found neatly packed in a rear compartment approximately 100 quarts of whiskey.

The machine was driven to police headquarters and the liquor confiscated. No arrests had been made in the case to late Friday evening. A check on the license tag showed it had been issued to J. D. Baggett, Route 8, Birmingham, police officials stated.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our sincere thanks to all the people, and especially Dr. A. D. Wallace, for their generosity during the sickness and death of our husband and father.—Mrs. M. E. Barnes, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Gay.

TEACHERS EXAMINATION

The next regular State Examination for teachers will be held at the court house on July 19, 20, and 21. All applicants not known to me must be properly identified and no applicant will be permitted to take who does not live or teach in this County, or who does not present a permit from the State Deparment of Education, if living in some other County, to be transferred to this County.

No one will be permitted to take for Second Grade who has not finished at least two years of High School or its equivalent, and no one will be permitted to take for First Grade who has not had the equivalent of a full High School course.

All applicants should be present at 9 a. m. on Monday except those who turn in valid certificates to take for a higher certificate. Those turning in valid Thirds to take for Second should report at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon; those taking for First and submitting valid Seconds need not report until 1 o'clock Tuesday afternoon.—B. Lawrence, County Superintendent of Education. 7-1-3t-ch.

BURNING SHIPS

Press dispatches the other day carried the story of the destruction, on Henderson's Bay near Tacoma, Wash., of 13 ships which cost the people of the United States $4,250,000. These were war-time ships intended to carry supplies to the American troops overseas, but which never left their home ports for the reason that the war ended before they could be put into use. The boats had been purchased from the government by a private concern and were burned to salvage the scrap in them.

No matter what one may think of our shipping policy during the World War, it must be admitted that if the United States had possessed an adequate merchant marine of its own at the outbreak of the conflict, the expenditure of billions on experiments and hurried shipbuilding when the crisis came, would not have been necessary.

The real fault, therefore, of the shipping fiasco of war times, lies in neglect of the people of the United States through their representatives in the government; in failing to see that there was a real merchant marine on the high seas, flying the American flag.

And we are now again confronted with the question of what we are going to do about keeping the Stars and Stripes on the ocean. It is generally admitted that government direction, or some sort of federal aid will be necessary to maintain an adequate merchant marine.

The reasons for it are both patriotic and economic. We need the marine because it will protect us from foreign shipping monopolies which could just as easily gouge us as the rubber monopoly did.

And then we need the marine for national defense. Without it we will be as helpless if we are suddenly plunged in another war as we were in the last, and the shipping fiasco may be repeated. Money spent in advance, therefore, on a merchant marine will be economically and wisely invested.

These occasional million dollar bonfires of war time ships ought to impress upon the American people the advisability of having at all times an adequate merchant marine.

Most of these photographs from the North Pole region look like close-ups of an ice cream cone.

NOW TIME TO ORDER VETCH SEED

Mr. Jasper Dennis has requested The Union-Banner to remind the farmers of this section that now is the time to place orders for vetch seed when they expect to plant this fall.

Mr. Dennis will handle orders again this year and make deliveries of seed to farmers at wholesale cost. It is necessary for all who want seed to place their orders in advance, preferably before July 20, and pay a deposit of three cents a pound. The price of the seed will be about 17 1-2 cents a pound delivered in Clanton in September.

All who want seed should see Mr. Dennis before July 20 and place orders for what you need.

ALL DAY SINGING

There will be an all day singing at Providence, Beat 13, the 1st Sunday in July. The Christian Harmony books will be used. Everybody invited to come, bring your books and a well filled basket. Let's spend the day in singing the old songs that will honor our Creator and benefit us as a people.—J. F. Lowery, J. H. Martin, Committee.

Misses Eva and Vida Poole of Birmingham spent a few days last week with relatives in Clanton.

PETITION TO SELL LANDS

State of Alabama, Chilton County, Probate Court, June 25, 1926.

In the matter of the estate of W. B. Scott, deceased.

This day came W. G. Atkinson, administrator of the estate of W. B. Scott, deceased, and filed his petition in writing under oath in this Court, for an order to sell certain lands belonging to said estate, described in said petition, for paying the debts due by said estate, upon the ground that the personal property of said estate is insufficient for the payment of the debts.

It is therefore ordered that the 26th day of July, 1926, be appointed a day for the hearing of said petition, when any persons interested may appear and contest the said application if they think proper, and it appearing from said petition that Evie Philpot is a distributee of said estate, is over 21 years of age, and is a nonresident of Alabama and resides at Lawrenceburg, Tenn., this is, therefore, to notify her of the filing of said petition, and the day set for hearing the same, and she may be present and contest the same, if she thinks proper.

STEEL BRIDGES WANTED

The Commissioners Court of Chilton County, Alabama, will meet at Clanton, Alabama, July 5, 1926, at 11 o'clock a.m., for the purpose of receiving bids for two steel bridges complete, delivered at Clanton, Alabama.

Make price on two steel bridges, complete, 80 feet long, consisting of two 40-foot spans, one set of steel legs for each bridge 6 feet long, the county to build cement abutments for the ends of said bridges to rest on. Both bridges are to be constructed for wood floors.

All bids on said bridges to be in the hands of L. H. Reynolds, Judge of Probate, on or before 11 o'clock a.m., July 5, 1926. The county will pay cash for said bridges.

This, the 1st day of June, 1926.

1/20th of the Earth's LAND

1/16th of the World's POPULATION

1/3rd of the World's RAILWAY MILEAGE

The statement has been made repeatedly in these bulletins that the people of the United States enjoy the best transportation service in all the world. Evidence has been given to show that better passenger service is afforded the American people, better equipment, faster and more frequent schedules and lower freight and passenger rates. It is a significant fact that while the United States of America occupies only one-twentieth of the earth's land surface and contains only one-sixteenth of the world's population, it has one-third of the world's railway mileage.

The business of the American railroads is to take things from where they are plentiful to places where they are scarce, and to transport people from one section of the country to another. The figures quoted above, and the records of performance for the past few years, furnish proof conclusive that the job is being well done.

We believe that these bulletins published regularly in this newspaper will interest you.

THE OLD RELIABLE L&N LOUISVILLE & NASHVILLE R.R. F-1

J. N. SCOTT COMES OUT WITH MORE "IGNORANCE DROPS"

Well, Mr. Editor, here I come again with a few more of my ignorance drops for the voters to look over, and I trust they will note them carefully and see what I have to say. I promised to make a trip through the county before the primary, so the time is growing near and I must soon start to go around.

I went to the old time singing at Antioch last Sunday and will say that the crops down there look good. We had a glorious day. But do you know, I was the only candidate there. I can not understand what bluffed them off unless it was carrying that basket and those cigars. But those Antioch people didn't need any help along that line. I never saw any more or a better dinner spread in my life than was spread there, and after all had been filled, there was plenty left for all the rest of the candidates, had they only been there.

Will say to the voters that the reason I have been slow about starting out campaigning was because I became a little discouraged is I stated some time ago. This is my first time out for office and I am green in this campaigning business. But I want to say that I am meeting with great encouragement wherever I go among the voters, and I sure do appreciate it. But it is like this: I have got to beat four other mighty good men in this primary election, and I get a little nervous when I think of this. But then when I think of my many good Republican friends all over the county who have solicited me from time to time to run for commissioner in the First District, I become encouraged, knowing that the office lies in the hands of the majority of the voters of the county.

But then again, Mr. Editor, I have studied it all over. The people may give me the nomination and then elect me in November, and then there may come along Mr. Tom Hand of Jemison and a few other Democrats who might not like me and start in to impeach me, as it seems that is the go now-a-days. The Democrats claim that dead men voted and this and that happened. According to old reports, away back in the eighties and nineties, some people stuffed the ballot boxes, voted dogs and dead men, and would do anything to carry out their wishes But in this enlightened age, when the election laws are so arranged as to prohibit such actions, I can't conceive the idea that such practices are being used these days. We have a few men who will gag at a gnat and spend thousands of dollars in the courts hollering wolf, wolf, when no wolf is to be found, and at the same time they are swallowing camels by the wholesale, with all ease are spending money fighting enemies as they think, where there are no enemies as they imagine. Some of these same fellows are out of a pastor at their church on account of the preacher didn't get enough to pay him. I think we could use our spare cash to a better advantage by donating it to the poor widows and orphans and the sick and disabled people around our doors than to give it to the lawyers and the courts. The situation is bad, but I want to tell the people that I have become interested in this matter and I have taken on new courage. I shall remain in the Republican army and stay on the old Republican ship and make this race, and whether I lose or gain in the primary you will find me just as far up on the old ship of State as I can get, waving the old flag of Liberty, and as old Apostle Paul said I shall then say, "I am ready to be offered up, I have fought a good fight, I have kept the faith."

Therefore, it appears to me that I should be rewarded with the job I am asking for, but that is left in the hands of the voters, and whatever your decision is, that will be mine also. I am about ready to start out on that trip over the county. The farmers are about done work and can spend a few minutes for a chat since their crops are about clean. I want to be fair with all my opponents, so I invite each one of them to come and go with me on this trip. I think it better for all five of us to go in one car, and too it would show economy as the same amount of gas and oil would make the trip. I will furnish old Lizzie and do the driving if the others will furnish the gas and oil. I think that would be fair. While we won't say much to the voters, we will just let them pick out their man and vote for him in August. Of course, I say this because I haven't got anything to boast about like my friend Dorminey having paid off so much of our debts in the county and having layed plans for the winding up of the job. I say that any man can pay debts if he is given the money to do it with, but just any man cannot spend money to the best advantage every time. But I wish to say to the voters that when it comes to handling indebtedness I claim to be somewhat of an expert myself as I have been in that business for forty years. But I have at last worked myself out of a job as I haven't got out any mortgages at the present.

So I must close for this time by saying I will come again before long. While I consider these drops very well mixed and some may consider them a little bitter, but I feel sure that if they are heeded they will not do any harm. So I remain, the same old doctor. J. N. SCOTT.

IN MEMORY OF MRS. MARY LITTLETON

Mrs. Mary Littleton, age about 74 years, died at her home in Thorsby on June 27, 1926. She spent her entire life in Chilton County. She was born near old Center Hill Church, where she was baptized in her early years by Rev. Baker Hill, one of our pioneer preachers. After living in that neighborhood for a number of years she moved to the Collins Chapel community, where she was one of the members who helped to constitute Collins Chapel Baptist Church.

She was the mother of ten children. One child and her husband had preceded her in death. She is survived by four boys, five girls, three brothers and three sisters. Three of her boys live in Thorsby, and one in Bessemer. Three of her girls live in Thorsby, one in Adamsville, Ala., and one in Birmingham.

The life of Mrs. Littleton was beautiful, always radiating love and happiness. Her daily walk among her associates typified the spirit of the Man of Gallilee. God grant that all those endearing associations with this good woman may be renewed "When they ring those golden bells for you and me."

She was laid to rest at Collins Chapel cemetery Tuesday, Rev. Lowery and Rev. Bonner conducting the funeral. Martin of Clanton had charge of the burial.

PROVIDENCE—BEAT 13

Farmers of this community are moving along nicely with their work. The crops are in good shape, responding to the good showers that have been falling for the past few days. We were beginning to need rain.

The Sunday School at this place took an outing Saturday, June 26. They motored to the ferry below Mitchell Dam, near the fish traps. Here they spent a few hours in amusement. Dinner was served after an offering of thanks by E. S. McCain, superintendent. Then they looked over Mitchell Dam. Owing to the showers, some of the party did not get to the dam, but all returned home safe and sound. They wish to thank Mr. Taylor for the use of his camp ground.

There will be an all day singing at this place on Sunday, July 4, in the Christian Harmony books. Everybody is invited to come and take part in singing praises to Him who giveth all things.

Best wishes to The Union-Banner and its many readers.

Seven Hurt In Wreck At Jemison Saturday

Collision of a fast Chrysler automobile with a truck at Jemison last Saturday morning resulted in the serious injury of seven persons who were riding on the truck. The injured were John Williams, his wife and two boys and Mrs. Loss Robinson and two children. They were rushed to the Central Alabama Hospital at Clanton and given medical and surgical attention.

Mr. Williams had both legs crushed, one of which was amputated. He received other cuts and bruises on his face and arms. Mrs. Williams was hurt internally and was severely cut on one arm.

One of the Williams boys got a broken hip and another was cut and bruiser very badly. The third Williams boy, who was driving the truck was not hurt.

Mrs. Loss Robinson had her collar bone broken and received some scalp wounds, cuts and bruises. The son of Mrs. Robinson had both bones in one leg broken. Her haughter was injured internally.

The truck was coming in from Union Grave toward Jemison, and was hit by the fast automobile as the truck attempted to cross the paved highway. All of the injured people live at Union Grove. The occupants of the Chrysler were not hurt. It was driven by a Mr. Hawkins, who is said to be a son of the tax collector of Jefferson county. We understand that Mr. Hawkihs was on his way to Florida when the wreck happened. Since he has reached Florida we learn that he has called the hospital here to know how the injured people are; also that he has provided special nurses to care for the ones most seriously injured.

WORKING AT CORINTH

Alf Mims Candidate For Chilton Tax Collector

Editor Uhion-Banner:

Please allow me space in your valuable paper to say a few words in regard to my candidacy as a candidate for tax collector of Chilton County on the Republican ticket.

First, I would like to say to both ladies and gentlemen that I would be glad for everybody to make an investigation as to my character and ability to hold the office. I have never asked for an office before and I am sure every body knows that I would like to have the office, else I would not have asked for it.

Now, I certainly will appreciate your vote and influence, as it will be impossible for me to see every voter in the county. I am anxious for you to make all kinds of inquiry about how I have always stood politically. I have always believed in the principles of the Republican party, and should I be defeated by either of my opponents, I will still be a Republican and will do everything that is honest and honorable to elect the entire ticket.

I have always believed in clean politics as much so as I have in church affairs. Should I be so fortunate as to be nominated and elected, I will do everything that lies within my power to make as good officer as we have ever had, and shall put forth every effort that is possible to accommodate the people in every way I can.

ALFRED F. MIMS.

K. M. Vinson, Candidate For Tax Assessor Makes Appeal To Voters of Chilton County

In making my announcement for Tax Assessor of Chilton County, I did so at the solicitation of many of my friends, and since I have had three years' experience in this office as a clerk during Mr. J. N. Dennis's term, and knowing the work as I do, I feel that I am amply competent to serve the people satisfactorily. I believe all who know me personally will not doubt my ability to do the work.

I realize that there is lots of very tedious work in this office and it requires the most careful attention of anyone to do it correctly. But during the three years I did the work there for Mr. Dennis, I don't recall a single error that I made that caused any tapayer any epense or trouble. If the citizens of this county can see fit to nominate and elect me to this office for the next four years, I assure you that I shall use my knowledge and experience toward the discharge of the duties of the office in a way that will be right toward every tax payer.

I began my public life in the office of the Tax Assessor as a clerk, which was the first work I did after leaving the farm and school. Since I learned the work, I have tried for 12 years to qualify myself as a citizen to fill this office in case the Republicans of Chilton County should ever see fit to honor me with the place.

I think my past record is proof enough that I am a true Republican, and my past life as a citizen is an open book to the public. I have always responded when my party's interest called for help, and have always willingly submitted to the voice of a majority of the people. I asked for office once before, and being defeated in the primary, I took it as my part and continued working for the interest of the Republican party. I shall continue to work for the Republican party as I have in the past, regardless of your decision on August 10th.

I am not asking for this place because I think its duties have not been well and correctly performed in the past or will not be in the future, should our present Assessor be re-elected; but because many of my good friends insisted that I enter the race, and from a natural desire to do more for the citizens of my county and the Republican party.

Mr. Pate has made a good officer. He is an excellent man and a good friend of mine. But since we have given him 6 years with one campaign, (or we elected him for four years and the legislature gave him two years, making a total of six years or a term and a half that he has held the office), I consider that he has had two terms, or an equivalent of two terms, should he have had to make the race for the second term. Now, to re-elect him for another four years, or a third term, would mean to give him the office a total of ten years, which is one-third of the adult life of a man.

I feel like, and I think you will agree with me, that this is a long time to give one man an office when we have others who are just as well qualified and as much entitled to the office. We are taught from the beginning of the world that the young will have to take the places of the old. I feel that it is just and right that the younger men and women should have a chance to fill the places of the old when they become qualified and worthy, before the old wear out.

I want to ask each and every voter of the county, both men and women, to give me a fair and just consideration before casting your vote. If you think I am worthy of the place, I shall certainly thank you to cast your vote and use your influence for me on August 10th. Should I be the choice of the Republicans for Tax Assessor in the primary, I will do all that is right and consistent to be elected in November. If elected, I will conduct myself and the affairs of the office with credit to myself and the Republican party. I assure you that you will never have just cause to regret casting your vote and using your influence for me.

But if you feel that Mr. Pate is more worthy and more entitled to 10 years in the office than I am to 4 years, then I expect you to vote for him; and should he be the choice of the Republicans in the primary, he will be my choice in November, together with the entire Republican ticket.

Tanking every one in advance for a fair and honest consideration, and trusting that you may see fit to cast your ballot for me on August 10th, I remain,

Yours very truly,
K. M. VINSON.

CHEVROLET NEWS

The American public is deciding its purchase of automobiles upon quality rather than price, according to R. H. Grant, vice-president and general sales manager of the Chevrolet Motor Company.

"This increasing regard for quality also is apparent in many friends other than that of the automobile," said Mr. Grant.

"For instance a man buys a garden hose not on the basis of which hose is the cheapest, but on the basis of what service he will get for his money. If he believes that the cheaper hose will fail after a season of use, he will purchase a more expensive hose that will serve for several sasons.

"This attitude is becoming more and more apparent in the automobile industry mainly because the public, each year, is becoming more familiar with motor car values.

"In addition, in the automobile market other considerations that are influencing buying are colors, style, performance, and riding qualities.

"Buyers of necessity have to group themselves into price classes,but within the range of their price class they are very discriminating.

"Consequently, other considerations as well as price have to be given careful thought in order to make the appeal to the largest possible number of buyers in a particular price class."

The Y. W. A. met at the home of Mrs. G. F. Harper last Tuesday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock. A splendid program was held, all the members taking part. After the program each member presented Mrs. Joe Anderson a little gift for her faithflness and loyalty to the Y. W. A. since she has been a member. She is leaving real soon for her former home in the North. Delicious ice cream and cake were served to those present. The next meeting will be held with Mrs. Bill Parrish.

Cottage prayer meetings will be held at two homes each night of this week except Wednesday night. Prayer meeting will be held at the Baptist church. Everybody invited to attend these meetings.

Don't forget ourrevival, which will begin at Thorsby Baptist church Sunday, July 11th. Everybody come.

A wedding of much interest will be solemnized Wednesday night, July 7, at 8 o'clock, when Miss Lucile Mims will become the bride of Mr. Relius R. Franklin, at their new home. After the wedding a reception will be held. Much happiness and good wishes are extended the happy couple.

Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Piper and Miss Donie Tatum spent the week end at Blocton with Mrs. Piper's mother.

Miss Lillian Fitzpatrick of Birmingham has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Harper the past week. She will return to her home Wednesday.

Dr. and Mrs. S. C. Wood, Mrs. Each and family spent Saturday at Steel Bridge fishing.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson of Birmingham, Mr. and Mrs. Webb Parrish, J. C. Jones, H. W. Peterson and little son, Herbert, spent Tuesday at Lock 12 fishing.

Mr. Wilbur Peterson of Detroit, Michigan will arrive Sunday to spend his vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Peterstn.

FLOYD COMMUNITY NEWS

The Sunday school at this place is progressing hicely. There was not so many present last Sunday, on account of the all day singings. We hope to have more next Sunday. Our singing was put off on account of the singing at Liberty.

Miss Jewell Strength spent the day Saturday in Montgomery visiting her sister, Mrs. Griffin at the hospital.

Mr. Parmer Taylor and family and Mr. A. O. Taylor and family, accompanied by Misses Millie and Gladys Nelson, motored to Liberty Sunday afternoon and enjoyed a fine singing.

Mr. Willie Strength and family were the guests of his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Strength Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Taylor had the pleasure of being with all their children and grand children Sunday. They numbered 29 in all.

We are glad that Bro. W. J. Huett is still improvihg, but sorry to know that his son, Mr. Lewis Huett has been on the sick list this week.

Miss Agnes Moore spent the week end with relatives near Coopers this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Parmer Taylor spent the night with Mr. A. O. Taylor Sunday night.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Taylor returned to their home in Tallassee Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Parmer Taylor returned to their home in Mintgomery Monday.

Mr. N. L. Owen of Kellerman, Ala., is home with his folks around Shiloh for a few days. This is the first time Mr. Owen has been home for three years.

WEST CHILTON

Our crop prospects are good, but we are needing rain.

Mr. J. P. Gentry is gradually regaining his health; he has been sick for three or four months.

We were pleased to meet our young friend, Charlie Nix of Baldwin County last week. He came up Sunday and remained until Saturday. He brought his young wife with him. This was his first visit to the home of his childhood in three years.

Mr. Robert Bean of Collins Chapel, one of the popular candidates for membership on the Educational Board was here last week. He won golden opinions among some of the voters here. He is deeply interested in the success of the rural schools, which implies the success of the rural districts financially, socially and otherwise. As the county school goes down the people will seek homes elsewhere. We have examples of that right here in West Chilton.

Mr. Joe Thrasher of West Frankfort Illinois, made a short visit here recently.

Mrs. W. R. Redden visited her brother south of Clanton Friday.

We are pleased to note the fine work the commissioners are having done on the roads here; it seems we are coming into our own. We feel sure the commissioners will continue to remember the extreme west portion of the county. So critics can't say, "Yes, I told you so." We would again modestly suggest to the road authorities that nice index or sign boards where roads cross or branch off would be a benefit to traveling strangers, and would add to the appearance of roads.

Had an ice cream festival at L. G. Posey's on the afternoon of the 3rd.

Big gathering near Clarence Hayes's on the 3rd; the entertainments were a picnic, music, etc.

Mr. and Mrs. Whitaker of Birmingham were recent visitors at W. R. Redd:n's.

The noted Prof. Kelley of Selma was the musical performer at the big gathering near Free Springs Saturday.

Natural Proof

When the weather gets unseasonably warm I deem the time suitable for reviving a story which I first heard at the Republican national convention in Chicago in 1920. As will be recalled by those who attended that convention the entire country from coast to coast sweltered through the week under a blanket of terrific heat.

A delegate from California, in a half fluid state, fell off of a transcontinental train. A Chicago friend met him at the station.

"Say, old man," said the friend when greetings had been exchanged, "is it as hot out West as it is here on the lake?"

"Is it hot out West?" repeated the newly arrived one. "Say, don't make me laugh. You people here in the corn belt don't know what heat is. Say, listen, I'll illustrate to you just how hot it is on the other side of the Rockies. Coming across the Arizona desert day before yesterday I looked out of the car window and I saw a coyote chasing a jack-rabbit—and they were both walking!"

BRINGS PECULIAR STORY FROM MISSISSIPPI

Uncle John Pierce, formerly of this county, but who for the past two or three years has been living with his son in Mississippi, is back home for a while, and brings a very unusual story of an occurrence near his Mississippi home a few miles from the town of Hamilton. Mr. Pierce's story is something like the following:

A middle aged man by the name of Pelham died. The remains were laid in state in the Pelham home. Shortly after the body was laid out the house caught on fire. Only a few of the household goods were saved, and the corpse was taken out and placed in a neighboring house. Shortly afterward this other house caught on fire, and the corpse was taken out again. The other neighbors became superstitious and the body was not taken into another house, but was taken and laid out in a nearby woodland. Soon the woods caught on fire, and the dead man was taken from there and buried.

While the Pelham house was on fire and the few things were being taken out, the wife of Pelham thought of some money which her husband kept in a trunk. She started to the trunk to get the money but fainted before she reached the trunk. A son of the home attempted to reach the trunk and get the money, but he likewise fainted, and the money had to be left in the house to burn up.

Mr. Pierce said that the Pelham man had the reputation of being an honest, upright man.

The Union-Banner does not vouch for the truthfulness of the above story, but Mr. Pierce says that everybody knows about it in the vicinity where he came from in Mississippi. On account of the unusualness of the reported occurrence, we publish it for the benefit of our readers, who may read it and use their own judgment about it. We are merely publishing the story as it came to us.

WE'RE GETTING SOME MONEY

The payments by foreign governments on their war debts to the United States in June, which month marks the closing of the fiscal year, amounted to the respectable sum of $77,783,127.06. The payments were made by Great Britain, Italy, Belgium, Czecho-Slovakia, Esthonia, Finland, Hungary, Lithuania, Poland and Roumania. France and Jugo-Slavia have as yet made no payments because their debt agreements with Uncle Sam have not been ratified, but their sums will be added to the total doubtless in the next fiscal year.

The fact that Uncle Sam received nearly $80, 000,000 in this one payment on the foreign debt shows that there has been no cancellation, and it proves that the debt-funding commission was right in making the agreements and that Congress was right in ratifying them.

If there had been no ratification and no agreement, we would have received nothing either on principle and the longer the debts were permitted to ride unfunded, the harder it would have been to collect anything on them.

It is true that the interest received is not as great as many people think it ought to be, but at least we are getting something, and the results will doubtless prove that this is another instance where a half a loaf is a great deal better than none. The choice was between taking what we could get or getting nothing.

SAFE FOR DEMOCRACY?

During the World War we were told that the prime purpose of that conflict was to make the world safe for democracy. Although German autocracy was completely defeated, the results have not been just what was anticipated. There are a few less monarchs in Europe than formerly, it is true, but there has been no great surging wave of democracy. Quite the reverse.

The biggest country in Europe in territory and population is Russia. Russia is not safe for democracy. It is now in the grip of one of the completest autocracies the world has ever known. There is a dictator in Italy who rules with an iron hand, another in Portugal, another in Greece, and still another in Poland. There are times when it seems that even France will need a dictator to straighten out its tangled affairs, and nobody yet knows how much democracy there will eventually be in the new German government.

Just now the trend in Europe seems to be away from republics and constitutional monarchies and toward dictatorships. Mussolini is the man of the hour and he hearkens back alternately to Julius Caesar and Napoleon Bonaparte. The World War accomplished a great many things, but it did not make the world safe for democracy. If you don't believe this just ask Mussolini, Pilsudski, and the rest of the new rulers in Europe.

EGYPTIAN COTTON

Long staple cotton may furnish another proof to America of the advisability of growing your own. The average citizen of our country may be surprised to learn that a curtailment in the cotton crop of Egypt may have some influence on the automobile tire industry in the United States, but this is true nevertheless. Of course more than half of the world's cotton crop is grown in the United States. But in Egypt they grow a certain variety of long staple cotton which is used in the manufacture of cord automobile tires. This long staple cotton it is said is the best kind adapted for tire manufacture.

According to Secretary of Commerce Hoover, who usually knows whereof he speaks, there is apt to be a restriction of long staple cotton acreage in Egypt this year. The crop is raised by irrigation from the Nile and as the Egyptian government regulates this irrigation it can easily regulate the output of long staple cotton.

Whatever camouflaged reason is given for this restriction, the real reason will doubtless be a desire on the part of the Egyptian growers to get a little more off the American automobile public, just as the crude rubber growers were doing it a few months ago.

Now, according to the Department of Commerce, there is no real reason why Uncle Sam should have to depend on Egypt for long staple cotton. This same cotton can be raised in Arizona and California. In fact the climate and season in Arizona is very similar to that in Egypt.

Of course labor and other production costs undoubtedly enter into the situation, but these could be taken care of. There is no more reason why we should depend on some other nation's whim for our long staple cotton than for our rubber.

Farmers who feed their corn are getting rich and needing no "relief." Paradoxical as it may seem, it is the corn in the hog that is sold that brings home the bacon.—Boston Transcript.

Abd-el-Krim may have his troubles, but he at least doesn't have to face an investigation by Congress of how much it cost him to lose.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

The Wall Street Journal of June 26 says: "There is no denying the fact that farmers are now pulling on the short end of the whiffle-tree. They are not on a parity with the rest of the country." The statement goes on to admonish farmers about hope and to tell them that their case "is not hopeless."

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE ON INDEPENDENCE DAY

July 4, 1776, was a day of history in its high and true significance. Not because the underlying principles set out in the Declaration of Independence were new; they are older than the Christian religion, or Greek philosophy, nor was it because history is made by proclamation or declaration; history is made only by action. But it was an historic day because the representatives of 3,000,000 people there vocalized Concord and Lexington and Bunker Hill, which gave notice to the world that they were acting, and proposed to act, and to found an independent nation, on the theory that "all men are created equal; that they are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights; that among these are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness." The wonder and glory of the American people is not the ringing declaration of that day, but the action, then already begun, and in the process of being carried out in spite of every obstacle that war could interpose, making the theory of freedom and equality a reality. We revere that day because it marks the beginnings of independence, the beginnings of a Constitution that was finally to give universal freedom and equality to all American citizens, the beginnings of a government that was to recognize beyond all others the power and worth and dignity of man. There began the first of governments to acknowledge that it was founded on the sovereignty of the people.—From a Fourth of July address by Calvin Coolidge at the home of Daniel Webster at Marshfield, Mass., as reproduced in the July issue of the National Republic.

THINGS NOT WHAT THEY WERE DOWN ON THE FARM

Things "down on the farm" are quite different now than in the old days, according to Congressman John William Summers, of Washington, who writes interestingly of his boyish experiences in the country, comparing conditions then and now, in the July issue of the National Republic.

"When I was a boy down on the farm we planted a few acres to corn, we sowed a few acres to wheat and oats and grass," Mr. Summers writes. "We milked a few cows, we sold an occasional calf, we fattened a pen of hogs; a heterogeneous flock of poultry ran everywhere. A small band of sheep supplied blankets and socks, mittens, 'pulse warmers,' and red, white and blue 'comforters,' and hoods for the girls.

"The Summers boys worked early and late six days a week and cared for the stock all day Sunday. Any additional labor was procured at 'fifty cents a day and board,' or seventy-five cents a day if the laborer boarded himself.

"We took a few sacks of wheat to mill twice a year—that furnished flour and bread for the family for the entir year. We shelled a bushel of corn occasionally and took it to a near-by mill, waited for it to be ground, and returned with 'the makings' of our corn bread and mush for winter evenings.

"We swapped bacon for jeans and copper-toed boots. We swapped butter, at 8 to 18 cents a pound, and eggs at 7 to 15 cents a dozen, for sugar, coffee, rice, and calico.

"When we went courtin' we rode a mule or a stray colt. Those were the good old days our eastern friends still have in mind. No freight problem. No auto. No gasoline. No hard roads. No telephone. No radio. No phonograph. No piano. No organ—only a Jew's harp and I couldn't play that. No electric lights nor gas nor electric range. No coal bills. We cut our own fuel from our own or our neighbor's 'woods' without restraint. No 'store clothes' for Johnnie. No reaper. No mower. No 'header.' No 'combine.' Those were the days of the 'scythe and cradle.' No movies. No soda fountains. No nothin' for a boy down on the farm but work, fishin', huntin', trappin', the old swimmin' hole and school and 'spelling bees' and games and 'exhibitions' and church and Sunday school and 'singings'.

"That was the simple life!

"Those were 'the good old days' down on the farm!

"There was no farm problem then!"

It is said that an American has 4 chances in 100,000 of living a century. Don't spoil your own prospect of being one of the four by racing your car against the locomotive at the grade crossing.—Boston Transcript.

Club boys of Roosevelt County, New Mexico, are now supplying farmers of this country with pure and certified grain sorghum seed. In addition they sold 1,000 pounds of this seed outside of their state last. As a result of this work farmers say that they are making 10 to 15 per cent more grain on each acre.

A Milwaukee dispatch to the press says: "Plans have been laid for a far-reaching campaign to make Wisconsin the center for a great national bacon industry as an addition to the dairy supremacy of the State. Those who are backing the move say that the new industry should rival the famous bacon hogs of Denmark and other famed bacon production centers of the world. The Wisconsin College of Agriculture is promoting the project.

Five Big Reasons Why You Should Vote For The One Mill School Tax

(1) Will add nearly $14,000 to our school funds. All this will be spent to lengthen the term of our schools.

(2) 75 per cent of this will be paid by the corporations, who would vote for it if they had the tpportunity.

(3) None of this money will ever leave Chilton County.

(4) The people who live in the county and have children to educate will not pay more than 25 per cent of this tax.

(5) It will give every community its part of this corporation tax.

MULE KILLS RABID DOG

Demostrating an almost uncanny intelligence, and acting swiftly and decisively in defense of its master, on Wednesday morning, a mule owned by H. N Smith, residing near Coopers, Ala., rurled to its death, a mad-dog that was attempting to attack Mr. Smith. Neither the mule nor the man suffered injury from the rabid animal.

According to report of the incident recieved at the state laboratory, Mr. Smith had led the mule to a watering trough near an open well, when the mad-dog, which had already attacked and bitten two persons, suddenly appeared and made a rush for Mr. Smith. Instantly, it stated, the mule lowered his head, seized the dog with his teeth by the scuff of the neck and hurled the body of the attacker high in the air. Hurling downward, the dog plunged straight into the open well-shaft and into the water far below, and to his death.

The carcass of the dog was removed from the well some time later, and its head sent to the state laboratory in Montgomery, where examination revealed the animal at the time of its death was suffering from rabies. Anti-rabies treatments for two persons bitten by the mad dog were forwarded from the laboratory Thursday morning.

Anti-rabies serum treatment was also sent to Johnnie Purvis, of West Bend, who was bitten by a mad dog Wednesday. The fact that the animal was affected with rabies was established by examination at the laboratory of the dog's head, which Mr. Purvis sent in.

You Can Share Our Pride In This Big Task

THE big job which the telephone organization in Alabama is performing is of more than casual interest to you. This is a year of construction and expansion to meet the present demand for service and provide for the needs of the immediate future.

During the five-year period, including 1926, our plans require an expenditure of $13,690,000 in Alabama for additions and replacements. Practically all of this is new money, which must be secured from investors.

The interest of the telephone subscriber and of the telephone stockholder, in this undertaking, is practically the same. If we serve the owners of the property wisely and efficiently, we shall render the largest benefit to the public.

We must give the best and broadest service possible. We must have rates low enough to enable every person who ought to have a telephone to have one, but sufficient to pay the cost of producing the service and earn enough to attract new capital.

This is what your telephone organization is trying to do.

THE BASIC TROUBLE WITH AMERICAN AGRICULTURE

Many Mythical Causes Given But the Chief Financial Problem Rises From Inflation of Capital Account Based on War Prices—Remedy Pointed Out—"Trick Legislation" Will Not Help.

By MELVIN A. TRAYLOR
First Vice President American Bankers Association.

IN recent years agriculture and the welfare of the farmer have been our most fruitful topics of conversation. Political fortunes have revolved around the unhappy situation of the farmer and the business barometer has gone up and down with varying proposals for his relief. Only a few years ago there was widespread feeling voiced by the leading agriculturists that the time was fast approaching when America would not be able to feed its rapidly increasing population unless there was improvement in soil culture, fertilization, reforestation and larger production. What is the situation now? The worry seems no longer to be for food for the hungry millions but for more millions to consume our tons of food.

M. A. Traylor

Evangelists of despair have talked so much about over-production and surplus of agricultural products since 1920 that we are warranted in calling attention to a fact or two which may be enlightening to those who have felt that there has been a crushing surplus of the staples of the farm. From 1911 to 1915 average production of cotton was 14,175,000 bales at an average price of 12.41 cents per pound, while from 1921 to 1925 production averaged 11,362,000 bales at an average price of 21.85 cents per pound. In the 1911-1915 period wheat production averaged 806,358,000 bushels at an average price of 89 cents, while in 1921-1925 the average production was 804,384,000 bushels at a $1.11½ average; in the former period corn averaged 2,754,000,000 bushels at 60.3 cents while in the latter the average was 2,873,000,000 at 69.6 cents. Cattle on farms for 1911-1915 were 37,178,000 at an average estimated price of $26.52 while in the latter period the annual average was 41,616,000 at $26.08. Hogs on farms in the first period were 63,151,000 at an average price of $9.58 per head, and in the latter 60,418,000 at $11.34.

The Surplus Production Myth

From these figures, which eliminate the period that embraced the war and the early post-war inflation, it will be observed that, with the exception of cotton and cattle, production has been almost uniform in the two periods. In no case has production anywhere approached an increase commensurate with the increase in population. So-called surplus production is largely a myth and the cause of the farmer's complaint must be looked for in some other direction. It must be admitted that all has not been and is not well with this industry. After all, what is the matter with agriculture? There are a few facts which seem obvious as a part at least of the underlying causes of the situation and which suggest something of the remedy that sooner or later must be applied.

Present difficulties had their inception largely in inflation of prices for agricultural products from 1915 to 1920 with consequent large expansion of profits. This led inevitably with the farmer as with the manufacturer to expansion of plant and equipment—the acquirement by the individual of larger acreage and modern, if not always efficient, machinery. These statements do not apply to every one because there are always some who play safely and conservatively, proved by the fact that there are millions of farmers who have gone through the recent crisis without any difficulty and are today prosperous and contented. In fact the complaints today are coming from less than 25 per cent of the farmers of the country and from the hordes of politicians who are seeking to make capital out of the situation.

Results of Inflation and Expansion

With the average and with the majority of those who were swept off their feet by the wave of prosperity through which they were passing, let us analyze the results of this inflation and expansion. The farmer operating on land that he was carrying in his capital account at a value of, say, $100 per acre, and who perhaps had a loan of $50 an acre, suddenly found that, because of the increased profits from his operations, his land had a market value of $200 per acre and that, if he had a new tractor and some new farm machinery, he could greatly increase his production. But if he did that he would need a larger barn and more warehouse facilities. The chances are that with an appraisal of $200 per acre on his land he increased his loan to $100 per acre, thereby doubling his capital account and his bonded debt—not out of earnings but because of his ability to effect a "clean write-up" of 100 per cent of his plant account.

If he did not effect the doubling of his capital account in this manner, and if his $100 acre farm was clear, he probably bought his neighbor's farm for $200 per acre and mortgaged both the new and the old for $100 per acre. In this latter case, he increased his capital account 150 per cent.

It is easy to see what this did to his net percentage of income. If he had been able to make 6 per cent on his original investment, without any allowance for the increased cost of operations which of course did take place, he cut his net income, based upon his capitalization, about one-half when he had completed his expansion program. But worse than that happened. His calculations had been made upon a price for his product which reflected seasonal demand and buying power of government money which were suddenly curtailed. With demand gone and buying power withdrawn he found his gross selling price cut in two. His gross at the high figure had enabled him to make 3 per cent net on his new capitalization. This now was cut one-half by the reduction of his gross selling price and instead of making a 6 per cent return, as he was able to do perhaps on his original $100 acre farm, he has since been lucky if he has made 1½ per cent on his new capital account.

The Remedy

I am confident that something of this kind underlies 75 per cent of the present difficulty. How can it be remedied? I believe that time and intelligent hard work is the surest restorative of better conditions. No magic of trick legislation can accomplish the result. There are a few facts which must be faced and accepted before a start to better things can be made. The first and most important is recognition that farming never was, is not now, and I do not believe ever will be a so-called money-making proposition. By this I mean a business in which a man may engage with the certainty of being able over a period of years from the production and sale of farm commodities to accumulate great wealth.

There are those who will say that unless farming can be made a successful money-making proposition there is no hope for the future of the country. My argument with such people will turn on the correct definition of what is a satisfactory money-making business. I believe that if farming is intelligently and industriously followed it is a satisfactory business but I do not believe that it is sufficiently a money-making proposition to attract those who are ambitious to play for big fortunes.

There are those also who say that many men have grown rich in the past in agriculture. I do not think they have from the mere production and sale of farm commodities. The men who have grown rich in the past from agriculture have owed their success most largely to the ownership of what would now be considered very cheap lands, which over a period of years have shown quadruple and more appreciation in values.

The Advantages of Farm Life

But if agriculture does not mean great wealth, and it certainly does not involve a life of idleness, ease, or luxury, it does mean much more. It means if intelligently and industriously followed a character of independence vouchsafed to no other trade or profession. How do I know this? I know it by experience and I know it by observation. The farmers of today have more good, wholesome food than any man working on a salary of $2,500 per year can buy for his family and be able to pay his grocery bill without paying any other of his debts. The farmers who are complaining of their inability to make money enough to pay for their necessities of life are enjoying at home as a natural heritage of their business comforts and luxuries which the man in the industrial centers working for a salary is spending every dollar of his income to obtain and then is not getting anything commensurate with those enjoyed by the farmer.

It is these so-called unledgered items of the farmer's income that are too often lost sight of in the calculations made by our reformer friends who would legislate a living wage and universal prosperity to those engaged in agriculture. If the farmer as a whole would be happy again he must take stock of his blessings and thank God for them, get rid of his quack doctors of political bunkum, revalue his plant and equipment, and start over again in full knowledge of the fact that he must face keen and effective competition, that he must work hard and intelligently, that he must calculate in his income inherent and undeniable items, which are not measured in dollars and cents.

When he does this, I feel perfectly certain that over a period of years, taking the good and the bad as it comes to all classes of business, he will find that he has lived well, that he has had a fair margin for the enjoyment of all the necessities of life and a surplus for those luxuries which he has a right to claim, and above all, that he will have had a chance to be an independent individual, a real man and a self-respecting citizen.

DEVAUGHN-GRANT SINGING SCHOOL BEGINS STRONG

The singing school at Concord Schoolhouse, taught by Profs. L. T. Grant and W. M. Devaughn, began bright and early Monday morning of this week. The enrollment at the beginning was 70 and 15 new ones enrolled the second day. Everything indicates one of the best singing schools ever taught in this part of the State.

THE SINGING AT PROVVIDENCE

The all day singing at Providence, Beat 13, last Sunday was fine. Quite a crowd was present and all had plenty of dinner with lots left. We thank the Providence community for the fine dinner and the welcome shown us and the good behavior through the day.

Among those who led in the singing were Bro. J. W. Hays from Mobile Cohty, H. H. Armstrong, J. D. Hodgens from Macedonia, J. H. Martin, J. F. Lowery, Ellis Martin of Providence, H. H. Hayes and J. N. Scott from Jemison, J. E. Cobb of Center Hill.

All of the adjoining communities were well represented in the class of singers and visitors from other counties. We noticed Bro. Van Waller from Shelby County and Bro. W. H. Shaw from Birmingham. Mr. Shaw was once our commissioner from the First District, the place I am asking for for the next four years.

There wer only three other candidates there besides myself. These were Squire Waldrop, Mr. Bean and Mr. Kin Vinson, and some of them left before dinner and some came after dinner. Now, boys, there is no need of laying out for the lack of that well filled basket, for the people are feeding us well and don't need your help along that line. But you might bring along those cigars, so as to have a sociable smoke after dinner.

Among the visitors we noticed and shook hands with our old friend and county representative, Mack Wyatt, from Clanton. Come again, Mr. Wyatt, we are always glad to see you.

Now, in conclusion, will say that I am starting out on my trip in the western part of the county Tuesday, and if any of you runners are out that way this week, I want you to run slow and watch around all corners and road crossings and don't exceed the speed limit.

I am going to see as many of my good old Republican friends as I can on this trip. So I will close for this time. J. N. SCOTT.

PETITION TO SELL LANDS

State of Alabama, Chilton County, Probate Court, June 25, 1926.

In the matter of the estate of W. B. Scott, deceased.

This day came W. G. Atkinson, administrator of the estate of W. B. Scott, deceased, and filed his petition in writing under oath in this Court, for an order to sell certain lands belonging to said estate, described in said petition, for paying the debts due by said estate, upon the ground that the personal property of said estate is insufficient for the payment of the debts.

It is therefore ordered that the 26th day of July, 1926, be appointed a day for the hearing of said petition, when any persons interested may appear and contest the said application if they think proper, and it appearing from said petition that Evie Philpot is a distributee of said estate, is over 21 years of age, and is a non-resident of Alabama and resides at Lawrenceburg, Tenn., this is, therefore, to notify her of the filing of said petition, and the day set for hearing the same, and she may be present and contest the same, if she thinks proper.

L. H. REYNOLDS, Judge of Probate.

7-1-3t-ch.

TO MY FRIENDS AND PATRONS

I will be out of my office Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday of weeks beginning June 29 and July 5, doing special work in electro-therapeutics at T. C. I. Hospital in Birmingham. I will be at my office on Saturday, Sunday, and Monday of these weeks.—Dr. Arthur Johnson. 7-1-2t.-ch.

More From Reynolds About Impeachment

Inasmuih as there has appeared in the public print of some of the leading newspapers over the State some statements relative to a proposed impeachment proceeding against me, as gathered from the affidavits of four parties, filed in said cause, I feel it my duty and privilege to make a few statements in defense of myself.

The names of the signers of these four affidavits, upon whose veracity the proceedings were instituted, are W. T. Hand, W. B. Corley and J. L. Johnson, all of Chilton County, and J. F. Thompson, an attorney of Birmingham, Alabama. To give a brief statement in regard to the history and identity of those four parties will not be amiss and will no doubt be an insight to the cause prompting this alleged impeachment proceeding.

J. F. Thompson was one, and I might say the leading attorney in the prosecution of a contest case shortly after my election in 1922, and representing C. D. Messer, the contestant. It is no secret that Thompson made some very exaggerated remarks as to how he was going to show me up in this case. At least, reports came to me from reliable sources that Thompson was preparing to do big things in Chilton County. During this time, Thompson and the other five attorneys against me were given full access to the records in my office, and had several special examiners from Jefferson County, and they spent several weeks examining the records in my office. I must take this opportunity to brand the affidavit of J. F. Thompson, wherein he states that the poll tax records or registrars' record had been changed, as willfully and maliciously false; and Thompson knows that there is not a word of truth in his statement. In any event, after six or seven attorneys and several special examiners had examined the poll tax records as much as they desired, with full access to all the books in my office, even allowing the attorneys to carry the books to their office, the contest, after about six months was dismissed and Fritz Thompson's big gun failed to fire. More than that, Fritz Thompson was taken to task for several statements he had made while in this county, publicly through the print, which he never saw fit to answer or justify. And Thompson left Chilton County with his bold statement a boomerang in his fact, and it can be readily seen that Fritz Thompson is only too ready to sign a dozen affidavits if necessary which might tend to help the cause he lost.

This same Thompson swears in his affidavit that the changes made in the official record of Chilton County were apparent, the new entries having been made with different ink and in different handwriting from that in which the original entries were made, and that these matters were called to the attention of Hon. N. D. Denson on February 12, 1924, trial judge, and admitted by me to have been made. The charges made refute their own truthfulness. If Thompson's affidavit is true, why wait until this late day to commence this proceeding? Why was the Hon. Fritz Thompson so careless of the interest of his client? Why did not Judge Denson then and there take some action? Why was the contest dismissed by Thompson and his associates?

The names of three of the four parties who made these affidavits failed to appear and have not appeared upon the tax records of Chilton County for the past several years, and three of the four do not appear on the poll tax records as qualified voters of Chilton County.

J. L. Johnson and W. B. Corley, who both stay in Clanton, are apparently able bodied men, without any visible means of support, and have been engaged in no gainful occupation for the past several years; but it is common knowledge throughout Chilton County that they have been the henchmen of this W. T. Hand, who admits by his own affidavit filed in the impeachment proceeding, that he has been for many years engaged in attempting to get me out of office. With Johnson and Corley, it has been and is a case of bread and meat.

W. T. Hand, the fourth member, was very active against me in the contest case, personally hiring an attorney, F. L. Tate of Wetumpka, to represent his personal interest, which finally culminated in a personal encounter between Hand and myself. Hand spoke the truth in his affidavit when he said that he had been regularly engaged in investigating my official acts and records, and for four or five years Hand continually has pursued about every course and importuned every department of the State in his mad desire to get me out of office. After the contest was dismissed Hand then employed Horace Wilkerson, who was commissioned as Special Assistant Attorney General and was given full sway with the Grand Jury. Although several hundred witnesses were examined, at an expense to Chilton County of a considerable sum, nothing was done or recommended. Hand then employed Thomas N. McClellan of Birmingham. Through the solicitation of Hand, my office has been examined in the past few years in every conceivable manner and Hand has pursued every possible course, sparing no amount of money and time to attempt to oust me from office. He went to the grave yards taking pictures of tombstones and filed these with the Board of Registrars which were purged by the Board, and being unable to find the great majority of these purged names on the official poll list, by registered mail, I sought the assistance of the Board of Registrars, J. L. Johnson being a member, and Johnson never would even take the letter from the post office. Hand has even gone so far in his attempts to oust me from office in the contest and by impeachment proceedings to suggest to attorneys and officials that in view of the fact that I was a Republican and that the court and officials were Democrats, that I would be put out of office on this fact alone. The Democrats of Alabama have often wondered and thought it unusual that Chilton County always elected a Republican ticket. There is nothing strange about this. The people of Chilton County are honorable and upright, and believe in a square deal and resent at the ballot box such damnable methods as are resorted to by Hand and his associates. It is reported by the press that some of the affidavits filed charge that qualified Democrats of Chilton County have been deprived of the right to vote. This, like many other charges and insinuations made, is wholly without any truth. I do not believe that there is a single honest Democrat in the county who will state that he has ever heard of or has it been suggested to him that this was true.

I have not the space to enumerate the category of persecution at the hands of this fellow Hand and his two assistants, Corley and Johnson; but in all fairness and justice, I do ask if it is not strange that one man will spend thousands of dollars in hiring attorneys and practically devoting four or five years of his life in attempting to oust me from office when apparently the State Departments are satisfied and twelve or fifteen hundred Democratic voters are satisfied and among them many men and women of high character and intelligence.

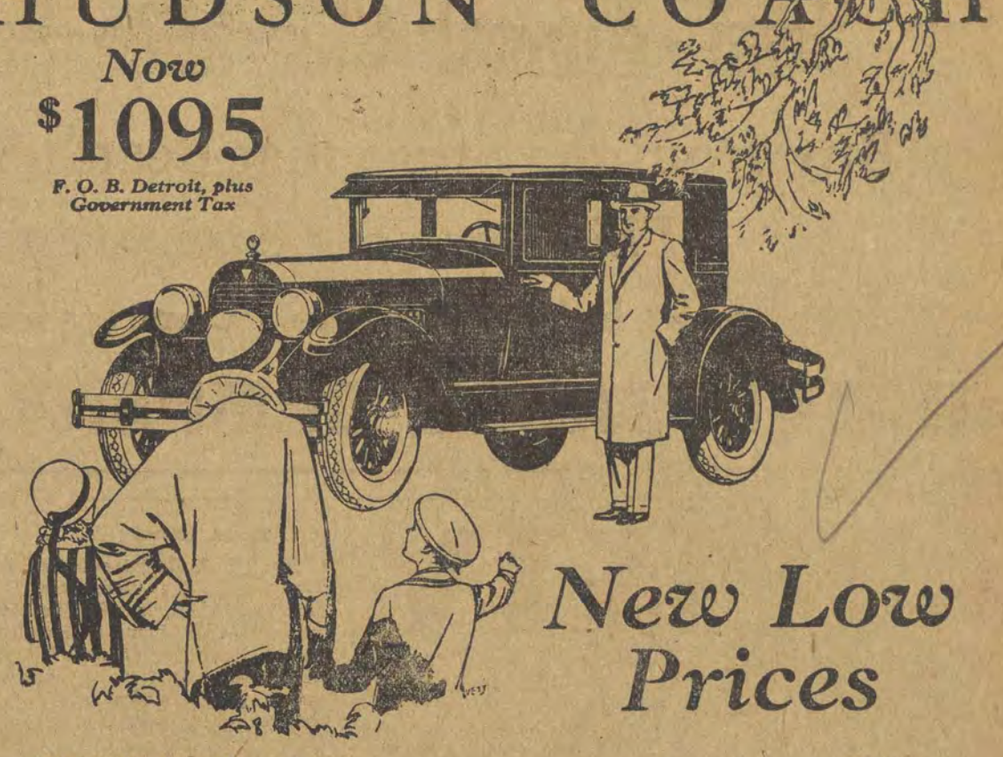
I have appealed to the different departments of the State to send an examiner up here with the Attorney General and Chief Examiner and examine my books, not with the idea of persecuting me but with the idea of seeking the truth I invite an examiner at any and all times and I think it nothing but fairness to the State and to myself in making this request.

If this has come to be a personal matter between W. T. Hand and myself, why cannot Hand get five tax payers and institute the proceedings himself, and then the loser will have the expense to pay. But the people know that when the State of Alabama files an impeachment case against me, win or lose, I must pay my cost. I appeal to the fair minded citizens of this State that there is no justice in allowing one person for four years to monopolize the courts of this State and the departments of the State in order to persecute any person, office holder of not.

I have served about sixteen years in the office of Judge of Probate of Chilton County, and have served many years in other offices, and it is no small thing to be accused of wilful corruption in office, and it is not my desire or purpose to air these tribulations in the public print, but no person is content to let similar charges go before the public unchallenged; and I feel like the public knowing my accusors and a sketch of their history, will at least be willing to hold their judgment until a later date. I have made this statement that I will be willing to leave this matter, relative to the poll tax records, to any Probate Judge, Circuit Judge, Supreme Court Judge of the State, and abide by his decision as to whether I have committed impeachable offence as alleged by the above four parties.

It might also be interesting to the people over the State to know that for the past two or three years every department of my office has been examined and re-examined, and especially the poll tax registration records, by regularly authorized examiners of the State of Alabama, and no report has been filed criticizing my official acts up to the present date.

In conclusion, I want to thank my Democratic friends throughout the State for their fairness and also all the departments of the State of Alabama for their fairness, and the high manner in which they have treated me during the course of this proceeding.



Yours truly,
L. H. REYNOLDS.

Farmers Week For Auburn Is Announced

August 1 to 6 is Date For Farm People to be at State College Exercises

Auburn, Ala., July 5—The week of August 1-6 will be farmers' week at the College of Agriculture, Auburn. The exercises for the week will include the annual summer school for farmers and for farm women, the annual meeting of the Alabama Farm Bureau Federation, and the annual meeting of the Alabama Pecan Growers Association.

The first service on Sunday, August 1, will be a religious service, including sacred music and a religious talk by Dr. Spright Dowell, president, Alabama Polytechnic Institute. The Farm Bureau meeting will be held Monday and Tuesday, and farm economic subjects will be discussed in connection with this meeting. Wednesday will be crops and soils day; Thursday, Livestock; and Friday, fruits and vegetables.

Each afternoon will be devoted to livestock judging and to visiting the buildings and experimental grounds. In the judging work, Monday will be devoted to poultry; Tuesday to swine; Wednesday to dairy cattle; Thursday to mules; and Friday to beef cattle and sheep.

The annual meeting of the Alabama pecan growers association will take place on Thursday, August 5. Clifton Kirkpatrick of Selma is president.

While the exercises will be in progress for men, the farm women will follow their own program, arranged especially for them by Miss Agnes Ellen Harris, dean of women and State home demostration agent, and other members of her staff.

A committee composed of Dr. Spright Dowell, Prof. L. N. Duncan, Prof. M. J. Funchess, and Dr. C. A. Cary will be in charge of the farmers' summer school.

THE BUSINESS MAN

Of the 12 members of Congress from Alabama 11 are lawyers—not one business man. Former Governor Kilby is the only business man in the race with experience in legislation. He knows the needs of Alabama. Send him to the United States Senate. (Paid political adv., by Kilby Club, Anniston). 8-5.

The Democratic committee is trying to clean up its deficit, and our idea of something difficult to raise money for now would be the Democratic campaign of 1924.

SOCIETY

Mrs. Grady Broadhead, Editor.

Little Miss Crumpton, Honoree.

Little James Kathryn Crumpton was the honoree at a pretty party Tuesday afternoon, when her mother, Mrs. Briggs Crumpton entertained a group of little folks, celebrating her daughter's sixth birthday anniversary, at the home of Mrs. J. P. Crumpton on Eighth Street. A profusion of garden flowers were artistically arranged throughout the home. A large birthday cake with six pink candles formed the center piece on the table in the dining room. A color motif of pink and white was effectively carried out. Pink ribbons extended from the cake to the place of each guest, and upon drawing, John Ezell drew the dime and Jane Neighbors the thimble. A contest, pinning on the donkey's tail, resulted in Dorothy Duncan and Dorothy Carter winning boxes of candy. Assisting Mrs. Crumpton in entertaining were Mesdames J. P. Crumpton, Lucien Duncan, W. M. Wyatt, Geo. Trotter, V. J. Elmore, D. C. Alred and Milton Smith.

The guest list included Grace Ezell, Anne Cordelia and Frances Smith, Cecil Carter, John Ezell, Kinnon Vinson, Dorothy Carter, Theda and Jimmie Wyatt, Gertiwyl Vinson, Billy Retheford, Nell Rockett, Jane and Jake Neighbos, Cameron McDavid Jr., Mary Courtney Jones, Louise Messer, Guy and Dan Alred, Bill Hodges, Maurice Wyatt, Delean Popwell, Nellie Caldwell, Dorothy Duncan, Olive Ranier Elmore, and others.

JOHNSON SUING REYNOLDS FOR $10,000

Suit has been brought in the Circuit Court of Chilton County by J. L. Johnson against H. L. [L. H.] Reynolds for the sum of ten thousand dollars, which amount is alleged to be the damage caused to Johnson when Reynolds published a letter in which he called Johnson "the noted tramp of Chilton County and surrounding communities."

The plaintiff brings this action against the defendant, and alleges as follows:

That heretofore, to-wit, on the first day of July, A. D. 1926, in the county and state aforesaid, the plaintiff was a resident and citizen of Chilton County, Alabama, and had been such resident and citizen for more than ten years next prior to the publishing of the libelous matter herein set forth and had enjoyed the reputation of an honest, honorable citizen in said county and surrounding communities and had engaged in the work of teaching and uplifting and upbuilding the morals, intelligence and integrity of the citizens of said county and surrounding communities, at all times giving his time and efforts towards community activities tending to inform the citizens of their best interests, and in efforts of eliminating from the county conditions which worked for their injury. That he, the plaintiff, had given many years of service, both public and private, to the people of Chilton County, during which time he had gained and held the friendship and high esteem of such citizens and from which he had derived an honorable livlihood and much of satisfaction from unselfish service redered to his fellow man.

Yet the said defendant, knowing of the service of the said plaintiff, both public and private, and realizing fully the extent of such services so rendered and their value to the community and to the said plaintiff, for the purpose of destroying the influence of the said plaintiff in the said county, and among the good citizens thereof, and for the purpose of causing the plaintiff to suffer a loss of the emoluments of office, the income from private efforts, to suffer pain and disgrace and the loss of his good name and reputation, position of trust, nd honors, did, on the first day of July A. D. 1926 thru the medium of The Union-Banner, a newspaper published in said County and circulated throughout same and surrounding communities, falsely, wickedly, maliciously and wilfully causes to be published of and concerning the said plaintiff that he is "The noted tramp of Chilton County and surrounding communities," thereby causing the said plaintiff to suffer pain and mental anguish, injury to his good name and reputation, causing him the loss of services, money and emoluments, his influence with citizens of the said county to the great damages of the said plaintiff.

Therefore plaintiff sues and claims damages of all kinds, including exemplary damage, in the sum of ten thousand dollars.

The complaint of Johnson is signed by Smith & Stephens, his legal representatives in the case.

CEMETERY WORKING

All interested in the cemetery at Chestnut Creek, Cooper, are requested to meet July 24 for the purpose of cleaning off same. Bring necessary tools to do the work.—C. D. Hughes.

NEGRO CAUGHT WITH FRUIT JAR OF LIQUOR

Last Saturday night about midnight Sheriff Littlejohn and Deputy Foshee, after coming in from their usual Saturday night scouting trip, decided to go down the highway a piece and see what might be detected. After they got about a mile and a half down the road, the officers report that they saw the old Oldsmobile belonging to "Red" Johnson, negro, of Mitchell Dam, parked on the side of the highway. Duff Laston, Joe Cooper, and "Red were around the car, so the officers stopped. "Red" and the other negroes told the officers that they were waiting for another negro; so Sheriff Littlejohn got in his car and drove on down the road and Deputy Foshee sat down on the blind side of "Red's" car and stayed for further developments. In a few minutes 2 cars came up the highway, throwing their lights on either side of the road past Mr. Foshee and the negroes. Deputy Foshee, from the light of the approaching cars, saw a negro coming into the highway from the little road that leads out to the home of Mr. Emmett Thomas, half a mile below south Clanton. Soon the negro came on down to the parked car and in a very elated and jubilant manner said, "Well, boys, I've got it," and walked up within three feet of Deputy Foshee, who was sitting on the running board. Mr. Foshee threw his flash light on him, and saw that it was Grover Looney, negro, who works in the Main Street Garage at Clanton. The negro was told to hand over the liquor, which he was carrying in a quart fruit jar closely embraced in his arms. Grover hated mighty bad to part with his quart and begged the leniency of the officer, but of no avail.

Looney and his fruit jar were brought to town and placed in jail.

JUST FROM SHOULTS

Cap shore is one sight. Tother day while us was restin he say Remus, did you hear bout Jack Johnson and Corbit's fight. An I tole him I thought it was Lang Johnson and Reynolds, and he say maybe it was. I jes got de rong end of it. I ax him which one got de best end of it. And he say de bofe got nocked out in de fust round by Curley and dat fixed it. An he say Remus dey goin to keep on wid dat mess until dey have to send for Dempsey, den he will fix em.

Bout dat time Cap look up de road and say aint dat ole man Dock Gentry, and I say no, dat looks laik dat ole man Scott what raised so much sand bout de way dey work de roads. Cap got behind a bush and say Remus you tell em I wont be back till night. Dat man come up an ax me whar is Cap, and I tole him what Cap say. An he say you know how Cap gwine to vote, an I tole him way Cap talk he sholy gwine vote for all of em, and way he went.

When he got out of sight Cap come out from de bushes and say Remus, I bet I smoke some seegars in dis campain, cause dey all like me. De all like Cap cause dey talk dat way. Dey comes and git Cap to show dem de way cross de creek, and he take em plum in Perry and Bibb countys. Cap sho is one sight long as de seegars holes out.—Uncle Remus.

REVIVAL TO BEGIN JULY 25

Services of the revival of the original Church of God in Christ will begin July 25, at their new church at the extreme east end of Second Avenue, Clanton. The church has been renovated throughout, and presents a pleasing appearance. However, it is possible that a large tent, made for the business, will be erected in the grove near the church. Thus we will be able to go ahead with the services rain or shine.

Evangelist Willie Thurmond will assist Pastor L. P. Adams in these meetings. Bro. Thurmond preached at the old location of the Church of God in Christ, known as the Temple, a year or two ago, and created quite a sensation among church people all over that community, and among people of other nearby churches. They will be glad to hear him again, and the church is pleased to have him here, and anxious for you to hear him. Rev. L. P. Adams will be present to assist in any way he can, and many who like to hear him, may have the opportunity during these services. —Pastor and members, The Church of God in Christ.

DENOUNCE RULE OF REPUBLICANS

Democrats of Chilton County Put Themselves Formally On Record.

Clanton, Ala., July 10.—(Special.) The Chilton County Democratic committee at its meeting yesterday placed itself formally on record in condemnation of the present county Republican administration in the following resolutions:

Whereas Propaganda is being persistently circulated through the press and by other means, that the Democrats of Chilton County indorse and are in sympathy with the present administration of the county financial and political affairs;

Therefore, Be It Resolved, By the Chilton County Democratic executive committee, in regular session assembled, that we denounce all such and similar reports as being absolutely at variance with the truth and that the same are being circulated with a palpable and well defined purpose of misleading the public and have no semblance of truth in them, while the very reverse of all such statements and intimations portray the unalterable facts and express the sentiments of all democrats in the county and we denounce all such methods and efforts to falsify facts and mislead the public.—T. Calvin Stephens, W. S. Cox, A. C. Smith, W. B. Strock, A. D. Martin, J. R. Taylor, D. M. Martin, E. Robinson, J. A. Bookholdt, J. D. Cooper, W. M. Oden, W. T. White, E. L. Lenoir, Mrs. A. D. Martin, J. A. Samples, W. O. Dobbs, E. G. Caldwell, O. O. Roper, J. N. McKee, J. B. Atkinson, B. B. Armstrong, J. L. Johnson, W. H. Foshee, S. M. Adams, chairman; W. B. Corley, secretary.

The above clipping was taken from the Sunday issue of The Birmingham Age-Herald. Among the signatures to this article, which comprises the Chilton County Democratic committee, will be found that of J. B. Atkinson, former Republican and one-time aspirant for the leadership of the Republican party of Chilton County. The name of Mr. Atkinson also is carried on the letter head of the Democratic Campaign Committee in the capacity of Finance.

From the above it will be seen that Mr. Atkinson has seen fit to withdraw from the Republicans and cast his lot with the Democratic party. This is not an uncommon occurrence, however, since some few Republicans of Chilton County have taken this course prior to Mr. Atkinson. But in this as in cases past, the Republican party remains intact, and no part of it will be led astray by the actions of those who see fit to "turn over." Mr. Atkinson's departure will be unwept by the Republicans, but the party will move on in the path it has always trod regardless of the actions of others. "For men may come, and men may go, but I go on forever."

FROM J. DUDLEY COLLINS

Editor Union-Banner:

Please tell the people through your paper that I have not promised any one any place as deputy sheriff if I am elected. Those reports are being circulated to defeat me, and if the people will just look around they can easily see who is circulating them.

One man asked me to promise him this place, and I told him I would do no such thing, for I never counted my chickens before they hatched. I have no more idea who I would have for deputy today than you do. I must first get the office, then I will try to get men the people would be willing to put there by their votes. I will appreciate anything the people will do for me, and I hope they will see fit to elect me. I thank them for what they have done for me in the past.—J. Dudley Collins.

W. F. LIMBRICK, SR.

On the morning of July 2 the death angel took the soul of W. F. Limbrick, Sr., home to God. He was born at Independence on July 1, 1849, and was 77 years and 1 day old when he died. He lived near Billingsley all his life. When a young man he married Miss Sarah Judy, who preceded him to Heaven 43 years. To this union was born 6 children—3 boys and 3 girls, 2 of whom preceded him to his Heavenly home. Later he was married to Miss Mary Hinton, and to them was born 8 children—3 boys and 5 girls, 2 of whom are dead also. He was a member of the Methodist church from early life and lived as a consistent member and a consecrated Christian. He leaves his wife, 4 sons, 6 daughters, 41 grand-children, and 12 great-grand-children to mourn his loss. His body was laid to rest at Pleasant Hill church July 3. The funeral service was conducted by Rev. F. A. Gibson. Weep not, dear ones, for our loss is Heaven's eternal gain. —His grand-daughter, Katie Limbrick.

BURNETT BABY DIED

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Burnett died on Monday morning, and was buried in the Clanton cemetery. The child was born last Saturday morning.

OMAR L. REYNOLDS NOMINATED FOR REPRESENTATIVE

Omar L. Reynolds, attorney of Clanton, was nominated last Saturday as the Republican candidate for Representative of Chilton County in the Legislature of Alabama, to fill out the unexpired term of W. M. Wyatt, resigned. The special election in which Mr. Reynolds will go before the people for election will be held on August 10, the day of the regular primary election.

The Democratic nominee who will oppose Mr. Reynolds has not yet been announced.

EXCHANGE HOTEL OPEN AGAIN

Mrs. Orr has re-opened the Exchange Hotel which has been closed during the first part of the summer pending the renovation of the building. The place now presents a much improved appearance, and is much more suitable for the uses as a hotel. Everything is neatly and conveniently arranged, making the Exchange one of the most popular hotels in this part of the state.

Judge L. H. Reynolds went to Montgomery Tuesday to go before the State Highway Commission in the interest of the new paved road at Mt. Creek.

R. H. BEAN WRITES TO VOTERS

To the people of Chilton County:

In making my announcement for member of the Board of Education, I do so realizing the great responsibility that rests on each member of the Board. In a measure, the future welfare of our great State is in the hands of the County Boards of Education of each County. It becomes the duty of each member of the Board to do his or her very best to get full and complete cooperation with the district trustees, teachers, patrons, and, as much as possible, the help of everyone including the children, to the end that we shall in the near future have a good school for each child in the county. Much can be done if we only get busy and really do something.

I believe the children in the rural districts are entitled to equal educational advantages with the town and city children, but this will not exist until we begin to think and study and learn that children are worth more in a good school under well trained teachers than they are in a cotton patch. We must have our school system more practical in order to have a better citizenship.

I believe we should have more work and less play in our country schools, as the children get plenty of muscular exercise at work on our farms.

I believe the school supervisor should be a person who really has the interest of the children at heart, and he should visit each school as often as possible, and should be prepared to offer suggestions for improvement, and speak a few words of encouragement to teachers and pupils, and to never criticize any part of the work on account of lack of knowledge on the part of teacher or pupils.

I shall ask you to investigate my character and qualifications in my home community, where I was born and reared, and where I have spent my life.

I claim to have made a success of my business, considering the circumstances under which I have labored. I was educated in the common schools of the County.

I ask the Republicans of the county to go to the polls August 10 and vote for your choice. Your verdict will be my verdict, and all true Republicans will support the nominees in the November election.—R. H. Bean.

CONCORD SINGING SCHOOL RUNNING FINE

Late reports from the singing school at Concord, being taught by Profs. W. M. Devaughn and L. T. Grant, say that the school is just as fine as could possibly be hoped for. There are about ninety on roll now, and students say that the two professors are giving them plenty to do. The fact that there are two competent teachers permits ample time to be given to all the different classes, and nothing is being left undone that goes to make up a first class singing school.

Next Monday begins the second week of the school, and the teachers say that if there are any who wish to enter school at the beginning of the second week, that there will be nothing in the way. A new class will be started next Monday both in rudiments and harmony, so that any who wish to start at that time will be accomodated just as if they had started the first day of school.

REYNOLDS FINED $1 IN MAYOR'S COURT

In Mayor's Court last Saturday L. H. Reynolds was fined $1 and Grady Reynolds $5 upon conviction on charges growing out of their recent altercation with J. L. Johnson. Both cases will be appealed to circuit court.

BARBECUE AT STANTON JULY 17

Public speaking, ball games, etc. Mr. Lambert, Judge Reynolds, and others will speak. All candidates, regardless of party are cordially invited. Everybody come and enjoy the day with us. For benefit of school.

MULBERRY-ISABELLA NEWS

The farmers of Mulberry are about done laying by their crops. Just by the looks of things, we will have plenty of corn this winter, and if the weevil don't get it, we will make lots of cotton.

Mr. W. F. Deshazo with his crew of hands is making a new bridge across Mulberry Creek, near the Baptist church.

Mr. Jim Rasberry of Clanton spent his vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Crayton Rasberry, last week.

Mrs. J. W. Fox is reported improving from her recent illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Grover Rasberry of Birmingham visited their parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Rasberry, recently.

Bro. Paul Oden preached at the Baptist church Sunday at 11 o'clock. He is just out of Howard College, and everyone was pleased with his sermon. It is wonderful how Paul can take his large Bible, run his fingers over the Scripture and read it like one who can see.

Mrs. M. A. Adamson, who has been spending some time with relatives, returned to her home in Coosa County a few days ago. Mr. Curtis Lecroy and children accompanied her home.

Mr. and Mrs. Furnan Cummings of Weogufka were visiting his sister, Mrs. Bessie Conway, Saturday and Sunday.

The revival meeting at the Methodist church will begin next Sunday. Next Friday they will meet to clean off the cemetery. All who are interested are invited to come and help.

JOHN W. BAKER DIED LAST SUNDAY

Mr. John W. Baker of Baker schoolhouse died at his home last Sunday. Funeral services were held at Liberty Hill Monday morning at 11 o'clock, Rev. J. D. Hughes and Rev. A. L. Foshee officiating.

Mr. Baker was about 60 years old and was the father of eight children. He is survived by his wife and six living children. The children are: Awes Baker of Prattville, Hutson Baker of Tuscaloosa, Mrs. Kate Smith of Clanton, Mrs. Ed Melton of Prattville, Mrs. Ruffin Foshee of Thorsby, and Miss Minnie Baker, at home.

Mr. Baker was a good Christian man, always active in his church and in the welfare of his community. He will be screly missed by the Liberty Hill Community.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to extend our sincere thanks to the people of Thorsby and surrounding community for their kindness, sympathy and beautiful floral offerings during the sickness and death of our dear mother, Mrs. Mary Littleton.—J. B., J. W., T. K., A. B., and Bertha Littleton, Mrs. G. W. Horsley, Mrs. W. H. Goodgame, Mrs. T. O. Farrington, Mrs. Emmett Billingsley.

DEATH OF J. H. GREEN

The death angel visited the home of J. H. Green last Saturday morning, July 3, and carried away the spirit of our beloved husband and father, J. H. Green. The deceased leaves his wife and 9 children to mourn his loss. The remains were laid to rest at Mt. Carmel church on Sunday, July 4.

A precious one from us has gone,
A voice we loved is stilled;
A place is vacant in our home,
Which never can be filled.

May God bless each and every one who lent a helping hand during his illness and death. We also thank Dr. DuBose of Maplesville, and Dr. Marlar of Billingsley.—Mrs. Vera Green.

CANE CREEK

Sunday afternoon we had a fine singing, in the new book. Directors were O. R. Robinson, J. E. Miner, G. C. Powell, T. E. Wyatt, S. L. Baker, R. M. Robinson, J. W. Cleckley, Prof. W. H. Robinson, Rev. M. Lockhart, all singing two songs each. Two quartets were rendered by the Providence singers.

Organists were W. G. Culp, C. H. Robinson, and Lillie Mae Weldon. We will have a singing once each month, in the new book, and want all who will to come and help us. We want to thank the singers from different places for attending and want them to come again. You have a hearty welcome at all times.

We have an old book singing on the second Sunday in each month after next Sunday, but next Sunday we will have an all day singing. All are invited to come and bring dinner, for we are expecting a large crowd and good singing.

Next Friday, July 16, we will meet and clean off the cemetery, and work around the church.

Our meeting starts the Fourth Saturday in July.

Well, I will hush and give the candidates more room.

SOCIETY

Mrs. Grady Broadhead, Editor.

Mrs. Pickens Honoree.

A delightful social affair of the past week was on Wednesday afternoon when Mrs. J. Lee Smith and Mrs. J. Erle Gowan entertained jointly at the home of the former, at a reception honoring Mrs. J. J. Pickens of Denver, Colo., and Mrs. J. B. Downs of Lakeland, Fla. The entire lower floor of the Smith home was decorated lavishly with garden flowers of midsummer season. The prevailing colors were pink and yellow. The guests were welcomed by Mrs. Hugh Jones and Miss Bessie Thomas. The punch table was presided over by Mrs. Norman Roberts, Mrs. J. W. Hayes, and Miss Madelyn Orr. The table was arranged on the porch. A pretty yellow Japanese cover was used on the table, and around the punch bowl was a mass of pink sweet peas. Wall bases and baskets of sunflowers and brown - eyed - Susans completed the porch decoration. Assisting in receiving were Mrs. J. P. Hayes and Mrs. Grady Broadhead. The receiving line was composed of Mesdames Smith, Gowan, Pickens, and Downs. In the dining room the table was covered with a beautiful embroidered cover, and centered with a silver basket of pink dahlias, the handle being ornamented with a large bow of pink tulle. Crystal candlesticks held lighted pink tapers. Ices, cakes, and mints carrying out the chosen color scheme were served. Assisting in the dining room were Mesdames R. C. McDavid, S. J. Kicker, P. M. Connell, S. J. Ezell, and Miss Ressie Harris.

The guest list included Mesdames R. C. McDavid, H. F. Downs, W. Z. Hodges, Irene Rasberry, J. B. Atkinson, J. B. Mauney, J. P. Lawrence, Eric Hart, Oscar Jones, Ruben Lowe, Miller, Van Smith, W. I. Mrs. Wright Honored.

A delightful affair was given at the Baptist church Tuesday evening when the Woman's Missionary Society entertained at a reception, honoring Mrs. Carter Wright of Roanoke, who is president of the State Missionary Union. The basement of the church was beautifully decorated. The colors of the organization, lavender and white, were carried out in detail. The punch bowl was decorated with roses of Sharon and white roses. Punch was served by Misses Dalene and Gladys Williams and Janice Danforth. During the p.m. musical selections were rendered by Mrs. Elna Roberts, Mrs. L. C. Ross, Misses Alma Robinson, Leslie Polk, Marjorie Mauney, and Mr. Charles Moore.

Mrs. Jones Hostess.

Mrs. Oscar Jones delightfully entertained the members of the Wednesday Bridge Club and others on Tuesday morning at her home on First Avenue. Bright summer blossoms from the garden of the hostess were used to decorate the room. After several games of bridge were played Mrs. Grady Reynolds held top score. She received a pretty crystal pitcher. Mrs. Jones served a delicious plate luncheon that was followed with an ice course.

Those playing were Mesdames J. Hance Alred, John Browder, Frank Callen, V. J. Heard, Arthur Johnson, N. S. Johnson, J. Watts Moore, Grady Reynolds, H. M. Simpson, Eric Hart, and H. F. Downs.

Birthday Party.

On Monday afternoon little Anne Ross was the guest of honor at a pretty party, when her mother, Mrs. L. C. Ross, entertained a happy group of little folks celebrating the third birthday anniversary of her daughter at her home on Second Avenue. The punch table on the porch was decorated in a color sceme of lavender and pink and was presided over by Misses Jane and Helen Roberts. Many games were played and interesting stories told by several. The little guests were invited into the dining room, which was profusely decorated with garden flowers in lavendar and pink. The birthday cake with three lighted candles formed the centerpiece on the table. The places of each little girl was marked with a doll dressed in old fashioned costume of lavender and pink. The boys' places were marked with kum-bak balls. Upon cutting the cake Jane Pitts received the ring, Jane Roberts the button, and Nell Ross Mullins the dime. Mrs. Ross was assisted in entertaining by Mrs. W. H. Sartor, Elna Roberts, and Miss Callie Watts.

Ices and cakes were served to Olive Rainer Elmore, Annette Merchant, James Duke Heflin, Dorothy Nell Jones, Sara Nell Sessions, Betsy Ann Duncan, Jake Neighbors, Anne Cordelia and Frances Smith, Jane Pitts, James Alex Wyatt, Dan Alred, Peggy Page, Billie Callen, Blanche Timmerman, Celia Gerald, Helen Parrish, Paul Gowan, Reeta Mae Haughey, Mary Frances Atkinson, Gus Downs, Jane and Helen Roberts, Mary Alice Williams; Mesdames Elmore, Kicker, White, and Merchant.

Bridge Club Entertained.

Mrs. N. S. Johnson was hostess to the members of Wednesday Bridge Club and others on last Wednesday afternoon at her home on Sixth St. For this occasion the home was decorated with gladioli, dahlias, and other flowers of the season. Following a series of bridge games Mrs. Frank Callen held high score and was presented two decks of Congress cards.

A delicious salad course was served to Mesdames J. Hance Alred, Frank Callen, John Browder, Oscar Jones, Grady Reynolds, V. J. Heard, H. M. Simpson, J. Watts Moore, T. C. McSwain, Eric Hart, Amzi Gowan of Brewton, and Norman Roberts.

Installation Of Officers.

The Julia Beauchamp Chapter of the Order of Eastern Star installed the following officers for the ensuing year last Thursday evening at the Masonic Hall: Worthy Matron, Mrs. Celeste Hayes; Worthy Patron, Mr. G. C. Harris; Associate Matron, Mrs. Janett Pipes; Secretary, Miss Dollie Mae Harris; Treasurer, Mrs. Ola Hodges; Conductress, Mrs. Bessie Harris; Associate Conductress, Mrs. Leo Van Derveer; Chaplain, Mrs. Elizabeth Jones; Marshal, Mrs. Bama Cox; Organist, Mrs. Mary Heflin; Warder, Mrs. Cordelia Van Derveer; Sentinel, Mr. H. T. Pipes; Adah, Mrs. Mae Dennis; Ruth, ————; Esther, Mrs. Lillian; Martha, Mrs. Sophia Jones; Electa, Mrs. Mary Pate Martin. Mr. J. B. Atkinson acted as installation officer.

Miss Thomas Entertains.

A lovely affair of this week was on Tuesday afternoon when Miss Bessie Thomas was hostess at a bridge party at the home of Mrs. W. D. Spigener on Fifth Avenue. A profusion of beautiful tiger lilies adorned the home for this occasion. Bridge was played at six tables. At the conclusion of the games a set of hot dish pads was given holder of high score. Mrs. Arthur Johnson received the consolation prize, a pretty bud vase, containing a tiger lily. The hostess, assisted by Mrs. J. Erle Gowan, and Mrs. Curry Thomas, served a tempting salad plate with iced tea. Candies were served during the afternoon.

Miss Sophia Mullins has returned from a delightful visit to Birmingham, where she was the guest of Miss Jessie Goodwyn.

Dr. and Mrs. N. S. Johnson, Mrs. Arthur Johnson, Mrs. Norman Roberts, and Miss Jean Johnson motored to Birmingham Wednesday and spent the day shopping.

Young Matron's Club.

Mrs. Flem Higgins entertained the Young Matron's Club and others at a luncheon on last Thursday at her home on Eighth Street. The living and dining rooms were profusely decorated with dahlias, zennias, daisies. A color scheme of yellow and white was carried out in the dining room. Three small tables arranged for the luncheon and each table was centered with a bud vase of shasta daisies. Tally cards were used for the guests to find their places. A delicious four-course luncheon was served. Mrs. Higgins was assisted by Mrs. Frank Callen. Forty-two was the game chosen for diversion during the afternoon.

Those enjoying this hospitality were Mesdames Lucien Duncan, W. M. Wyatt, Loren Smith, Grady Taylor, Milton Smith, Bill Murphy, Joe Higgins, Donald Merchant, Omar Reynolds, Grady Heflin, and Miss Ruth Robinson of San Antonio, Texas.

Mrs. Van Derveer Hostess.

The members of the Sewing Club and others were delightfully entertained by Mrs. John M. Van Derveer last Friday afternoon at her home on Eighth Street. The living room was attractively decorated with sunflowers, a color scheme of yellow and green being carried out. During the afternoon an advertisement contest was enjoyed by those present. Mrs. Glennie White was presented a bright tin pan for being the brightest, and Mrs. E. E. Upchurch received an ABC book for the consolation prize. The hostess, assisted by Mrs. J. P. A Small Job for the Colored Brother

To an inquiring Northerner a Louisiana officeholder was explaining why the colored vote in a state election was invariably so small, whereas the colored population in that particular section of the state outnumbered the white population by at least ten to one.

"Do you use force or threats to keep the negroes away from the polls?" inquired the visitor.

"No, suh," said the Louisianan. "The test is absolutely educational."

"For whites and blacks alike?"

"Suttinly, suh, for both races alike. It's strictly constitutional."

"How do you apply the test?"

"Well, suh, it's this way: If it's a white man who wants to vote and he happens to be a stranger to the polling officers we ask him if he's a Democrat, and if he says 'yes' to that, we ask him if his father fought for the Confederacy and if he says 'yes' we ask him if he chews tobacco, and if his answer still is 'Yes,' we say to him: 'Walk right in and vote.'"

"But suppose the applicant is colored?"

"Well, in that case, we don't ask him any of these questions. We ask him something else."

"What do you ask him?"

"We merely ask him to demonstrate the bimedial theorem."

WHY GOVERNMENT PRICE FIXING WON'T WORK

One of the most persistent fallacies is government price-fixing on competitive commodities. There is already government price-fixing in commodities and services where competition plays no part in price determination. These are railway transportation, electricity, gas, telephone and telegraph, and so on. Here government price-fixing is solely to protect the consumer. There are two fatal objections to government price-fixing for agricultural products, which represent the most competitive business in the world. These are, first, that it will not work; second, that it is always done for the consumer as against the producer.

Government price-fixing for agricultural products would work if at the same time the government regulated wages, profits, middlemen's margins, the production of all commodities and the rationing of all consumers. In short, if the population were enlisted in one vast army, directed and rationed, price-fixing would work, but otherwise not. If the price is fixed on the wheat the farmer sells, then he cannot keep on producing wheat if wages or the cost of harvesting machinery rise, or if the cost of other material he buys rises. So the next step would be the fixation of other prices, and yet other prices.

The United States government fixed the price of wheat but once in our history, and then it was to benefit consumers, not producers. The government might, in an emergency, fix some agricultural prices for the purpose of elevating such prices. Such action would inevitably and speedily lead to outcry from city consumers and a consequent reversal of policy. Indeed, the consumers, not the producers, are most likely to demand and secure food price regulation by government authorities. The farmer, therefore, who favors any form of governmental price-fixing is working against his own interests. He is putting his head into a noose.—James E. Boyle, Professor of Rural Economics, Cornell University, in the Banker-Farmer.

FORESTRY LETTER

The success of timber production enterprises must ever depend primarily upon the initiative of the landowner, says the Alabama Commission of Forestry. This is in accordance with the best standards, civic as well as industrial. To be sure, there is a great deal of information and assistance that can be furnished from public sources that will be of benefit to the timber producer in his business, but scant grounds appear for dependence upon governmental agencies for the economic production of timber or other commodities.

This view is the result of a number of significant circumstances. For a long time it was thought that anything done in Europe in connection with forestry was worthy of emulation in America. The landowners of the country were often severely berated by various enthusiasts because they did not attempt to reproduce European conditions in America. The one who was to profit or lose by such attempt was the landowner himself and not the optimistic forestry advocate. This circumstance resulted in a period of preliminary investigation before many timber growing projects were started on a substantial scale. It was appreciated by the landowners and business men of the country that economic conditions were radically different in the United States as compared with France and Germany, particularly with regard to costs of production.

Like many other industries, forestry in the United States had to wait until its practice became economically feasible. This could not be demonstrated by public forestry projects, since the latter rarely have been organized on a business basis. Nevertheless, before funds may be properly invested in timber production there must be a fairly satisfactory assurance that the business will pay. Although such assurance has been lacking from public sources, it appears warranted by the recent favorable results attending well managed private timber production enterprises.

PETITION TO SELL LANDS

State of Alabama, Chilton County, Probate Court, June 25, 1926.

In the matter of the estate of W. B. Scott, deceased.

This day came W. G. Atkinson, administrator of the estate of W. B. Scott, deceased, and filed his petition in writing under oath in this Court, for an order to sell certain lands belonging to said estate, described in said petition, for paying the debts due by said estate, upon the ground that the personal property of said estate is insufficient for the payment of the debts.

It is therefore ordered that the 26th day of July, 1926, be appointed a day for the hearing of said petition, when any persons interested may appear and contest the said application if they think proper, and it appearing from said petition that Evie Philpot is a distributee of said estate, is over 21 years of age, and is a non-resident of Alabama and resides at Lawrenceburg, Tenn., this is, therefore, to notify her of the filing of said petition, and the day set for hearing the same, and she may be present and contest the same, if she thinks proper.

L. H. REYNOLDS,
7-1-3t-ch. Judge of Probate.

THE DEMOCRATIC ISSUE

The Democrats of Chilton County have opened up their campaign by condeming the Republican administration of the county business and declaring the whole thing a failure. While it is apparent that in doing so, they have "shot a blank," still they perhaps figure it is the only thing they can do to initiate their campaign effort to wrest the county from the hands of the "enemy."

Now, wouldn't it be nice for the Democratic campaign if they could back up their charges with proof of a few instances at least where Republican rule in the county has not been sound, legitimate, and of good business?

But alas! No such good fortune is theirs. All they can do is to raise a lonesome cry of corruption in office, with nothing to point to in proof of their charges. They can only cry wolf, wolf, when there is no wolf.

Eeven those who make the charges condeming Republican rule do not believe their own words when they say that the Republican administration has been bad. They only hope to create a smoke screen through which the voters may not see clearly to discern that the only thing the Democrats want is office.

If the Democrats think they should be given the administration of this county's business, let them come out and tell the people why. Let them show wherein the Republicans have fallen short of their high calling of service to the people, and how they (the Democrats) can do better than the Republicans have done.

In 1916 the Republican party took over the business of this county when it was in a most deplorable mess, due to a period in which the Democrats had been in power. The Republican promise was that they would restore order and set the business of the county on a sound basis again.

We submit openly to the world that the Republicans who were put in office in 1916 and since that time have kept faith with the people, and have been true to their promises. The present condition of the county financially is a witness of their good performances. Look at the report of the county treasurer printed in this week's issue of The Union-Banner and you will see what we mean.

This reference is not to the accomplishments of one Republican official. It stands for every one of them without a single exception. We challenge any man or woman in this county or State to successfully contradict our statements that the Republicans who have been put in office in Chilton county have made good officers and have administered the business of the county in an excellent manner. If the Democrats will start their campaign by condemning the Republican administration, we challenge them to name the grounds upon which any Republican office holder should be so condemned.

On August 10 the Republicans will nominate a group of men whom they would have to serve the county in the future. They will be good men, capable, honorable, worthy, and qualified. They may not be the same ones altogether who have been holding office in the past, but that matters not to us in this discussion. We know they will be good men—men who will carry on with the pledge which the Republican party made in 1916.

The Democrats will raise little enthusiasm with their wolf cries. The people of Chilton County are too wise for such false alarms.

REPUBLICANS AND DEMOCRATS STILL

We would like to know who it is that has been telling folks over this state that the Democrats of Chilton County "are in sympathy with the present [Republican] administration of the county financial and political affairs." Such a thing is manifestly absurd. The lamb and the lion in fable are said to have lain down together but that certainly was not a parable upon Chilton County politics.

We do believe, however, that there are yet some Democrats in this county who do not sanction the high-handed methods of some of their more partisan brothers to take Republicans by the nap of the neck and throw them out of office just because they are Republicans But when it comes to saying that they sympathize with the Republican administration, and are satisfied for Republicans to hold the county offices, that is going too far.

There is not a doubt in our minds that the Democrats of Chilton County to a man (and the Democratic women too) would rejoice to see every one of the county offices filled with Democrats.

But there are plenty of Democrats who believe that even Democrats should "come by" the business of office-holding in an honorable and deserving way.

There are just two main classes of Democrats. One of them believe in using honorable methods of campaigning, and voting the Republicans out of office fairly and squarely on election day. If they fail to do that, they take their defeat gracefully and hush.

The other class of Democrats believe in using anything reasonable or unreasonable, sensible or senseless, clean or unclean, in a political campaign, and if they fail to beat the Republicans on election day, they keep on eternally, digging and hounding and nagging in their unholy desires to find some puny pretext which they may use to get the Republicans out of office to which they have been legally elected.

We do not know which class of Democrats is in control of their party in Chilton County at present. And we might add also that it makes but little difference; for the Republicans next November will do just what they have always done with few exceptions in the past—elect a set of Republican county officers who will perform their duties honorably and in keeping with the high standard which has been set by their predecessors who are likewise good Republicans and good officers.

Dr. Joseph Johnson of Chattanooga is visiting relatives here.

It has been suggested that perhaps the Democrats of Chilton County figure that the Republican administration of our county affairs has been a "failure" because they (the Republicans) have saved the county's finances and have not spent it all. That is the only theory by which they could argue that we have ever had a successful Democratic "season" in Chilton County. They always spend all the money the county has and all they can borrow.

SUMMER SCHOOL OPENS JULY 19

It seems that some misunderstanding exists in regard to where my summer school is to be taught. I wish to announce that my school opens at the Clanton Grammar School building on July 19, at 8 o'clock.—W. E. Martin.

Who's Dumb Now?

DEMOCRATIC CONDEMNATION

In the opening campaign of the Democratic committee of Chilton County, the same puts itself on record "in condemnation of the present county Republican administration" and emphatically denies that "the Democrats of the county indorse and are in sympathy with the present administration of the county financial and political affairs."

Now, let us reason a little and see why the Democrats of Chilton County do not indorse "the financial and political affairs of the county." The report of the county treasurer of Chilton County, which is carried in this issue of The Union-Banner, shows a balance cash on hand in all funds of the county, $73,013.44. When the last Democratic administration in Chilton County closed the treasury was completely "busted" and a county warrant was worth only about fifty cents on the dollar. Now, all work done for the county is paid for in cash money worth one hundred cents to the dollar. This has been the case since a few months after the Republicans got back in power.

The reason that the Democrats object is apparent. It is simply because they can not get their finger in the pie and squander the county's finances as they always do when they are in power. They sit on the outside with wistful eyes and watery mouths, and are mortified with envy because the Republican incumbents are managing the affairs of the county so much better than they themselves have ever done. Their mouths water because they can not get hold of this $73,000 and scatter it to the four winds of the earth.

Yes, it is natural and true that a few Democrats of the county are opposed to Republican policies of just, efficient and economical management of public affairs. But what do the people of Chilton County say about it? They have not forgotten the last Democratic administration of Chilton County and the "financial and political" embarrassment the same brought upon the county. And they will not forget soon, either.

HOME WORK SWINDLES

Last week the Post Office Department issued a fraud order barring from the mails all matter addressed to or coming from several concerns which advertise for persons to address envelopes and mail circulars at home. A sample advertisement of one of these swindling concerns is as follows:

"Ladies wanting home work, any kind, spare time, write enclose stamp. Eller Company, V296, Broadway, New York."

Those who replied to such advertisements were usually requirred to pay certain sums from 50c to $3, for "directories," "outfits," or some similar equipment, before starting to work. Then the conditions under which the work which was to be done were found to be such that few made any further effort to engage in it.

The swindlers made their money from the small sums sent for "outfits" and from orders for worthless jewelry and the like. Hundreds of women in need of employment made sacrifices to send these small amounts, only to suffer disappiontment through losing their money and failing to secure the remunerative work which they had been led to expect.

It is hard to imagine a more contemptible or heartless swindling schemes as this, as it preys entirely upon the poor and unfortunate who can least afford to lose the money thus fraudulently secured from them.

SENATOR HEFLIN'S REMARKS ON EVOLUTION

Mr. President: I took the position yesterday and the day before that people ought to be at liberty to discuss anything they want to over the radio. And that the special interests ought not to be able to suppress free speech. The Senator from South Carolina (Mr. Blease) and I occupy the same position with regard to the Bible theory of creation—that God made man just as the Bible tells us He did.

Last year, when I was delivering a few addresses about the country, a gentleman asked me on one occasion if I was going to discuss evolution. I said, "No, not particularly." "Well," he said, "most of our people here believe that God made man, but there are a few who hold to the Darwinian or evolution theory regarding the origin of man." "Well," I said, "I have no desire to hurt the feelings of anybody. So far as I am concerned, I find a great deal of comfort and satisfaction in the belief that God Almighty made my ancestors, but I am willing for those who hold to a contrary view regarding theirs to think as they choose upon the subject. If they insist that they sprung from monkeys, I shall not quarrel with them, because they know more about their ancestors than I do, and they may be right about it." (Laughter.)

I told him what occurred in my home county in Alabama. I said, "That question has been settled. The negroes had an immense mass meeting out at Greenwood Church in Chambers County, Alabama. They assembled at 10 o'clock one Sunday morning and held forth until 5 in the afternoon. They read various passages f the Bible pertaining to the creation of man, and at 5 o'clock old Uncle Rufus got up and offered a resolution, which was unanimously adopted. The resolution said: 'Resolved, That God Almighty made all the niggers and most of the white folks, but all them white folks what thinks they sprung from monkeys is right about it'." (Laughter in the Senate and galleries)—Congressional Record, July 2, 1926.

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

Reports of defection in the corn belt, usually a Republican stronghold, have somewhat heartened the various anti-administration leaders at Washington. True, it is, that the Democrats are not yet overly joyful. They have not entirely recovered from the serious setback which they received in 1924. They are not yet optimistic. Perhaps it would be proper to say, however, that they are less pessimistic than they were a few weeks ago. Then they were decidedly despondent, without an issue and apparently without definite leadership. True, they are still devoid of issues, but they are beginning to hope that the situation in the Middle West will rebound to their advantage and they expect issues to develop when the time comes.

It will not do, however to jump to conclusions. The metropolitan newspapers have been full of headlines recently about the revolt of the farmers. But just how much defection there really is, nobody knows. It is to be remembered too, that conditions change pretty fast sometimes, in the agricultural regions, and the things which the professional friends of the farmers are saying now may seem hopelessly out of date within a few months. You never can tell.

The chief difficulty of the opposition party now, is that it has nothing yet to offer by way of substitute, as an issue on which all factions of the party can unite. The leaders of the Democratic party do not think alike on farm relief any more than the leaders of the Republican party do. True, there is the tariff, but even the tariff is no longer as partisan an issue as it used to be. Protective tariff sentiment is growing in the Democratic South by leaps and bounds. And the sheep growers, the fruit growers, and the beet growers of the West do not want free trade any more than the New England manufacturer wants it. On the other hand there are certain interests in the East usually identified with the Republican party who are not now so keen for protection as formerly, so that the tariff lines are shifting. And they are shifting so rapidly that it is doubtful whether the Democrats will gain any ground if they put on a lower tariff campaign and the leaders know it.

The flurry about corn prices, too, will not take the minds of the great bulk of the voters off the achievements of the national administration since 1921. They remember how conditions were then and they know how expenses have been cut and federal taxes reduced since then. And the oppostion will have to put up a pretty strong case to convince them that they have anything better to offer as a substitute. Maybe they can do it, but it will not be easy.

In a speech recently Senator Phipps of Colorado said: "There can be no question that in 1921 there were 5,000,000 wage earners out of work, that agriculture and manufactures were languishing, for lack of trade and that Liberty Bonds were selling at 85. Millions of dollars worth of goods produced where labor was cheaper and where the American standard of living did not prevail, were coming to our shores to compete with our unprotected industry."

This is the picture of 1921 Republican orators will paint and they will compare it with present conditions when they get into action. So in spite of any dissatisfaction there may be in some of our agricultural regions, the Democrats have no easy task ahead.

Jesse French Pianos have proven they are better. They cost no more however, but are guaranteed. 'Tis better to be safe than sorry. Write us for prices.—Jesse French & Sons Piano Co., Montgomery, Ala.

Fashion designers have decreed "Eight Ounces" as the standard of weight for milady's summer apparel. Yes—with a fur coat, heavy chapeau, fur mittens and thick-soled galoshes thrown in.

S'pose the price of ice will go up now that someone has started the story around that an "Ice Massage" from head to toe will aid milady's beauty of form and keep her cool.

Water means nothing in the life of a beach nymph. It's merely a background for her bathing suit.

There's a "water-proof" lipstick on the market now, too. But what good is the darn thing as long as our mermaids (?) won't even get their toes wet?

"Scanty Attire Makes Girls Healthier" a news item informs us. Yes—and our eyes weaker.

Flappers are blossoming out on the beaches with hand-painted knees. No soap—no soap—beg pardon—Hope!

Rolled hose, as usual, are again taking a good part of hubby's bank roll.

When the wife sobs she has "nothing to wear"—just tell her "Fine! You're right in style!"

Now that some of the ladies have taken to wearing wrist watches on their ankles—men are watching their step.

Reformers want to put "Mother Hubbards" on chorus girls. That means there'll be some bareness left. Otherwise, how can they be "Mother Hubbards?"

Almost $3,000,000 comprised the estate of a late corset king. And almost 3 cents will be the estate of the next!

Colored eye-brows is another fad planned for milady's beauty. Keep it up—girls. When you get enough variety to your make-up—we'll start a circus.

Five Big Reasons Why You Should Vote For The One Mill School Tax

(1) Will add nearly $14,000 to our school funds. All this will be spent to lengthen the term of our schools.

(2) 75 per cent of this will be paid by the corporations, who would vote for it if they had the tpportunity.

(3) None of this money will ever leave Chilton County.

(4) The people who live in the county and have children to educate will not pay more than 25 per cent of this tax.

(5) It will give every community its part of this corporation tax.

THORSBY SECTION

(S. E. NORTON, Manager).

(Mrs. H. M. Gerald, Special Cor.)

Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Barrett, formerly of this place, now of Selma, Ala., has been spending several days here visiting at the home of E. F. Meade and calling on old friends in this vicinity.

Mr. and Mrs. Reno Villadsen motored over from Montevallo last Sunday and took Mr. Villadsen's mother, Mrs. Arthur Villadsen, back with them for several days visit.

The Lutheran Ladies Aid will meet this week Thursday, with Mrs. Charles Howard.

Rev. J. E. Each and family left Monday morning to drive through to Oklahoma, near Oklahoma City. The Each family will spend their vacation there.

There will be no mid-week prayer meeting, nor preaching service next Sunday morning and evening at the Congregational church because of the revival services being held at the Baptist church.

Miss Agnes Leary of Alabama College spent the week end in her home in Thorsby.

Mr. Gus Jones, who has been a familiar figure in Thorsby for many years has sold his little home here and gone to Wisconsin to spend the rest of his days near his children.

Mr. Wilbur Peterson of Detroit, Mich., son of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Peterson, arrived Sunday morning to spend several weeks with his parents in Thorsby.

Mr. Harry Thompson of Birmingham spent Sunday in Thorsby.

Mrs. Martha Grothy and daughter, Nellie, entertained last Thursday in honor of Mrs. Joe Anderson. A few of the invited guests were Mrs. J. E. Each, Mrs. E. F. Meade, Mrs. C. A. Meade, Mrs. Joe Anderson, Mrs. Th. Bakke, Mrs Danielson, Mrs. Carl Grenn, Mrs. H. M. Gerald, Miss Iola Gerald, Katherine and Evangeline Bakke.

Mr. Joe Anderson, Mr. C. A. Meade and wife motored to Montgomery Friday and transacted some business.

Mr. Carl Langville and family of Ensley spent Sunday in Thorsby visiting Mrs. Langville's mother, Mrs. Grothy, and other friends.

Master Joe Hill of Birmingham returned home Monday after spending a week visiting his aunt, Mrs. T. W. Robinson.

Characterized by its simplicity was the beautiful home wedding of Miss Edith Robinson and Mr. Arthur Villadsen at the lovely home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Robinson, Saturday afternoon at 5 o'clock. Rev. Bonner pronounced the wedding vows, using the simple ring ceremony. The bride and groom stood among the flowers which so prettily decorated the bay window of her home. The bride wore a blue georgette and lace dress with a gray hat, and wore a corsage of lilies-of-the-valley and brides roses. Only the relatives and a few intimate friends and neighbors were present. The out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Reno Villadsen and children of Montevallo, and Mr. Parks and Miss Roberts. Mrs. Villadsen is one of Thorsby's most charming young ladies and has a host of friends here. Mr. Villadsen has lived here since a boy and is now engaged as one of the superintendents on the state highway near Talladega. The bride was the recipient of a number of beautiful and useful gifts. The newly married couple left at once for Chocco Springs, a summer resort near Talladega, where they will be located for the present.

Mr. N. C. Bentley was called to Bangor, Ala., last Tuesday by the illness and death of his grandmother, Mrs. Elizabeth Bentley, 88 years old. Mrs. Belle Wheeler an aunt of Mr. Bentley, accompanied him home for a visit in Thorsby.

Mr. M. J. Soberg and Mr. A. E. Reagan made a business trip to Birmingham Monday.

Miss Jennie Robinson and niece, Eliza Bice, left Sunday night for an extended visit in Palatka, Fla.

Mrs. N. C. Peterson and children are visiting for a few days in Prattville.

Mrs. S. C. Wood entertained Rev. and Mrs. Each and Mr. Relius Franklin and wife for dinner last Sunday.

Miss Hattie Davenport of Birmingham spent the week end with her parents in Thorsby.

Messrs. Ernie Hanson, Ronald Lucas, Hollis Pate, and Jess Smith left Monday for Attalla on a big bridge job for the state highway.

Sixteen young boys and girls were invited by Mrs. S. C. Wood to help Master Frank Lockwood celebrate his 11th birthday last Friday afternoon. The color scheme for the occasion was blue, and Mrs. E. K. Ekblad presented Master Frank with a beautiful pink and white angel food cake for the event. As a souvenir each child received a little toy balloon. Cake and cream were served. The party was from 6 to 8, and at 8 o'clock, Mrs. Wood took all the young guests to the movie. One had only to be a member of the audience to fully realize how much Mrs. Wood's hospitality was appreciated.

Mr. Leo Petersen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Petersen, in a letter to his parents, writes: "I had a wonderful trip, but it is nice to be back safe in the U. S." Mr. Petersen was one of the Byrd Arctic Expedition. After returning they flew to Philadelphia, to exhibit at the Sesqui-Centennial Exposition. The plane in which they made the trip is now on exhibition in one of the big stores in New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Carlson celebrated their 25th anniversary last Friday, June 9. On this day they served as part of their refreshments, fruit cake that Mrs. Carlson made 25 years ago and had at her wedding, and it was still good. Some was put away to be used at their golden wedding. May we all be there to help them celebrate.

Miss Lena Franklin was at home from Howard College the 7th, for the wedding of her brother, Relius.

Dr. Frank E. Jenkins of Demorest, Ga., was in Thorsby last Thursday for the annual meeting of the trustees of Thorsby Institute. The meeting showed a very prosperous year for the Institute and much to be thankful for in having accomplished the erection of such a fine new building. A strong faculty has been secured for the coming year.

No social affair for many months has attracted more attention an interest in Thorsby than the marriage of Miss Lucile Mims and Mr. Relius R. Franklin on Wednesday evening, July 7, promptly at 8 p. m. Dr. Bonner, pastor of the Thorsby Baptist church, performed the ring ceremony. Miss Mims, of decided brunette type, wore a gown of rose pussy willow taffeta, the rose color scheme being carried throughout in the decorations. The bride's flowers were roses and snapdragons. She wore a bandeau of orange blossoms and rhinestones. An unique feature of the affair was the bride and groom's plan for the service to take place in their own newly acquired home furnished and beautifully decorated for the occasion with cut flowers. Immediately after congratulations the bride was given a miscellaneous shower by Mrs. Wm. Billingsley, Bonner, C. A. Meade, and Webb Parrish. A beautifully decorated wagon in rose and white, drawn by Dorothy Von Franklin, little sister of the groom, and Florine Robinson, sister of the bride, contained numerous and beautiful presents, attesting the love and good wishes of friends. Following the shower a reception was held and the guests were given an opportunity to register in the bride's book. Punch was served by Mrs. Clyde Meade and Miss Clara Vines. About 100 people were present. Mrs. Franklin is the daughter of Mrs. Archie Robinson of Jemison, and at one time lived in Thorsby. Mr. Franklin is the older son of Mr. Ben Franklin of Thorsby. Mr. Franklin is a promising young business man of Thorsby, manager of the Franklin Garage, and has already established a paying business here.

The play entitled "The Poor Married Man" was given last Saturday night at the public school auditorium by the Y. W. A. of the Baptist church. A goodly crowd greeted the actors and a good sum was realized for the benefit of the piano fund.

A great deal of interest is being manifested in the revival meetings being conducted at the Baptist church this week. Rev. Milford is an interesting and forceful speaker. Good music is a part of the services.

"Spend Less Than You Earn Each Year"

Supt. Lawrence Explains One Mill School Tax

The first thing I wish to call attention ti in this article is the necessity of trustees selecting teachers for the schools early. Most of the trustees have already attended to this matter but for some reason many have not done so. Those trustees which have not employed teachers yet are those in the smaller schools and I wish to urge that they make their choice soon and notify me so that we may make our budget for another year. It is easy to see why this should be done when one stops to think of the fact that the best teachers, as a rule, will be employed first, and trustees who wait longest will not be able to get the best teachers.

Since this is the last issue of the paper before the election on the one mill county school tax I am calling attention to a few facts relating to it. The length of the school term in the state of Alabama is from 94 days in Winston County to 174 days in Montgomery County. The slogan of the Alabama Educational Association is "Equalization of Educational opportunities" for the white children in the State, but the above fact shows that we are far from such a goal. This is due, in some measure, to variations in per capita wealth back of school children in different counties. This is not true in our county.

Since we rank third in the State in per capita wealth back of school children it is a question of our people not being willing to tax themselves equally with other counties. The one-mill tax is an effort to correct this.

As I stated before in an article, another is a way in which our state funds are appropriated. Counties which have 1-5 as may white children as that of ours draws from the State of Alabama twice the amount of money we do. Since this is a county tax we are voting, all of it remains in this county and not one penny of it goes anywhere else. With our wealth it is to our interest to vote every county tax possible.

If you will notice in another part of the paper the five big reasons why you should vote for the one-mill tax you will see that three fourths of this will be paid by the corporations. These people do not object to paying school taxes. It is a fact that ultimately the tax is paid by the consumer but how much of the Alabama Power Company's product will the people of Chiton County consume? It would be the smallest fractional part. I am sure 1-10000th of the power is used in Chilton County. Nearly every bit of the power is sold outside of our county, and yet this company will pay half the tax. If you live in the country, and do not have electric lights, there is no way that you can be paying any part of this.

Furthermore, the rates of railroad and any other rate is so fixed as to include in them every possible tax. Not the taxes which are actually voted but every one there is any constitutional provision for. You are already paying to the corporations this tax and will continue to do so whether it be voted or not so long as that tax is provided for in the Constitution.

I believe the children of Chilton County are just as capable, just as intelligent, and just as deserving as children in any other county. Just as long as I have anything to do with the school system, I intend to use my efforts to give them opportunities that are equal to those of other children in the State, and I am for anything that is for their interest.

Again figure for yourself what this tax will cost you. If you paid $5 tax last year the one-mill tax will cost you 25 cents; if you paid $10 the tax will cost you 50 cents; if you paid $15 the tax will cost you 75 cents; if your tax was $20 last year it will cost you $1.00. For every dollar you pay, the corporations will pay $3 more, making a total of $4 added to the school funds of Chilton County for every $1.00 you pay. The total amount of this tax will be about $14,000.

If the above is voted we pledge you our word of honor that, as a County Board of Education, we will use it as economically as we can, and give you a longer school term, and not only that, but we are glad at all times for you to know how and where the money is being spent.

Trusting that the people of Chilton County will realize that the matter of educating their children is of infinite importance and realize further that the school problem is of such magnitude as to demand the utmost cooperation of all, I am yours, for better schools.—B. Lawrence, County Superintendent of Education.

WILL SERVE STEW

Circle No. 1, Baptist church, will serve Dr. Bill's famous Brunswick Barbecue Stew on next Thursday, July 22, at 50c per quart. See Mrs. D. C. Alred, Clanton, Ala.

LIKE FATHER—LIKE SON

A mother said to her little son: Why can't you be a good boy, dear?

He replied: Well, mother, I'll be good for a nickel.

Mother: For shame, son, you ought to be like your father, good for nothing.

OTHER THORSBY ITEMS

The revival began at Thorsby Baptist church Sunday. Rev. J. J. Milford is doing the preaching, and Mr. Mullins looking after the singing. Big crowds have been attending. We want everybody to come out and help us make it a good meeting. Come and help in the singing. Mr. Mullins will be glad to have you. Everybody come—you are welcome.

Miss Ruth Peterson of Birmingham is spending a few days at home with her parents.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Raybon had as their guests Sunday Rev. J. J. Milford, Mr. Ross Mullins, Rev. and Mrs. R. L. Bonner.

Mrs. T. W. Robinson spent Friday shopping in Birmingham.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Fitzpatrick and daughter of Birpingham spent last Wednesday with Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Harper.

Mrs. J. B. Wells of Selma and Mrs. Lonza Parrish of Clanton were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Webb Parrish Tuesday.

Miss Tommie Parrish of Clanton is spending a few days with Miss Clara Vines.

This the 7th day of July, 1926.

S. M. ADAMS, Chairman
7-15-3c Dem. Ex. Committee.

HOSPITAL NOTES

R. Q. Houston, son of John Houston, was operated on this week and is doing well.

Miss Letha Robinson underwent on operation for appendicitis last Sunday and is doing well. She is the daughter of Mr. Loss Robinson, and one of the seven who were hurt in the auto wreck at Jemison on July 3rd.

Miss Diefenderfer of Thorsby is still at the hospital.

Mrs. Loss Robinson was able to go home last Sunday.

Mrs. Williams, who was hurt in the wreck at Jemison on July 3rd was able to go home Sunday.

Miss Maud Mahan, who recently underwent an operation for appendicitis, is returning home this week.

Mr. John Williams, who was very seriously injured in the wreck on July 3rd, is improving rapidly.

Pervie Robinson and Johnnie Williams, both of whom received broken legs in the wreck July 3rd, are doing well now.

Tom Cole was dismissed from the hospital Friday.

Mason County, Michigan, bankers are pushing hard to replace scrub stock with pure-bred cattle. The plan as outlined by the county agent is to purchase young pure-bred sires and place them wherever a farmer is found who is willing to co-operate in the proposition. The bankers will advance the purchase price and take a note for one year without interest. The idea is to make it as easy as possible for the farmers to procure thoroughbreds.

IN FAVOR OF SCHOOL TAX

On next Tuesday, July 20, the people of Chilton County will have an opportunity to say by their ballot whether or not they are willing to pay a pitiful sum of 10 cents on each $100 worth of their taxable property, for school purposes.

In my judgment, this election is second to none in importance of the several elections to be held this year.

It has been said—and wisely so—that no just government can exist except by the consent of the governed, and the history of the past reveals very clearly that the greater the degree of intelligence among the the people the more perfect their form of government.

But why argue that an educated citizenry is a prerequisite to sound government? No intelligent person will deny that fact. Let us get right down to our own Chilton County and face the facts as we find them.

First—let us cast around and see who it is that occupies some of the most lucrative positions to be found in the borders of our county. Are they Chilton County born and reared? Why:

Second—whom may we expect to assume leadership in our societies and shape the destiny of the same? Are they to be Chilton County products, or will they be imported?

Now, it is far from my intention to in any way cast reflection on the many splendid men and women who have come to us from other sections of the country. We are glad to have them, for they have been an inspiration to us, but what I desire to impress upon the minds of the fathers and mothers of our county is the fact that we have in our midst some of the best talent in the world today—boys and girls, who, if properly trained, will prove to be a blessing to the community in which they may cast their future lot, and an honor to the county from which they came.

If the youth of Chilton County is to be properly trained for the problems they must inevitably face in the future, it will require money and more money, and I shall desist from casting reflection upon your intelligence by telling you over and over that the only logical way to raise this money is through a system of taxation.

We sometimes hear people complain that our taxes are already burdensome but let us remember that "taxes is the price we pay for being civilized." "The higher the state of civilization the greater the tax," needs no comment.

Yours, for a better educated citizenry.—A Parent.

IN OPPOSITION TO THE COUNTY SCHOOL TAX

Editor Union-Banner:

Please allow me a small space in your paper for a little chat with the voters and taxpayers of Chilton County. Each of you have no doubt seen the call for the election on the 20th of this month, asking us to tax ourselves again for schools. Also, I guess you have seen the announcement of a series of speeches to be delivered in our county in support of the proposition. This man who is to speak comes from the southern part of the state, and is for the purpose of trying to blindfold us people up here in Chilton County as to our best interests if possible, and deceive us.

I want to ask, Mr. Taxpayer and Voter, if it is such a good thing for the interests of our people in Chilton County, why don't some of our big school guns take it up and stump the county in its behalf? No sir, some of our school board and teachers know it will not do for them to get out and say anything about it, as they have deceived the people heretofore on this question. They know that they promised us longer schools and free schools if we would tax ourselves some years ago. We did just what they asked us to do, and I want you to think over the results. Since then we have paid more incidental fees than ever before, and we have had shorter schools all over the rural districts, and it will continue so. Why do I say this? Because they have agreed to raise the salaries of the teachers at the high schools already, which will take up the amount of taxes asked for, and our schools will not be benefitted in the least. Those who are asking for it know that this is so, and that is why they are not willing to get out and say anything in favor of the taxation, but send off out of the county for men to boost up the taxation.

Boys, shall we allow ourselves to be deceived again? I say no. And let us go to the polls on the 20th and vote it down just like we did last year, and let our Board of Education know that they must learn how to economize some and give back to the rural schools what belongs to them, and quit taking the little children of the third, fourth and fifth grades from the rural schools, cut off those trucks that cost the county from $65 to $75 per month, cut down the salaries of teachers instead of raising them. Some of them are getting too much anyway, for the number of hours they have to work.

Yes, the principal of the school at Jemison gets $10 a day, and others in the county are getting more. Let me ask you who is it that is making that much on the farm or elsewhere.

I want to say that there is enough money on hand now to run the schools if it was being spent as it should be. And in conclusion, I want to say that there is not a man in all the county who stands more firmly for education than myself. But if it is going to break up the parents to educate the children, I say we had better cut it out.

It looks like the more money we pay in, the more they ask for. So I say let us stop the taxation for a while, and if Mr. Lawrence can not run the schools with the money they are getting, let him get out of the way and let some other man try it.

Let us not forget to go out on the 20th and vote her down.—J. H. Martin, Jemison, Ala.

NEW HARMONY

All who are interested in the cemetery at New Harmony are requested to meet there Friday, July 16, for the purpose of cleaning off same. The church is 1 mile north of the Henry Asco place.—E. T. Dennis.

BIDS WANTED

Enterprise is to build two additional class rooms to their building, and any contractor wishing to bid on this work may present their bids to C. L. Wilkins, Verbena, Ala., on or before July 28, 1926. The prints may be had from me or from the County Superintendent of education. We would like to have bids on both lock and key job, and to do the carpenter work, the community to furnish the material.—C. L. Wilkins, Chairman Building Committee. 7-15-2t-ch.

OLIVER MULLINS CEMETERY

All who are interested in the Oliver Mullins cemetery are requested to meet there on Friday, July 23. Bring tools necessary for cleaning off the grounds. It is hoped that a good attendance will be there as the grave yard needs attention.—O. R. Mullins.

FLOYD NEWS

We had a good crowd out to Sunday school last Sunday considering the many singings in progress, but we hope to have more next Sunday.

Rev. C. A. Taylor is away at one of his meetings.

Bro. Huett is at home with his family. He has been away in a hospital, and we are all truly glad to have him back. Several of the sisters visited Mrs. Huett while her husband was away.

ONE MILL TAX

Much is being said of late about the unlimited material wealth of Alabama and the necessity for the rapid development of all the natural material resources. All this is well and good, but it is second in importance compared to the urgent necessity for the immediate development of the human resources of Alabama.

The greatest wealth a state has is its human resources. Alabama is rich in material resources; it is unsurpassed in human resources. It has a homogenus white population of purest ancestry second to none. As a matter of state pride, of ancestral pride if you please, can Alabama longer afford to drift complacently with the times and remain satisfied with its position near the bottom of the list of states educationally?

Time demands that Alabama develop her human resources and do it now. The call is urgent; it is imperative and will not wait. Under the present meager, uneaqual educational opportunities Alabama is permitting her children to grow into manhood and womanhood year after unprepared to meet the problems of life they must invitably face within the next twenty-five years. Thus year by year Alabama is permitting her human resources to go undevolped. A properly educated and trained citizenship will see to it that the material resources of the state are devolped. This result will follow inevitably. Let the people of Alabama give first consideration to things that come first in importance.

What can Chilton County do to help educationally just now? It can vote an additional one-mill tax to be used for educational purposes within the County. This will reach the present constitutional limitation in millage taxes for Chilton County. As a matter of County pride let Chilton go her limit for the children of the County. To the individual tax payer a one-mill tax is insignificant, but by each taxpayer doing his bit a sum can be created sufficient to add one month more of school over the County. Give the one-mill tax election first consideration.

NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that a special election will be held in Chilton County, Alabama, on the 20th day of July, 1926, for the purpose of determining whether or not a special tax shall be levied and collected annually, at the rate of ten cents (10c) on each one hundred ($100.00) dollars worth of taxable property in said County for the present tax year and continuing for a period of ten years (10) from September 30, 1926, and said levy is proposed to be made for public school purposes in said County.

This, the 8th day of June, 1926.

Sheriff of Chilton County.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Moore are in Chattanooga to spend several days with relatives.

Aubrey Taylor will leave this week for a visit of several days with friends in Anniston.

Mr. C. W. Williams of Plantersville was a visitor to Clanton Monday.

Mrs. T. W. Cannon of East Tallassee has been in Clanton for several days visiting her sister, Mrs. Rebecca Driver.

John Bean, candidate for commissioner in the first district, is out now passing around among the voters. He says he will be busy from now until August 10th.

PLEASANT VALLEY

H. V. Courtney and R. C. Burkhalter made a business trip to Prattville Thursday.

Miss Roberta Henry of Prattville spent the week end with relatives here.

Mr. and Mrs. R C. Burkhalter motored to Montgomery and spent Friday and Saturday with friends and relatives.

Mr. J. C. Norrell motored to Selma Thursday, returning home Friday.

Sunday school is progressing nicely with 61 present last Sunday. There was a number absent, whom we would like to see next Sunday. We regret very much that Mr. and Mrs. Gordie Morris were kept from church Sunday because of Inez's illness with whooping cough.

Mr. Oscar Huett of Seattle, Wash., arrived at the home of his father last week to spend some time with relatives and friends here.

All the members of the family enjoyed the family reunion at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Lett on the 4th of July. Those coming from away were: Grady Lett of Birmingham, H. L. Lett of Ventura, Calif., and Vesta Lett of Jonesville, Ala.

Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Weldon are the happy parents of a new baby.

Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe of Birmingham spent the 4th holiday here.

Mr. Willie Burkhalter of Selma visited relatives here last week.

Mr. Roy Martin of Montgomery is expected to arrive at the home of his father the 16th to spend his vacation.

Among the welcome visitors to the B. Y. P. U. Sunday night were Miss Lorene Messer of Verbena, Miss Ethel Thomas, Osie Rushin, Oscar Huett, and H. L. Lett. Interesting topics were discussed by Misses Prudie and Celestia Boockholdt, Bertha Stockdale, Myrtle Pierce, Mary Courtney, Fay Ray, Mr. Elmer Morris, Mrs. Burkhalter, and Mrs. Vinson.

I. T. Garner, optometrist, will be in Thorsby on Friday before the fourth Saturday in every month, and in Clanton over Tom Kemp's store the fourth Saturday in each month. All work guaranteed. See him if you need a pair of spectacles.

A DODGE BROTHERS SEDAN

$895

F. O. B. Detroit

People are surprised to learn that this beautiful and sturdy car now sells for $895.

They have heard so much about its exceptional value that they are under the impression it sells for a higher price.

Moreover, the Sedan possesses all the roominess and character of closed cars that call for a much greater investment.

It is substantial in appearance because it is substantial in fact. And serves its owners far beyond the period usually expected of a car at any price.

The body is all steel—safe, sturdy, fireproof, and smartly finished below the belt line in coolie blue lacquer, with cartouche yellow stripe—upper body in black lacquer—shields and fenders in black, oven-baked enamel.

Blue Spanish genuine leather upholstery, removable rear seat-back, and optional wood or steel wheels are included among many other features that commend themselves forcefully to the buyer.

Many who expected to buy a cheaper car, now find that Dodge Brothers product is well within their means. Many who had expected to buy something more expensive, now find everything they could possibly desire in these smart and dependable vehicles.

WORK ON FRIENDSHIP CHURCH BEING PUSHED

Work began Monday morning of this week on rebuilding Friendship Baptist church which was blown down by the storm a few weeks ago. The framing is about all up and the work of covering, ceiling and weather boarding will be done next week.

It is very gratifying how the people around have already helped by giving work and helping in other ways. Next week a chance will be given those of other communities to help by sending as many hands as they can to work a day. A day has been assigned to various communities, so that everybody will not come the same day. Following are the days of next week when each community will be given a chance to help:

Monday—Refuge, Providence and Cane Creek; Tuesday—Walnut Creek, Concord and Maple Springs; Wednesday—Liberty Hill, Samaria and Poplar Springs; Thursday—all churches in Clanton and those from Pinedale community; Friday—Collins Chapel, New Salem and the Temple and other members of their denomination.

If it is so that you can not come on the day appointed for your church, come when you can. Any others who can give a day's work will be more than welcome.

The people of Friendship were left in bad shape by the storm blowing down their church, and any help that can be given by her sister churches in sending hands to put in a day's work will not be missed by the givers but will help the cause of Friendship wonderfully. Everybody who comes are asked to bring a hammer and any other tools which they wish to use.

Those who have pledged money to the church and who can handily do so will please leave same with the treasurer, T. E. Wyatt, at The Union-Banner office, at your earliest convenience. If you can't see him you will be called on within the next few days.

M. D. FOSHEE NOMINATED BY REPUBLICANS OF DeKALB

Marion D. Foshee has been unanimously nominated by the Republicans of DeKalb County as a candidate for Representative in the Legislature to fill out the unexpired term of John P. Hawkins, deceased.

Mr. Foshee is at present editor and publisher of The DeKalb Republican at Fort Payne, and is chairman of the Republican Executive Committee of DeKalb County. He is well konwn here where he was reared. For many years he was a prominent figure in public life of Chilton County, taking an active part in Republican party affairs. He was Clerk of the Circuit Court of Chilton County for 12 years. His many friends here are glad to note his success in DeKalb County since going there in 1923.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Watson are visiting their son, Mr. R. V. Watson, and daughter, Mrs. E. A. Baltzer, at the latter's home in Akron, Ohio. They are visiting Cleveland, Cuyahoga Falls, Barberton, Kenmon, and other places near Akron. They spent an enjoyable day last Sunday on the shores of Lake Erie at Euclid Beach Park. They expect to return home the latter part of this week.

Right now is a good time to plan for a community fair next fall.

BOOSTING KIN VINSON FOR TAX COLLECTOR

Editor Union-Banner:

Please allow me space in your paper to say a few words in behalf of Mr. Kin Vinson, one of our Republican candidates for Tax Assessor of Chilton County.

I have known Kin from the time he was a small boy. I know that he was raised as a working boy on the farm, and got his education while working on the farm and going to the public schools between crop times. He finished his education with a business course by working during the day and going to school at night.

I have always found him to be sober, honest and straight in his dealings with his fellowmen, and I feel sure all others who have known him personally have found him to be the same.

As for his qualifications to fill the office of Tax Assessor, there is no doubt but that he is as well qualified for this place as any man in our county, from the fact that he has served three years as a clerk in this office and gave perfect satisfaction to his employer, Mr. J. N. Dennis, and to the public. He tells us in his letter in The Union-Banner that he began his public life in this office, and that since that time he has sought to try to qualify himself as a citizen to fill this place, should we ever see fit to allow him this privilege.

Then there is another thing which I think we should give due consideration. Mr. Vinson made the great sacrifice for us that thousands of other boys made by having to leave his family and give two years of his life to the service of our country during the World War. He went overseas and stood ready to sacrifice his life if necessary in order that we might stay at home with our loved ones and friends. While he was there undergoing the hardships that our boys over there had to contend with, we were at home wishing for them to be returned to us. We said if they could only be spared to come back to us we would honor and respect them and do all we could to recompense them for their sacrifices in our behalf.

Now people, it is up to us to show one of those boys how we appreciate such noble service under the flag of our great nation. We have two men to select from to fill this office for the next four years—Mr. Vinson and Mr. Pate. Mr. Pate is our present Tax Assessor. He has had the honor, and I might add, the benefit as well, of holding the office for six years—a term and a half term—and he also was one of us who had the pleasure of staying at home with his family during the time Mr. Vinson was giving his services for us as a soldier. Mr. Pate has made a good officer, but is he, after having enjoyed the benefits of the office for six years, more entitled to 10 years in the office than Mr. Vinson is to 4 years? I want the Republican voters of Chilton County to think over this question seriously.

Mr. Vinson is a young man, and is just as competent to fill the office of Tax Assessor as Mr. Pate or any other man. He has never held an office. He asked for office once before, but was defeated in the primary. Instead of becoming discouraged he has kept on working toward the better interests of the Republican party. Now he is offering himself again for our approval.

Who will be our choice? After we have given Mr. Pate six years in the office, and thereby placed him in a condition financially where he can live the remainder of his life in comfort, shall we give him another term, making a total of 10 years in office? Or shall we give Mr. Vinson a chance to serve us as he has asked, and for which service he has diligently sought to prepare himself since he was an 18-year old boy?

Do you think it is justice to Mr. Vinson, to the Republican party, and to our whole younger generation of Republicans to keep the same men in office and vote down the young men who have given their work and their efforts for the party, as Mr. Vinson has done, and who have, beyond any doubt, qualified themselves to render to us efficient public service? If we continue to vote down the young men and give them nothing but discouragement, how can we expect them to keep working; and how can we expect to perpetuate the good service of the Republican party to future generations?

Now, voters and friends, let us consider these men and these questions seriously. I believe the matters which I have called to your attention not only involve the obligation of the Republican party of Chilton County to one man, Mr. Vinson, but also concerns a matter of much importance generally to the future of the Republican party of Chilton County.

Let's vote for the man who is justly entitled to the place of Tax Assessor of Chilton County. Let's be fair with the men who are candidates, fair with ourselves, and above all, considerate of those principles which are the most wholesome for the future welfare of the Republican party.

I would urge the Republicans of Chilton County to go to the polls on August 10th and cast your votes for Mr. Vinson. Use your influence for him, for he is the man who is rightfully entitled to serve us for the next four years as Tax Assessor.

With respect and good feeling for all, and with an honest desire to see the Republican party of Chilton County continue to render the fullest measure of service, I am

Sincerely yours,
W. H. ROBINSON.

GRADY BARBER PUT IN JAIL

Grady Barber, 13 year old negro, son of General Barber, was arrested Tuesday and placed in jail on a charge of bastardy. The charge was preferred by Lenora Wilson, negro girl 14 years old. The negroes involved live in the Morning Star community west of Clanton.

OAK HILL

The music school taught by Prof. A. H. Glasscock at this place is progressing nicely, with good attendance. All who wish to enroll at any time can do so and will receive the very best attention possible.

The United Singing Society went to Siluria Sunday, and with the help of the good people there, did some fine singing.

THE UNITED SINGING SOCIETY

The United Singing Society will meet with Collins Chapel on next Sunday afternoon, July 25, intead of at the regular meeting place, on account of the revival meeting at that place. All who are interested in the singing will please take notice of the change and be governed accordingly. Also, all singers and music lovers are invited to be with us there. Our members are requested especially to be present, and let's make this one of our very best singings.—A. H. Glasscock, President.

LETTER FROM W. G. CULP

To the Republican Voters of Chilton County:

Let me ask your indulgence for a few minutes in which I want to discuss with you some matters concerning my campaign for Tax Collector, and which I think are propositions worthy of your consideration at this time.

To begin with, I will state my case briefly by saying that I am a candidate for the Republican nomination for Tax Collector, and I believe I can give to any Republican good and sufficient reasons why he or she can afford to cast a vote in my behalf. I have seen many voters in person, and have tried to render such an account of my past affiliations with the Republican party as I thought justifiable and fair. It is my purpose in this letter to further impress upon you my claims for your support and influence.

I am not running for the office of Tax Collector because the man who has held the office for the past few years has not made a good offcer. That man, I am proud to say, is a Republican, and has made a good officer, and far bt it from me to say or do anything that would cast reflection upon him.

But I am offering myself for the office because I believe that the Republicans of Chilton County recognize the fact that it is time this honor should be passed around to somebody else. I want each of you to give me your full and fair consideration, and if you are convinced that I am entitled to the office, and if you agree that it is right to pass the good things of the party around to more than one deserving Republican, I will appreciate your helping to give this office to me.

Six years ago I was a candidate for this same office when the present Tax Collector was nominated and elected. My defeat was accepted as the just verdict of the Republican party. I took it as my part and continued my personal efforts in every way possible to help each and every one of our Republican officers succeed in the proper discharge of their duties.

Throughout the past I have sought to serve the Republican party and the people of Chilton County as best I could. I acted as chairman of your party organization for nearly six years, giving of my time and my limited means to the discharge of same to the best of my ability and the best manner for the welfare of the Republican party.

When his present term has expired Mr. Rockett will have had the office of Tax Collector for a total of six years. He was elected in 1920 for a term of four years. When that four years was out his time was extended by the Legislature of Alabama giving him two more years, which makes for him a total of six years when his present time is out. I believe it is consistent for me to say to you that I believe it is only proper and right for the Republicans now to make a change in the office and give it to some other competent and deserving man. I believe my past life and record of service has been such as to make me deserving of this honor at the hands of the people of Chilton County. I want you, the voters, to think about the matter and see if you can agree with me. I have never held an office in the county, and if the Republicans do not think me worthy of holding this one, I shall be satisfied with your verdict.

I am glad I can say that I have been a faithful worker in the ranks of the Republican party all my life. I am glad that all of us can truthfully say that we have seen our party bear fruit in the production for us of one of the best county governments in Alabama. My part has been only that of one among the many Republicans whose loyalty and fidelity to principle has brought about our success.

It is now the privilege of you Republicans to take one more laborer from your ranks and bestow upon him one of the positions of trust and honor which is yours to give. If you will let me have that honor, I shall be as faithful in the discharge of its duties as I have been in doing lesser things which have come my way in the past.

I want to say to you that I believe the principle of rotation of good capable men in public office is the only wholesome and sound policy for perpetuation of the usefulness of any political party. This opinion stands regardless of whether or not you give me the office of Tax Collector.

If you agree with me and think it proper now to make a change in the office of Tax Collector, I shall appreciate your vote and influence in my behalf on August 10. If you do not think it wise and proper to make a change, and believe it best to keep Mr. Rockett in the office for 10 years, then I shall, as I did before, reconcile myself to the will of the majority, and continue my efforts in behalf of the best government possible for Chilton County.

Let me say again that I thank each and every voter for your candid and honest consideration, and I hope you will give me a chance to serve you more fully and effectually than I have done in the past, by giving me the office of Tax Collector. If you will nominate me on the 10th of August, I shall do everything in my power, consistent with principles of justice and honor and clean politics, to elect myself and the entire Republican ticket in November.

Sincerely yours,
W. G. CULP.

LOOKS LIKE SCHOOL TAX DEFEATED ON TUESDAY

So far as figures could be obtained Wednesday morning, it is practically certain that the one-mill tax was defeated at the election held on Tuesday. When the final count is made it is a bare possibility that the majority does not warrant the levy of the tax. Under the law it is necessary that the majority shall be three-fifths of the total vote cast, and it appears unlikely now that such will be the case on the final count.

Up till noon Wednesday we were able to obtain figures unofficially from the following places in the county:

	For	Ag't
Beat 1, Mullins	10	10
Beat 2, Jemison	43	43
Beat 2, Mars Hill	14	10

WESTERN UNION TELEGRAPH OFFICE MOVED TO NEW PLACE

The Clanton office of the Western Union Telegraph company has been moved into a new location in the Exchange Hotel building on Seventh street. The new location is right on the Birmingham-Montgomery highway. New and modern equipment is being installed, which will make the office one of the neatest arrangements of its kind in the state.

Mr. M. B. Arant has severed his connection with the company after several years as manager of the office here. The office is now in charge of Mrs. Mary J. Thompson, who comes here from Montgomery.

DEATH OF LLOYD GORE TUESDAY

Lloyd Gore, age 16 years, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Gore of New Salem community, died at the family home Tuesday afternoon, following an illness of about a week with meningitis. Burial was at New Salem cemetery Wednesday morning, in charge of Martin.

CHILTON COUNTY GIRLS AT ALABAMA COLLEGE

The first half of the Alabama College Summer School closed July 17. According to President O. C. Carmichael, it is one of the most successful summer schools in the history of the institution.

Prospects for the new year are exceedingly bright. A larger number have enrolled than at any previous time in the history of the institution up to date; in fact, the advanced enrollment has already reached the 600 mark.

The following students from this county were enrolled in the summer school of 1926: Jemison—Mary Clements, Fraulein Cobb, Nell Wells; Clanton—Liledbel Golden, Hixie Mae Golden, Pearl Minor, Jewel Minor; Stanton — Alma Schurter, Vivian Schurter; Calera—Myrtle Virgin; Maplesville—Willie King; Thorsby—Agnes Elizabeth Leary.

For the new session 1926-27 the following have enrolled: Verbena—Bertha Barrett, Virginia Scott, Sara Maud Pattillo; Maplesville—Elizabeth Parnell; Thorsby—Iola Gerald; Jemison—Nell Wells.

BLOW OUT CAUSES CAR WRECK

A blow out in a front tire caused an automobile wreck five miles north of Clanton Monday at 10 o'clock. The car was driven by Rev. Arthur D'Albergo, pastor of the First Presbyterian church at Ensley. The driver and his five children were all taken to the Central Alabama Hospital here suffering slight injuries. They were en route to the Gulf Coast to spend their vacation when this misfortune befell them.

They will not be able to resume their journey for a few days at least, and it is not known whether they will continue their trip to the coast or return to their home in Ensley.

Besides Rev. D'Albergo the following children were injured: Light, age 17; Clement, age 15; Jean, age 12; Andrew, age 11; and Sylvia, age 6.

HISTORY OF A STALK OF COTTON LAST YEAR

A prominent farmer of Beat 4 has furnished The Union-Banner with a day by day record of a stalk of cotton which he selected from his crop of 1925. The stalk was situated at a place convenient for him to see every day and he took note of its progress.

On June 8 the stalk contained 8 squares; June 15, there were 19 squares; June 21, one bloom; June 22, there were 45 squares; June 29, 2 bolls, 1 bloom, 59 squares, a total of 66 forms; July 6, it had 3 blooms, 15 bolls, 66 squares, a total of 84 forms; July 13, it had 31 bolls, 3 blooms, 33 squares, a total of 67 forms; July 20, it had 31 bolls, 4 squares. The final result from this one stalk of cotton was 16 bolls picked.

It will be interesting to study the history of this stalk of cotton. It was one in a field that produced what was regarded as a good crop of cotton. At one time it had a chance of making 84 bolls of cotton, and finally came through with 16 mature bolls. Yet 16 bolls out of 84 chances was regarded as a good cotton crop.

Next winter will mean more to the farm family that installs running water in the home this summer.

J. MONROE SMITH WRITES

To the People of Chilton County:

At the November election, 1924, I was elected a member of the County Board of Education by a large majority, and a few men who were, it appeared, seeking to control affairs of the County, were very much displeased with my election, and in searching for a plan to oust me from office, they discovered that the officers who had the ballots printed failed to state whether or not my tenure of office was for the long or short term, and they have tried to make it very short. But having the loyal support of the great majority of the people, the Board of Education, and the County officials, I have retained my membership on the Board. I wish to thank each and every one who has felt that I was justly entitled and desired that I remain a member of the Board. In order that I may complete the full term, I am asking you for renomination on August 10th, and reelection in November.
